IT WORKS BOTH WAYS.

The Demand for old U. S. postage has increased enormously the past year: the Supply has been greatly reduced. No wonder prices have advanced so that many stamps are very difficult to obtain in fine condition at full catalog rates.

I can still supply quite a nice line of varieties catalogued up to $10 each at prices they were marked last spring. But if you don't write for a selection promptly don't write at all, for it won't be any use!

MOST COLLECTORS

as a rule have quantities of duplicates, which they would gladly dispose of for cash or exchange if they felt sure of getting full value in return. No matter if your holdings are worth $5 or $5000.00, if the items are attractive, I am interested. Such things as early U. S. in fine condition, especially pairs, blocks and covers are wanted—also late issues, such as errors, double prints, etc. If you have been waiting for months to move those idle stamps, now is the time. Put your price upon them and I will gladly examine on receipt and make prompt returns. It is the collector, today, that holds the real gems and I am appealing to you for my collection's sake. Reference—any large dealer, anywhere.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our issue of March 29th we described an error envelope, namely the 3c Die A on White which appeared in the red of the 2c. Mr. J. M. Bartels now informs us that he has located 115 unused and 5 used of the same error on blue. These are window envelopes similar to the white but are Die E instead of Die A. This means that at least two Dies were used in embossing these stamps. The latter envelope is Size 5. It seems that a box originally containing five hundred were found in Waterbury, Conn., and the variety was noticed by a Post Office employee while passing through his hands, after a collector had shown him a copy on white. It is quite possible that this error will later be found on the other colored papers.

While speaking of envelopes, it may be interesting to mention that the discovery of these new varieties has created quite a stir as well as interest in the subject. All lines of United States issues are being specialized to such extremes that we would not be surprised to see envelopes come into their own.

In a recent issue we spoke of new plates being made by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing consisting of sixteen hundred subjects for printing the 1c and 3c surface type stamps. We wrote to the Director asking for information as to the lay-out of these plates and are in receipt of a letter dated April 15th from which we quote:

"In reply I beg to state that the lay out of each four hundred subject section of this plate is exactly the same as the four hundred subject sheets printed from the ordinary plate. The sheets will be quartered, gummed and perforated the same as at present, the margins remaining the same. The sheets of stamps as issued will not be different in any detail from those now in use."

We gave a list in one of our former chronicles of Provisional "NARCOTIC" Revenues and now desire to add the following from Detroit. The first issue we explained was surcharged by a red rubber stamp in such a manner that several surcharges fell upon each subject. Later a second type was used printed in the same color and consisting of capital letters, the word measuring 19 mm.x5 mm., and was applied to one stamp at a time. A complete list of the values so far known are as follows:

Detroit Provisionals

First Issue—1, 2, 4 & 8 red.
Second Issue—1, 2, 4, & 8 red.

Mr. W. T. Robey informs us that he has also located a sheet of the 13c perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper wherein the perforation cuts through the center of the stamp. It seems that all values are being found in this shape.

ANGOLA.—J. A. Lucas describes a newly-discovered variety of the 50r PROVISORIO of 1902, and of the 75r of 1903, having the letter G instead of C. The same correspondent states that two new provisionals have just been issued—viz. 1½c and 2½c surcharged on stamps (values not mentioned) of the Carlos and Manoel types.—Stamp Collecting.

DENMARK.—The Frank P. Brown Co. sends us the current 30 and 70 joined in a vertical pair. No information is available except that the stamps are designed for slot machine use.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The British Philatelist "is informed, on good authority," that the current high values, 2sh 6d, 5sh and 10sh, are to be printed by Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co. As everyone knows these values, together with the 20sh, were printed, when first issued, by Waterlow Bros. & Layton. Two years later, namely, in 1915, the contract for printing these values passed into the hands of De la Rue & Co., the 20sh value being discontinued. The differences between these two printings are not very great, lying mainly in the shades of colour and the paper. It remains to be seen whether the work of the new printers, when it appears, will again be distinctive.—Phil. Journal of Gt. Brit.

ITALY.—Further information is now available concerning the numerous provisional issues which followed upon the Italian occupation of the Trentino and Trieste. Last month we chronicled the set of Austrian stamps overprinted "Regno d'Italia—Venezia Giulia—3. xi.-18." On its exhaustion this was followed by a set of Italian stamps which were overprinted VENEZIA GIULIA.

This issue was also a small one and was soon followed by a set of Italian stamps with the same overprint but with values in Austrian coinage added.

In addition the postage-due stamps have been overprinted, and finally the 25c Express delivery stamp with the same surcharge.

All the above were used in Trieste and neighborhood, but there were also similar issues for the Trentino. With the exception that we are spared the postage-dues and the Express Delivery stamps, the list of these is precisely similar to that of the VENEZIA GIULIA series, so we need not recapitulate them. The overprint on the Austrian stamps reads:—REGNO D'ITALIA—TRENTINO—3 NOV. 1918, in three lines, that on the Italian stamps reads VENEZIA—TRIDENTINA, in two lines, and this in turn has been superseded by similar stamps but further surcharged with values in Austrian currency.

LITHUANIA.—Here is another name new to the stamp album. From various Continental sources Stamp Collecting gathers the following information as to the stamps issued for this independent Russian State:—"So far only one denomination has appeared, this being both imperforate and perforated, but it is among the most extraordinary of all postage stamps, for it is printed on the back of a map. The design is in the characteristic style of a Russian local, such as the Volgoda or the later Poltava labels, but it is all in one colour, red (lithographed on white). The central device has the appearance of three very forlorn feathers, around which are a number of wavy lines, seemingly representing the rays of the sun. At the top is the word LATVIJA (Lithuania) curved, while at the foot is the inscription of value, "KAP 5 KAP." The paper is very thick—in fact, carton—and the collector will find additional interest in the various parts of map which he will be able to put together, like a "jig-saw" puzzle. The largest of the pieces submitted by Mr. Harmer has the imprint of the map printers on the map side—viz., "Gouvernement Kurland, Witeb.Bk.", parts of the scale measure and other details."—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

MALTA.—Mr. Connor, of Hampstead, has shown us an interesting pair of the "One Penny" on 2½d showing one stamp with normal overprint and the other with double impression of the error of surcharge, "One Pnney."—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

MEXICO.—Hermann Focke has this to say about the two new Red Cross stamps:—"The Mexican Red Cross stamp, 5c+3c, has not been reported before. I sent you the 10c blue+5c and although I knew at the time of the existence of this second value, that is the +3c on 5c, I did not mention it, because I had not seen it. Both stamps were issued shortly before Xmas 1918 and were in use for only a day or two; I consider these Red Cross stamps as two of the scarcest issued. I requested a

SERVIA.—The publisher of Theodore Champion's Bulletin Mensuel wrote to the French Consul at Corfu to find out whether French stamps were really being used there for the Servian postoffice and received the following reply, which is reproduced in No. 187 of that interesting little paper:

"In reply to your letter of October 12th last I have the honor of informing you that it is quite correct that French stamps are being used by the Servian postoffice for the transmission of Servian correspondence in France. These stamps bear the surcharge POSTES SERBES."—Albermarle Stamp Collector.

BOSTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Incorporated.

A. W. DUNNING, Pres.; R. N. HALL, Vice Pres.; F. W. STILES, 310 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., Sec.; OSCAR HILL, 60 State St., Boston, Mass., Foreign Sec.; G. CARLTON RUSSELL, 97 Waldeck St., Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; W. L. ALDRICH, Supt. of Auctions; S. G. BIXBY, 12 Parker St., Malden, Mass., Supt. of Sales and Bourse.

April 15, 1919.

The Boston Philatelic Society may well feel proud of the attendance and interest shown by its members this spring. There were 45 members and friends present this evening. Five new members were elected: Messrs. W. L. Carter, J. S. Sanford, Elliot L. Green, T. F. Emerson and Arthur T. Browne. The applications of the following were read and posted: Alfred C. Malm, Fred L. Dresser and W. M. Kennedy for resident; D. C. Alexander for non-resident, and John Howard Newton for junior membership. The auction for the Library Fund amounted to about $90.00. Mr. Sawyer showed his stamps of the Falkland Islands and read a short article in connection with his exhibit.

FREDERIC W. STILES, Sec'y.

NYASSA.—It appears that the 2½, 5, 10, 20, 25, 50, 75, 100, 200, 300, 400 and 500 reis stamps of Portuguese Nyassa were recently for a brief time employed to frank the correspondence of the British Imperial Forces stationed at Mtengula, a Portuguese port on Lake Nyassa, and that 207 of each of these denominations, a total of 2,404 specimens, were earmarked for this service by means of a franking stamp "Nyasaland F.F.2," similar to one which had formerly been employed for franking the "N.F." stamps of the Nyasaland Protectorate. These particulars are given in the Philatelic Magazine on the authority of Mr. A. Morgan, of Buluwayo; and by various of our contemporaries the franked stamps are chronicled under the heading "Nyasaland Protectorate." For this we can see no sort of excuse. The stamps are stamps issued by the Government of Portuguese Nyassa, and merely to frank them with a British Field Force obliteration certainly does not convert them into an issue by the Nyasaland Protectorate. The whole circumstances of the issue are against any such assumption, for it appears that the Portuguese authorities at Mtengula took a very decided stand against British Nyasaland stamps being issued to British troops while on Portuguese territory, and insisted, as was their right, that all correspondence from Mtengula must be franked with the postage stamps of Portuguese Nyassa.—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

PORTUGAL.—Mr. A. W. Dunning has shown us a copy of the 35 reis stamp and advises us that there are four values, the others being 2½ gray, 5r black, and 10r brown. They are imperforate and have the CORREIOS at the top, the coat of arms in the middle with REINO DE PORTUGAL in a half circle above, and at the bottom REIS with the values in figures at each side. Mr. Dunning adds, "These were to have been issued to the public on Feb. 13th, but that very day there was a counter revolution and the monarchy collapsed. All four exist perforated and a few were used by officials."

PARAGUAY.—There being a shortage of 5, 10, 20 and 40 centavos stamps, provisionals have been created by the conversion of postage-dues of these values by a black overprint in two lines, reading "Habilitado 1918."—Alfred Smith's Monthly Circular.

E. B. EDDY.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This is one of the first match stamps engraved by the Bureau and seems to have been made in a hurry as there is nothing on it to indicate the purpose for which it was intended. Later the Bureau went to the other extreme and labeled the R. C. & W. adhesive "Match Stamp" so there could be no mistake about it being a stamp and intended for use on matches.

Eddy's stamp is quite attractive and shows the national eagle in an unusual pose. It is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size with "1" in a circle in each upper corner, "ONE CENT" on each side, the firm name above and "U. S. INTER. REV." below. The address, Ogdensburg, N. Y., appears just below the firm name.

Considering the short time it was in use a large quantity of this stamp—nearly ten millions—were issued. Just why the business should start with such a rush and then peter out in about six months the writer cannot say. It has been intimated that the concern was backed by a member of one of America's well known families of wealth and perhaps the match trust found it advisable to remove such a vigorous competitor.

The stamp is not rare but is indeed hard to find in good condition if well centered. Such copies are well worth the former catalog quotation of 25c. There is little variation in shade—less than would be expected from such a large printing. Color, lake. The Boston Book states:—

Die approved, 1880.
First issued, November 26, 1880.
Last issued, May 16, 1881.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
9,513,000 issued, all printed by the Bureau on watermarked paper.

SHAKESPEARE IN PHILATELY.

Our knowledge of the great Bard's writings is so slight, that we welcome, with something akin to awe, a letter from a correspondent who has evidently compiled a Philatelic-subject Index to Shakespeare!

The quotations given by our friend should convince the most sceptical that the great Play-writer was a Phialtelist; but the obvious question arises, "What has become of his collection?" Perhaps Mr. Peggs can trace its fate, and give us chapter and verse for it!

"Dear Sir,

"As a student of the works of one W. Shakespeare, Esq., of Stratford-on-Avon (deceased), I am convinced from innumerable instances in his writings that he was a confirmed and enthusiastic philatelist. I could fill one issue of your paper with quotations in support of this assertion, but the enclosed samples will be sufficient.

"Those who maintain that the Plays in question were written respectively by Candmon, Chaucer, Mr. Lear, 'Old Bill' and the undersigned, have this further unit of evidence against them, viz., that many issues of stamps are printed by Bacon. Comment is superfluous, especially from

Yours faithfully,

A TRUE STATEMENT

With one exception, there is just one Magazine published in the United States devoted to general collecting, and that is HOBBIES MAGAZINE, published in Camden N. J., by the Hobbies Publishing Co., Incorporated. There is however a Stamp Journal that is advertising itself as a "Hobby Magazine," but in no respect is this correct. Do not be mislead by the motto, the "Hobby Magazine," as this title is misleading and conveys a wrong impression which the publishers have not lived up to in a single instance. Our MAGAZINE is published by a company incorporated under the laws of the state of New Jersey for $25,000 (twenty-five thousand dollars), and is printed in a plant owned by two of the incorporators.

THE U. S. 2c CARD OF 1917-18.

By PERCY MCG. MANN.

The increase in postage rates taking effect on November 2, 1917, necessitated the issuance of a 2c postal card to take the place of the 1c card. The P. O. Department probably lost sight of the fact that a 2c card covering the international rate was already in use which could have been issued in larger quantities to take care of the increased demand for 2c cards. However, whether the Department lost sight of this fact or not, a new card was issued in Washington on October 22, 1917, several days before the new postal rate went into effect, and appeared in other cities at different times later.

Mr. Joseph B. Leavy in The American Philatelist says a design was prepared showing the head of Grover Cleveland, but, in view of the fact that this country had entered the world war in support of the doctrine of democracy promulgated by our third President, it was deemed more appropriate to substitute the head of Thomas Jefferson.

"At the time the design was finally approved the Bureau of Engraving and Printing was overcrowded with more important war work and could not immediately prepare the necessary engraved die of the design nor manufacture the printing plates.

"The Bureau of Engraving and Printing furnished a pen and ink drawing of the design to the Government Printing Office and," states Mr. Leavy, "that latter institution manufactured therefrom typographic plates by the photo-lithography process."

In MEKEEL'S WEEKLY for November 17, 1917, I chronicled the fact that the plates were made by The Maurice Joyce Engraving Co., and this firm states the fact itself in an advertisement printed on the back of one of the cards, mailed in Washington and addressed to the Smithsonian Institution late in October, 1917 (the exact day is illegible in the cancellation).

Mr. Leavy states in the article quoted above that the plates, known officially as "hardened copper plates," were very inferior in execution and the cards printed therefrom appear crude and coarse. Also that the plates did not last under printing pressure but "mashed up," making late printings even more coarse and smudged.

The same writer states that the first printings were in carmine and later printings in rose-red, an intentional change of ink. Be this as it may, I originally chronicled the card as being in carmine but upon seeing some of the later printings (MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, January 26, 1918) I had to call the earlier card carmine-rose, and my present list includes: carmine-rose, carmine, dark carmine, red, light red, dark carmine-red and light carmine-red. And this list may be modified at any time when more careful comparisons are made.

Soon after the appearance of the 2c card, I noticed a variety without certain lines of shading on Jefferson's face (MEKEEL'S WEEKLY, January 26, 1918), which I concluded was due to the etching of the stereotypes. As this variety is distinct, it deserves a place in all postal card lists. I described it thus: "In the original the portrait of Jefferson is quite well filled with lines and dots of shading all over the face, while the second type portrait shows most of the dots missing, especially around the forehead, under the eye and about the mouth."

Recently, Mr. Ward in MEKEEL'S WEEKLY erroneously used the chronicle of this second type of the first die as being the chronicle of the second die of the 2c card which was issued to the public on January 23, 1918. But as I had not heard of nor seen the second die, I had not chronicled it at this time (Jan. 26, 1918).

Mr. Leavy states that the cards were so wretchedly poor in execution that all possible pressure was brought to bear upon the Bureau of Engraving and Printing with the result that within three months that institution had engraved a die and manufactured plates, officially known as "hardened steel plates," from which cards were printed and issued to the public on January 23, 1918. "These cards being printed from engraved steel plates show a well executed likeness of Thomas Jefferson etched in fine smooth lines. The printing reverted to the carmine ink of the first typographed cards."

The reversion to carmine, however

The 3c die II, and the 4c Rotary Coils, have appeared on unwatermarked paper, Perf. 10. The 3c is in a bluish violet and the 4c is light yellow brown.

Both these items are already in the boxes of subscribers to Gibbons' New Issue Service for U. S.

The 10c Special Delivery has changed from bright blue to a deep dull slate blue.

That is also in the new issue distribution.

The 9c Perf. 10 with wmk. has just turned up in a yellowish red shade heretofore not seen by us.

That is also in the new issue distribution.

MONEY VS. COLLECTIONS.

This is an action in the Philatelic Court of the United States. The undersigned is the attorney for "Money," the plaintiff, and "Collections," the defendants, have local counsel everywhere.

The plaintiff complains of the defendants and alleges that the defendants on various occasions have offered to surrender themselves to the plaintiff for a good and valuable consideration, which the plaintiff stands ready and willing to pay but that defendants now refuse to so surrender themselves.

Wherefore, the plaintiff demands an order compelling the exchange and surrender of the defendants for the plaintiff.

Defendants please take notice and state what you have to surrender and what consideration you require.

The plaintiff wants really fine collections of U. S. stamps and scarce single copies on and off cover. Collections cat. less than $500.00 or cheap stamps not wanted. [79

UNITED STATES STAMPS!!!

I am breaking up a magnificent collection which contains such RARITIES AS THE 24c AND 90c IMPERF. 1860 ISSUE; 15c AND 24c 1869, 2c PAN-AMERICAN, AND THE 24c AEROPLANE WITH INVERTED CENTERS, all of the re-issues, and most of the special printings; Departments complete and Newspaper stamps nearly so. Now is a chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

H. F. COLMAN

was not exclusive, as my list reads: red, carmine-red, carmine and carmine-rose. And other shades probably exist.

The following description of their manufacture is interestingly written by Mr. Leavy, in the American Philatelist:

"The hardened steel plates used for printing the present cards are engraved steel surface printing plates. As we were heretofore ignorant of the fact that this method of manufacture was used by the Government in any of its printing work, we deem a description of interest to our readers.

"A die is deeply engraved with the design in recess, . . . from this die transfers are taken on oblong flat pieces of steel, with the design in relief, before hardening these oblong pieces of steel are slightly curved vertically, each is known as a plate, forty-eight are fastened with set screws to a diagonally grooved cylinder, in four rows of twelve, allowing for the proper spacing of the card size, this cylinder is used for printing the cards and is known as the 'make up plate.' The card is in a large roll or drum and together with the make up plate is placed in a press similar to that used for printing newspapers, each revolution of the make up plate prints forty-eight cards and the drum of card paper is cut at the end of each revolution, the sheets of forty-eight cards being later fed to a machine which cuts them into single postal cards."

The following description will serve to distinguish the two dies of the 2c card:

1918.—Typographed from engraved steel plates, made by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington.—Die II: The base of the numerals "2" extends downward at the left into a ball or scroll form; a ribbon has been added to the hair at the back of Jefferson's shoulder, and the upper loop of this ribbon points directly toward the upright first stroke of the "D" in "CARD."

The two dies differ in other particulars, but the partial description given will identify them.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

1600 SUBJECT PLATES.

By P. M. MANN.

It is not my intention to explain through a lengthy article the whys and wherefores of the new 1600 subject plates recently prepared for the printing of postage stamps, nor to detail the numbers of the plates. This has been reasonably covered elsewhere in the WEEKLY and those interested have read and pondered about the subject. Naturally, every collector interested in the making of U. S. stamps, especially the ultra-specialist, would be pleased to know if these new plates will differ in any particular from the 400 subject plates.

We have been told in the philatelic press that the 1600 subject plates will be made up of four of the 400 subjects with a satisfactory gutter dividing the 1600 subjects into four parts of 400 subjects each, and that each 400 part will be identically marked as the present 400 subject plates are now, that is with guide lines, arrows, etc. That the printed sheet of 1600 stamps will be cut into four sheets of 400 stamps each and thus ready to be perforated in the manner that 400 subject sheets are now perforated, has also been stated, together with the fact that the sheets cannot be distinguished after being issued, except for the plate number, which will tell us that such and such a plate was a 1600 subject one.

Collectors of Revenue Stamps have been aware for some time that some, if not all, of the current (1917) Documentary stamps have been and are being printed from 1600 subject plates. The 1600 subject sheets have a cross (+) mark in the very center of the sheet, to guide the cutting into 400 subject sheets and thus making ready for the perforating machines.

It is probable that the 1600 subject postage stamp sheets will also have this + mark. If so, the collector of corner blocks will be on the lookout for the crosses, just the same as the booklet pane collector looks for the various guides.

D. P. S. AUCTION SALE TERMS.

(On Wednesday, May 7, the Detroit Philatelic Society will hold its 100th meeting, and a banquet will be given at the University Club in honor of the event. In connection with the celebration there will be an auction sale and we reprint the terms of sale as a matter of general information. Without doubt, other auction promotors will profit by the Detroit terms.—W. O. W.)

1. Stamps sold by lot—not by quart.
2. In case of a dispute between bidders, each shall pay for lot and fight it out in adjacent alley.
3. The auctioneer has the right to require a deposit of 99% from successful bidders—known to him—but it is doubtful if he gets it.
4. Every stamp is warranted genuine or otherwise. Lots have been carelessly examined—but in case of errors, any lot may be returned—but the money? No—No—we need it.
5. Lots will be paid for after sale—or you may get them without paying if you can, but old Mr. Treasurer is a "wise guy."
6. Mail or female bidders will as is usual get the "short end" of it—as far as any "gem" lots go, but should not despair, as they are sure of bum lots.
7. Don't expect original gum unless especially mentioned, but a desirable stick of gum will be furnished for 2c plus war tax.
8. Lots described—as superb, fine and choice for fear of offending owners—choice is the worst we dare say.
9. Please don't find fault with the auctioneer—his wife can do that.

PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

CANADA WAR TAX NOS. 301-3.

(We feel that this clipping from the West End Philatelist adds quite a little light to the consideration of the Canada war tax stamp situation. Note that this Coulter communication is dated May 20, 1915, only three months after the 5, 20 and 50c stamps were overprinted. It would seem as though while these stamps may possibly have slipped through the mails and done postal duty, the P. O. Department gave absolutely no recognition to them as postage stamps, and discouraged their use as such in every possible manner.—W. O. W.)

A series of three values of Canadian postage stamps overprinted WAR TAX diagonally in large sans-serif capitals, and issued on February 12th, 1915, was intended for fiscal use only pending the preparation of special "Inland Revenue War Tax" stamps, and was current for a period of three days only. Owing to a misinterpretation of the official instructions regarding their use, however, a number of specimens were used postally, a circumstance which called forth the following communication from the Deputy Postmaster-General of Canada:

Post Office Department, Canada,
OTTAWA, May 20th, 1915.

CIRCULAR TO POSTMASTERS.

With reference to departmental circulars of the 5th March last, informing the Postmaster that postage stamps of five cent, twenty cent and fifty cent denominations impressed with the words "WAR TAX" were being used by the Inland Revenue Department for the collection of the War Tax on wines, etc., and especially instructing the Postmaster that postage stamps of these denominations having the words "WAR TAX" impressed upon them were not to be accepted as postage, as they were being used exclusively for Inland Revenue purposes, the Postmaster is informed that it has been ascertained that these stamps are still in circulation, and he is again warned against accepting them for prepayment of postage, as these were issued for Inland Revenue purposes only, and cannot under any circumstances be accepted as postage.

The one and two cent postage stamps upon which the words "WAR TAX" have been impressed may be accepted for the prepayment of postage and may also be accepted for the prepayment of war duties in all cases whatsoever, but this does not apply to postage stamps of higher denominations upon which the words "WAR TAX" are printed, nor does it apply to Inland Revenue war tax stamps of any denomination whatsoever, as these were issued for Inland Revenue postage only.

(Sd.) R. M. COULTER.

D. F. HUTCHINSON, JR.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Without a doubt the design of the Hutchinson stamp is the most appropriate of any of the match stamps engraved by the Bureau, unless we make an exception in favor of the stamp of J. J. Allen's Sons. Indeed, many of the Bank Note Co. productions do not compare favorably with the Hutchinson. Upon a circular disk in its center is borne a "card" of sulphur matches such as were in common use in New England in the '80's—the very matches which Hutchinson made and upon which his stamp paid the 1c per hundred tax. And not only is the conception most fitting but also the drawing and the execution of the whole design are altogether pleasing. In many details it resembles the Leeds, Robinson adhesive which was also a Bureau engraved stamp of the same period, but the latter is too overloaded with inscriptions to be as charming as the Hutchinson stamp.

It is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size bearing a numeral "1" in each corner, "ONE CENT" at the top, "MATCHES" at the bottom, and "D. F. HUTCHINSON Jr.—SOMERVILLE. MASS." on a band around the central disk. Only 10,000 sheets were issued and the lake color varies little in shade. The Boston Book states:—

First issued, October 24, 1881.
Last issued, January 31, 1883.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
2,100,000 issued, all printed by the Bureau on watermarked paper.

The stamp is listed rouletted but only a single copy is known to exist. After a careful examination of the specimen and study of the facts regarding rouletted M & M and general issue proprietary stamps, the writer is quite certain neither this copy nor any Hutchinson stamps were ever officially rouletted. That is to say, the copy in question is either an unofficial roulette or just a plain fake, with the odds greatly in favor of the latter.

When the Bureau first took over the production of the proprietary revenues in October, 1880, they rouletted some of the stamps, but only for a short time. It is believed that they were insufficiently equipped with perforating machines and had to employ the rouletting machines they were using for the tax paid stamps. If the Bureau was still using rouletting machines on M & M stamps as late as October, 1881, there would be many more rouletted M & M and they would be far commoner than is the case. The writer believes rouletting of general issue and private die stamps at the Bureau ceased months before the first Hutchinson stamp was printed. The Bureau perforating was often erratic and it is not difficult to find perforated stamps with large margins that can be trimmed into "imperfs" or made into fake roulettes and still appear quite satisfactory. Such "imperfs" are too frequently offered by ignorant or unscrupulous vendors.

DEATH OF VETERAN.

On April 26th, 1919, S. C. Stevens, Chicago, passed away at the age of eighty-one years. Silas Curtis Stevens was in active business up to the day of his death almost, and was probably the oldest coin and stamp dealer in trade. The name of Stevens, while not widely advertised, was yet one that was well known to the earlier generations of collectors and well may it be said that a strong link to the past has been broken. Mr. Stevens was proud of his war record; he was a member of the famous Chicago Board of Trade battery in the Civil War. In the succeeding issue further details of Mr. Stevens and his times will appear.

EDITORIAL.

Details—The new revenue law approved by President Wilson on February 24th, 1919, provides for the imposition of new stamp taxes, as many of our readers know. The proprietary medicine tax has been revived and on and after May 1, 1919, retail druggists must affix a stamp that represents a charge of one cent on twenty-five cents, or fraction thereof, of the selling prices. Proprietary medicines and toilet articles, except toilet soaps, are taxable. As the tax must be paid by the purchaser from the stock of the seller "on hand," it will be incumbent upon the retailer to cancel the stamps by writing his name or initials upon them. The fact that a tax may have been paid upon the article under a former law does not relieve the payment of the present tax. An important departure is made in the collection of this proprietary tax, as it is stipulated that the tax may be collected, "in the Commissioner's discretion, either by (1) stamp affixed to the article by vendor, cost of which shall be reimbursed to vendor by purchaser, or (2) by payment to the vendor by purchaser at the time of sale, the taxes so collected being returned and paid to the United States by vendor." When the taxes are collected by the vendor in cash, monthly returns must be made, under oath. Here we see the probability of a decided restriction in the use of the revenue stamps and the removal of any necessity for provisional issues due to the inability to procure stamps. The new proprietary stamps will be placed on sale April 28th, 1919.

Difficulties—The provisional narcotic stamps are of interest to some collectors and their origin is due to a revised interpretation of the law. The vehicle for the narcotic is held to co-exist with it, for tax purposes. Further, each unit in the so-called original package, however small, will have to bear a tax stamp across the stopper of the bottle; and so, stamps of different size will be advisable. Heretofore, the original package was taxed and the units were not, we understand; and consequently, when the government found that drugs on which the tax may have been paid in the "original package" were offered and, inasmuch as the absence of appropriate stamps was prima facie evidence of a violation, recent seizures of unstamped containers created some consternation. Manufacturers have claimed that narcotic goods shipped since February 25, 1919, without stamps were so consigned because the tax stamps could not be obtained from the local officers. The department declares that it instructed revenue collectors to sell the documentary stamps, with the word "Narcotic" written across the top, pending the receipt of the new narcotic stamps. At any rate, the printed Narcotic on documentary stamps are making their appearance. The tax is one cent an ounce or fraction.

Determined—From Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Madison, Wisconsin, we have received another citation that is replete with stamp suggestion: "In citing Civil War precedents for British dealings with neutrals at sea, A. Maurice Low, author of 'The Law of Blockade', quotes a ruling by Chief Justice Chase of the United States Supreme Court, at the time, in the case of the ship The Bermuda (The Bermuda, 3 Wall, 515) whereby 'printing presses, material and paper, and postage stamps belonging to the enemy' were declared contraband. The decision in this case resulted in the holding up, among other things, of a large shipment of stamps from London to Richmond, via Nassau. It was on this decision, construed so as to fit a somewhat altered case that the British government held up the shipment of Liberian postage stamps which had been sent to that country from the printers in Berlin." The blockade runners pursued their hazardous course with success at times but it is among the traditions that some of the London print, five cent Confederate, never reached their destination, as the vessels which included them in their supplies were intercepted by the federal gunboats.

Dubious—We are impressed by the somewhat disconcerting editorial in the March number of the London Philatelist; and from it, a paragraph is taken: "We had hoped to have been able to carry the flag through these strenuous times without change, but circumstances are too strong for us and we have reluctantly been compelled to either materially advance our subscription rates, or join the ranks of those journals which have ceased publication 'for the period', or—permanently." In short, the subscription rate has been increased to one pound and one shilling for the year, or two shillings a number. While we are not conversant with the difficulties that beset philatelic publishing in Great Britain, at present, we know in a general way that they are formidable. We hope sincerely that by no conspiracy of circumstances will the publication of this superior journal be suspended; its absence would be a deprivation that would be felt in let us say the upper realms of philately. In this country, philatelic publishing enterprise is at a low ebb or quite the contrary to the present prosperity. Too, the prices of the stamp publications are fixed traditionally here and a yearly subscription rate of over five dollars for a philatelic monthly would shock some of us into insensibility. It is paradoxical that while philately generally is in a flourishing condition, its representative, the philatelic press, is suffering from inanition. The dealers here must become more liberal in their treatment of their trade papers, if the press is to endure with any credit for the pursuit.

Drift—We notice that Philadelphia Branch No. 18 of the American Philatelic Society has nominated a ticket for the coming election in the oldest national society. In the list, the office of international secretary is assigned to Mr. Philip Dengler of Philadelphia, who is described as a worthy successor to Mr. Kjellstedt, deceased. Mr. H. H. Wilson of New York is given the place of honor on the ticket. The secretary of the American Philatelic Society, Dr. H. A. Davis, is relieved, no doubt, to know that the ballot will not be devoid of names; and it is becoming that an interest be shown in the political workings of the society. At the St. Louis convention, one of the questions that will be discussed is the appointment of a protective or vigilance committee who will be empowered to take certain steps when the interests of philately are attacked and immediate protest is justified. It is known that in the past there have been occasions when it was advisable for the society to place itself on record as an emergency arose and provision should be made to make action possible during the long interval between the annual conventions.

Decided—A reader who evidently was not allowed the right to purchase Narcotic stamps for collecting purposes asks whether it is prohibited that they be sold in the manner indicated. We referred the question to the advocate at the Chicago office and were informed by him that in his opinion the stamps could be sold to individuals who intended to use these stamps only for collections.

NEW REVENUE STAMPS.

We have Wm. T. Kimball to thank for a copy of the Postal Bulletin dated April 26, which gives particulars in connection with the issue of internal revenue proprietary stamps authorized by the Revenue Act of 1918. These stamps are to be used for medicinal and toilet preparations and the act becomes effective May 1. The denominations are 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 10, 20 and 40c.

The 1c and 2c denominations only will be issued to post offices without requisition. Additional supplies may be obtained in the usual manner, by requisitions upon which the words "Proprietary stamps" are to be plainly written. Lack of space prevents our publishing the circular in full.

SEATTLE STAMP EXCHANGE
317 BOREN AVE., SEATTLE, WASHINGTON.
We were fortunate in being delegated to purchase 10,000 Victory 3c United States postage stamps. This means we secured 100 sheets of 100 each. The blocks of six and four with plate numbers as follows:—9415, 9416, 9417, 9419, 9426, 9427, 9428, 9429, 9430, 9431, 9432, 9433. Initials as follows:—C. A. H.—C. A. H. O. H. H.—J. T. F. S. S. L.—S. S. L. J. T. F.—J. A. M. J. T. F.—J. A. M.—J. T. W. N.—J. T. W. M. O. H. H. Also arrow lines have been reserved for collectors throughout the world. We prefer to distribute them as evenly as possible, in order to get acquainted with collectors from all countries. We have no desire to make any premium but will consider offers of stamps in exchange from dealers or individuals in lots of ten or less, in as many varieties as possible. [81

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have received several clippings from the Newark, N. J., Sunday Call sent in by C. M. Breder, who is one of our most faithful correspondents in this direction. One of these is a half-column article devoted to the 3c envelope errors and the new 3c Victory stamp.

—W. H. Z.—As a matter of general information we reply to your question in print. "Album Weeds" is now out of print and we know of no stamp firm which has a supply. It is a book that is not kept up-to-date by supplements or new editions. Your best chance of getting a copy is to write F. H. Vallancey, 89 Farringdon St., London, England.

—We are pleased to say that we have heard from the Hermes Stamp Co. and all differences between our company and this firm have been satisfactorily adjusted. We are glad to be able to make this statement.

—Mrs. Oughtred reports that D. B. Crockett, Nutley, N. J., has adjusted her claim.

—Franklin Cooper can get no reply to letters sent Gabriel Block, Box 244, Franklin, N. J.

—L. V. Lindsey, Norwich, N. Y., would like to hear from anyone who is unable to secure replies to letters sent Edw. S. Pierce, 31 Milk St., Boston, Mass. He cannot now be found at that address. Another address used by Pierce is Millis, Mass. Mr. Lindsey would like quick action.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from J. M. Bartels, O. T. Wilson and Arthur B. Tillson.

—Will the party who sent a letter to this office addressed to H. S. Abbott write him another letter and mail the same to 402 Federal Bldg., Minneapolis, Minn.? The original letter sent to this office has been mislaid. In this connection we beg once more to say that it is exceedingly difficult for us to comply with requests to forward mail. Our mailing list is not arranged alphabetically but by states, cities and towns. The situation is even more complex in that various states have their mailing routes.

—We are pleased to say that we have heard from Paul Dillingham and the matter in question between him and the publishers of the WEEKLY has been satisfactorily adjusted. We take this opportunity of making this public announcement.

—Griebert's Philatelic Notes and Offers, which has been temporarily suspended, will resume publication the first of next month. All who are interested in the collecting of new issues will find this publication of great service. It is published six times per year and the subscription price is 24c. Address Hugo Griebert, 170 Strand, London, England.

—Mr. Arp of San Francisco, Trustee of the S. P. A., reports that each of the four societies in and near San Francisco are each endeavoring to get $150 together to entertain the S. P. A. convention to be held in their city in August. They promise a royal good time to everyone who comes. San Francisco knows how to entertain.

—"The Bureau of Engraving and Printing is experimenting with a machine with finer perforations in stamps than now issued. No stamps, however, have been issued to postmasters. No imperforate stamps of the Lincoln, Alaska-Yukon, or Hudson-Fulton issues are now available.—A. M. DOCKERY, 3d Asst. P. M. G.

—At a meeting of the Philadelphia Branch No. 18, the following ticket was nominated for the coming election of the A. P. S.:—Pres., H. H. Wilson, New York; Board of Vice Pres., F. S. Parmelee, H. A. Whipple, W. P. Wherry, Nebraska; Sec., H. A. Davis, Colorado; Treas., J. E. Scott, Michigan; Int. Sec., Philip Dengler, Penna.; Directors at Large, H. B. Phillips, Calif., and Alvin Good, Ohio.

—Our acquaintanceship with B. Gordon Bushnell, the publisher of the proposed stamp paper Bushnell's Magazine, is such that we have no hesitation in advising our subscribers to enroll their names in support of this new publication.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mention was recently made in one of our editorials that the current 1c stamp had been found perforated 12½. This sounded most unusual, for we well recall the trouble the Post Office had with the perforated 12 sheets, and we could not understand why they were making the perforation smaller. We wrote the Bureau for detailed information and are advised under date of April 22nd by Acting Director Fisher that "there has been no change in the perforating of the stamps, either 1c or other denominations."

He further states, however, "that the Bureau has been experimenting with a machine for perforating stamps, in the hope that the work may be done more economically and expeditiously, but no definite conclusions in this matter have been reached, so that there is nothing for me to advise you in regard to the matter at this time."

We cannot help wondering what the Bureau is doing with the sheets of stamps that they are using in their experiments, for we know their economical ways and it is hard to believe that they would destroy anything that could be sold for postal use.

Mr. W. A. Langdon kindly submits for our inspection a sheet of one hundred and ten subjects of the 1c green, engraved perforated 11, unwatermarked, from the lower left-hand pane of sheet 8461. One hundred of the stamps are precancelled, the left vertical row remaining uncancelled. This sheet is not one of the off centered badly perforated sheets which we described in a recent issue, but is a well centered sheet containing eleven vertical rows which naturally include the vertical guide line and arrow. It seems that this was wrapped in the package of one hundred sheets in such a manner that the left margin was partly torn off so that the sheet would readily match up in size with the others. Some postmaster will, of course, find the sheet of ninety from the other pane, but as yet we have not learned of its existence.

The same gentleman kindly favors us with a vertical block of twenty of the 8c perf. 11, unwatermarked, from the left side of the lower left pane of sheet 7742, wherein the horizontal perforations are double for about three-quarters the width of the stamp. In other words, an attempt was made to perforate the sheet the second time and the error was noted before the sheet had gotten very far.

In recent issues we have mentioned the finding of the current DOCUMENTARY 1c and 40c with double impression. Mr. George Soulman sends us a block of the 3c in similar condition. The Documentary stamps are printed by the offset method and, consequently, these double impressions occur in a similar manner to those of the 3c current postage stamp.

Mr. Soulman also calls our attention to the printing of the 3c Victory stamp, wherein a portion of the plate has been over-inked. This results in a very pleasing impression wherein the flags are darker and stand out more clearly. These are usually found around the outer edges of the sheets. We thank Mr. Ernest Irion for similar information.

Mr. Morton Dean Joyce submits for our inspection sixteen plate number strips of three taken from the sixteen different plates of the 3c Victory stamp. Each of these are from the upper right pane and it is of interest to mention that the letter "F" signifying that the plate is finished appears in front of 11 out of the 16 strips. Of course, the other five plates have the "F" in other positions on the sheet. Numbers 9413-28-29 show the small straight line capital "F", whereas plates No. 9414-15-16-18-19-30-32 and 33 have the capital "F" with serifs. Plates No. 9412-17-26-27 and 31 have the letter elsewhere.

Mr. W. S. Ledbetter submits a vertical pair of the same stamp from the lower left-hand pane showing two sets of engravers' initials, namely "J.T.W.M." and "O.H.H." This indicates that at least two people worked upon the transferring and finishing of this plate.

Mr. Harman Wendell submits for our inspection a copy of the $60.00 Documentary issue of 1917 Scott's 4245, and calls our attention to the fact that this is not perforated 11 as the catalogue states. We find on close investigation that the stamp is perforated 12, and as these stamps are in much smaller sheets we judge that they are perforated by a special machine which gauges 12. We, therefore, doubt whether any of these higher value Documentary stamps are perforated 11, as Scott would lead us to believe. Please, Mr. Luff, look into this matter more thoroughly and make changes in the next catalogue.

Prof. M. Loewy is the first to favor us with a copy of the new 8c Provisional Playing Card Stamp. The one that he sends is used by the Republic Playing Card Company and is surcharged in red, inverted, "8c—R.P.C. CO. 4-1-'19." We have no doubt all other Companies are issuing similar provisionals and we will gladly welcome information concerning same.

We wish to express our appreciation for numerous notes from Messrs. D. W. Hudson. L. W. Bealer, Byron Jaskulek, Frank Kocher, H. V. Swallow, J. C. Northrup, and E. W. Fuss, the latter sending us some very interesting covers from the American Forces in France.

AZORES.—Mr. Barton Morse has shown us a copy of the current 3½c Portugal stamp surcharged ACORES in black.

BELGIUM.—Henry Hooreman informs us that a new stamp is about to appear showing a portrait of the King with his helmet on. The appearance of this stamp foreshadows a complete new issue ultimately.

BRITISH GUIANA.—Mr. Hugo Griebert has shown us a new printing of the 6c stamp and notes the color is somewhat different than heretofore.

CANADA.—We are indebted to Mr. J. Wedderburn Wilson, of Caldy, Cheshire, for the sight of two postally used copies of the current 20c stamp, which he received some weeks ago on a parcel from Toronto. These specimens are in a totally different color to the normal olive, the new shade being closely allied to that of the 3c value, except that the portrait and the spandrels are in a paler hue than the rest of the stamps. So far, we have not received specimens or news of this novelty from any dealer.—Stamp Collecting.

CAYMAN ISLANDS.—Mr. Frank M. Mason advises us that the apparently light pink paper on which the new ½d WAR stamps are printed is a result of the sheets of stamps being placed between paper of this pale pink and that it is not a paper of special color.

CHINA.—S. S. Wang Chin Chai has shown us the new 1½c card. The design is the same as the current adhesives and is printed in blue.

EGYPT.—Mr. Hugo Griebert has shown us a copy of the 3pias, provisional stamp. The official stamp No. 201 has been surcharged "3 P. T." with Egyptian characters in two lines. The printing is in black.

FRANCE.—Mr. W. T. Wilson has shown us a copy of the new "War Orphans" series issued March 25. The stamp is of a pale green color wit REPUBLIQUE FRANCAISE at th top, POSTES at the bottom togethe with the value 5c+5c. There are tw children in the foreground, the large with his arm around the smaller on and above directly under the wor FRANCAISE is ORPHELINS DE L GUERRE.

FRENCH P. O. IN CANTON.—Mr. Jame M. Henry has shown us copies of th 2/5c, 4c, 10c and Red Cross stamps re cently put on sale. The 2/5c is sur charged in black on the current 1c Ind China and does not have the Canto surcharge. The 4c is surcharged in blu on the 10c Canton, while the 10c i surcharged in black on the 25c Canto stamp. The Red Cross surcharge is o the 5c Indo China stamp, which is als surcharged 4 cents, in blue. The Re Cross is in the upper left corner and ha beside it the "5C", both printed carmine

JAMAICA.—The half-penny war ta stamp of 1916, with the words WA TAX in one line, has recently appeare with inverted overprint and has bee offered extensively to dealers in thi country. On comparing the normal an inverted overprints we find their genera appearance very similar, but the latte seems to be from new and clean typ with thin strokes to the letters, whereas the normal overprint has many defectiv letters and the lines are thick, as if th face of the type had been flattened b long use. On submitting samples of th stamps to our printing department w are informed that, though the two over prints have a marked resemblance, they are from two different styles of type the normal being termed "Caslon" and the inverted "Roman." It is obvious that the latter is a counterfeit.—Scott's Monthly Circular.

INDIAN EXPEDITIONARY FORCE.—We have before us a letter from Baghdad, dated February 20, in which our correspondent says:—"I am sending you herewith some stamps issued for the Mosul district, which were sold at a certain post office in Baghdad in complete sets only. I hastened thither and was just in time to secure the last seven sets. The Mosul stamps may possibly be very Maury. The value in question is surcharged on the 5 francs (+5fr), light and dark blue.—Stamp Collecting.

LUXEMBURG.—The current set of stamps will soon be replaced by a new set. Particulars are lacking, but information will shortly be at hand through our correspondent, Henry Hooreman.

NETHERLANDS.—Mr. Frank P. Brown has shown us the 1½c No. 179 with a red surcharge.

NYASSA.—We have to thank Mr. Maury for news of the appearance of the under-mentioned provisionals, all of which must be rare, as very few seem to have been issued; of the first three, for example—¼, ½ and 1 centavo—it is stated that not more than 500 copies were surcharged; while of the 1½ and 2 centavos only 1,000 are reported to have been issued. Overprinted locally with word REPUBLICA in small capitals, and new value:—

On the Stamps of 1901.

½c on 2½ reis, brown and black.
½c on 5 reis, grey-violet and black.
1c on 10 reis, green and black.
1½c on 15 reis, yellow-brown and black.
2c on 20 reis, vermilion and black.
3½c on 25 reis, orange and black.
5c on 50 reis, blue and black.
7½c on 75 reis, carmine and black.
8c on 80 reis, mauve and black.
10c on 100 reis, bistre and black.
15c on 150 reis, red-brown and black.
20c on 200 reis, blue-green and black.
30c on 300 reis, green and black.

Stamps of 1903, Overprinted "PROVISORIO".

1½c on 15 reis, yellow-brown and black.
3½c on 25 reis, orange and black.

On the Stamps of 1903, Already Surcharged.

40c on 65 on 80 reis, mauve and black.
50c on 115 on 150 reis, red-brown and blk.
$1 on 130 on 300 reis, green and black.

—Stamp Collecting.

PORTUGAL.—In reference to the Chronicle item furnished by the Aborn Stamp Co., Stamp Collecting adds:—"The recent abortive attempts to restore the Monarchy in this restive country have left their impress on the stamp album, though the novelties in question were naturally not authorized by the Lisbon Government, and are, therefore, not to be regarded as bona-fide postage stamps. The Royalists, when masters of Oporto, prepared a series of stamps having the Royal Arms, with inscriptions, "Correios" at top, and "Reino de Portugal" below, with the value in reis, expressed at foot. The labels were imperforate, and comprised denominations of 2½, 5, 10, 20, and 35 reis. As already stated, however, these were not accepted for postage in Republican Portugal, and were therefore as abortive as the revolution which gave them birth."

SWEDEN.—Mr. W. T. Wilson has shown us a copy of the 8 öre OFFICIAL stamp just out. It is printed on wavy lines watermarked paper, and is of a claret color.

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO.—The Economist Stamp Co. have shown us the one penny war tax stamp of the last printing with double surcharge. It is stated that one sheet (120 stamps) was found. This is the setting in which nineteen stamps have the word TAX 10 mm. wide instead of the usual 9 mm., and this variety is, of course, doubly printed also. —Scott's Monthly Circular.

UKRAINIA.—In our Chronicle will be found a list of Russian stamps surcharged with a curious device somewhat resembling a trident. Champion's Bulletin Mensuel states that this device is called the "Emblem of Liberty" and figures in the arms of the Republic. We notice that it appears in four of their five new stamps and in two of them it forms the principal feature of the design. Elsewhere it is described as a symbolical representation of the Holy Spirit descending in the form of a dove. Still another version is that the device is patterned after the sacred candlesticks in the cathedral of Saint Sophia at Kiev —which city is regarded by the Ukrainians as the cradle of Christianity — and that the use of the device proclaims the triumph of Christianity over the Mohammedans. — Scott's Monthly Circular.

OREGON ON THE PHILATELIC MAP.

The Oregon Philatelic Society held its annual election April 17 with the result that the old board was re-elected for the ensuing year. The officers are: Peter Wagner, President; H. Carmouche, Vice President; W. H. Zimmer, Secretary; E. A. Southwick, Treasurer; Edwin Caswell, Sales Manager. Mr. Southwick exhibited his collection of U. S. stamps showing shades and cancellations.

The society, which is now two years old, has not done much during the war beyond maintaining its organization, but now expects to go ahead with an increasing membership roll as the "boys" gradually return to their homes and conditions become more nearly normal. Meetings are held on the first and third Thursdays of each month in the Reading Room, Oregon Building, corner of Fifth and Oak Streets in Portland, and visitors are always welcome. The Secretary's address is 393 Killingsworth Ave., Portland, Oregon.

A STAMP HARD TO ADMIRE.

If the Postmaster General were not having so many other troubles just now, much could, and probably would, be said in criticism of the new Victory stamps he is now selling. Even as it is, a mild complaint about these stamps can be made without an unpardonably great departure from that kindliness and consideration which we are all in duty bound to show to everybody, and especially to the unhappy and the unfortunate.

For, as art, the Victory issue is really very trying. Crowded and confused in design, it takes close inspection to decide what it was the intention to picture on them, and—well, the reward is not commensurate with the labor expended. Of a type so large and meaty is the figure among the flags that there is difficulty in evading the suspicion that the artist went to Germany for his model, or brought her from there in pre-embargo days.

On a mere hasty glance the stamps suggest or recall the work of the artists who have decorated the front of New York's Public Library—artists who evidently drew their inspiration from the older editions of Captain Cook's "Voyages"—the editions containing the pictures of scenes in the Fiji Islands on festal days before the missionaries went there.

After all, however, these stamps do stick, and they do carry letters, so they serve a purpose.—N. Y. Times.

NEW ISSUE HAPPENINGS.

Belgium.—A special issue to commemorate the liberation of Belgium is heralded, comprising the values 5, 10 and 25 centimes, all bearing the likeness of King Albert. A new general postage issue is also said to be impending.

Bohemia.—The Headsplin fortress of Prague depicted upon the new permanent stamps of the Czecho-Slavs, stands upon the left bank of the river Moldau, dominating the city. Founded in 1333, and restored in 1757-75, it was the scene of a regrettable incident—which precipitated the outbreak of the Thirty Years' War, when, by order of Count Thurm, the imperial officers Martinitz and Slawator were flung bodily from one of the windows. The Cathedral of Prague (1334) stands upon the same height, together with various palaces, monasteries and gardens. At the foot of the hill are the Bohemian Parliament Buildings and the Straka Academy.

British Colonies.—From the Philatelic Magazine we learn that the universal P. & R. Key-plate numbers 1, 2, 3 and 5 have been destroyed, and two new plates numbered 6 and 7 constructed. Plates Nos. 4 and 7 are now employed together for printing sheets of 240 stamps. Key-plates No. 5 and 6 print sheets of 120 only.

Forthcoming new Colonial stamps announced by the Colonial Journal include: Bahamas, 2d grey; Ceylon, 1 cent brown; Cyprus, 9 piastres red and purple on yellow; Dominica, 23, purple and blue on blue. Hong Kong—a new plate for the 25 cents value, is being prepared, owing to the discovery of an error in the Chinese character for "two" on the existing plate. Kedah, 2 cents green on 4 cents red; Leeward Islands, 1s black on green, 5s green on red on yellow: Montserrat, 1½d War Stamp with black overprint; Nyasaland Protectorate, 2sh 6d black and red on blue: Turks Islands, 3d overprinted "WAR TAX" in red; Gilbert and Ellice Islands, 3d purple on yellow.

Esthonia.—The Republic of Esthonia, whose independence was proclaimed on November 11th, 1918, occupies some 7,817 square miles of territory on the shores of the Gulf of Finland. The chief town and port is Reval. Originally belonging to Denmark, and later to Sweden, it was brought under Russian influence in 1721 by the treaty of Nystadt.

Great Britain.—We understand that the current 2sh 6d, 5sh and 10sh stamps will in future be printed by Bradbury, Wilkinson and Co. instead of by the present printers (De la Rue & Co.). This makes the third change in the printers of the line-engraved values since their introduction.

Russia.—The two recently-issued stamps of the Bolshevik Republic form part of a complete general postage series, designs for which were prepared over a year ago, but whose production has been somewhat delayed by internal conditions in the land of their origin. The first design—to be used for the lower values—the Russian Eagle, is the work of the artist Tchchonin, whilst the four other types—(1) hand cutting chain with sword, (2) old Russian Knight, (3) St. George and Dragon, (4) allegorical figure of Liberty blessing soldiers—are from the brain of M. Savin, chief engraver to the State Printing Office, who was also responsible for the Romanoff series and the War Charity stamps of 1905.

The two stamps referred to, though usually known as "Bolshevik" stamps, are attributed by some authorities to the Government preceding.

Ukraine.—The curious trident-like device adopted as the national symbol of the Ukraine Republic and which figures on the majority of its postage stamps is intended to represent the sacred candelabra of the Cathedral of St. Sophia (A. D. 1037) at Kieff. In the Greek Church these candelabra symbolise the domination of the Christian faith over the Mussulman foe. They have previously figured in a postage stamp design, being found upon the special series of the Russian occupation of Crete, issued at Rethyme in 1899.

Uruguay.—A Peace commemorative stamp is to be issued here in the near future.—West End Philatelist.

THE SCARCITY OF SILVER.

(We have received an article from a correspondent in Shanghai which deals with the scarcity of silver and predicts higher silver values during 1919, due to the diminishing production of silver everywhere. We would like to reprint the article in its entirety in view of the interest that stamp collectors have in the silver coinage of the East. We are compelled, however, to confine ourselves to the letter sent in by our correspondent which we publish herewith.—W. O. W.)

Since you published your notes in your issue of Nov. 2nd, the armistice has been signed and inquiries are coming by every mail to China, principally from the big Swiss and some Scandinavian dealers, for far-eastern stamps. These dealers, along with certain American dealers, cannot understand why they must now pay considerably more for stamps from the Chinese dealer. It is not that the native dealers' local prices have advanced much but that they ask higher prices in gold currency, so that when they receive remittances, and these are converted into silver currency, they will obtain amounts proportionate to those which rule locally.

It is useless for buyers in America and Europe to wail in the hope that later on exchange rates between gold-using countries and silver ditto will come down; silver will remain high for many years, and in the meantime those dealers who delay replenishing their stocks of far-eastern stamps will find that when they decide to buy quantities direct from the Far East not only have the local prices considerably advanced, but on top of this they will still be up against the high exchange rates. Such stamps as Kiachou, German China, obsolete Chinese (in quantities) and the foreign offices in China are at present offered at very attractive prices. These prices cannot remain at their present low levels much longer, but will soon move up to the true values of the stamps.

I think it in the interests of American dealers that they take advantage of the small parcels here and there on the Chinese market, and to this end should like to see you note this and the reason for same in an editorial of any early issue.

NASSAU ST., NEW YORK, N. Y.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

SCH.—An abbreviation for schilling shown on many of the stamps of the German states.

SCHILLING.—The value in which many of the stamps of the German states are expressed. In Mecklenburg there were 48 schilling in the thaler, which equalled about 75c, while in the other states 16 schilling were equal to a mark, which had a value of about 24c in American money.

SCHLESWIG.—A province of Prussia which formerly belonged to Denmark. It issued its own stamps in 1865, but in 1868 these were superseded by the set for the North German Confederation.

SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN. — These erstwhile Danish duchies issued stamps for their combined use during the revolution of 1850 and also while under the protection of Austria and Prussia. Later, when they were incorporated with Prussia, each duchy issued its own stamps. (See also "Holstein" and "Schleswig".)

SCHWAREN.—The value shown upon one of the stamps of Oldenburg. A schwaren was the twelfth part of a silbergroschen and was, therefore, equal to about one-sixth of a cent in American money.

SCHWEIZER RENECKE. — A small village in the Transvaal about 100 miles north-east of Kimberly, which was besieged by the Boers at various times between August 19th, 1900, and Jan. 9th, 1901. The British garrison and few inhabitants kept in touch with the outside world by forwarding letters by native runners. These were franked indiscriminately with ½d and 1d Cape Colony stamps and ½d, 1d, 2d and 6d Transvaal stamps, all of which were handstamped with the word BESIEGED. This overprint, however, gives them no special status as an issue of provisional war stamps and they are merely interesting mementoes of the siege.

SCINDE.—A province of the Bombay Presidency, India. In 1852 when Sir Bartle Frere was Comissioner of this District he issued some ½ anna stamps, these being the first postage stamps used in India. They were suppressed in October, 1854, when the general issue for British India made its appearance.

SCINDE DISTRICT DAWK.—The inscription shown upon the stamps of Scinde.

SCRIPT TYPE.—Printers' type in imitation of handwriting which is sometimes used for surcharging stamps.

SCUTARI DI ALBANIA.—An overprint applied to certain Italian stamps intended for use at the office established in Scutari, Albania.

SCUDO.—The unit of value in Romagna and the Roman states. The scudo was divided into 100 bajocchi and was equal to about a dollar in American money.

S. D. — These letters, signifying "Stamp Duty" are found overprinted on certain Hong Kong stamps. These stamps were evidently intended for some fiscal purpose, but they were freely used for postage at one time.

SECRET MARKS.—These are small marks introduced into the designs of stamps for some specific purpose. It was at one time very generally believed that stamp manufacturers were in the habit of introducing secret marks into their work as an extra precaution against, or a help in the detection of, forgeries. Where these marks are intentionally introduced they are simply meant as distinguishing marks, and there is nothing "secret" about them. Thus the "hairlines" on certain British stamps, which are usually known as secret marks, were introduced to distinguish stamps printed from certain plates. In the same way the so-called secret marks on the United States stamps of 1873 were introduced into the designs so that the Continental Bank Note Co. could distinguish between the impressions from plates of their own manufacture and those made by the National Bank Note Co.

UNITED STATES STAMPS !!!

I am breaking up a magnificent collection which contains such RARITIES AS THE 24c AND 90c IMPERF. 1860 ISSUE; 15c AND 24c 1869, 2c PAN-AMERICAN, AND THE 24c AEROPLANE WITH INVERTED CENTERS, all of the re-issues, and most of the special printings; Departments complete and Newspaper stamps nearly so. Now is a chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

SEDANG.—In 1889 a set of bogus stamps appeared which were stated to be for use in the "kingdom" of Sedang. They were printed to the order of a French adventurer, who styled himself King Marie I of the Sedangs, and were intended for the exploitation of stamp collectors.

SEEBECK, N. F.—Head of the Hamilton Bank Note Company, of New York, who in 1889 made contracts with various Central American republics under which he agreed to supply them with new sets of stamps every year on condition that he was allowed to retain the plates and receive the remainders as soon as each new set appeared. The stamps which owe their origin to this arrangement are very generally known as "Seebecks".

SEGNATASSA — (plural, Segnatasse).—The inscription shown upon the postage due stamps of Italy and San Marino meaning "Notice Tax".

SEID EINIG-EINIG-EINIG! — The motto shown on the German 2 marks stamps of 1900 and 1902 meaning "Be United, United, United".

SELANGOR.—A state of the Malay Peninsula which has been under British protection since 1874. Postage stamps were first issued in 1878, but since 1900 the special stamps have been superseded by the general issue for the Federated Malay States.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have a letter at this office for A. M. Doig and shall be pleased to receive his address.

—E. H. Gammans, the well-known New York dealer, is temporarily located in Springfield, Mass. He is now able to resume his interest in stamps and will be heard from regularly in the future through our columns. The fraternity of dealers will be interested in knowing that Mr. Gammans is now a Benedict. He writes us that he has recently acquired Mexico No. 582 inverted used. He claims that it would be difficult to duplicate this stamp.

—First distribution of New Issues by Guest's New Issue Service included 5 varieties of Ceylon War Stamps, 5 Palestine, the late Cayman and Dominica War Stamps and new shades of Sierra Leone. Subscribers got these at 15% over face.

—A. H. Schumacher has made an interesting find in connection with the Confederate Independence, Texas Local. He establishes the fact that this stamp exists on grayish paper, where Scott's catalog lists it only on buff paper.

—We are indebted to Peter A. Brannon for the information that an aero mail between Macon and Montgomery, Ga., both ways was effective May 3 to May 10 in connection with the Southeast Aeronautical Congress held in Macon, Ga., at that time. We have tangible evidence that the service was installed, but do not know the success attained as a daily service. While aeroplane cancellations of a special character are now prohibited, the cancelling marks on mail through these two cities proved conclusively that letters were carried part of the distance by an aerial route. 6c postage was required.

EDGEWOOD-COVERT-APEX.

The past month has been fruitful in the building up of our mailing list and there is every indication that this year all past records will be beaten in the number of new subscriptions turned in. The Edgewood Stamp Co. has a total of 257 subscriptions to their credit and the five months remaining will undoubtedly carry the figures over the 400-mark. The firm sent in 48 for April, and we recognize also the good work done by the Covert Stamp Co., Apex Stamp Co., W. P. Colman, Chas. Christensen and Liberty Stamp Co., as per the following statement:

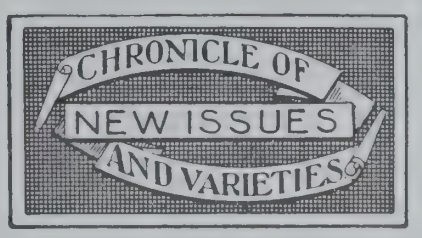
STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.



Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. A. S. Davenport advised us a few weeks ago that he was confidentially informed that a series of Proprietary stamps would make their appearance on May 1st, in order that tax on proprietary articles might be paid in accordance with the recent revenue act. Mr. George Soulman is the first to show us specimens of these stamps, he sending us the 1c and 2c values.

The stamps are printed in dark blue on paper watermarked double line U. S. I. R., and are perforated 11. They are the same size as the Victory stamps, are produced by the "offset" method, and are issued in sheets of one hundred subjects. As for design, we have a large colored figure in the center surrounded by a white background, this background forming a circle flattened at the bottom. At the top we find in two horizontal lines stretching the entire width of the stamp, in white letters, PROPRIETARY —U. S. INTERNAL REVENUE. At the bottom CENTS scrolls and frame lines make up the balance of the design.

In the margins we find at the bottom 1 CENT PROPRIETARY. PLATE 3408 stretched under four stamps. The 2c block shown us is from plate 3459 and the wording stretches under three stamps only.

We understand the series consists of the 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 8c, 10c, 20c and 40c, all in blue.

We also desire to thank Mr. Frank Hadley and George C. Rockfellow for early information on the subject.

Mr. B. K. Miller writes to inform us that he has obtained the lower and left plate blocks from sheet 9993. It will be recalled from our recent list that this is one of the 1600 subject plates. In giving us this information, Mr. Miller mentions that it is quite probable there is a colored cross at the center of the four plates to aid in cutting these larger sheets of 1600 subjects into sheets of four hundred. The next time your editor visits Washington he will make an effort to see a proof sheet from one of these larger plates so that we will know definitely.

Mr. George Soulman kindly submits a pair of the 3c Type IV in what he correctly describes as a "dizzy" print. It is one of the well known so called double prints with a little smudging in addition, and as a result we get a stamp that looks as if the sheet of paper was simply slung at the plate. This same correspondent also sends us blocks of the same stamp with offset on the back, also a very interesting shade of the Type II 3c booklet in a very deep violet.

Mr. Wendell Harman submits a booklet pane of the 3c Type II in the pleasing lavender shade of the rotary coil. On first glance you are almost lead to believe it to be a rotary impression, but close examination as to size, lines, etc., show that it is not. It may be of interest to mention here that a recent letter from the Bureau informs us that to date only coil stamps have been printed from the rotary press—I refer to postage stamps only, of course, for we know a number of tax paids have been printed in this manner.

Mr. Frederick Peck writes to inform us that the odd magenta shade of the 3c Victory stamp which we described in our Chronicle of April 19th was located by him in Glens Falls, New York. He also states that a sheet of a similar but darker shade was also located at the same post office. Mr. Karl Koslowski located some in Detroit from plate 9416 and states they were purchased early in March.

We wish to thank Rev. Clarence C. Silvester, and Messrs. Geo. E. Foster and G. P. Kettlewell for additional notes.

AITUTAKI.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the current 1½d orange stamp of New Zealand, surcharged "AITUTAKI" in red.

AUSTRALIA.—We have been shown some specimens of stamps cut from 1½d wrappers with the letters OS printed (not punctured) in the upper corners of the stamp, and used for ordinary official postal services. We cannot say whether this custom is authorised or permitted by the Department, but the stamp itself was a novelty to us.—Aust. Phil. Record.

BOLIVIA.—Revista Filatelica chronicles and illustrates a new series for this republic, but fails to state whether the stamps are lithographed or engraved,

EDITORIAL.

Called—The authorities announce the establishment of aeroplane mail service betwen Macon, Georgia, and Montgomery, Alabama, in the following notice: "The establishment of temporary aeroplane mail service is authorized from Macon to Montgomery (a distance of 155 miles), one round trip daily, except Sunday, from May 3 to 10. This service is to be operated without expense to the Department."

Circulated—The proprietary stamps under the latest tax were received in time for sale on May 1st, 1919, and by this time are generally in circulation. The denominations include one, two, three, four, five, eight, ten, twenty and forty cents; and the stamps have a business-like appearance that fits in well with the purpose that they serve.

Commended—Mr. A. H. Pike, Buffalo, New York, who is devoting much time and effort to promoting an index of philatelic literature, writes to favor the formation of the proposed society of collectors of philatelic literature. He writes: "My idea would be to make it a wide-open society to every honest collector who appreciates the literature enough to subscribe to a representative number of stamp papers and who thinks enough of them to keep them in an orderly manner so that he can refer to them. There is a wonderful field for an organization of this kind. It could be a great help in educating even the old-timers as well as beginners and it would at least help to preserve the literature." Mr. Elwood Banks says: "Count on my support for the literature society that you are thinking of starting. I have disposed of about all my stamp papers, but have kept some of the earlier prints and curiosities, as I call them. My reason for this step is due to lack of room, as, having retired from business, I live at an apartment hotel and have no house space. I think it advisable to rescue what facts we can, particularly of the earlier productions in this country." Another correspondent suggests that we "do not try to force the issue" even though the movement has his support, as he thinks that unless the society fills a want, it will not flourish. However, he will be glad to co-operate with the organizers, if once the step is taken to start operations.

Costly—Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Madison, Wisconsin, in pressing his literary search, has uncovered another bit of postal lore which he adds to the series of fragments: "Sir John Bourinot, in his book, Canada, 1760-1900 (chapter 9, page 179) says: 'In 1838.....the people could hardly afford to pay the postage rates on letters. The poor settlers were often unable to pay the 3sh, 4sh, or even more, imposed on their letters from homes across the seas, and it was not unusual to find in country post offices a large accumulation of dead letters, refused or neglected on account of the expense. The management of the post offices by imperial officers was one of the grievances of the people of the provinces generally. They were carried on for the benefit of a few persons and not for the convenience or solace of the many thousands who were anxious for news of their kin across the ocean.' While the author here speaks of conditions before the union of Upper and Lower Canada, it may be added that the same conditions prevailed even some years after that event, in the territory concerned, while in the maritime provinces it was not until the formation of the Dominion in 1867 that the postal service was treated as a vital factor in the life of the people."

Changed—From Brigadier General H. H. Bandholtz, American Expeditionary Forces, we have received particulars of an "error" in the booklets sent abroad: "You probably are aware of the fact that the government sent over to the American Expeditionary Forces some booklets of stamps for special use here. Only the one cent and two cent denominations were issued and each book contained 10 pages of thirty stamps to a page, making a total of three hundred stamps to the book. Each page or leaf consisted of three horizontal rows of 10 each. These books now are all practically out of existence and although I have picked up a very few of the one cent stamps, I have not been able to locate any of the two cent books. Apparently, in putting some of the booklets together an error was made in at least one box of a hundred books; and they were bound together so that they open from left to right, instead of the regular form, from right to left. The cover of each book is labeled: '300-One-Cent Stamps-$3.' I understand that these books were bound together in this shape so that they would fit in official envelopes and thereby be easily carried by motorcycle and other couriers for distribution." Many of us have become aware of the fact that the overseas booklets have become scarce and General Bandholtz' recital has its interest.

Coming—Again we have heard from Pvt. Earl Harlow, who has been in France so long, to the effect that he expects to come home in June; and we believe him when he says: "I have seen quite a bit of service and all of it with the 28th Keystone Division." Our correspondent says that he has met a number of Tommies who are confirmed collectors, and he adds that he has come in contact with two members of the American Philatelic Society and one of the Society of Philatelic Americans. Private Harlow says that he has added some good covers and single specimens to his store of stamps.

Confided — A candid correspondent writes: "I am afraid that I have a secret satisfaction in attending to the small details of the covers that I gather in my quest for things for my collection. For instance, the intimate note that sometimes was sounded by the sender of the letter to the postmaster, on the face of the cover hits my fancy. The simple, 'Postmaster will please forward this if Mr. S.—should not be in—', on a letter sent in 1819 gives me pause for a few moments of speculation as to the times, when, after all, people seemed to be nearer one another than at present. Then, the inscription, 'A Woman of Color,' after the name of a colored Mammy on an envelope sent in 1850 by a kindly master, catches my thoughts and I start on a trip of rumination that beats the travelogue all hollow, so far as I am concerned. I do not need the distractions of the movies to start a riot of imagination; just a little something out of the ordinary on a cover, inside or out, gives me a feeling akin to pleasure. As for the written letters, I delve into them sympathetically rather than flippantly; and in extenuation for my prying propensity, let me say that I have had at times an insight into conditions in the early half of the last century that was helpful to me in my work, notably in the case of a letter sent in the '40's in which the 'plague' and its ravages were eloquently, if crudely, depicted, as I fitted it into an article that I was preparing at the time." The doctor who writes certainly is a busy man, but stamps well repay him for the time he gives them.

PANAMA AND ITS POSTAGE STAMPS.

By FREDERICK E. HEYDON.

CHAPTER X.

Fourth Panama Issue, 1904 to 1906.

This issue is a great improvement on its predecessor as regards freedom from errors and general neatness of the surcharge, but several printings were required of the more frequently used values. A few additional errors occurred in the type-set surcharge, and the ink used shows wide variations. The double, inverted and diagonal surcharges are so numerous that it seems as if they could have been avoided as the defective sheets were never actually sold to the public. So far as I am aware, they are never found used. It is only fair to assume that the sheets in question were disposed of by persons in the Panamanian postal service to speculators, and that these varieties are to be classed as speculative.

The Fourth Panama Issue appeared in January, 1904, and continued in use until 1906. Its use was supplemented at times by the 3rd Panama Issue, which as stated, was held back and only used to fill out temporary shortages, and later by surcharging the remainders on hand of the three higher values of previous issues. Originally its use seems to have been confined to the City of Panama, but was gradually extended until it was in general use throughout the republic.

Its general characteristics may be summarized as follows:

The word "Colombia" is, as in the preceding issue, obliterated by a bar across the top of the stamp with PANAMA reading upward at the left side and downward at the right. The entire surcharge is printed in carmine. It is set up to cover fifty stamps, ten horizontal rows of five stamps each. Thus, two impressions, side by side, are required to surcharge the sheet. PANAMA measures 15x2 mm. and there are only a few varieties. In the original printing, one stamp in each fifty has the word reading upward at both sides, another has it reading downward at both sides, a third has a small thick "N", a fourth appears to have an inverted "V" in place of the last "A", and a fifth has the word PANAMA misplaced, being only 2½ mm. below the bar instead of the usual distance of 4 mm. The double surcharges require no explanation, but these also exist horizontally shifted surcharges in which the first or second impression had been printed too far to one side, so that one of the outer vertical rows was without surcharge and either the fifth or sixth vertical row had a double surcharge. As the variety with PANAMA misplaced and that with both words reading upward occupy respectively the fourth and sixth places in the first vertical row of the setting, it is evident that they must be included in the double surcharges, the second surcharge, in each case, being of the normal variety.

I select this example as typical of the combinations which result at times from these misplaced surcharges, but will not include them in my reference list for two reasons, one is that the combinations actually in existence are unknown, and the other that while these errors are very curious and interesting it seems to me unwise to complicate a reference list with such varieties.

The original setting, which occurs in all values, is illustrated herewith.

VERTICAL DOUBLE PRINT.

I have the vertical double print of the 3c offset Type IV which the expert chroniclers claim cannot exist. I have only twenty (20) copies and while they last I will supply single copies at $5.00 each. When you want the unusual in current United States stamps consult

MR. COLLECTOR:—

I have satisfied numerous collectors with the prices I have paid for their collections or accumulation of duplicates and I only desire an opportunity to be able to show you. I want really fine U. S. and can use good foreign, but envelopes, post cards and trash are not wanted at any price. It is through these little adlets that the main additions are made to my collection and consequently if you have something I require it is not necessary for me to figure a profit.

Have a vast accumulation of duplicates and if you would rather have me put a net exchange value on your property I will gladly do so and will send you an attractive selection of your pet countries to pick from. Please remember I have nothing for sale. Write me what you have and want and I will tell you if your property interests me. If I have you send it on I will pay all transportation charges if I have to return it—but to date I have not had to return a single consignment—There is a reason. Best of Bank, Commercial or Dealer references.

Blocks 4, straight edge 3.00
Single perf. 4 sides 1.00
Single one straight edge ..... .75
Also offer 12c of washed out shade of claret, different from the usual bright claret, block of 4 fine at.... 3.00
Single fine ..... .75

Money back if not satisfactory. Glad to submit on app. to reliable collectors.

I have a very fine collection of U. S. stamps in a National Album, cat. about $750, mostly old issues, fine lot of 1847 5c and 10c, including covers. Will send this collection to SERIOUS buyers, who can afford to spend at least $50.

Don't care to send this collection to speculators or bargain hunters who buy one stamp, and find "nothing of interest in rest." Address and what the perforation is. Design regulation oblong, fancy frame with CORREOS DE BOLIVIA in white sans-serif capitals upon curving ribbon label across top, scroll work at sides, and words of denomination in straight label at bottom, also in white sans-serif capitals on color, circles in each lower corner, placed above the denomination label, contain the numeral of denomination, also in white on color. Frames are the same for all denominations, but the central medallion varies with each.

BRITISH HONDURAS.—Eric Parche informs us that the supply of the 3c War Tax is exhausted.

CANTON.—Mr. James M. Henry has shown us a further value of the Indo-China stamps surcharged "Canton" in red. This time it is the 5c with the added surcharge of "2 cents" in black. Mr. Henry adds that other values will shortly appear.

CHINA.—Mr. James M. Henry sends us a copy of a notification recently issued by the Chinese Post Office at Canton, China. It is dated March 7th of this year and calls attention to the withdrawal of the 7 and 15 cent denominations and the introduction of 1½ and 13 cent values. The 1½ cent stamp is intended for domestic use on picture post-cards, newspapers, etc., and the 13 cent for express letters.

We quote the following from Stamp Collecting:—

On the occasion of the commemoration of the election of Hgu Shih-Chang as President of the Chinese Republic, a distinctive postal obliteration was employed. This obliteration is oval in shape, with five horizontal lines on two sides enclosing a small circle, Chinese inscriptions figuring in the latter and in the oval itself. The central inscription in the oval signifies "Commemoration of the accession of President Hgu Shih-Chang, October 10, 1919"; the smaller inscriptions refer to the name of the post office.

ESTHONIA. — Mr. W. Pugsley has shown us two further values of the interesting set of stamps for this Russian independent state—viz., 35k pale brown and 70k olive green.—Stamp Collecting.

GREAT BRITAIN.—Mr. R. Roberts has shown us specimens of the new printings of the 2s 6d, 5s and 10s stamps, engraved and produced by Bradbury, Wilkinson & Co., London. They are very fine specimens of up to date engraving. A minute dot in the middle of each stamp, at the top just above the frame line, is noticeable on each value, and the whole frame itself is slightly larger than the previous printings by Messrs. De La Rue, and Waterlows, and, although the colours do not compare in appearance with the Waterlow issue, especially of the 2s 6d and 10s values, no doubt they are more serviceable and show up the obliteration better. Many months ago we announced that no further printings would take place of the 8d stamp. According to reports, the 7d value is also being withdrawn.—Stamp Collecting.

HONDURAS.—We are informed by Eric Parche that No. 183 Official stamp with CORRIENTES surcharge has been found inverted. He writes that a sheet of this stamp turned up at one of the local post offices and that he secured a half of the sheet.

JAPAN.—We are informed by Mr. Tadayasu Maki that it has been announced that a series of Victory stamps is in preparation by the Department of Communication. Details are lacking, but information is expected at an early date. The same correspondent advises of a "new issue for Coronation and Nomination." Possibly a new commemorative is soon to appear.

LICHTENSTEIN. (1918.) Design same as 1917 issue with portrait of Prince Johann II. Wove paper without watermark, perforated 12½:—20 heller deep blue green.

MACAO.—Mr. James M. Henry advises us that the 8a (Scott's No. 196a) and also the 16a, Scott's No. 199) are absolutely unobtainable at the Post Office and that they are selling there No. 212 and No. 210 the 16a and 8a of the Vasco de Gama series, surcharged "Republica" instead.

NIUE.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the 1½d orange stamp of New Zealand surcharged NIUE in red.

PAPUA.—Mr. J. H. Smyth and Frank P. Brown Co. have shown us a new ½d stamp recently issued for this colony. The stamp is bi-colored and is of yellow green with a centre of dark green. The paper is Crown and Single-lined A sideways.

PENRHYN ISLAND.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has submitted for our inspection a copy of the 1½d orange New Zealand stamp surcharged PENRHYN ISLAND in red.

POLAND.—Provisional Issue, according to Locher's Bulletin, German stamps overprinted in black Gothic type, Gen.-Gouv.—Warschau, in two lines, with the original overprint, as well as Deutsches Reich, obliterated by horizontal lines, and re-overprinted, in one line of black type, Poczta Polska. As there is no mention of denomination other than the numerals on the stamps, we presume they were issued as fen and so list them.

5 fen on 2½ pfenning gray.
5 fen on 3 pfennig brown.
10 fen carmine.
15 fen black violet.
20 fen ultramarine.
25 fen on 7½ pfennig orange.
30 fen orange & black on buff.
40 fen lake & black.
60 fen magenta.

We note also a 1919 Provisional Issue, consisting of Warsaw local stamps surcharged with new denomination and overprinted POCZTA POLSKA, all in black, for general postal use in Poland. White wove paper without watermark, perforated 11½.—American Philatelist.

TURKS ISLAND.—1d War stock exhausted and a local is now preparing. Violet ink will be used for the overprint. Thanks to Mr. A. C. Roessler for this information.

c. PANAMA at left about 2½ mm. below bar (31 and 36).
d. N at right thick and heavy (33 and 38).
e. PANAMA, inverted V at right (85 and 90).

* Two printings of the 50c, one with bar 3 mm., the other 2½ mm. above PANAMA, were made for the CANAL ZONE 8c surcharge, but they are unknown as Panama stamps. The error PAMANA appears on the 54th and 59th stamps of the last printing.

One sheet of the 3 mm. variety surcharged 8 cts., but with CANAL ZONE omitted, was sent to Europe.

124. 1 peso lake, surcharged carmine, narrow bar 4 mm. above PANAMA.
a. PANAMA upward both sides (51 & 56).
b. PANAMA downward both sides (83 and 88).
c. PANAMA at left about 2½ mm. below bar (31 and 36).
d. N at right thick and heavy (33 and 38).
e. PANAMA, inverted V at right (85 and 90).
f. Double surcharge.
g. Double surcharge, one inverted.
h. Double surcharge, one diagonal.
i. Vertical pair, upper stamp, bar only.
j. Shifted surcharge, PANAMA once only.
k. Shifted surcharge, PANAMA twice on same side of stamp.
l. Shifted surcharge, PANAMA twice on one side, once on the other.

When the first and second printings are listed together, they are so nearly identical that they can only be positively identified in the sheet or in large blocks containing the numbers which showed errors in the original impressions but were corrected in the second printing.

As the stamps of this issue are fairly common, particularly the lower values, there is an opportunity for making a tolerably complete exhibit, and it would be well to include some of the more interesting cancellations, a few of which are shown herewith:—

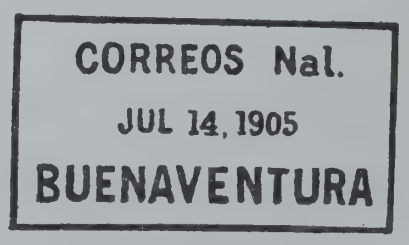
a. and b. Town cancellations.
c. and d. Steamship cancellations.
e. Clock cancellation.
f. Flag cancellation.
g. Grill cancellation.

The town cancellations are common and as a rule conform to the types shown, while the others, particularly the steamship cancellations are comparatively rare.

Fourth Panama Issue Used in Cauca.

I have in my collection a pair of 5c stamps used at Buenaventura the postmark cancellation of which is illustrated below. It is certainly a very interesting specimen, and I cannot explain its use so long after the separation of Panama from Colombia. Should any one possess copies I would like to hear from him; as the question of whether the use of Panama stamps continued to be general in Cauca after the secession, or was confined to a particular locality, is of considerable interest. No conclusions can be drawn from a single example without some more definite information.

109.....5c blue, surch. carmine (3d printing).



The date appears to be July 14, 1905, but the second figure of the day is doubtful as the impression is faint. I have reproduced it as exactly as possible.

UNUSED LATE ISSUES U. S. STAMPS
At 20 and 25% Discount

In going over my accumulations of many thousands of dollars worth of full Sheets of Late Issues of U. S. stamps I found over One Thousand Dollars worth (face value) of 5c, 11c, 50c, 75c and $1.00 values stuck together. They have been separated by immersion in water, and while not desirable for use in Collections they are good for postage if you touch the glue or mucilage brush to their backs—as many of the large and small dealers can use them at a discount, I am quoting the following low prices for immediate orders.

Will sell all 50c, 75c and $1.00 values of late and Parcel Post issues in Pairs, Strips and Blocks at 20% Discount.
All 50c, 75c and $1.00 values in Singles at 25% Discount.

THE "BOOM" IN STAMPS.

By FRED. J. MELVILLE.

The war has given the greatest impetus to our hobby that it has ever received. My prognostication is that the Armistice and the Peace will carry the boom to a zenith beyond all the expectations of the most optimistic dealers and collectors.

I was never one of those who, when the first dread sounds of war echoed throughout Europe, gave vent to gloomy forebodings, or took "funk" at the possible diastrous effects of a great war upon Philately. War, and the ravages of war, have been grave and terrible; there was a good deal of sympathy at the outset with the idea that to philatelise in such critical times was akin to Nero fiddling while Rome was burning. But a hundred and one circumstances of war conditions combined to show us that Philately, never out of place in times of Peace, was no less valuable a factor in our lives during war time. It was a solace to the war-worn nerves of both soldier and civilian. It was a comfort to many a khaki boy in camp and in billet, and even in the dug-out. It helped to ease the nerves of the jaded City man, pursuing his business under extremely trying circumstances of shortened staffs, disorganised traffic, and deranged markets.

It also provided a channel into which much of the abnormal wealth of the war workers has been invested to the financial and recreative advantage of the investor. Hundreds, nay, thousands, of new collectors have been introduced to our delightful hobby during the war as a means of quiet, recreative, enjoyment of restricted evenings at home, and as a profitable outlet for surplus funds, which are as safe in stamps as in the bank.

But just as there were those who thought at the start of the war that "the bottom would be knocked clean out of the stamp market", there are those today who think with the present increased popularity of stamp collecting, and the present great advance on pre-war prices for scarce stamps, that we have reached the limit.

This is as great a mistake as the first. Philately has flourished for sixty years, and will flourish as long as there are adhesive postage stamps to collect. There will be ups and downs in its progress, but, at any rate, for the next decade, I foresee we shall be riding on a great wave of prosperity in stamps—a prosperity that will reach both collectors and dealers.

The world will be letting off steam. One-half will jazz or foxtrot, and the other half will take their relaxation along quieter lines; most likely those who do not dance will—stamp!

The war has packed an abundance of new interest into stamp-collecting. It has opened up new vistas of historical and geographical interest, new lines for specialisation, and before things are settled again, it will have played "General Post" with our stamp albums, as with our geography books.

It has opened up a wonderful prospect of a complete revolution in the transport of mails by air; the air-line of the future will be a limitless bridge spanning the Atlantic and the vast Pacific—it will score one against Father Time.

All this added interest in the stamps of our times is bound to keep up the influx of new devotees of our hobby; it is no less sure to strengthen the fascination the hobby has upon all of us who have been collecting for years.

Therefore, I say, the "boom" is rising gradually to a pitch undreamed of by most collectors, and all but the "wildest" dealers.

It will not be limited, that is to say, to British Colonial issues, or to early issues of the United States. It will reach to the countries that have been philatelically neglected; many collectors will find the popular lines getting out of their reach, and so will turn to the less popular countries, and each and every phase of philatelic study will get its turn.

Europeans which have had a long spell of favour, will continue to rise, for the best things are nearly all absorbed in collections; but there will be a new Europe now the war is over, and there will be (and indeed already are) New Europeans to collect. They are likely to prove of the highest degree of historical and philatelic interest.

Europe, like Humpty Dumpty, has had

ANOTHER COIL BARGAIN

I found many collectors without any coils whatever, as the result of my advertisement in the issues of April 12th and 19th. You can still get 43 pairs of coils for $5.50—a bargain in fine condition.

Now pairs showing the colored guide lines are nine times as scarce as ordinary pairs and as many times as interesting. They usually sell at double the price of ordinary pairs. I now offer

37 Pairs With Guide Lines for $8.50.

This lot usually sells for $10.50 and consists of the following Scott's numbers:—323c, 324c, 326c, 323d, 324d, 326d, 338b, 338c, 338d, 338e, 339b, 339d, 339e, 340c, 341a, 342a, 355c, 355d, 356b, 356c, 369c, 369d, 370e, 370f, 370g, 371b, 372a, 372b, 373a, 373b, 389b, 389c, 390b, 390c, 391b, 391c, 411.

UNITED STATES STAMPS !!!

I am breaking up a magnificent collection which contains such RARITIES AS THE 24c AND 90c IMPERF. 1860 ISSUE; 15c AND 24c 1869, 2c PAN-AMERICAN, AND THE 24c AEROPLANE WITH INVERTED CENTERS, all of the re-issues, and most of the special printings; Departments complete and Newspaper stamps nearly so. Now is a chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

a great fall, and it will take all the League's forces and all the League's men to piece this poor old Humpty Dumpty together again. You and I will follow the magic process from a distance with our stamp albums. We shall put the new Europe together again in our own fashion, and it will be, I trust, a very adhesive fashion.

We shall open new pages in our albums for a score of new states which have developed out of the war, out of the broken empires of Russia, Germany, Austria and Turkey. I have already started my collections of Lettland, Lithuania, Esthonia, Ukraine, Poland Redeemed, Finland, Bohemia (Czecho-Slovakia), Croatia (Jugo-Slavia), and incidentally, although they are ex-Europe, Mosul and Iraq, Hedjaz and Palestine.

They will be pages of immortal memory to me, as to all who have lived through the greatest war in history, and lived through it on the side of the Allies, on the side of Right, and on the side of Victory.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have received from Wm. T. Kimball a copy of the P. O. D. circular describing the new Shanghai overprint on U. S. stamps. Mr. Kimball also sends us drawings of two army postmarks that appear to be new. One has the marking "Third Army—April 15, 19—A. P. O. 729" while the other has in addition to the date the inscription "U. S. Naval Forces, Brest Branch—Registered." The Brest postmark is self-explanatory, while the first described is a post-office of the Army of Occupation located in Germany across the Rhine near Coblenz. Mr. Kimball writes:—"This cover has an added interest in that it bears a U. S. 3c Victory stamp."

—"The U. S. Government will not redeem stamps stuck together—or give other good o. g. stamps in return for them—or even take them back at a discount. Hundreds of large mail order houses suffer a big loss yearly on account of this ruling. Would it not be a grand idea for dealers and collectors to take up this matter with our P. O. authorities? They redeem post cards and stamped envelopes, old, worn U. S. coins, mutilated bills, etc. Why not unused U. S. stamps?"—W. F. FRATCHER.

—It is reported to us that A. J. Mangelsdorf, Atchison, Kansas, does not reply to letters sent him. Does anyone know his present address, or has anyone had any difficulty in securing replies to communications sent him?

—"My price list was a wholesale offer per ten copies of beautifully used Br. W. Ind. on parts of covers. He asked for 5 copies of each which I reluctantly granted. Now, what does he? He keeps two to three of each, and returns the balance. I had sent a total of $35.78; he breaks every lot and keeps $17.63. A nice way to buy a couple of stamps at wholesale price. This is a scheme which ought to be stopped; and I wrote him that if he fails to do me justice, that I will report the case to you and see that a strong warning appears in your valued paper against this sort of trickery."—L. MEISTER.

—Bertram W. H. Poole is about to sever his relationship with the Franklin Stamp Co. and will return to Los Angeles, Cal., June 28, where he will resume business. We are glad to say that he will take the Los Angeles agency for the S.-W.-J. Co. publications.

—The S. P. A. has set its convention dates August 28-29-30 at San Francisco.

—"Enclose copy for a one inch adv. in next issue. Some dealers advertise less during the summer and complain of poor business in the fall. I advertise more during the summer and am always rushed to keep up with my trade."—LEON V. CASS.

—Who can give us the address of J. C. Matthews, formerly 825 10th Ave., Seattle, Wash.? Can one of our Seattle subscribers give us the desired information? There's a reason for asking this.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. C. Donaldson, Rev. Louis Voss, W. F. Ferguson, Wm. T. Kimball, J. Rausch, M. T. Mauch.

—Geo. C. Rockfellow, Plainfield, N. J., can get no returns from letters sent Wm. Fabick, Route 4, Olympia, Wash. Dealers please take notice.

—W. J. Long, Philadelphia, Pa., informs us that W. W. Holland, 5926 Ridge Ave., Roxborough, Phila., Pa., pays no attention to letters sent him.

THIS IS A VALUABLE COLLECTION.

(From the N. Y. World.)

WAYNESBORO, PA., May 3.—Miss Mary C. Stover has in her possession a very interesting "scrap book" which contains postage stamps of various countries that bear very rare and old dates. Among her much-prized collection are stamps of this country that were issued in 1892 and range in value from 1 cent to 4 cents each. She also has a collection of Mexican stamps which range in value from 5 to 10 cents. Many other stamps of various countries are also in her possession.

STAMP AUCTIONS
PHILA. STAMP CO.
21 SOUTH 17TH ST. PHILA.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.
By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

SELLO POSTAL.—These words, meaning "postage stamp", are shown on the stamps of Spain issued in 1900-02.

SELLO PROVISORIO.—This inscription forms part of the type-set 2r label issued in Cundinamarca in 1883 and means "provisional stamp."

SELLO PROVISORIO PARA REGISTRO.—(Provisional stamp for registration).—Shown on the first registration stamp for Cundinamarca.

SELLOS DE CORREOS RESENA HISTORICO.—The inscription shown on the private stamp issued by Senor A. F. Duro in Spain in 1881. The Spanish Government permitted him to use this stamp for franking his work, "Resena Historico-Descriptiva de los sellos de Correo de Espana," which it was considered was a work of public utility.

SEN.—The value expressed on many Japanese stamps. A sen is the hundredth part of a yen and is worth about ½c in American money.

SENEGAL.—A French protectorate in West Africa formed of various towns and strips of territory on both sides of the Senegal River. Postage stamps were first issued in 1887.

SENEGAMBIA AND NIGER.—A vast territory subject to France on the west coast of Africa. It includes the former protectorate of Senegal and the wide stretch of country from the southern limits of Algeria to Nigeria. Postage stamps for use in those parts of the territory not included in Senegal were issued in 1903, but a year later the colony was reorganised and named Upper Senegal and Niger. A set of stamps bearing the new name did not appear until 1906.

SEPARATION. — (See Perforation and Rouletting.

SERIE COMMEMORATIVA.—(Commemorative series.) — Shown on the 1902 stamps for the Dominican Republic which were issued to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the founding of San Domingo.

SERIF.—(See Sans-serif type.)

SERBIA.—A kingdom of the Balkan Peninsula. Postage stamps were first issued on April 18th, 1866.

SERBIEN.—An overprint applied to certain stamps of Austria and Bosnia said to have been used in those parts of Serbia outraged by the presence of Teutonic troops.

SERPENTINE ROULETTE.—A roulette formed of wavy cuts with small breaks between the curves. The 1860-71 stamps of Finland furnish excellent examples of this style of roulette.

SERRATED PERFORATION. — A form of rouletting in which the cuts are curved, and the edges show little hollows or scallops. More usually known by the French term "Percé en arc."

SERVIA.—The Balkan kingdom now more usually known as Serbia.

SERVICE.—An overprint found on many of the stamps of India intended for official use.

SERVICIO INTERNO. — (Internal Service.)—An overprint found on certain stamps of Guatemala used for official purposes on correspondence to points within the borders of the republic.

SERVICIO POSTAL. — An inscription found on many of the stamps of Honduras which means "Postal service".

SERVICIO POSTAL MEXICANO.—(Mexican postal service.) — This inscription appears on all the stamps of Mexico issued between 1886 and 1895.

SERVICE POSTAGE.—An overprint found upon certain revenue stamps of India converting them into postage stamps for official use.

SERVICO POSTAL.—(Postal Service).—An inscription appearing on the stamps of Portuguese India issued between 1871 and 1877.

SE-TENANT. — (French "joined together.")—Used in speaking of a pair of stamps of different values or of different design, or with different types of surcharge, etc. The 5c red error of the United States in a pair with the normal 2c will serve as an example.

SET-OFF (or Off-set.)—An impression from the face of a wet sheet of stamps, sometimes found on the back of another sheet that has been laid upon the preceding sheet.

PORTUGUESE INDIA
XX CENTURY
In a recent purchase were complete sheets (28 stamps) of each of the following: Nos. 260, 260c, 261, 264, 265, 266, 267, 268, 269, 270, 271, 272, 273, 274, 283b, 284, 285, 289 (1st setting), 289 (corrected setting).
These sheets are very interesting to all who collect XX Century stamps, or who specialize in Portuguese India. Without counting the minor errors, such as "small 6", "inverted S", type varieties of "2", etc., and estimating No. 273 (which is not priced) at $1.00, the entire lot of 19 sheets catalogues $227.64.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

The publishers of the WEEKLY are facing a condition of affairs that must be met and that right soon. We have delayed taking the step for the reason that it is a disagreable one, but the time has arrived for action. Under the high pressure and increased cost in every department of service, the WEEKLY is compelled to do one of two things:—

(a) Raise our subscription price to not less than $1 per year.

(b) Make a slight increase in our advertising rates.

The cost of printing the WEEKLY, stock, postage, mailing, and nearly every item of expense has so increased over four years ago that in common with other publications, we should have patched up our resources months ago.

We serve both collector and dealer and ask both a very frank question:—

Shall we make it a or b?

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Stirred—We receive letters from readers that show a wide divergence of views on subjects of general philatelic interest; and occasionally, there comes a communication that presents a new question or a new angle to an old one in so convincing and spirited a manner that we cannot ignore it, even though its findings do not coincide with accepted notions. A letter has been sent us by a collector, who is, we know, not a critic from choice but because he feels that it is his duty to speak out, and then, constructively and not destructively. We do not undertake to quote the letter in its entirety, but we shall draw upon it as fitting: "Cannot something be done to jolt the stamp world into a state of liberality? By this I mean, liberal thinking and liberty in action. In no other line do the smallnesses of men and the petty jealousies of folks run riot as in philately. Cheer is needed, gentlemen, in our pursuit, and if you choke the natural joyousness of the collector by the stifling atmosphere engendered by the bickerings of collectors and the sullen attitude of dealers, you will not encourage the growth of philately among the thinking adults, to put it mildly. We lag behind sadly in methods of propagating goodwill in our circle, in comparison with others of some importance. It is now hopelessly behind the times to slap contemporaries in print merely for the sake of being nasty; for collectors, to belittle the aims of others who collect to suit themselves and for dealers to backcap their rivals. You probably have spoken many times of the fraternity of philately, which, to-day, exists only by grace of imagination. It is your place to shake philatelists into a realization that a broadness of view is one of the first duties of citizenship. Condemn narrowness in school and out and perhaps the heedless ones will become ashamed of themeslves." We grant that improvement is needed in the conditions complained against but we do know that progress is being made towards better things. We know that there is a growing spirit of co-operation among the dealers; that collectors in some cases make it a custom to give away stamps to new collectors and to guide faltering foot-steps; and that the stamp press is not in a state of constant ferment. We believe that our correspondent has a basis for complaint but it is undeniable that there has been a spread of the community feeling in philately recently. Enterprise is lacking in some respects in the shaping of philatelic affairs but it is not to be gainsaid that developments have been seen that mean a change for the better. When the individual collector who feels aloof in some ways, such as meeting his tacit obligation to join societies and support the stamp press, will realize that his example is a deterrent one, he will do much to humanize philatelic existence.

Stevens—The death of Silas C. Stevens at Chicago, which was recorded in our issue of two weeks ago has taken one of the veteran dealers from the scene of philatelic activity. He passed away at the age of eighty-one years and we contend that he was the oldest dealer actively engaged in business, up to a short time before his death. He devoted as much time to his business as his flagging forces would permit, almost to the end. As a type of stamp dealer, now practically extinct, Mr. Stevens was an interesting example. As a dealer, he directed his attention to local trade exclusively; and while for this reason his name was not a familiar one in the wider world of philately, yet his long affiliation with stamps made him a factor and his death deprives our pursuit of a stalwart figure. Moreover, one is impelled to ponder the changes that the years have made by news of the passing away of one of the veterans of our clan. Primarily, Mr. Stevens was a coin enthusiast and he was inclined to stamps, chiefly through their profitable possibilities. He was not diffident in expressing his preference for coins and sometimes he quaintly voiced a mild astonishment at the length that a philatelic ardor could carry a customer. He was well versed in numismaty but lacking that sentiment for stamps that basically is a requisite for advanced philatelic knowledge, he grasped only the commercial aspect of stamps. He appreciated their selling points but he had no affinity for the bits of paper. Nearly forty years ago, he had a ground-floor location in the same building in which later he had an up-stairs office. The Chicago Philatelic Society was organized in his place but Mr. Stevens would not join because "he had enough of stamps during the day without living them at night." Mr. Stevens' philosophical comment which became mellowed with increasing years, added to the interest of his shrewd, sharp personality; and many a caller at his office during the long span of years during which he flourished will remember him vividly. Mr. Stevens was proud of his civil war record as he had a right to be; and for many years he busied himself in writing a history of his old regiment, the famous Board of Trade regiment of Chicago. He liked encased postage stamps and said that he had compiled an exhaustive list of them; and as an admirer of Lincoln, he collected portraits of Honest Abe, but it was in the realm of coins he pursued his studies with best effect. One of the ties to old-time philately has been severed by the death of S. C. Stevens.

Sympathy—The death of Charles E. Jenney which was duly reported occasions softened memories in many of us who realized what a fine, brave soul was his. He met physical misfortune courageously and accomplished work that will be a lasting credit to him. His gifts included a literary turn through which philately benefited, and his facile, if not prolific pen, made its impression on the printed annals of our pursuit. His offerings usually carried a meed of instruction and were helpful to philatelic followers. Starting his work for the stamp papers about the time that Guy W. Green, Lewis Benton, Foy F. Greene, Raymond S. Baker, L. G. Quackenbush and others were winning recognition in our periodicals, he kept continuously at his labor of love and survived them all in a philatelic sense.

Statement—From Mr. Jos. L. Weber, Osborne, Kansas, we have the information: "I noticed in an editorial in the issue of April 5th, 1919, a reference to 'fips' and I can enlighten you on the subject of this old monetary unit. I have handled many 'fips' and I think that I have some in my coin collection in the bank vault in Bethlehem, Pa. The 'fip' was a Spanish coin that was worth 6¼ cents and I often heard salesmen say 'fip' and 'bit' a pound. At the same time, a shilling of the value of 12½ cents was in circulation and two of these or four 'fips' equal twenty-five cents. There was much Spanish and English silver current here at the time."

Sustained—We have heard from several correspondents in consequence of the observations made in this column recently on the added interest carried by the stamps of the reconstruction period. A dealer writes: 'I am pleased that you called attention to the historical suggestions of the stamps characterizing the adjustment period after the war and in this connection I want to say that an old collector who has been quiescent for a long time and who did not collect even the war stamps was in recently to buy the stamps of the reconstruction era, the thought of which has kindled his imagination to the extent that he is collecting on a large scale again, with special reference to the stamps of the new epoch." We verily believe that a graphic illustration of the working out of the new order of territorial arrangement will be shown by these certain issues.

THE LOUISIANA MATCH STAMP.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This strikingly handsome match revenue adhesive has always been a prime favorite with young collectors of all ages, and although perfection copies are not particularly easy to find, the stamp has never been rare and specimens in quite respectable condition for match stamps are usually obtainable. It is one of the very few match stamps issued in the South and is also one of the very few printed in brown, the only others in brown being those used by the Bendel concern in San Francisco.

Other curious facts worth noting about the Louisiana stamp are that it appears to be the only match stamp engraved by two separate and distinct bank note companies and that the initial of the proprietor of the die as it appears on the stamp may be an error. The data regarding the stamp given in the Boston Revenue Book is as follows:

Die approved, February 12, 1876.
First issued, March, 1876.
Last issued, 1878.
210 stamps per sheet, (15x14).
2,560,320 issued, all printed by the National Bank Note Co., on silk paper.

"This die was ordered June 29, 1875, by L. Frank, Agent of the Louisiana Match Manufacturing Co., of New Orleans, La. The following note appears in Mr. Carpenter's Engraving Order Book: 'Frank's die was not approved by the government during our contract. The framework only was executed and was transferred by us to our successors, the National Bank Note Co.'"

The only reference to any match factory in New Orleans found by the present writer in the directories of that city is in the directory for 1876-'77, which gives,

"Simon Frank, agent Louisiana Match Factory."

The directory for 1878 does not list the match factory and lists Simon Frank as a bookkeeper. No other information regarding the concern or the stamps is now available.

The framework of the design bears the numeral "1" in an ornamental shield in each corner with "ONE—CENT" at the sides, "U.S.INT.REV." above and "L.FRANK" below. Presumably this was all engraved by the Philadelphia firm. The remainder of the design, an oval showing an adult pelican on the nest with four young, surrounded by a band inscribed "LOUISIANA" above and "MATCHES" below, was engraved in New York. The imprint found at the top, bottom and side margins of the sheets reads "Engraved & Printed By The—National Bank Note Co. New York" in two lines on a colored panel and all in the same style as on other plates made from dies entirely engraved by that company.

The pelican design is quite typical of Louisiana and its selection for use on the Louisiana stamp is indeed a happy choice. Louisiana has long been known as the Pelican State and the pelican occupies a prominent position on the state coat of arms. A similar device appears on the Louisiana lottery stamps of 1867. They, however, show five young pelicans instead of the four shown on the match stamp.

Frank's stamp is of the standard 1c size with the long dimension horizontal. Pairs, strips and blocks have existed in rather limited quantities within a few years and these are probably from what few sheets stamp dealers may have purchased from Frank when the stamp was in use. There is no evidence available to show that the stamp was ever used in multiple. One box, one stamp!

CAYMANS ON "TINTED" PAPER.

By HERMANN FOCKE.

I have recently seen advertisements of the ½d War stamp of the Cayman Islands, said to be on buff, flesh, rose, salmon, or some other colored paper, and a fancy price was asked for this "variety." Some people like to or want to be fooled, and I guess a few dimes were spent for this stamp, but what I do not understand is, how any reputable dealer, who ought to know better, can thus try to put one over on the non-suspecting o. f. c.

We full well know that there is no buff or pink paper, used by the Crown Agencies, with multiple Crown and CA watermark, and certainly not for a ha'-penny stamp of any of the Colonies; so what do you think is the cause of the phenomenon? Well, the stamps which I received from Grand Cayman were protected by a porous paper of a salmon-pink color to avoid the stamp sticking together, and the climatic or atmospheric conditions in the Islands, no doubt, transferred some of the dye of this paper to the white paper of the stamps, giving it a buff appearance.

We consequently have a soiled or damaged stamp and not a variety to contend with, the real value of which I leave for someone else to ascertain.

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

Philatelic Advertisers is the most recent handbook. It is published from the office of Stamp Collecting, 89 Farringdon St., London, England, and compiled by F. Hugh Vallancey. The price of the book is 25c. The list of advertisers is very complete, one section being devoted to British advertisers and the other to foreign.

In addition, there is a register of dealers who are engaged in auction and other lines of philatelic business. An interesting article on "The Great War and Philately" precedes the formal listing of dealers' addresses. This Directory will prove of value to collectors who would like to do business with dealers in foreign countries.

Important Notice

Mr. B. W. H. Poole begs to inform his numerous friends and clients that on and after May 31st his association with the Franklin Stamp Company will cease. Mr. Poole will be returning to California late in June and until then all mail should be addressed to

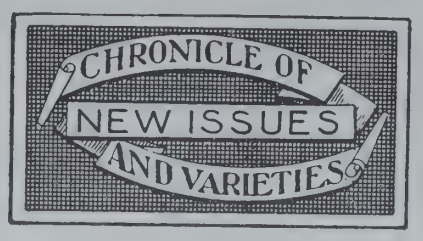
MISTAKE IN MARKS ADVT.

In the issue of May 3 there appeared an advertisement of the Marks Stamp Co. in which 1915 stamps were offered for $3.25. The mistake occurred in the copy submitted by the company. The adv. in question appeared in the WEEKLY about six weeks ago and the number of stamps was given as 1015, and this number should have appeared in the advertisement of May 3. The same packet is again advertised in their regular space on second page of this issue. We feel that any of our subscribers who have ordered this packet of 1915 stamps will understand the situation and the Marks Stamp Co. will undoubtedly do its part in adjusting all remittances.



Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. E. R. Durburow has shown us another exceedingly interesting envelope, this time the 3c in black, printed on amber with return card in the corner. As is well known, the return cards are printed in black at the time that the envelope is embossed in its proper color and evidently, through error, the black ink of the return card in some manner reached the roller that prints the stamp. The envelope in question is from a New York business house and was cancelled April 26, 1919. We do not feel at liberty at this time to mention the name of the firm using the envelope, but we might state that efforts are being made to obtain any available. The envelope manufacturers seem to be having a merry time and are running a close race with the Bureau for honors.

We have mentioned at numerous times the 3c surface print type IV, double print, perforated 11, but Mr. George Soulman is the first to show us a block of this stamp in imperforated condition. The block in question is in a dark purple shade, the double print occurs to the left of the main impression and is, of course, on unwatermarked paper. The same gentleman also sends us an imperforated block of the 3c type IV with offset on the back.

Mr. George C. Rockfellow, as well as Mr. Alfred Hermann, kindly sends us strips of twenty of the 1c surface print from the lower portion of the sheet wherein the horizontal row of perforations between the bottom row of stamps and the margins are missing. These were evidently perforated on the same machine that perforated the 3c type II stamps recently chronicled.

Numerous collectors have written us in regard to the new Proprietary Stamps, a number of them sending us specimens. For this information we wish to thank Messrs. C. M. Breder, J. R. Hammerle, John F. Royer and H. F. Metz. To date, we have only seen the 1c and 2c values but understand that the others will shortly appear if they have not appeared by the time these notes are published.

Our attention has been called by several people to the fact that the 3c sidewise coil stamp is coming in a strongly bluish purple shade, in fact, the blue dominates and the stamp might better be described as purplish blue.

We understand from Mr. E. B. Power that the 4c sidewise coil, printed from the rotary press, perforated 10, has appeared on unwatermarked paper. This leaves but one denomination as yet unknown on the unwatermarked paper, namely the 5c blue.

Mr. R. W. Boisselier kindly sends for our inspection blocks of the 3c Victory stamps from plate No. 9426 showing a very dry impression. In other words, the stamps almost appear blurred. These varieties show a slight offset on the back.

It will come as a surprise to our readers to learn that the U. S. Postal Agency at Shanghai, China, is to have a set of U. S. stamps surcharged for use at the Agency. We are indebted to G. A. Martin for a copy of the official circular authorizing the use of these stamps. The circular is self-explanatory and shows that all values of our current set from 1c to $1 inclusive (together with the 10c special delivery) are to be surcharged as indicated below, at double their face value. The new issue is doubtless due to the high price silver is selling at—the changed condition of things being very noticeable in the far East. The following is the official word in connection with these stamps:—

Office Third Ass't P. M. Gen'l,
Washington, May 5, 1919.

1. Postage stamps have been issued to the U. S. Postal Agency, Shanghai, China, in denominations of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 15, 20, 30, 50-cent, and $1; also 10-cent special-delivery stamps, surcharged "Shanghai, China," at double their face value. The surcharge is printed in black letters on all denominations except 7-cent and $1, which are surcharged with red ink. For example, the 1-cent stamp is surcharged as follows:

SHANGHAI
2-cent
CHINA

2. These stamps are intended for sale by the Postal Agency at Shanghai at their surcharged value in local currency, and will be valid to the amount of their original values for the prepayment of postage on mail dispatched from the U. S. Postal Agency at Shanghai to addresses in the United States.

3. The Shanghai surcharged stamps will not be issued to postmasters in the United States.

A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Ass't P. M. Gen'l.

We also wish to take this opportunity of thanking the following for notes of interest: Messrs. L. P. McLaughlin, Karl Koslowski, W. J. Prinzing, A. O. Tschudin, and Chas. H. Hermann.

AUSTRALIA.—Mr. Ashley C. LeDuc calls our attention to the fact that the 1½d stamp, single watermark, occasionally shows a broken "L" in the word HALF. Mr. LeDuc is unable to advise how often this appears.

AUSTRIA (P. O. in Italy).—We have been shown a very interesting little collection of 64 stamps of the Austrian occupation of part of Italy, consisting of four varieties of possibly fiscal stamps, surcharged "Ortspostmarke" above double set of Arms, the name of town and new values. The stamps are imperforate. The colors and surcharges are uniform. The four principal types are:—1c on "Cinque cent," brown on brown; 2c on "Un cent," red on buff; 3c on "Cent 7½," purple on violet; and 4c on "Due cent," green on green. Each of the four varieties have sixteen names of towns as follows:—

Ampezzo.	Palmanova.
Cividale.	St. Daniele d. Fr.
Codroipo.	S. Giorgio di Nag.
Gemona.	St. Pietro al. Nat.
Latisana.	Spilimbergo.
Longarone.	Tarcento.
Maniago.	Tolmezzo.
Moggio.	Udine.

—Albermarle Stamp Collector.

BOLIVIA.—Mr. Henry A. Meyer shows us the new set of stamps recently placed on sale and with it this note received from his correspondent in the country: "We have just received a new issue of stamps here, made by the American Bank Note Co., the issue consisting of 7 values; 1, 5, 10, 20, 22, 24, and 50c. All are on sale with the exception of the first two, which I understand will not be issued for some time to come as there is a large stock of older issues to be worked off first." The set is very attractive. In addition to the fine engraving, the colors are beautiful. Mr. Meyers also sends us a copy of 10c, pictorial type, No. 116, re-engraved.

BOSNIA & HERZEGOVINA.—In addition to the Bosnia & Herzegovina Postage Due stamps (Scott's type D2) Nos. 364 to 373 we have received three different values, the same in all respects, 2, 4, 6 heller, rose red.

The two following Bosnia & Herzegovina stamps have been received with the date 1918 overprinted in red:—2 heller (No. 47) violet and 2 heller (No. 66) bright blue.

The Jubilee series of 1910 of Bosnia & Herzegovina were surcharged for use in Serbia and the following varieties are before us. Seven surcharges in Roman type and nine surcharges in Cyrillian GREAT BRITAIN.—Mr. R. Roberts writes: "I enclose herewith specimens of the new printing of the 2s 6d, 5s, and 10s. G. B., printed and engraved by Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson, London. It is a very fine specimen of an up-to-date engraving, and Messrs. Bradbury, Wilkinson, are to be congratulated upon their work.

"A minute dot in the middle of each stamp, at the top just above the frame line, is noticeable on each stamp, and the whole frame itself is slightly larger than the previous printings by Messrs. De La Rue, and Waterlows; and although the colours do not compare in appearance with the Waterlow issue, especially of the 2s 6d and 10s stamp, no doubt they are more serviceable and show up the obliteration better."—London Philatelist.

HAYTI. — 1919. Provisional Issue. Stamp of 1906 issue surcharged in red, 2 cts GOURDE, in two lines within single line frame. By courtesy of Mr. J. N. Luff.—American Philatelist.

MEXICO.—We are indebted to W. F. McLain of the Eastern Stamp Co. for a specimen of a new special delivery stamp just issued here. It is a very pretty stamp engraved and printed in Mexico City and shows a messenger operating a three-wheeled motor cycle. The frame is in carmine and the center in black.

PALESTINE.—The 2 piastres, olive, was for a very short time bisected and used as 1 piastre. From a correspondent the following information was obtained:—

"During a temporary shortage of 1 piastre stamps at a remote Field Post Office, after making up all the smaller denominations, the 2 piastre stamp was bisected and each half used as 1 piastre. This, however, was stopped as soon as the Headquarters Office heard of it. Approximately half a sheet of stamps were bisected, but only a very small number was used."

The stamp on which this chronicle is based is postmarked "ZS Field Post Office, A, 18 Jan., 19." The current 1p., indigo, is reported with small capital "A" in "PIASTRE."—Stamp Collecting.

PARAGUAY.—Mr. Ashley C. LeDuc shows us a copy of No. 211, 40c rose, stamp surcharged "HABILITADA EN 0.3 0 1918." in black. The printing is done in three lines.

PERU.—Mr. A. H. Weber writes: "The current set contains an error. The 8c red-brown and black, has the monogram 'U.P.C.' in the tablet at the top instead of 'U.P.U.' as all the values of the set."—London Philatelist.

POLAND.—Mr. Frank Kocher sends us a copy of the new 50h stamp, imperforate. At the top are the words POCZTA POLSKA, at the bottom "50 halerzy 50", in the middle being the coat of arms. The color is blue gray.

RUSSIA (United States P. O.).—A rumour is current to the effect that a large number of Russian adhesives have been surcharged in American currency for use by the United States forces in Eastern Siberia, but we have received no confirmation of the report, and are inclined to discredit it.—Stamp Collecting.

SALVADOR.—We have the current 6c stamp with original value barred, the figure "1" above the building and at foot "1 centavo 1" over the value in words, all in black.—London Philatelist.

TASMANIA.—The £1 green and yellow surcharged "Revenue" (S.G.No.341), has been further overprinted 1s across tablet of value.—Aust. Phil. Record.

THE MOROCCO AGENCIES.

The Empire of Morocco has never had a postal service of its own, so that it was but natural that the Consular representatives in the various towns open to foreign trade should make various attempts to secure postal communication between themselves and with their respective countries. We need only consider the British efforts here. A receiving agency in connection with the British postoffice at Gibraltar was opened on April 1, 1857, in the Consulate General at Tangier, and a courier service connecting the various open ports was inaugurated by the British Consular officers in the next year, the Vice-Consuls at these ports opening postal agencies in connection with their offices at various subsequent dates. In 1873 the Tangier agency had become important enough to have a location of its own with the label "British Post Office" and was furnished with a duplex postmark bearing the number "A26" of the head postoffice at Gibraltar on its obliterator and the name "TANGIER" in the circular postmark. Others of the Consular Agencies were subsequently supplied with similar postmarks, and as British stamps were employed, it is necessary to have them on cover, as a rule, to show the town name, if they are to be distinguished from those cancelled "A26" at Gibraltar.

On January 1, 1886, the Government of Gibraltar took over its own postoffice from the Imperial authorities and also assumed control of the "Morocco Agencies" as sub-agencies of the Gibraltar postoffice. All the stamps issued by Gibraltar from that time until 1898 were used in Morocco and may be found with the postmarks of the Agencies.

For accounting purposes the postmaster at Tangier had urged that some distinguishing mark be placed on the stamps used in Morocco, and accordingly the current issue of Gibraltar was overprinted "Morocco Agencies" and placed on sale on June 1, 1898. Pending the preparation of such stamps by Messrs. De La Rue in London, a stock was overprinted at the Gibraltar Chronicle office. These are distinguished from the London overprints by a wider and thicker "M" and a "g" with the serif nearly on top, the London letter having it lower down and quite close to the "e." The ink is also not as deep black and shiny as the London ink. By carelessness a quantity of the 40 and 50 centimos and 1 peseta stamps was overprinted with indigo blue ink, which may be recognized best by looking through the stamp at a strong light. The local overprint has a variety with inverted "V" for "A," and the London overprint an "M" with an extra long serif at the upper left corner, both varieties occurring in all values. The London prints began to appear about April, 1899, and the different values rapidly followed each other as the local ones were used up. During a shortage of 5 centimo stamps in July, 1901, halves of the 10 centimos were allowed to do duty for that amount.

The return to British currency by Gibraltar in 1898, as explained in the preceding article, did not affect the Morocco Agencies' stamps, for Spanish currency was the most common medium in circulation in Morocco and it was decided on this account not to inconvenience the public with the change. Consequently, when the King Edward issue of Gibraltar stamps appeared in British currency in 1903, we find the set overprinted "Morocco Agencies" has the values in Spanish currency as before, being printed from the old "duty" plates, though the 40 centimos stamp was dropped. The same variety of "M" in the overprint occurs as in the previous issue. These stamps were at first on single "Crown CA" paper, but by 1905 the multiple watermarked paper began to appear. Some controversy has raged over the status of the 50 centimos, single watermark. It seems that the Agencies' stamps could always be bought wholesale at the Gibraltar postoffice, and as the 50 centimos stamps were not then needed in Morocco, the small supply (3,120 copies) was sold at Gibraltar. It is thus claimed that it is "a stamp prepared for use but not issued." However, as Gibraltar was the head office and the Agencies' stamps were regularly sold there, and as this stamp was valid for use in the "Agencies" just as much as its successor on "multiple" paper, we fail to see why it was not "issued" under the circumstances just as much as any other "Agencies" stamps regularly sold at Gibraltar, all of which were good in the Agencies.

The "multiple" watermarked stamps began to appear in 1905 and the 5, 10 and 20 centimos were issued thus on ordinary paper, but subsequently these three values as well as the rest of the set all appeared on the "chalk surfaced" paper. The letter "M" variety in the overprint occurs on the 5, 10 and 20 centimos ordinary paper, but was corrected before these values appeared on "chalky" paper. The remaining four values on "chalky" paper were printed with the variety before the correction was made.

On January 1, 1907, the Morocco Agencies were transferred from the control of Gibraltar to the Imperial Postal Authorities and on that date the use of the overprinted Gibraltar stamps ceased, they being replaced by a series of contemporary British stamps overprinted "Morocco Agencies" and surcharged with new value in Spanish currency from 5 centimos to 12 pesetas. Four months later a supplementary issue bearing the "Morocco Agencies" overprint alone, without new values, appeared running in value from ½ penny to 2 shillings 6 pence. These are really parcel post stamps, as payment on parcels is required in sterling currency, the stamps in Spanish currency not being allowed for this use, although the sterling stamps may be used on letters and papers without question.

The change in the British 4 pence stamp from bicolor to orange was followed by the 40 centimos surcharged stamp in 1910, but the same stamp without Spanish value did not appear until 1912. In the same year the new designs of the ½ and 1 penny stamps and the 2½ pence in the 15x14 perforation, all with Spanish currency, were issued. The current British stamps with the Spanish currency surcharge did not begin to appear until 1914, and without the currency surcharge only the ½, 1 and 2 penny, 1 shilling and 2 shillings and pence have yet been issued. A new value of 3 centimos on the ½ penny was added to the first set in 1917. After the war broke out, in October, 1914, France proclaimed a protectorate over Morocco, which is what she desired to do in 1905 when Germany interfered. As a result, she has taken over most of the postal arrangements, save in the Spanish zone of influence, and has restricted the foreign postal agencies to those of friendly powers in the city of Tangier alone and these will doubtless be closed sooner or later. Meanwhile, French currency has supplanted Spanish and as a result we find a new set of surcharged British stamps in French currency, from 3 centime to 1 franc, issued in 1918. Doubtless other values will follow.

It may be interesting to note that the cities where the previous issues of British stamps were used were: Alcazar, Casablanca, Fez, Laraiche, Mazagan, Mequinez, Mogador, Marrakesh (Morocco City), Rabat, Saffi, Tangier and Tetuan.—New Eng. Stamp Monthly.

NASSAU STAMP CO.

16 NASSAU ST., NEW YORK, N. Y.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE FIVE CENT, FORTY-SEVEN.

By EARLY BYRD.

"Here, I think, are two unrecorded shifts in the 5c, '47," writes a correspondent. Both these shifts are unmistakable, and one at least is more obvious than the two major shifts generally recognized. It shows a strong doubling of the left side line at the bottom and about half-way up the side of the stamp, where the lines converge. Apparently, the transfer roll was set down obliquely on the plate, the mistake was discovered and the impression re-entered in its proper position. The second shift is not so obvious, but is best identified by a line crossing the letter "U" just above center, by the horizontal lines of the background showing clearly in the right side of "O" of "Office", in the tail of "S" of "U. S.", and in the upper right margin, and by some faint lines in the right figure "5".

As the search for minor varieties in the stamps of 1847 has scoured the market, and forced the price of fine copies up to anywhere from $5 to $25 each, a recapitulation of the things most sought after by collectors of these stamps may be of more than passing interest to the hundreds of embryo specialists developed since the publication of Dr. Carroll Chase's exhaustive studies in the Philatelic Gazette a few years ago. Perhaps, too, some approximate of the prices fetched by the major varieties may prevent many a spasm of pain among those inquiring for said stamps.

First, as to the colors of the various printings. Those most sought are the deep chestnut and the Vandyke browns of 1847, the bright red brown, grey brown and olive brown of 1849, the true orange of 1850, and the orange brown of about the shade of the re-issue. Of these the true orange is so rare that few dealers claim to be able to identify it; the brighter shades of orange-brown more frequently pass as orange and fine copies fetch from $7.50 to $10.

The principal paper varieties are, the ordinary bluish grey, the quite distinctly blue paper, a white paper (said to be a chemical changeling), and a thin, silky paper formerly listed as pelure. To these must be added the "stitch" watermark which looks like this ////. The watermarked variety is most prized and may fetch anything from $10 up. A good crease, showing a wide unprinted bar across the stamps is worth from $5 up.

Plate varieties are fairly numerous but only a few are well enough known to be accorded general recognition. These are, the shift with double line at the top; shift with double line at both top and bottom; the dotted "S", and the worn plate. In the case of the shift with double line at the top, a clipped copy may be identified by a curving line running through the horizontal stroke of the left figure "5" and by lines in both "O"'s of "Post Office". In a close copy of the doubled lines at top and bottom, identification may be had through the doubling of the bottom curve of "C" of "Cents" and a diagonal line crossing the lower part of the left figure "5".

The variety "dotted S" really is several varieties, ranging from a faint touch of color to a strong deep dot in the upper half of the letter. Worn plates should speak for themselves, though the absence of background and a break in the border at top and left are usually referred to.

Prices for the big shifts depend largely on the clientele of the dealer, but may be anything from $15 to $25 according to condition. Of lesser known varieties, the guide dot in "U", dot in the end of "5", and the shift showing a break in the right side of "U" and a deep semi-circle in the lower down stroke of "S" are recognized by supernuts, as also are broken frame lines, multiplied and misplaced guide dots. Most of these varieties interest chiefly those endeavoring to plate the stamps and have no generally recognized market status.

Cancellations, of course, have the widest vogue because they are easiest to identify and almost all collectors of U. S. have been educated up to them through the interesting varieties found among the 3c stamps of the 1861 and bank-note company issues, etc. While it is interesting to find a 5c '47 cancelled with a "10" in a circle, or with the Hartford magenta color, or the Chicago pink, the Tallahassee or other green, or a black town or gridiron, the real cream of 1847 cancellations are the route markings of the railroad, steamboat and steamship varieties. Route markings, to

UNITED STATES STAMPS!!!

I am breaking up a magnificent collection which contains such RARITIES AS THE 24c AND 90c IMPERF. 1860 ISSUE; 15c AND 24c 1869, 2c PAN-AMERICAN, AND THE 24c AEROPLANE WITH INVERTED CENTERS, all of the re-issues, and most of the special printings; Departments complete and Newspaper stamps nearly so. Now is a chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

or from Canada, such as "Hudson River Mail", "Troy & New York Steamboat", "Steam" used on canal packets I think; railroad, such as the popular 'Philada Railroad" in a straight line in red; "N. Y. & Philada. R. R." in a circle; "Baltimore Railroad" in red; "Eastern R. R." in red or blue, found on so many New England covers; the words "Free", "Way", "PAID", etc., etc., convey so much more interesting historical information that their greater demand, and consequent value, seems to me more logical. As a rule, these can be found in full only on covers, which of course is another field. When it comes to prices on such things, the sky is the limit. Almost any old thing may cost you $10, while anything up to $50 need not surprise you for a particularly nice piece. Heaven help you if the fever for the 47's gets into your veins. Nothing but your own unceasing endeavors can help you, for the stamps are so closely held that as a reward for replying to more than 20 of our best known dealers I had only half a dozen indifferent copies offered to alleviate my suffering.

SUBMARINE MAIL SERVICE.

The honor belongs to the Canal Zone of establishing the first underseas mail service. Victor R. Wailly sends us some newspaper clippings which describe the manner in which mail was despatched. As in the Fourth Liberty Loan, the postal authorities used the new idea of airplanes in connection with applications, so in the last loan, a similar plan was worked out, only in this instance a U. S. submarine, C-3, was used. Cristobal and Balboa were the receiving and distributing points and the service will go into history as the first submarine mail service and more particularly "ocean to ocean". The special postmarking applied to the envelopes will be the feature of most interest to stamp collectors.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—L. W. Bealer writes a brief word concerning a visit to the philatelic library in the Congressional Library. He found there two priced catalogs dated before 1875 and "a most interesting little book published in London, 1864, by Bellars and Davie. It claims to list all the stamps ever issued with their value and degree of rarity, the latter being graded as common, not common, rare, very rare and excessively rare. Another booklet was a 'Complete List of Stamp Dealers of the World', 1885. It includes about 300 in the United States, a nearly equal number in England and about 100 elsewhere".

—W. H. Z.—You inquired about "Album Weeds." The book may be obtained from Eugene Klein, 1318 Chestnut St., Phila., Pa.

—"I have the 1c and 2c blue Proprietary current issue on double line revenue paper. The 1c top strips are marked PROPRIETARY PLATE with denomination of issue and plate number over four stamps. The 2c has a similar marking but covers three stamps."—E. H. Gammans.

—The WEEKLY desires to state that full satisfaction has been rendered so far as Mr. C. W. Parker is concerned, and the columns of the WEEKLY are open to him for any further advertising that he may desire to give us. We make this statement with the assurance that his business obligations will be promptly taken care of.

—We have received a lengthy letter from Dr. Hubert Lyman Clark criticising sharply the practises of certain dealers who pay absolutely no attention to letters sent them. We shall not publish the entire letter but the following paragraph should have a salutary effect in the quarters where it may be needed:

"To bring the matter home more closely, I may say that there are 35 advertisers in MEKEEL'S who do not answer their letters and some fifteen of these are regular advertisers. For instance, F. M. Mason of Providence, to whom I have written twice, and the Stamp & Coin Exchange of N. Y. City, to whom I have written three times during the past year. I know of no business except that of stamp dealers, where trade is not eagerly sought and constant effort made to hold a customer. But there are certainly a lot of dealers in stamps who won't go out of their way to get a new customer or hold an old one."

—E. Woeller, Waterloo, Can., is also interested in Leon Barri, Jr. He writes that though numerous letters have been sent Barri not a single one has been repied to. Are there others who are interested?

—What about R. V. Walton, Augusta, Ga? We are having our difficulties in getting him to answer communications.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from C. H. Goodrich, F. W. Lynes, C. M. Breder, Victor R. Wailly, Kenneth Tallmadge and Chas. E. Booth.

—Another advertiser reports that he can get no satisfactory returns to letters sent E. S. Pierce of Millis, Mass. We refer to the Midland Stamp Co., Toronto, Can.

CANADA WAR TAX NOS. 301-303.

By WILLARD O. WYLIE.

We have had several communications dealing with the Canada War Tax stamps Nos. 301-303. One is from Harry E. Huber and another from W. W. Walsh, and we deem it best to summarize in this article the information gleaned from their letters, as well as what has come to us from other sources. We are bringing to this matter all the light that we can procure—and if any other official matter is available, we shall be glad to have it submitted for inspection.

The stamps in question are of three denominations:—5, 20 and 50c, and Bright's catalog gives the date of issue as Feb. 12, 1915. Bright also says that these three stamps were only on sale for one day "and have been used for postage although intended originally for a tax on wines, etc."

Evidently, the public made use of these stamps to a certain extent for postal purposes. Anyway, there appeared on March 5, 1915, an official circular signed by R. W. Coulter which we quote in full:—

Post Office Department, Canada,
OTTAWA, March 5th, 1915.

"Circular to Postmasters.

The Postmaster is informed that postage stamps of five-cent, twenty-cent, and fifty-cent denominations, impressed with the words "war-tax", are being used by the Inland Revenue Department for the collection of the war tax on wines, and the Postmaster is especially instructed that postage stamps of these denominations having the words "war tax" impressed upon them are not to be accepted as postage, as they are being used exclusively for Inland Revenue purposes.

(sgd.) R. W. COULTER,
Deputy Postmaster General."

It would seem as though this circular effectively disposed of any postal recognition that these stamps may have had, and emphasized the fact that in the mind of the department, the 5, 20 and 50c War Tax stamps were designed only for revenue use.

There appeared, however, on April 16, another circular from the same official, and a copy of this circular has been sent us by W. W. Walsh. It seems to us that this circular supplements rather than annuls the previous one. We quote:—

Post Office Department, Canada,
OTTAWA, April 16th, 1915.

"Circular to Postmasters.

The Postmaster is informed that it has been decided that postage stamps upon which the words "War Tax" have been printed may be accepted for prepayment of postage, and he is to amend his instructions and procedure accordingly.

In no circumstances are Inland Revenue stamps to be accepted on letters, postcards, postal notes or Post Office Money Orders.

The Postmaster is warned that in all cases War Tax letters and postcards must be handled with expedition, and there must be positively no congestion.

R. M. COULTER,
Deputy Postmaster General."

We have said that this circular supplements and does not annul the one issued under date of March 5. Mr. Huber, in his letter, states that the circular of April 16 "referred only to the 1c and 2c War Tax stamps and the information conveyed by the postage stamp branch is exact and accurate in every respect. The 5c, 20c and 50c stamps, which were surcharged with the words WAR TAX and a later issue with the words INLAND REVENUE WAR TAX, became purely revenue stamps, losing, thereby, all value for postage." This quotation, from Mr. Huber, is taken from an official source and we are willing to believe that the circular of April 16 should be interpreted as referring to the 1c and 2c War Tax stamps.

Quite naturally people would question whether the entire postal rate could be met with war tax stamps, and this ruling of the department made this point clear. It should be noted that Bright gives the date of this circular as April 16, 1916—a typographical error.

Five weeks after this second circular was issued, (to be exact, on May 20), a third circular appeared in which the department made the two previous circulars the subject of departmental information. We published this circular in the issue of May 3 and do not need to repeat it. It consigned the 5c, 20c and 50c stamps with War Tax overprint to revenue department purposes and at the same time made the 1c and 2c stamps good not only for the prepayment of postage, but for the prepayment of war duties.

Mr. Huber made the title of his article "Exit—Canada War Tax Nos. 301-303," and we submit that this summary of official information must be conclusive in establishing the real status of the stamps in question. Entire original covers with the 5c, 20c or 50c War Tax overprint will be of philatelic interest and value, but it is clear to us that they possess no legal departmental standing.

WHICH SHALL IT BE?

Last week we called the attention of our patrons to a condition of affairs that must be remedied and suggested one of two ways in which to meet the increased cost of producing the WEEKLY. We offered two propositions:—

(a) To raise our subscription price to not less than $1 per year, or

(b) Make a slight increase in our advertising rates.

We are situated where, in the immediate future, one of these two remedies must be applied. The tendency will be for the collectors to advocate an increase in advertising rates, while on the other hand our advertisers may feel that their interests will be best served by an increase in the subscription price. In either case we are on the horns of the dilemma. Experience has taught us that raising the subscription price will mean a substantial loss on our mailing list. This resulted when, as an experiment, some years ago, the price of the WEEKLY was raised to $1 in the belief that stamp collectors would be willing to pay the increased price. Such was not the case.

All classes of publications are feeling the severe drain made upon them by the increased cost in nearly every item that enters into the production of the printed page. Within the past month the London Philatelist has declared that it must either cease publication or raise the subscription price to $5 per year.. The London Philatelist carries only a limited amount of advertising, due, no doubt, to a small circulation.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Trip—The establishment of a regular air mail service between Chicago and Cleveland has not evoked the enthusiasm among collectors that reports of the installation of new routes did some time ago. The airplane service on the whole has proved a fiasco so far as adding to the satisfaction of philatelists is considered. The absence, as a rule, of characteristic markings on the trips establishing the mail routes in the air has been a disappointment to scores of collectors and it is not easy to understand how the postal authorities did not appreciate the sentiment of the occasions or could have been neglectful of historical obligations, as to have left unmarked the beginning of an era in the postal service. Howbeit, the errors of omission have been made and a delightful side-line of philately has been discouraged. It must be admitted, however, that on the first Cleveland to Chicago trip, the words "Via Aeroplane" were rubber-stamped on each piece of mail matter. Inquiry developed that no special marking was used in Chicago for the return trip; and unless the mail from Chicago, franked with the aeroplane stamps and marked "By Airplane" was endorsed, "Hold for next trip," it would be forwarded not by aeroplane but by fast mail, according to our information. However, in this connection, it must be recorded that an officer in the air mail service said that special stamps, with the words, "First Trip," were sent to Cleveland, Bryan, Ohio and Chicago.

True—The information given several months ago in this paper that in all likelihood a new perforation would be adopted for our current stamps and that at least the one cent stamp had been perforated 12½ is confirmed. In the issue of April 12, 1919, it was said: "We infer from this statement that a new perforating machine has been employed on so large a number of these sheets that the sheets so perforated are intended for distribution to post offices." In the issue of May 3, 1919, Mr. Philip H. Ward, Jr., quotes the acting director at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, as saying that the Bureau "has been experimenting with a machine for perforating stamps, in the hope that the work may be done more economically and expeditiously, but no definite conclusions in this matter have been reached." This statement is in accord with the news that we received from a reliable source; and we are now told that a rather large quantity of "a stamp other than postage" has been run through the new machine that perforates on the scale of 12½. We have received a description of the ingenious perforating machine with which the Bureau is experimenting, for which advantages are claimed over the one now in use. The pins are hardened and are more durable than those in the machine now in use and the device will allow of the replacement of a broken pin easily enough. Probably five sheets of stamps could be perforated at one time, if it were advisable to do so, as the pins extend slightly into the recess of the other wheel. The principle on which the machine operates that allows of the punching of the holes by the action of the two wheels is ingenious with its counting and locking advantages. It will be interesting to learn what the disposition of this new machine will be.

Test—From Mr. E. N. Tuckerman, Elkhart, Indiana, we have received an interesting criticism of the surface printing from an angle that must be apparent although it has not been widely discussed. He begins: "The governments of the world are indebted to a great extent for the many improvements in their postal system to the untiring efforts of the philatelist. Counterfeiting has even been reduced to the minimum by their vigilance; and in a thousand and one ways, they have benefitted both governments and their peoples." Mr. Tuckerman then dwells upon the beauties of well-executed stamps and how they recompensed collectors for the service that, to stretch it a bit, philatelists performed. However, Mr. Tuckerman receives a shock in the contemplation of the present surface prints of our stamps and he is moved to exclaim: "It may be economical but surely it is an eye-sore to the philatelist and a discredit to our nation or else I miss my guess. Even the slouchiest country circus man would not stoop to such an unsightly 'job' of printing for his posters and heralds to be placed before an indiscriminate populace in some 'jay' town." Mr. Tuckerman does not spare the surface printed creations and makes them hang their heads in shame. Of course, the beautiful line-engraved stamps are being sacrificed on the basis of expediency and efficiency; and we are afraid that as the business of the world increases, the flat printing will have the call. We have been assured that the off-set process will allow of improved results with good ink but it must be admitted that flat work cannot compete in beauty and strength with engraving in recess.

Turn—It is not to be gainsaid that for some time past, the national philatelic societies have suffered through some slackening of interest in them on the part of members and others by reason of the unprecedented conditions that have prevailed. When the war was on, attention while not distracted from stamps did not seem to extend beyond them to the stamp societies. We know that not a few of the society workers served their country and this was a drain of society vitality, but the fact was recognized with pride. It now becomes incumbent on the well-wishers of philately to rally again under the standards of the national organizations and progress in the constructive work that has been started. It is a tribute to the inherent strength of the stamp societies that they endured during the trying times when their functions were dwarfed into insignificance in comparison with the great world work that was being accomplished. We are aware that there have been critics of the inaction of these organizations but to those who have written us inquiring about conditions that were not satisfactory to them, we can say that nearly all is well again in these representative bodies. With helpful consideration, the members can institute a campaign that will have fruition in the coming conventions of the national societies as happily, the annual meetings are now regarded as working sessions rather than purely relaxation periods. These few explanatory words are given both in behalf of the correspondents who have written us and of the officers of the societies.

Told—The work of preparation for the conventions of the American Philatelic Association and the Society of Philatelic Americans at St. Louis and San Francisco respectively is well under way. Dr. H. A. Davis, secretary of the older society, informs us that the St. Louis convention will be held beginning on August 19th, 1919. The tentative program follows: Monday night, August 18th, reception and fraternization at the hotel; Tuesday afternoon, automobile ride,—evening, lecture and auction; Wednesday afternoon, boat-ride on the Mississippi—evening, stamp mart; Thursday evening, banquet, followed by vaudeville at Forest Park Highlands. The probable headquarters, Planters' Hotel.

—Wednesday, May 21, the Pacific Philatelic Society held its regular monthly meeting with special exhibits of Italy, Italian States and Colonies. Donations are requested for the Society's forgery collection.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our chronicle of last week we mentioned briefly the finding of the current 3c envelope printed in black upon amber. The original finder has since located a package of twenty-five which he kindly distributed to the members of the Philadelphia Stamp Club at a nominal figure. It seems that the envelope runs in a deep black without traces of purple on some of them, while others show very slight traces of the purple. The envelope is a decided error, and there can be no doubt about the color. Outside of these twenty-five, no more are in the hands of collectors although efforts are being made to obtain some few that are still in the hands of the firm originally purchasing them from the Post Office. So far, in point of numbers, this variety is decidedly the rarer of the several errors.

We have heard rumors which we have not as yet been able to confirm that the 3c in red has also been located on buff and amber and that the 1c is known in red on white.

In our original chronicle of the 3c red on white, we transcribed notes given us by a New York dealer and through error, we were informed that the envelope was Die A, whereas it was actually Die E. In other words, all of the red error envelopes, so far on both blue and white, are from Die E. The black envelope described above is Die A.

While on the subject of envelopes we might mention that Mr. W. A. Langdon has sent us one of the 2c circular dies with the stamp embossed near the lower right corner.

Mr. C. M. Breder has sent us the 3c on white which is an albino on the front showing no color but the embossing only, whereas on the inside we get an offset impression in purple. Numerous other correspondents have sent us freaks of this nature which are now becoming quite common.

Mr. George Soulman writes to state that he believes the Bureau has made an error when they inform us in a recent letter that no stamps have been distributed recently, other than those with the standard perforation 11. He states that he believes he will shortly be able to show us not only the current 1c stamp, but some of the revenues as well, from the new perforating machine with which the Bureau has been recently experimenting. We will greatly appreciate specimens of such varieties from any of our readers.

We have mentioned in previous issues a list of provisional "NARCOTIC" Revenues from Detroit and we now wish to add to the list the 3 and 5c values printed in purplish red on the regular documentary stamps. These values have appeared in both the first and second types.

Capt. Mayhew, Mr. A. S. Davenport and Mr. Max Menzel have shown us copies of the new blue playing card stamp surcharged 3—4—1919 7 CENTS U. S. P. C. Co., which were, of course, issued previous to the recent advance in playing card rates. The copy submitted by Capt. Mayhew was rouletted at top and bottom and imperforated at the sides, while the copies submitted by the other gentlemen were rouletted all around. We have no doubt that these same varieties exist surcharged similarly 8c.

The Nassau Stamp Company writes us in detail regarding the new Proprietary issues and similar information comes from Mr. Harman Wendell, the latter gentleman sending us a copy of the Collector of Internal Revenue "Form 27-a" which are used by those making requisition upon the Collector for these stamps. So far we have seen the 3c in addition to the 1c and 2c mentioned recently, but the other values have not appeared up to this writing.

In an editorial appearing in our issue of May 10th, mention was made of an error booklet issued to the American Expeditionary Forces wherein the book opened from left to right instead of right to left. This is not an error, and if our readers will refer to a very interesting description appearing in one of our former issues, written by Mr. Geo. H. Beans, concerning these booklets, they will find that just as many were printed opening in one way as the other. The variety is due to the manner in which the sheets were bound together and cut and as mentioned before it is not an error.

ALBANIA.—Mr. W. S. Ledbetter has shown us a copy of No. 62, 1c stamp of the 1917 issue containing the same error as exists on the 2 and 3c value, viz.: "CTM for CTS". This has not heretofore been listed in either Scott's or Y. & T. catalogs to our knowledge.

ARGENTINE.—Mr. George Soulman has shown us the 2c, 5 and 12c values of the current issue on what appears to be a blued paper. The stamp makes a trifle different appearance printed on this paper.

BAHAMAS.—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. state that the War charity stamps with double overprint, referred to in our issue for March 15, were forwarded to the Crown Agents for the Colonies for their inspection, who submitted them to the printers, whose explanation of the variety is that the printer has passed the sheet through the press twice, owing to it being too faint at the first printing. In reply to numerous inquiries concerning these stamps, our friends state that it is not their present intention to break up the sheet, and that none of the stamps are for sale.

As we go to press, Messrs. D. Head & Co. show us examples of the new 3d "WAR TAX" stamp, described in our issue for March 22.—Stamp Collecting.

CUBA.—The current 2 cents is now appearing in vermilion, instead of rose. —Stamp Collecting.

COLOMBIAN REPUBLIC.—Captain R. E. Honke shows us the 1c stamp No. 326 in darker shades of green, and the 2c, No. 327, in a lighter shade of red and on white paper. He also adds that while these stamps are supposed to be of the 1908 issue they are in general use in the country at present. Capt. Honke, at the same time, submits a copy of No. 354 with the surcharge reversed, and informs us that these stamps have not only been found on letters, but used as revenue stamps for various documents.

DOMINICA.—C. G. Dietrich informs us that the 2sh blue and violet on blue has only just now been issued. It has been listed in certain European catalogs as having appeared some years back.

EAST AFRICA (Belgian Occupation).—The 5c, 10c, 15c, 25c, 40c, 50c, 1fr, and 5fr, values of 1916 have been overprinted as under, for use as Postage Dues:—

TAXES

—Stamp Collecting.

ESTHONIA.—C. G. Dietrich informs us that he has seen four values, the denominations and colors being as follows:—5k salmon, 15k greenish blue, 35k lilac brown and 70k olive green.

FRENCH POST OFFICES IN CHINA.—We are advised by Mr. James M. Henry that the recently surcharged Canton stamps contain an error in the 4c value. It has an error in the Chinese surcharge which reads, 2 cents instead of 4 cents. The stock in the Post Office was exhausted almost immediately upon this discovery.

GREAT BRITAIN.—According to the Fortnightly, there will be no Victory stamp for Great Britain. We quote from this publication:—

"The question of a 'peace' or 'victory' stamp was raised in the House of Commons by Captain Ormsby-Gore, M. P., who suggested that, following the example of America, a postage stamp commemorative of peace should be issued by the British postal authorities. The Postmaster-General's reply, delivered in his best official manner, was that this country had not yet 'contracted the habit' of issuing commemorative postage stamps, and did not propose to do so."

JAPAN.—R. Yokohori informs us that a commemorative set of stamps in honor of the signing of the peace treaty is in preparation, and it is expected that the set will be put in circulation on the date when peace becomes effective. There will be four values:—1½, 3, 4, and 10sen the same as the Coronation set of 1915. Two famous Japanese artists, Messrs. Okada and Yuki, have prepared the designs and the government printing bureau is hastily printing the stamps. Mr. Yokohori promises us an early inspection of the new victory set.

NEWFOUNDLAND. — Mr. Michael P. Hynes advises that 200 of the 3 cent Caribou issue have been overprinted for the first trans-Atlantic Aerial Post. The overprint is in black as follows:

FIRST
Atlantic
Air Post
April, 1919.

By arrangement with the authorities, Lieut. Hawker and Commander Grieve, who will start in the Lopwith Aeroplane will carry a mail of 111 pieces when they leave on their epoch-making flight across the Atlantic. Of the 200 stamps overprinted, 23 were spoiled and destroyed. 100 were handed over to the Aviators and 11 used on official mail. The remaining 66 are in the possession of the Postmaster General and at present it is not known what will be done with them. The agreement with the fliers permitted them to take a mail of 100 pieces and in return for the privilege, they are to take 11 letters from prominent officials to be delivered in England. No special postmark is used, the ordinary machine cancellation sufficing. Although the overprint reads "April, 1919" and the aviators have not yet started across, no change will be made as the mail bag is sealed and everything in readiness for the "take off" at a moment's notice. The Martinside machine, manned by Raynham and Morgan will also take a mail of about the same size but ordinary Caribou stamps without any overprint will be used.

Mr. Frank F. Wills has advised us that most of the values of the Caribou set are now issued in lighter shades than heretofore. He adds that he has seen the 1c and 2c values and is informed that the 3c, 4c and 5c are also on sale.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. H. Chitraro submits to us the following new provisionals recently issued for this country:—"medio centavo de cordoba" on No. 357 (in black) and "un centavo de cordoba" on No. 357 (in black). Mr. Chitraro also adds the following information: "This stamp also comes surcharged in black 'cinco centavos de cordoba.' Also the following provisionals, which have been replaced by the same values as above:—"media centavo de cordoba" on No. 360 (magenta) and "un centavo de cordoba" on No. 358 (orange).

In addition to the provisionals already catalogued (Nos. 362, 363, 364, 368 and 370) the following have since been issued:—"medio centavo de cordoba" on No. 356 (black); "un centavo de cordoba" on No. 358 (dull red); "dos centavos de cordoba" on No. 359 (black); "un centavo de cordoba" on No. 358 (black), and "cinco centavos de cordoba" (same type) on No. 355 (black).

I have the following varieties:—"uu centavo de cordoba" on No. 363 (n in the un inverted); "un centavo de cordoba" on No. 363 double surcharge; "dos centavo de cordoba" on No. 364 (s in centavos missing); "dos centavo de cordoba" on No. 364 double surcharge; "2 centavo de cordoba" on No. 364; "1 centavo d cordoba" on No. 368 (e in de missing); "uu centavo de cordoba" on No. 358 (dull red) n in un inverted; and "cinco centavos de cordoba" (same type) on No. 355 double surcharge.

NYASALAND PROTECTORATE.—Lieut.-Col. G. Jameson Johnston informs us that he has received another batch of Portuguese Nyassa stamps obliterated with the "Nyasaland F.F.2" postmark, on pieces bearing chiefly 50r values, or pairs of 25r, representing the ordinary rate. These bear dates in March and July last.—Stamp Collecting.

PHILIPPINES.—Delf Noronha sends us an aerial postcard from the Philippines commemorating the establishment of the first aerial mail service in the Islands. April 4 and 5 are given as the dates. The card is stamped with the current 2c green and bears a triangular cancellation in violet. The following inscriptions are found:—"The Champion Explorer of the Sky—Miss Ruth Law—Aerial Mail Service—Bureau of Posts—Philippine Islands." We have as yet received no particulars of the service rendered.

STRAITS SETTLEMENTS.—Examples of the 10c blue, K.G. (chronicled so long ago as August 10 last) have been shown us by Mr. Sarringer and other friends. We are officially informed that the Red Cross stamps are "out of print," and no more can be supplied by the Straits Settlements Post Office.—Stamp Collecting.

SPEEDY AEROPLANE DELIVERY.

By WENDOVER NEEFUS.

Today (May 16), at 7 A. M., I was greeted by a special delivery messenger with a registered letter sent by Fred Michael of Chicago by the first Chicago-New York air trip. That is—it was supposed to come by the first trip. The Chicago registration stamp on the back shows "Dec. 17, 1918." Back in the days of runners, it probably took couriers three months or more to make the trip. Those funny old days of inconveniences—it now takes less than five months (yes—one day less) to make the same trip by aeroplane. I think I can prove that the man who delivered this letter to me did not walk from Chicago here, for he is a Hudson man and I saw him only a day or two ago. The letter was of little importance—thank goodness. Suppose my friend Michael had been sending me a thousand dollars to keep me out of jail or bankruptcy!!! There might have been some consolation at that, as my jail sentence would have been well along in point of serving, or my bankruptcy might be about ready for the final discharge.

A SOCIETY FOR SHUT-INS.

By S. S.

The death of Charles E. Jenney, whose contributions to philatelic papers were the delight of hundreds of collectors, was not wholly unexpected by at least one collector,—myself. I had no personal acquaintance with Mr. Jenney, but we had passed letters, and, nearly a year ago, replying to a proposal I made him to take over my collection of philatelic literature, he stated his reasons for declining, which were mine for disposing of the collection. Until that Day of Omission—or shall I call it Admission?—I had supposed him one in whom the seeds of disease lay dormant. Then I knew, and, knowing, my heart went out to this patient sufferer,—this intrepid fighter. He knew the deaths we all die, daily, but, with Stevenson, he could exclaim, "Give me the courage to endure."

I think the time is at hand to form a Society of Stamp Collectors—and let that be its name—without Constitution or By-laws or dues or any of the least hindrances to organization. It shall be necessary, however, for its membership to be restricted. It should be composed wholly of shut-ins, or those whose physical condition shall not pass the muster-roll of the perfect.

I would further suggest that no officers encumber its roster of members, unless it be necessary to have an Honorary Secretary, who shall act in the capacity of pater familias to the Society, conducting all necessary correspondence.

Another object of the Society would be to bring together those amongst our collectors who would care to aid the shut-in with gifts of stamps, of literature, of advice.

There are, amongst the collectors here at home, many who would join. We might have a Sustaining Membership list of those interested, who, however, were exempt from membership,—say not more than ten, while the regular membership would be unrestricted in numbers.

Will MEKEEL'S act as intermediary?

WATERBURY CANCELLATIONS.

By PERCY MCG. MANN.

Ingenuity in the mind of a postal clerk or postmaster would be frowned upon nowadays by the authorities unless the ingenious inventions were first submitted to them for their approval. This was not the case back in the "sixties" if we take for example the designs for cancellations devised in the brain and ably executed by an artistic postmaster or postal clerk of the postoffice at Waterbury, Connecticut, during that period.

The post office official would not find time nowadays to while away the hours between mails by whittling fanciful designs on the end of a cork or a block of wood. Nor would the higher up officials permit the vagaries of such a whittler to continue should he attempt a continuous use of his artistic productions.

Perhaps the artist, or artists, who also occupied an easy position at the Waterbury Postoffice, little thought of the demand his works of art would have sixty years after he whiled away his time by commemorating the events of his time in cutting cork obliterators for defacing the postage stamps on mail matter passing through his hands.

Can it be said, stamp collecting is a mingling of the curious with the artistic? The art of enhancing a stamp collection with curious bits of postal history appears to be on the increase. In the early days of philately the stamp wasn't collected for its odd or fanciful cancellation. Now, we all know the futility of attempting to form a complete or anywhere near complete collection of postage stamps. Thousands of our philatelists are using their efforts along the line of collecting stamps as curios—some stamps are becoming antiques. This is the outcome of most all kinds of collecting. One's field is limited, and one is guided solely by his pocketbook or his ability to find the curios which cost him little or nothing. When many begin the hunt, the value of the sought-after is enhanced.

At a recent auction sale held by the J. M. Bartels Co. in New York City, thirty-two lots of covers bearing stamps issued from 1861 to late in the seventies and cancelled at the Waterbury, Ct., post office, were offered to collectors. The cancellations were of great variety and displayed the talents of the postal official mentioned above. It is possible the artist kept a record of the use of the varying marks, and a complete list would be of considerable interest. However, awaiting the publication of such a list, if it exists, the philatelist can check up dates from available information on the subject.

Mr. William E. Ault, of St. Louis, recently wrote of these odd cancellations (American Philatelist, Feb., 1919) which had been submitted to him by Mr. M. Ray Sanborn, of West Haven, Ct. The publicity thus extended to them has had the effect of stimulating the collecting of cancellations. The old time collectors of cancellations, however, always on the watch out for them, and knowing their value, did not let the Waterbury marks get away from them. Spirited bidding at the auction sale resulted in several of the more artistic cancellations bringing very good prices.

The illustrations are not tracings of the actual cancellations, but poor free-hand drawings, the marks losing much of their artistic merit in the reproduction.

Star cancellations are fairly common and therefore the prices for these were not as strong as for more carefully executed artistry. Following, I endeavor to list the marks in chronological order as shown by the dates in the auction catalogue:—

1. The earliest (Nov. 7, 1865) is a rayed star composed of seven diamonds. This, with an eight pointed star of similar construction, fetched 65 cents!

2. A rayed star of nine diamonds (Mar. 8, 1866)—$2.20.

3. A shield with thirteen stripes (Mar. 20, 1866)—$2.70.

4. Probably the prize of the lot, with the exception of the next one. An elephant (April, 1866)—$11.00 Mr. Bartels had a limit of $16.10 on this.

5. A man's head, hatted and collared; probably a caricature of the postmaster or the artist himself (May 8, 1866)—$16.25. The limit on this lot was $25.

6. A leaf "similar to an elm" (Jul. 24, 1866)—$4.60.

7. "Perhaps a flounder" (fish) (Aug. 20, 1866)—$5.

8. A "tri-pinnate leaf, perhaps an ash" (Aug. 24, 1866)—50 cents.

9. A large "G" in a circle, with another, a "W", (Aug. 26, 1866)— $1.

10. A nine striped shield (Sep. 13, 1866)—$2.20.

11. A "W" as mentioned above (Oct. 29, 1866).

12. A star of eight diamonds, as mentioned in the first lot above (May 26, 1867.)

FIUME.

By THEODORE H. AMES.

Fiume, the bone of contention between the Jugo-Slavs and Italy, is one of the new states of the disintegrating Austro-Hungarian Empire which is regaling stamp collectors with an avalanche of new issues and it is believed that the table at the end of this article, showing the types and quantities of the types issued, will prove of interest to all who are collecting the stamps of the new Central Europe republics.

Fiume is situated on the Adriatic and is one of the principal seaports on the Eastern shore. It bears about the same relation to Hungary, or more properly, Croatia, that Trieste does, or did, to Austria. Altho the population is undoubtedly predominantly Italian, it is the only good seaport available for the use of the Jugo-Slav state and without it the latter would find it hard to develop its resources. The city boasts three harbors and a quay nearly two miles in length, a great diversity of industries, and a long list of articles for export, including fish, sugar, grain, beans, timber, and horses.

Founded during the period of expansion of the Roman Empire, it was destroyed by Charlemagne in 799, being ruled by the Franks for a long period. It then passed under the rule of feudal lords, until Frederick the Third made it a part of Austria. Charles VI, of Austria, proclaimed Fiume a free city and later, Maria Theresa annexed it to Hungary. It then passed successively through the hands of the French, British, Austrians, Hungarians, and Croatians. Its final disposition is yet to be decided upon but meanwhile "the stamps are coming."

Contrary to some reports, no Hungarian stamps with the surcharge S. H. S. were used at Fiume after the occupation of the city by the Italian troops. Only the Hungarian stamps, with the overprint FIUME were current in the city pending the issue of a permanent set.

The Postal Department sent the greater part of the Hungarian stamps on hand, at the moment of the occupation of the city by the Allied troops, to a local printing office where they were surcharged with the name of the city, "FIUME". The work was finished the second of December, 1918. The surcharges were made in two settings; the low values, reaper, and Emperor Charles types, were done first as it was necessary to make a new composition of type for the other values, on account of their different size.

This first impression was made very neatly and well, with surprisingly few errors, considering the short time in which it was completed. One "I", being broken in the course of the printing, fell from the case and resulted in the error "F UME"; this error is not found except in the low values. A few others which occurred, were immediately noticed and corrected. There exist some inverted and double surcharges, but they are remarkably few.

The quantities of stamps thus treated were limited and some of the values are quite rare. They were soon exhausted, and the Post Office Department gave orders to surcharge, in the same manner, all the Hungarian stamps remaining, and also all the stamps which might be presented by the public at the stamp windows of the Post Office. No Hungarian stamps were henceforth to be accepted in payment for postage on letters unless they bore the surcharge FIUME. All the possessors of old stamps were, then, obliged to exchange them for those surcharged "FIUME".

This explains how some denominations, which were exhausted at the Post Office at the time of the first impression, but which were held by private persons, bear the impression of the second printing, but not the first.

The second impression was made by hand, for it was hardly possible to surcharge, by machine, stamps which were not in sheets, but consisted, in many cases, of single stamps, handed in by the public at the Post Office windows. The printer made up a composition to surcharge 5 stamps at a time. 25 letters were thus used, which, while nearly the same, nevertheless, present certain minor differences.

The work was commenced on December 12 and occupied only a few days.

The surcharge is easily distinguished from the first printing, the letters are shorter and stouter, altho they are very neat for handstamped surcharges, and in some cases could almost be believed to be the first machine-made type.

A SPECIALIST

Specialism today is being developed in every walk of life and it is an admitted fact that a doctor specialist on nerves or a lawyer specialist on patents has a great advantage over the general practitioner. He concentrates his energies on one line and gets at the finer points the general man does not have time to observe and study.

In stamp collecting it is the same. I handle United States stamps only and have concentrated my efforts and study on them for years. My efforts date back to a boy in 1894 and they're an asset to each of my clients.

A want-list of the United States stamps you lack will have the careful and business-like attention of

UNITED STATES STAMPS !!!

I am breaking up a magnificent collection which contains such RARITIES AS THE 24c AND 90c IMPERF. 1860 ISSUE; 15c AND 24c 1869, 2c PAN-AMERICAN, AND THE 24c AEROPLANE WITH INVERTED CENTERS, all of the re-issues, and most of the special printings; Departments complete and Newspaper stamps nearly so. Now is a chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

They surcharged also the postage-due stamps of 6 and 20 filler with the word "Franco" and the figures 45, which last value does not exist in the set. In order to prevent speculation in this last stamp, they were not sold to the public, but were placed on registered letters by the postal employees and not more than five registered letters could be mailed at one time.

On the 3rd of January there were placed on sale the new series of stamps for Fiume. Some nine denominations have appeared since that date, but it does not yet appear that the series is completed. The 10, 15, and 20c picture "The City Tower", from which an Italian flag is flung to the breeze. The 5c green shows the head of a young woman whose hair is caught in a bandeau, surmounted by a star upon her forehead. The stamps of the 25 and 45c denomination illustrates a supposedly heroic group consisting of a woman, brandishing a torch (of Liberty?) who advances, supported by a lion. The 60c, 1 crown, and 10 crowns, show a sailor upon the bow of a vessel arriving at Fiume, who, with one hand, raises upon its staff, the Italian flag, and with the other greets the city by doffing his cap. All these stamps were printed at Trieste and are rather poorly executed, being lithographed on a poor quality of paper.

I give below, the types, denominations and quantities of Hungarian stamps which received the surcharge "Fiume".

AIR MAIL CANCELLATIONS.

WASHINGTON, May 10, 1919.
Postmaster, Chicago, Ill.:

Owing to insistent demands of postage stamp dealers and philatelists that mail for dispatch by airplane be specially postmarked, you are hereby authorized, when requested by senders, to postmark airplane mail and cancel stamps affixed thereto with a specially designed stamp appropriate for such usage. The Department has ordered a supply of these special hand stamps and you will be furnished with an adequate number as soon as possible. In the meantime you may use any special air mail hand stamp you have on hand.

OTTO PRAEGER,
Second Asst. P. M. Gen.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—After residing twenty-three years at 265 Halsey St., Brooklyn, N. Y., George J. Carter, the well-known dealer, is now located at 1070 Carroll St., same city. During all this time Mr. Carter has been upon our subscription list.

—The Pamunkey Stamp Co., Fort Richmond, Va., is issuing a monthly list. It will be sent to anyone regularly upon request.

—The Pacific State Stamp Co. wishes us to say that it has no connection with the O. K. Stamp Co. whose reputation was questioned recently in the WEEKLY. The Pacific formerly used the same name.

—Hereafter, the R. J. Auction Service will be run under the name of A. A. Jones.

—The Illinois State Register, of Springfield, Ill., states that there is on exhibition in that city a map of the state of Illinois made entirely of postage stamps, the work of F. F. Weber of Atlanta, Ill. The map of the state is made by counties, each county being in a different color of postage stamps, and is not only accurate but beautiful. At one side of the map is the figure of an Indian and a dog. The background is a forest. On the other side is a figure representing progress, and over all the great seal of the state of Illinois. These also are done in stamps.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Jack Printz, E. J. Meehan, Norman Jost, Vernon Black and A. S. Davenport.

STAMPS OF THE ARMISTICE.

While Jugo-Slavia and Italy were waiting for the Peace Conference at Paris to decide which nation was entitled to possession of Fiume, each of the two governments put forth postage stamps significant of the occupation of the former Hungarian port. And just as each government refused to recognize the military or political supremacy of the other in Fiume, so each declined to concede that the other's Fiume issue of stamps was legally of use for postage purposes, and thus has been brought about a situation of peculiar interest to the world's stamp collectors.

Apparently, Jugo-Slavia's Fiume stamps were put into circulation first. These were not labels especially designed for the purpose and newly-printed, but were stamps formerly in use in the Hungary of the old Austro-Hungarian dual monarchy but now overprinted with an inscription indicating the new use to which these adhesives were to be put—that is, on letters mailed in and from Fiume. This surcharge reads H. S. H. HRVATSKA, the letters meaning, Serbia, Croatia and Slavonia, component parts of Jugo-Slavia, and the overprint was placed on approximately 40 different Hungarian regular issues, charity stamps, special delivery stamps, newspaper stamps and postage dues, some of which were current in Hungary in the days before the war.

The Italian authorities in Fiume objected to the circulation of these overprinted labels and promptly put forth some surcharged Hungarian stamps on their own account. The Italian issue comprised six or more varieties of one of Hungary's wartime sets, and the overprint consisted of the word FIUME. Evidently, these stamps were prepared hurriedly to offset Jugo-Slavia's Fiume issue, for it was not long before Italy introduced a Fiume set of special design. This new series, probably intended to displace Italy's provisionals, shows on two of the values a picture of a business district of Fiume, with the Italian flag flying from what is apparently one of the public buildings; and the word Fiume is engraved as part of the design.

Awarding of Fiume to Italy would insure the permanency of this specially-designed set. The granting of Fiume to Jugo-Slavia would mean the withdrawal of this series, providing the Italians agreed to order their military forces away and not insist on continued occupation; and this situation would foreshadow Jugo-Slavia's retirement of her provisionals and the substitution for them of a permanent set—probably Jugo-Slavia stamps for use alike in Fiume and the rest of the new-born nation.

Meanwhile these hurriedly-prepared Fiume stamps are providing for philatelists some of the most fascinating postal labels of the reconstruction period in the New Europe.

Poland, as a republic, has instituted postal retaliation against Germany, thereby producing some of the queerest stamps in philatelic history.

During the war the Huns invaded Poland, seizing this territory which was then a part of the Russia of the days of the Romanoff dynasty. "Philately follows the flag," and the Germans took with them great stocks of stamps which were current in Germany, and put them in use in Poland. But before they went into circulation there, the labels received an overprint reading "Gen. Gouv Warschau," signifying that these overprinted adhesives were the ones which henceforth must be used by the people living in the land of which Warsaw was the capital. For use on letters locally in Warsaw, the German occupation authorities permitted the civilian officials of Warsaw to issue a special series of stamps.

It is these two German-prepared sets, stocks of which were seized by the Republic of Poland authorities after the boche had been forced to retire, which the Paderewski government is now putting to retaliatory use. The new Poland, instead of having stamps of special design, prepared hurriedly, decided to use up the seized Hun stocks. Thus upon the German labels already defaced with Germany's occupation surcharge, a new overprint has been placed by the Poles, this reading "Poczta Polska," which, translated, means "Republic of Poland." The words "Gouv. Gen. Warschau" have been overruled with black lines. The Warsaw locals have been similarly surcharged, except Polish eagle, and are for use in the Kalish and Lubin districts. In these districts are being used also stamps which, formerly current in Austria, have since been seized by the Poles and overprinted with "Poczta Polska" and the Polish eagle. These several Polish issues number more than 30 varieties. —Springfield Union.

PHILIPPINES
A recent purchase contains some very notable examples of the earlier issues of Philippines. Quite a few singles of the first issue, and some blocks and pairs both on and off cover of the 1859-1863 issues. Perhaps the finest piece is a strip of three of No. 8 and a single copy of No. 10, used together on a large part of cover. But there are many other good things.

EDITORIAL.

Primitive—Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Madison, Wisconsin, writes: "The following excerpts from letters written by Sir Bartle Frere, High Commissioner in South Africa in 1877 to the Colonial Office in London, throw an interesting light on the postal affairs in that region forty years ago. 'So slow and ill-arranged is the post that it only goes twice a week, and letters take more than a fortnight between Cape Town and Pretoria. The journey from Kimberly to Pretoria, a distance of about 270 miles, takes nearly four whole days to accomplish. The horses that draw the mail are not stabled, but graze by contract with the farmers on the line of the roads, and at the end of each stage of the journey, the coach has to wait, sometimes for hours, until fresh horses can be caught.' 'Life and Correspondence of the Right Honorable Sir Bartle Frere,' by John Martineau, John Murray, London, 1895, volume 2, chapter XVIII, p. 179. 'Mr. Molteno, (Colonial Secretary at the Cape) and his Post Master General both justified their contentment with posts only twice or thrice a week to their great eastern ports, not by the cost of the mail to be carried (from western to eastern Cape of Good Hope), for the mail cart is often so crammed that it can hardly hold its load but by the fact that they tried a daily post some years ago, and it created such confusion, coming in at all hours of the day and night, that they had to give it up.' (Ibid, p. 191.)"

Plastered—We have seen the envelope containing a letter that has just been received from Berlin by a Chicagoan that is stamped and labeled liberally. The envelope is postmarked Stockholm and bears the twenty ore blue of the issue of Sweden. The first censor label has the endorsement in ink, "From enemy." Below, the words, "Deutscher Hulfverein," are stamped; and we are told that this charity agency secures the transit of the letters from Germany to Stockholm. The second censor's label is across an end of the envelope. The journey of the letter from Berlin to Chicago required almost two months.

Provided—On a letter just received from Brigadier General Bandholtz, U. S. A., that he sends registered and by special delivery, are the following stamps of our current issue; one cent, engraved and surfaced printings; two, three, surface; five, ten and twelve cents, which says General Bandholtz, were placed in use on May 2, 1919. The military mail which heretofore has been franked otherwise will now bear our stamps, we infer.

Relief—Some time ago, Mr. George Engerrand, Biloxi, Miss., wrote: "Apropos of your article, 'Remedy,' (March 22, Page 194), I want to say that my stamps never stick to the pages of my album, even in the damp climate of the Mississippi coast. I use the 'Pochette Phila' which keeps the stamps brand new with their virginal gum. No hinge is needed and the lover of stamps will never put them in his album without dressing them in a 'Pochette Phila.' The use of them solves the question of contamination through handling of stamps." We learn that over two thousand different sizes of this transparent sheath are made and that Mr. Engerrand is the agent for it in North America. As the name of the covering implies, the pocket is of the thinnest celluloid, we suppose, that holds the stamp snugly, with a tissue insert to protect the gum.

Reported—A correspondent says: "It may interest you to know that there is in Italy, a perfect demand for stamp albums particularly,—indeed, philatelic accessories generally, the dealers being desirous of stocking goods of British manufacture. I found this to be the case in Milan and Genoa, both of which I visited and I have had a communication from Mr. A. G. Dell'Acqua, editor of Il Corriere Filatelico, now the leading stamp monthly in Italy. This gentleman probably will appoint Mr. Hugh Vallancey of Stamp Collecting, London, as buying agent and the assumption would be that Il Corriere Filatelico intends acting as wholesale sellers to the Italian dealers. I consider American goods in this line quite as good and attractive as British, surely as regards loose-leaf blank albums; and they could be turned out to meet this demand, which it would be no exaggeration to say, might apply not only to Italy but the rest of Europe as well. There could be one or two types of album, the one for advanced collectors to be interleaved with Jap tissue paper and the leaves themselves of a good quadrille paper, tough, but not too thick. A plain 'band border' would look well, too. Such interleaving would do away with a 'sunk mount' the object of which, of course, is to prevent friction." We anticipate a revival of stamp album publishing, now that restrictions under which publishers labored during the war are becoming less irksome and American album makers should widen their activities. In the encouragement of trade expansion, which now enlists general attention, philatelic manufacturers should take a part; and the vision of the markets of the world should inspire them to cover the philatelic world with their creations through the intermediary of reputable agents.

Real—The following definition of the "fip" which was referred to recently in this column, from Mr. R. McP. Cabeen, Chicago, is so interesting that we must make place for it: "In the U. S. coinage, prior to 1800, among other foreign coins was the Spanish dollar (piece-of-eight) and its fractions, halves, quarters, fifths or pistareens, and eighths, (being the 'real,' 'ryall' or 'royall,' worth 12½ cents in New York, nine pence in New England (based on New England shilling of 16⅔ cents). In the middle colonies, including Pennsylvania, the Spanish dollar, in which the continental congress kept its accounts, equalled ninety pence and accounts read in dollars and ninetieths. A real then was about 11¼ pence, hence, eleven-penny-piece or 'levy,' and one-half of this was 5⅝ pence,—five-penny-piece, 'fippenny' or 'fip.' In Virginia and Maryland, there are people who still speak of 25 cents as 'two levies and a fip.' When Washington made his triumphal journey through the colonies, his greatest task was to keep a correct account of his expenditures; evidently, he started out with Philadelphia currency.

Reason—A dealer says: "I notice that you are trying to correct conditions that allow of improvement in philately and I wish you all success in your mission. I have long been of the opinion that there have been too much jealousy in the trade and bickering among collectors and small stuff of the kind and I have tried as best I could to help matters. However, I have come to the conclusion that collectors are too temperamental to submit to ordinary rules of conduct and that they will go their own sweet way, regardless of what may be said and done. Temperament, you know, will cause the star to pull off the table cloth and smash the dishes,—" O, mercy.

UNPERFORATED OR IMPERFORATE.

Both Are Correct.

(We are using every endeavor to have our Philatelic Dictionary as free from errors as possible, and wishing to know whether the word "unperforated" could be properly used in connection with stamps that had never been perforated we wrote C. A. Howes, who is enough of an authority to satisfy us. We know that a wide circle of readers will be interested in Mr. Howe's findings that both unperforated or imperforate are correct.—W. O. W.)

I decidedly object to the statement that "unperforated" is an "erroneous synonym" for "imperforate". "Imperforate" is an adjective adopted from the French. "Imperforated" is erroneous, being an attempt to make a past participle of the adjective—which is entirely unnecessary. But "unperforated" is a perfectly proper "negative past participle", so to speak, used as an adjective. Its use is exactly analogous to the use of "unused". I know some "purists" who think they know as much about the English language as they claim to do about stamps, contend that an "un perforated" stamp is one that has had the perforations removed. Logically, then, an un used stamp would be one that had had the cancellation removed! No one in his right senses would deny that "unused" simply meant not used and "unperforated" likewise means not perforated. The prefix un is simply a negation as in "unfulfilled," "uncontaminated", etc. When applied to a verb, (the verb indicating action), the negation of course reverses the action, so that in "to make," "to unmake", "to lock," "to unlock," "to seat," "to unseat," we have the contention of the "purists" exemplified, but when we take the past participles of these negative verbs and use them as adjectives, what do we find? An "unmade visit," an "unlocked door," an "unseated member" would usually be taken to indicate that the action had not been performed rather than that it was undone, though with the two latter in certain cases the undoing could be properly meant. But we do not have a verb "to unuse," nor do we properly use the verb "to unperforate," which would mean to "take out perforations" (not to "clip them off")—a rather difficult stunt.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

"DEEP CALLETH UNTO DEEP."

By EDWIN B. HILL.

When I wrote, in a recent WEEKLY, of the lure of philatelic literature, I little thought the trivial paper would be productive of so great interest to the philatelist-literarian. The incentive to garner the literary out-put of the present day presses while Opportunity has not ceased knocking at our doors seems to have spread beyond the wildest dreams. I had thought a few—a very few—might become interested, and here are scores, literally, clamoring for the literature of yester-year and today and anticipating the issues of the morrow. Good hunting all!

In this paper, too, I made more than mention of my file of The London Philatelist, with its bound first volume,—always a grief to me. The Discerning One, and the Friendly, out of the kindness of his generous soul, immediately wrote me, and an unbound file of this first volume now reposes on the table nearby,—a reminder of the ancient adage regarding advertising,—and, I may add, especially in the WEEKLY. I hope the editor will forgive me the self-imposed obligation of using his columns to present my woes; my pleasures take care of themselves, and need no further mention.

I would impress upon the novice in the collection of philatelic literature the absolute necessity of collating his books, brochures, and periodicals. I have not always made this a practice. It is essential, however, to the perfectness of one's collection. In purchasing a file of a magazine,—an old publication, particularly,—it is well to go over it, page by page, to see if anything is missing. I have several times been rewarded for exercising care in the matter, finding in one instance an entire page gone, and in another an item clipped bodily from the center of the page. The dealer from whom I obtained the papers, somewhat chagrined, was glad indeed to replace the missing "items" with perfect copies. It is absolutely impossible for any dealer who has tons of philatelic publications on sale to collate every trivial bit that comes to him. Rarities, as a matter of course, he makes a practice of giving careful inspection. This scrutiny is oftimes rewarded, too. Perhaps a rare autograph letter,—an "association copy" of a publication,—a volume enriched with notes,—may be his reward.

Who would not value a book from the library of Mr. Pemberton,—of Dr. Gray,—of Mr. Booty,—of the Rev. Mr. Stainforth,—or our own dear John Walter Scott! And, speaking of the American pioneer, what has become of his library? It was sold in New York, in a very quiet way. I did not receive a copy of the catalogue listing it, although as a rule I have been deluged, in the old days, with lists plus lists. Now that Canada Revenues, and our Match stamps (thanks to Christopher West's delightful and altogether charming and scholarly papers in the WEEKLY) and literature alone appeal,—well, there's no money in it for the dealer! Friendliness does not pay returns of the financial sort,—always; but there are exceptions.

It was so long ago as the Centennial year—and I had not quite passed youth's second lustrum—when I received from St. Louis a copy of a little colored pamphlet, The St. Louis Philatelist. It was the house-organ of E. F. Gambs, and it priced United States stamps, including M. and M. The valuations would cause one now-a-days to gasp; but in those days the scarcity of collectors and the plentitude of stamps did not warrant sky-high valuations. With conditions now reversed,—well, is it not advisable for the collector of small means to guard himself? There are always countries that lure one on,—and brochures about those countries. But, should the literature be negligible, the collector may well turn author,—and there's another volume for the library!

The St. Louis Philatelist is a scarce item, these days. My file is still incomplete. It was issued seemingly on impulse, as the exigencies of business demanded, and its circulation was such that few copies were preserved to posterity. As a bit of philatelic history, however, it would well repay the collector to preserve to himself the issues that may turn up. Perhaps he can trade in with other collectors, should duplicates come to him, and complete his files.

Several years ago a certain periodical made some comments upon The Arizona Philatelist, and quoted freely from its initial issue. I hope I betray no confidence when I say an unavailing search for the magazine's whereabouts was richly rewarded; there never was such an animal! The comment and quotations were the review-work of a joker,—which now seems somewhat prosaic,—especially in view of the fact that one collector wasted much time, little money, and gained experience of informative value.

Who has his MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS complete? And who has not? Mine was garnered from the four corners, but it is not yet collated. That is postponed to one of those dimly distant days when I shall have much time and greater inclination; I'm fearful I shall find an issue missing! That were calamity indeed. In its pages is all the thought of modern philately. Here are retained and preserved the histories of the people and publications that have made our cause scientific. I value my file above all else.

One of the side-lines to philatelic literature collecting is the acquisition of autograph letters with which to enrich one's volumes. I have few,—very few; for I hope I am not one of those ebullient collectors burdensome to his fellows,—unless the exception be the editor of the WEEKLY; he will keep silence, I know! But to possess these bits of correspondence adds to the joy of the volume. I once received a most charming autograph letter from W. S. Lincoln, of London, regarding the Rev. Mr. Stainforth. I preserved it carefully, and read and reread it. Then one day it disappeared, and has been seen no more. Oh brother collector! Think you it is fair to me to possess my treasure? I cannot hope for its duplicate. Might you, present possessor, favor the bereft with a copy, in your best typewritermanship,—to coin a word? Be generous!

Catalogues are desideratum with me. I have as generous a lot as befalls the average philatelist, but, alas! none of the rarities, not a Booty, nor a Gray, nor a Phillips,—but of Scott's a fair series, and of Gibbons and Bright and King almost files,—excepting the very early Scott's. Collectors should add these to their libraries whenever opportunity offers. The early price-lists, too, are becoming more than scarce, for these are seldom preserved by the generality of collectors.

If you have not the love of these bits of literature,—these waifs and strays,—it were better not to collect at all. They are the flotsam and the jetsom of our hobby,—the foundations upon which its literature has been builded. For me, I do sincerely love the little things as well as the great; for of such is the Kingdom of Collecting.

I WANT TO PURCHASE

more fine collections of United States postage and revenue stamps in order to add to my own collection. This last week I obtained one having several of the 1847, a beautiful 1c type 1, 1851 with blue cancellation, two of the 5c; 1857 several of each of the 1c, about twenty of the 5c and several of the higher values. In the 1861 there were two Augusts, a 3c scarlet, all of the 1869, most of the 1870 grills and all of the main varieties of the late issues including a 1c and 4c invert. In reissues the 1857, 1861 and 1869 were complete. I only mention this to show the kind of collections I am interested in. Please remember that I want to purchase anything really fine, whether a single stamp or a large collection. The best of Bank, Commercial or Dealer reference if necessary. Please remember that I have nothing to sell, so it is useless to write.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Since the appearance of our notes regarding the 3c error envelope printed in black, many of our correspondents have submitted varieties in deep purple and have asked if these were the errors in question. For the benefit of all would state that your editor has seen this black envelope and it is absolutely black without the slightest tinge of purple. If you have an envelope that you think is the error, and there is the least doubt in your mind, be sure you have not the variety, for when you have the real thing there is no doubt.

In previous issues we described the 3c type II and the 1c surface print, imperforated between the outer horizontal row and the margin. The Economist Stamp Company sends us the 3c type IV surface print from the upper left pane of sheet 9334 in a somewhat similar condition. In the latter case, however, the top row of horizontal perforations are to be found 15 mm. above the design of the stamp, giving us one row of stamps, normal in width and 40 mm. in height.

We have chronicled a sheet of the 1c engraved, perf. 11, unwatermarked, having a hundred and ten subjects and judge similar sheets of the 2c stamp must exist, for Mr. George P. Smith writes that he has seen a sheet of ninety (9 x 10) rows, with good wide margins at the left of the sheet, showing the perforations just at the very edge.

Several weeks back Mr. James P. Cooper called our attention to a pair of the 1912 1c green, imperforated on single line watermarked paper showing the letters of the watermark 19 mm. apart instead of normal. Off hand this looked like a new variety but in looking over numerous large blocks, I found several showing this spacing which simply means that the letters were not all uniformally spaced on the dandy roll.

In looking over these blocks, however, your editor discovered that there are two very distinct types of the single line watermarked paper made from two very different dandy rolls. In one type the letters are small, being 11 mm. high and each one is well formed. The ends of the "S" are well curved. In the second type the letters are fully 13 mm. high, and the ends of the "S" are not curved, being almost horizontal. These differences prevail throughout the sheet and are not peculiar to one or two stamps only.

Mr. A. S. Davenport reports that he has found the $1 Stock Transfer, surcharged in red, reading down. It will be recalled that the red surcharge is the first issue and to date we do not remember seeing this stamp except with surcharge reading up.

The same correspondent also sends us a brown paper cover taken from a package holding several packs of cards, and upon this wrapper we find printed in red "Internal Revenue Paid 7 cents per pack." No other inscription whatsoever appears. A somewhat similar cover was previously chronicled. These were without doubt used in order to name the time of stamping cards already packed and stamped at the old rate.

Mr. Davenport has located a great number of new provisional tax paid varieties and we hope to receive a list from him in the near future.

We wish to thank Messrs. Harman Wendell, George Soulman, William Cline and Prof. M. Lewy for additional notes of interest.

CEYLON.—Although the War Stamps of the first issue were speedily exhausted as stated in our February list, fresh printings were subsequently made. We have carefully examined the new consignment with those first received and cannot detect any appreciable difference, either in shade of stamps or the overprint.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Monthly List.

CILICIA.—M. Dicranian advises us that he is receiving an Armenian paper from Adana stamped with 2p or 4p 1913 Turkish picture stamps surcharged CILICIE with rubber stamp. He writes that he has also seen Scott's Turkey 346 10pa carmine, commemorative issue of 1916, with the same surcharge.

DOMINICAN REPUBLIC.—The 5 centavos magenta and black has just come out with surcharge 1917 in red, rather late, if we consider that we are already in 1919.—HERMANN FOCKE.

ESTHONIA.—Mr. Edward Locher has shown us copies of the following values of this country. They are all imperforate and have the values at each corner with the words EESTI POST within a frame in the middle.

15k greenish-blue.
35k violet brown.
70k olive green.

All are printed on white paper and the two last values have the figures of the value at the bottom of the stamp and appear only once.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The Secretary, G. P. O., London, informs us that the issue of 8d postage stamps has been discontinued for the present and that no stocks remain on hand.—Whitfield King & Co.'s Monthly List.

A. N. Caudell sends us a photograph of the 1d No. 79 in used condition. It shows the postmark "Manchester Au. 25, 1880" and Mr. Caudell maintains that this is evidence that the date assigned to it in Scott's catalog of 1881 is incorrect. The photograph taken is of a post card and the written date upon the reverse side is also Au. 25 1880.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—We understand that the letters "S. H. S.", which have been overprinted on the stamps of Hungary by the Jugo-Slavs, signify "Serbia, Croatia, Slavonia", otherwise the Serbo-Croat state.—Scott's Monthly Circular.

MESOPOTAMIA.—A Bagdad correspondent states that the next overprint to be employed here is "MOSUL IN BRITISH OCCUPATION." We, however, incline to the opinion that he has made this statement under a misapprehension. The probability is that he had heard of the impending issue of a new series for the Mosul District, but these bear simply the initials "I. E. F. D."—Stamp Collecting.

NICARAGUA.—The 15 centavos value of the present series was reported some time ago with red surcharge "Vale—5 centavos—de cordoba" in three lines, and the same value comes now with three different new surcharges in black, as follows: Vale—medio centavo, un centavo, and cinco centavos—de cordoba. This ought to please any specialist in this country of prolific surcharges.—HERMANN FOCKE.

PHILLIPINES.—Mr. Philip Ward, Jr., advises us that he has been shown by J. M. Bartels the following stamps recently issued:—20c special delivery, blue, perf. 11, no watermark. Also a booklet (2 leaves) of the 6c purple, perf. 11, no watermark.

Last week we chronicled a new aero cancellation used here in the Islands and we are now also indebted to O. S. Cole of Manila for information relative to the same.

POLAND.—It should be noted that the solitary value chronicled by us a fortnight ago is 7½pf orange stamp of Germany, with the numerals "25" in heavy black type. None of the other re-overprinted provisionals have new value expressed.—Stamp Collecting.

SHAKESPEARE'S COLLECTION.

My friend, Mr. Arthur R. Peggs, of Leigh-on-Sea, who has already extracted much philatelic wisdom from the works of the Immortal Bard, now returns to the subject in reply to an enquiry by our Editor as to the fate of the mighty playwright's collection. Writes Mr. Peggs:—

"In your current issue you ask what has become of the late Mr. Wm. Shakespeare's collection of stamps, and kindly invite me to trace its fate and give you chapter and verse for it. The Bard's answer is as follows:—

All that could be found . . . . . .
All my pretty ones . . . . . at one fell swoop. —Macbeth 4—3.
They sold themselves.
—II. Henry IV. 4—3.
In the Puttock's nest.
—II. Henry VI. 3—2.
And now there rest.
—I. Henry VI. 2—1.
I' the world's volume. —Cymbeline 3—4.
I know my price. —Othello 1—1.
Three thousand ducats; well.
—Merchant of Venice 1—3.
There's money for thee!
—Twelfth Night 4—1.

"Evidently," continues Mr. Peggs, "Shakespeare was well satisfied with the price realised, because we read:—

Report speaks goldenly of his profit.
—As You Like It 1—1.

"I hope there is no objection to my giving particulars of this transaction, but it is rather ominous to read in Othello 2—1:

But I'll set down the pegs that make this music!

I think, however, it will take a nobler figure than Iago to "set down" one who is "such an honest chronicler" (Henry VIII. 4—2) so "full of wise saws and modern instances" (As You Like It 2—7) and never a "bringer of unwelcome news" (Henry IV. Part II. 1—1). We shall hear more of his unconsidered trifles, depend on't; but never a one better than "the Puttock's nest." That was a "find," indeed!—Stamp Collector's Fortnightly.

NATIONAL MATCH CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

The match stamps engraved by the American Bank Note Co. are only a few but they make up in character and charm for their lack of numbers. Perhaps the prettiest of this small group is the stamp of the National Match Co. and it does seem a pity that this exquisite bit of engraving should not be common enough to grace every school boy's collection. However, it was in use less than a year and its field most likely was limited to the immediate vicinity of its home—New York City. A dollar or so for a really perfection copy certainly is not too much and any collector who has tried to capture this supposedly "easy" but really quite elusive stamp, will not be disposed to demand "half off" the present list price.

Except that it is in the form of an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size, the National stamp is unlike the match stamps engraved by the other Bank Note Companies and by the Bureau in general appearance. It has an air of distinction all its own. In each corner is a numeral "1" and between the upper numerals and the arched label containing NATIONAL MATCH CO., are small ornamental curley-cues like those found on many of the National Bank Note Co. stamps. The central design is a circular disk bearing the New York State coat of arms, even "Excelsior" appearing in miscroscopic letters on the ribbon at the feet of the female figures. The full address, "559 W. 49th St."—"NEW YORK" is in two lines below the disk. The data given in the Boston Book regarding the National stamp is:—

Die approved, November, 1879.
First issued, November, 1879.
Last issued, 1880.
210 stamps per sheet (14x15).
1,430,000 issued, all in blue on watermarked paper.

There are no marked varieties of shade. A few of the stamps may possibly have been printed by the Bureau, but the probabilities strongly favor the supposition that the stamp exists only as an American print from the plate originally bearing the American Bank Note Co. imprint No. 105. The only name found in connection with the National Match Co. is that of Frederick Folz, in a New York business directory for 1880-81. A few pairs of the stamp are known to exist but no block has come to the writer's attention.

SHALL WE INCREASE ADVERTISING OR SUBSCRIPTION RATES?

We have received many communications bearing on this subject during the past two weeks. It will, of course, be impossible for us to print them all. The general tendency is for the advertiser to deplore a raise in advertising rates, and for the collector to argue for the cheaper subscription price. We are considering the matter from every angle, and our decision is beginning to take shape. We will content ourselves this week in publishing part of a letter received from a well-known dealer, a friend of the WEEKLY, a letter received in the same mail from Mr. Jewett of the Jewett Printing Co., and our editorial comment on the two letters referred to. The situation presented by our printers is one that compels our attention:—

Our Dealer Friend.

"I notice your editorial asking which shall it be, an increase in subscription price or an increase in advertising rates because of the continued high cost of paper, printing, and labor, etc.

To be perfectly frank, in my opinion I think that you are wrong in mentioning it now. It is a well known fact that there is plenty of paper on hand everywhere and that as the boys are coming back from over there, the labor situation is easing up.

During all this strenuous time, I have not increased my rates or decreased the quality and the printing of my catalogs, for I felt sure that as soon as the war was over, matters would adjust themselves.

I have been satisfied for the time being with a decreased profit and I think you should be also. Everybody in business realizes this, and there is no cause now for further increase of rates on anything. I have not forecasted the difference between your revenue from subscriptions and from your advertisements, but I do think that your income from advertising is very much greater than from your subscriptions, and it is a delicate matter for you to increase either one. If you increase your subscription rate, you will lose subscribers. If you increase your advertising rates you will lose advertising patronage. You know what the percentage is between your income from subscribers and advertisers, and to my mind, one effects the other to a very great extent.

Your advertisers will not stick if you cut the subscription list, neither will they stick if you increase the rates. Better be diplomatic and forget it. Indications are very much in favor of normal conditions in the near future."

Jewett Printing Co.

"Have been trying to get an opportunity to cover the matter of advance in price of printing the WEEKLY for several weeks but my time has been so occupied have put it off from day to day, but it's proving pretty expensive procrastination and feel I must take it up again with you today. Printers in Portland are becoming as avaricious as in most trades in this and other sections of our country and altho the compositors have received a substantial increase already this year, are now out after another and still larger increase and even at this writing negotiations are under way between the employing printers of this city and the local typographical Union and an early conference shows that a material increase will have to be met and that I shall certainly have to make a 10% advance on the present price and possibly more in the fall, according to what adjustments can be effected.

This new price ought to be effective May 1st as costs have been advancing constantly on one side or the other since last July when the present price was made. As I wrote you before, linotype composition is costing me more since May 1st and I now face another immediate increase as the operators are asking and will obtain another advance on June 1st, probably aggregating about $1 per day more than they received the first of the present year.

I can hardly see how I can do better than the increase mentioned for the present, and will have to let conditions determine what I can best do in the fall. This is a rather hastily put up argument, but I must know where I stand at an early date and trust you can see and appreciate my position."

The Managing Editor.

"During the war period there was a stiff increase in the cost of printing the WEEKLY and we find ourselves at the present time paying 20% more than we paid in 1914. With the further increase of 10% that the Jewett Printing Co. advises will soon be effective, it will be increased 33% over the 1914 price. It is costing us for paper stock 125% more today than in 1914. The cost of mailing the WEEKLY, postage, and everything that enters into the production of a newspaper has increased at similar ratios. It is not a question of what we would like to do, but of what we must do in order to make the WEEKLY the same strong advocate of philately that it has always been in the past. We are of the impression that collectors are more willing to see advertising rates increased than the price of subscription, and we are willing to believe that the dealer could readily meet the increased cost of advertising with the profits made on goods advertised. In a nut-shell, any increase in advertising rates will ultimately be borne by the collector and he seems to be content to have it so.

We are reminded that where a few years ago the line rate in the American Boy was 75c, it is now $1.50 and to this has been added also a boost in subscription price. Stamp dealers do not hesitate to use this publication—it pays. And that is the reason why they use MEKEEL'S WEEKLY."

CHARACTERISTIC CANCELLATIONS ON THE 3c GREEN.

By CHARLES A. NAST.

(This timely article by Mr. Nast will be made the concluding chapter in the second edition of Wiley's "3c Green." This book is now being printed and will be ready shortly. Mr. Nast's article will add a great deal to the interest in this book, which has been one of the most popular we have produced.—W. O. W.)

It has been suggested that a short article on the growing fad of collecting U. S. stamps for their cancellations would make a fitting addenda to the scientific and historical sketch of the preceding pages, especially so as the 3c green offers a wonderful field in this departure and yields a greater variety in this respect than any other stamp.

Nothing is truer than the fact of evolution in philatelic ideals and the fashions of postage stamp collecting. There was a time when only used stamps were collected, and i made little difference as to the resultant condition so long as the little bit of paper had performed its office. After a while there was a well defined objection in certain quarters against collecting used stamps which had been disfigured by the ink and smudge of the cancelling device. The discriminating collector appeared, the one who collected only used specimens but demanded that they be "lightly cancelled". This really was the happy medium between the two extremes. From this position, however, it was only a step to the "town" and "dated" cancellation, and then slowly but surely the historic value of the obliteration began to be realized. Today cancelled stamps of the old U. S. issues are rated according to the color, design, clearness of impression and the meaning and purpose of the cancellation marks they bear, and are priced for their beauty and definiteness independent of any catalog. So it is not surprising that the 3c green with a record of seventeen years' constant use should come in for a goodly show of attention and study in our day.

In the beginning of its service, all the forms and figures for cancelling the older issues were still in use, but soon a distinctive class of steel die hand cancellors, peculiarly adapted to its size came into use. Here and there one picks up occasionally specimens cancelled with the old fanciful cork designs of starry form, but the great mass of cancellations on the 3c green which are characteristic of the period of its use, consists broadly of Numerals and Letters in a circle surrounded by an ellipse composed of either horizontal or vertical bars, tho, as will be shown later, there are innumerable other designs. I might say, parenthetically, that all the designs found on the 3c green are also found on the 2c vermilion, 2c green, 2c brown, and the 1c blue stamps of the corresponding period, and these latter are fast coming into favor, but it is with the 3c green only that the present article is concerned.

There is some difference of opinion among specialists in this stamp, as to their proper arrangement in the album. Dr. H. G. Holch who was one of the first to collect these cancellations, adheres to the numbers in the catalog. This, I find, makes for duplication on hard and soft papers and the several divisions accorded the National, Continental, and American companies. The grilled stamp, of course is in a class by itself, but in my own practice, leaving the grills aside, I divide all the cancellations on the 3c green into two grand divisions, viz.: First, all papers and printings, indiscriminately from Die I and secondly, the re-engraved followed at the end, by its successor, the 3c vermilion.

After all it is the cancellations we are collecting and not stamps, and as there is neither watermark nor perforation to disturb us, it is just what the eye can take in at a glance.

Taking then, my own collection as a guide I will explain the different sections as they appear, bearing in mind that all now enumerated are from die I, the cancellings done by steel dies and are in black ink always, except where otherwise designated; and finally that this check list of the first various printings can without much change, be used for the re-engraved division.

To begin, let us take the numerals having horizontal bars. Numbers 1, 2, 3 are plentiful and as they ascend, especially after 10, specimens, grow scarcer. My highest is 40, but the late lamented Charles E. Jenney, who was a student in this line, wrote that he had No. 48 and he thought they ran as high as 52 as some concurrent stamps were found with

Specialism today is being developed in every walk of life and it is an admitted fact that a doctor specialist on nerves or a lawyer specialist on patents has a great advantage over the general practitioner. He concentrates his energies on one line and gets at the finer points the general man does not have time to observe and study.

In stamp collecting it is the same. I handle United States stamps only and have concentrated my efforts and study on them for years. My efforts date back to a boy in 1894 and they're an asset to each of my clients.

A want-list of the United States stamps you lack will have the careful and business-like attention of

UNITED STATES STAMPS !!!

I am breaking up a magnificent collection which contains such RARITIES AS THE 24c AND 90c IMPERF. 1860 ISSUE; 15c AND 24c 1869, 2c PAN-AMERICAN, AND THE 24c AEROPLANE WITH INVERTED CENTERS, all of the re-issues, and most of the special printings; Departments complete and Newspaper stamps nearly so. Now is a chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

H. F. COLMAN

this number. The next section consists of the same numerals, but with vertical bars and these are extremely rare, especially in the first die I printings. I have seen only Nos. 1 to 6 inclusive. It should be remembered that of each of the foregoing there are many varieties of the figures. I have at least a dozen different 1's and nearly as many figures 2 and 3, and this is what adds zest and interest to their collection. One never grows less keen because a dozen different styles of a single numeral grace the page, because any moment another variety may appear. It is a never ending pleasure.

Section III. Taking my own and the collection of Mr. A. K. McDaniel as a basis present numerals from 1 to 11, in the same circle surrounded by another, the two rings about 10 mm. apart filled in with horizontal bars. Any higher number would indeed be a rarity. Next we have numerals of generally very large size surrounded by three concentric rings. These are also known from 1 to 11. This is again followed by the same numbers surrounded by four concentric rings. I know this variety only from 1 to 8. The figures are smaller as a rule. The next section presents all the varieties of the two, three and four circles cancelled in blue, and a prettier page it would be hard to find. I have never seen any blue cancellations of the three rings variety tho they may exist, and of the four rings in blue, I have only one specimen, the figure 2.

And now we come to a cancellation that started with the 3c green and is characteristic of this stamp to a large degree. I refer to the colorless cancellations. These are great big daubs of ink sometimes nearly covering the stamp, but in the center the numeral stands out clean and clear. I do not think these were applied with a steel dauber nor cork, as the outlines are too clear cut, but I am of the opinion they were made of box wood. Nos. 1 to 13 are not uncommon but anything higher than this is a scarce item. These punches are sometimes round and sometimes square and these are what are known as double circle and double square varieties, in each of which plenty of ink surrounds the colorless figure. They are known as high as 22 after which there is a break till 75, 76, 77, 78 and 79 are reached, these are known as colorless "year dates". Mr. Jenney had all. I have seen only 76 and 79.

Now let us turn back and instead of "numerals" substitute "letters". All the letters from A to L are found with horizontal bars and also the letter W but between L and W there is a great dearth which only extraordinary luck will fill up. Letters with vertical bars are frequently met with from A to L. Personally I have no knowledge of any higher letter tho they may exist. The colorless sections also present a splendid array from A to L after which M N P S and W are a little scarcer. The omitted letters likely exist also, but I have only seen Q.

The next consists of compound letters. I have U.S., PA. and PO. all three occur with horizontal bars, the last two also with vertical bars. Many of these latter bear also the year date ranging from 79 to 86 but are extremely scarce.

The stars appear next. These are of all sizes, and in some cases a smaller star is enclosed by a larger one. I have seen also the letters US in the center of a star. Some have wings about them and are often seen in red, purple, and blue. Steel dies very likely.

Maltese crosses of various shapes come next. These in turn are followed by "targets" of every kind, and the "grid-iron" cancellations found in blue, red, purple as well as black. Then a page of "town" and "dates", a section of "arrows" and then for want of a better name what I call "quarterings". By this I mean the cork cancellation, divided into four parts by colorless lines at right angles, followed by the "cork constellation", these are the "quarterings" divided into eight divisions of various shapes, giving us the famous starry-like form. Sometimes they look like cogwheels, but always when clear cut, they present a fine appearance. Many of these are taken over from the cancelling punches used on the 3c stamp of the '57 issue.

Mr. Wiley particularly mentions the PAID cancellation and I agree with him as to its rarity. I have a copy in which the letters composed of open lines, are surrounded by a circle. Judge Jas. K. Doughty has shown me this in Roman type diagonally across the stamp.

But there are still many other odd and unique things in this department. I have endeavored here to give only what may be found in quantity and which are with a little search within the reach of all.

Finally, there is a large class of extremely scarce cancellations that turn up occasionally but not numerous enough to classify such as flags, shields, masonic emblems, stove pipe hats, dogs' and birds' heads, skull and cross bones, anchors, linked chains, etc., etc., etc., and it is safe to say that no other stamp offers such a splendid variety of interesting cancellations. In conclusion, I beg to append a tentative check list, but it must be remembered that the same list given here is, with one or two omissions, to be duplicated for the stamps of the re-engraved division.

Check List.

1.—Cancellations on Grilled stamps.
2.—Numerals with horiz. bars.
3.—Numerals with vertical bars.
4.—Numerals in two circles with horiz. bars.
5.—Numerals in three concentric rings.
6.—Numerals in four concentric rings.
7.—Numerals in blue ink.
8.—Colorless Numerals.
9.—Letters with horiz. bars.
10.—Letters with vertical bars.
11.—Colorless Letters.
12.—Compound Letters two or more.
13.—Stars.
14.—Maltese Crosses.
15.—Targets and pin wheels.
16.—Quarterings and Geometric figures.
17.—Octagon, wheel and starlike cancellations.
18.—Cork cancellations in blue ink.
19.—Dates and town cancellations.
20.—Extreme rarities, strips and blocks.

With the exception of the first section, all the others may be found on the re-engraved, 3c green; tho some sections are very scarce, notably Nos. 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 14, 16, 17, and 18.

CLEANING STAMPS.

As these 3c greens are often found in bundles and large quantities, sometimes thrown aside for years, it becomes necessary to cleanse them. Beware of hot water and hot suds! If soap is necessary, immerse for three or four minutes only in cold suds, then rinse thoroughly in successice plain waters till clear. But remember all soaps contain lye and this is fatal to the bloom and brilliancy of the stamp while the lye will surely attack the surcharge leaving the cancellation a dull grayish black.

MONTGOMERY AND MACON AERO MAIL.

By PETER A. BRANNON.

Referring to your notice of the aero mail service between Montgomery and Macon some two weeks ago, it occurred to me that you might want to know some details. According to the orders of second assistant postmaster general, Mr. Praeger, the service was established between Macon, Georgia and Montgomery Alabama, the route to be officially numbered 613003 and to last for 7 days,—May 3rd to May 10th inclusive, except the Sunday.

A plane left Montgomery every morning about 10 o'clock Central time, and Macon every morning about 9.30 Eastern time, and with a few exceptions made the trip each way in about two and a half hours. The distance is 155 miles in a direct line. The shortest time made was two hours 10 minutes.

On the third day of the effort, orders were given to stop at Columbus, Georgia going both ways, and leave and receive mail. On the first trip the aviator from Macon made a landing at Columbus, but damaged his machine. However, he continued his flight after minor repairs and landed in Montgomery only 30 minutes late. On this day, the aviator from Montgomery did not stop at Columbus. On the second day, the aviator from Montgomery, knowing the small landing field at Columbus inadequate, did not stop, but dropped his mail pouch in the grounds of the post office building and continued his flight. No further efforts were made to carry mail to Columbus. The service between Montgomery and Macon continued the entire week, and while the bulk of the mail was not large, amounting to 114 letters and several large size packages out of Montgomery and about the same amount of mail out of Macon, between these two cities, and a relatively small amount out of Macon to Columbus and out of Montgomery to Columbus, the service can be said to have been a decided success.

I sent by the first pouch out of Montgomery, 20 of the 36 letters. Not all of them went to Macon, in fact, the majority of them went through Macon to other points in the country, and I have heard from them all, and have had many of the envelopes returned to me as souvenirs of the occasion. During the rest of the week, I sent possibly 40 other letters,—in fact the majority of the mail carried out of this office was mine. The contents of the mail pouch dropped at Columbus on the second day of the attempt to serve that city was only one letter. That was mine and I have received the cancelled envelope, as well as the label used on the mail pouch at that time.

On the Thursday before the closing of the service on Saturday, a plane was sent from Macon to Atlanta at 10 a. m. that morning and returning during the afternoon. It carried a very good mail each way on all three of the days, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Luckily for we collectors, the Atlanta office used a distinctive stamp. I have several of my envelopes which were sent from here to Macon thence to Atlanta by aeroplane having laid over in Macon during the night after receipt in Macon, and gone on to Atlanta on the next day, and they show the stamp in two lines in red ink

"Atlanta to Macon via Air Mail Service."

This stamp was put on the letter received in the Atlanta office, therefore, I take it that only one stamp was used on both incoming and outgoing Atlanta to Macon mail. My envelopes out of Montgomery through Macon to other points are stamped with the regular black postmark at the time they were received in Macon for dispatch to other points. This mark shows very clear and distinct on the front of the envelope. Some of the letters sent by me on the first day were for points in Alabama, having gone by Macon and been returned to the aforesaid towns. I have some 50 different souvenirs of this air mail effort, and while many of them were made up by me specially for this occasion, they show a very interesting lot of souvenirs.

THE FAROE ISLANDS STAMP.

By THEODORE H. AMES.

The Faroe Islands are situated to the north of Scotland, between Iceland and the Shetland Isles, and, belonging to Denmark, use the stamps of the mother country and until very recently had no stamp which could be called their own.

The islands are very numerous, but only a few, fifteen or twenty, can be classed as inhabited. The total population is in the neighborhood of 13,000 souls, the capitol being situated at Thorshavn, on the island of Stromo.

Owing to the remoteness of the islands from Denmark, and also, partly, to the strictness of the Allied blockade in the North Sea, much difficulty was experienced in preserving relations with the latter country, and this resulted in a total lack at one time, of stamps of the 2 ore denomination, the supply due from Copenhagen not arriving in time.

There were then surcharged, to replace this value, 5 ore stamps, with a large figure "2" and the word "ore" in large black characters. Some 10,000 copies of the 5 ore stamp were thus changed into 2 ore stamps, of which nearly all were used for postage, the unused being quite rare. It is to be presumed that the used will be none too prevalent either.

As the above provisional stamps were needed, made, and used in the Faroe Islands, for a legitimate purpose, altho without the sanction of the home Government, it would seem that this variety of stamp can be considered under no heading but the "Faroe Islands", which gives us one more country to add to our albums.

TAUTOG

This is not one of the new Balkan States, but a fish which begins to bite about this time. So it is wise to look over tackle, hooks, line, and bait boxes, and be ready. It has to be done every year about this season.

So please note change of address.

Stamps still on sale rainy days, and when the tide interferes with fishing.

EDITORIAL.

Waste—From Mr. A. H. Robertson, Chase City, Va., we have received a current three cent stamp that literally is blotted out of existence; and he wants to know what gave the postal clerk his grouch. Spare the postal clerk, as he is not guilty of pounding out the lives of postage stamps with his obliterator. Occasionally, an indignant correspondent who used desirable stamps on his letter to a foreign friend sends in the cover which has been returned by the recipient, the stamps on which have been black-handed into complete mourning. We took up one of these cases with the department and it was proved that the sombre aspect of the stamps was due to the fact that the clerk was "trying out" his dauber on the stamps and getting the ink to run consistently. No postal clerk would become enthusiastic enough to pommel an humble three-center and we do not blame him for his repression. If there is any class of workers who deserve better of our government than the postal clerks, we cannot name it.

Wedding—On May 8, 1919, the marriage of A. William Bloss and Edna Eloise Ross took place in Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Bloss are now at home at 1357 Berwyn Avenue, in that city. Now that Bill has taken the momentous step, no doubt he will find time, in the abode of domestic bliss, to pursue his philatelic literary work with augmented zeal. Indeed, he has become the editor of the Stamp Herald and thus enlarges his horizon, but as the WEEKLY was his first love, our columns will know him still. Needless to say, we, with our readers, wish the Blosses all happiness.

Well—We are pleased to find that in a departmental order, dated May 26th, the Third Assistant Postmaster General tells how collectors may secure the postage stamps, surcharged, "Shanghai China," that we announced recently. He explains that as the stamps are to be sold only at Shanghai, "the best method to obtain the surcharged stamps is to remit their value, with return postage and registry fee to the order of the U. S. Postal Agent, Shanghai, China." The stamps will be sent "in paraffin paper to prevent them from sticking prematurely." While the rate of exchange for "Mexican" money varies, "it will probably be advisable to calculate it at 125. At this rate of exchange, eighty cents should be remitted to the U. S. Postal Agent in Shanghai for each $1 worth of stamps at their surcharged value." The department says that inasmuch as the anticipated demand for the ten cent special delivery stamp is almost negligible, it has been decided to omit this stamp from the list as printed in the departmental order, dated May 6th. We are pleased that the department is taking an intelligent recognition of the interests of stamp collectors and instructions to use paraffin paper, for the wrapping of the stamps will be gratefully received by philatelists, many of whom have had sad experiences with unused stamps from oriental countries.

Mention—About this time, the department's announcement of a change in the prices of some of the two cent stamped envelopes, the normal demand for which will be restored on July 1st, is pertinent. The prices on some envelopes will be increased under a new contract for stamped envelopes that becomes effective on July 1st and is reduced on other envelopes. Postmasters are enjoined to get their orders in early to avoid the rush. The passing of the three cent adhesive stamp as our closest companion will not be regretted on the score of economy; and now, those who began to collect the purple stamp intensively, from the beginning may give themselves a moment of self-approval, as their complete philatelic record of the stamps has a tinge of the historical.

Moved—Several communications have come to us as a consequence of our recent paragraphs on national society affairs. We are pleased to see that interest is being taken in the organizations, which, for many years, vicariously, at least, have been the guardians of philately in this country. Our suggestion that the A. P. S., for instance be made more mobile in its action is commended and an officer submits a tentative proposal for accomplishing this end. A means for effecting legislation during the time between conventions is necessary and must be provided. From Mr. Fred R. Schmalzriedt, we have received the notice:

"The Detroit Philatelic Society regrets that you decline to accept a nomination for President of the A. P. S. However, at our last meeting the following ticket was nominated: President. Carroll Chase, New York; Board of Vice Presidents, T. R. Hungerford, H. F. Dunkhorst, and J. B. Leavy, all of Washington, D. C.; Secretary, Dr. H. A. Davis, Colorado; Treasurer, J. E. Scott, Michigan; International Secretary, Philip Dengler, Pennsylvania; Directors at Large, H. B. Phillips, Colorado, Alvin Good, Ohio.

Wanted—From Mr. C. W. Goddard, Kalkaska, Michigan, the following letter has been received: "I wonder if any information is obtainable regarding safe keeping of a stamp collection as far as fire is concerned. Some night I may stop to save my wife and kids and forget to take my stamp collection. I have become afraid recently, and so, I have secured a small household type safe, principally to protect my stamps. On further thought, I recollect having seen commercial safes opened after fires, and upon observing the contents, saw that they were safely preserved, except that they may have been yellowed by smoke or gases that penetrated the safe. What would be the effect of much smoke or gases on a stamp collection? It seems to me that the collection would be much harmed. In a small house safe, the effect probably would be more pronounced than in the regular commercial size safe, even though the fire in a small-town dwelling might not be nearly as hot as that in a business block. Can someone tell me about stamp collections that have gone through a fire in ordinary small safes? Is there any further precautions that should be taken about wrapping up the albums, when putting them in a small safe, that will be of value? Also, I understand that in case of heat on a safe, the filling of the walls 'sweats' and forms a moisture inside the safe that is conducive to preservation of the contents from heat. If this is so what will this do to a stamp collection? Perhaps others would be interested in a little information along the lines indicated." It is likely that some testimony based on the foregoing questions, will be forthcoming. We have seen stamps that were not in collections removed from safes after a fire and the two cent red, 1903, in particular, we remember as having been reduced to a rich brown color. At the time of the San Francisco fire we recollect that a number of collections were saved because they were in vaults in the fire section; and there has been no outstanding tale of damage wrought to the stamps in a collection through a baptism of fire, in the confines of a safe. While the safe may not be the last word in security for a stamp collection, it is pretty near it. A word from the experienced is in order. We do not believe the phase of the question presented by Mr. Goddard has ever been discussed in the columns of the stamp press.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—The estate of F. P. Gibbs informs us that Joseph Trauner of New York City who is now hiding behind a stamp company name, refuses to pay any attention to letters sent him.

—A correspondent in the Canal Zone complains because dealers advertising in the WEEKLY pay on attention to requests for approval selections. He asks the pertinent question "Why do stamp dealers advertise in your paper?" Our correspondent goes on to say "This question may appear foolish on the face but it does seem as though many dealers advertising in your columns, do not care to do business. If you desire,I can give you a complete list of firms who pay no attention to letters mailed them."

—"I am inviting your attention to a recently issued publication, namely. Smithsonian Institution United States National Museum Bulletin 105, entitled 'Catalogue of the postage stamps and stamped envelopes of the United States and Possessions, issued prior to January 1, 1919', compiled by Joseph B. Leavy, Philatelist of the United States National Museum. You may have received a copy of this Bulletin just issued and if so, will doubtless comment upon its completeness, and the thoroughness and intelligence with which the author has handled the subject. Such a work is certainly a monument to our hobby, and a recognition of its worth from the highest source. Joseph B. Leavy certainly is to be commended and congratulated." —HENRY B. EVANS.

—The Maryland Philatelic Association held its first annual meeting recently and elected officers for its second year. The Association meets the first Thursday and the third Saturday in every month at the Y. M. C. A. Building Baltimore, Maryland. The new officers are: Robert N. Angier, president; H. H. Webster, vice-president; Stanley D. Chenoweth, secretary, and Miss Gertrude Paul, Jr., treasurer.

—The Philatelic Section, Maryland Academy of Sciences, has been formally organized and is meeting the second and fourth Friday of every month at the Academy Building, 105 West Franklin Street, Baltimore, Md. This Section represents the first formal recognition of the scientific aspect of philately by a scientific academy anywhere in the United States and probably in the world. It will be the aim of the members to develop philately along scientific lines and a definite program to this end is being mapped out. The officers are, C Lat. Wilhelm, chairman; M. B. Smith vice-chairman, and Frank G. Duffield, secretary-treasurer.

—R. M. I.—Your cover possesses no financial value. Before stamps were used it was the customary thing to write or stamp the rate of postage on the face of the cover.

—The Denver Times recently printed a very pertinent cartoon portraying the carrying of mail by aeroplane as compared with the pioneer postal service. C. A. Nast favors us with the clipping —George C. Rockfellow informs us that he has received a reply to his communications sent Wm. Fabick of Olympia, Wash.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Wyndham Hayward, L. W Bealer, A. M. McFadden, Herman W. Boers.

—The latest in the hinge situation is Stanton's "Peerless Circular." Samples have been sent us and the merits of the hinge are presented elsewhere in this issue. Give them a trial.

—From a clipping just received from C. M. Breder the information is conveyed that stamped envelopes will be higher July 1. A new contract becomes effective on that date and the increased cost of stock and production is given as the reason.

WHAT DO THESE ADVERTISERS SAY?

W. P. Colman.

I would like to suggest that you leave the subscription price where it is (make it lower if possible) and raise the ad rates sufficiently to justify your making the profit you deserve in producing this publication.

All successful merchants have a lead of some kind to secure customers whether they run a store or a mail order business, or both. In the WEEKLY, we have a paper that stands pre-eminent in the stamp business and the larger the circulation the more leads we have to go after. I would not like to see the subscription price raised as it would stop the growth of the circulation of the paper to some extent and that would, of course, keep stamp dealers from securing new business from new customers.

Edgewood Stamp Co.

I have just noticed your editorial entitled, "Which Shall It Be?" By all means, make a slight increase in your advertising rates, but do not increase the subscription price. An increase in the advertising rates at the worst could only eliminate a few advertisers but an increase in the subscription price might work great harm to the WEEKLY.

A. Atlas Leve.

Allow me to say that the old price, 50c for subn of MEKEEL'S should stand. It is easier to build up circulation at a popular price. Advancing advertising rates is the thing to do; as advertisers do not object to paying for circulation.

Elmer F. Smith.

I would be in favor of raising ad rates in preference to increasing price of subscription. An increase in subscription will cut out a good many subscribers with the result that the advertiser will reach a less number of prospects. This amounts virtually to a raise in adv. rates The advertiser would rather pay more and reach more prospects.

Carl Young.

If you have 8000 subscribers at 50c each, you will have fewer than 2500 at $1 each. If you increase the adv. rates you have a chance of holding your own but if you increase the subscription price, you lose both subscribers and advertisers.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

TROUBLE FOR THE PRINTER.

By H. P. ATHERTON.

(Mr. Atherton has a good idea here the only difficulty being in getting the good will of the printer who does not take kindly to innovations of this kind. Even the office cat once in a while snarls out that we are publishing a newspaper and not a catalog.—W. O. W.)

Here's a little point!

When a collector specializes in 3c 1851 U. S. stamps he doesn't like to write "3c 1851 U. S. on cover" every time he wishes to use the expression. How could this be shortened, and not conflict with other philatelic symbols, both in manuscript and in print? As the stamp is supposed to go in top right corner of envelope would it not be well to designate them thus:—A capital L could be set up in type, inverted (inverts are very interesting) preceded by the "3", and we would have something like this. "ꟻL."

I AM STILL ANXIOUS

to purchase anything in the way of FINE UNITED STATES postage or revenue stamps and if your collection is for sale write me before closing elsewhere. It makes no difference if your collection contains foreign for I buy them too, providing they are fine. Please remember I do not want trash. Numerous parties have sent me selections of foreign listing about $5 and some have been so generous as to allow 10% off. Remember, I am an advanced collector and am not in the market for 1000 variety packets. I want real collections valued from $100 to $5000 and single U. S. from $3-$5 up, but remember fine condition is necessary. Price is not the main consideration. If you have a grand collection I will pay a grand price.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—The Post Office Department is receiving quite a few letters suggesting a Peace issue and it would not be surprising if the proper officials are giving the matter serious consideration. Numerous subjects are being mentioned, to be depicted on the several denominations. A series of four values, say a 1c, 2c, 5c and 10c would not be unwelcome, especially if the stamps were more pleasing from an artistic point of view than the present Victory stamp.

It will be recalled that several months back, the Post Office Department issued orders discontinuing the use of the special cancellations for aeroplane mail. Numerous letters from societies and collectors have resulted in the department rescinding its old order, and beginning May 14th, the old cancellers were again placed in use. It is of interest to note that the following day, May 15th, was the first anniversary of the inauguration of the air mail service.

During the last several weeks we have mentioned numerous errors, freaks and other varieties in the way of envelopes. The Nassau Stamp Co. now advises that they have located a 2c circular die in connection with the 4c oval die on white. The 2c impression appears in its proper place on the front of the envelope while the 4c is on the back. They also show us the 1c circular die on the 2c oval on two separate envelopes, wherein the impressions are on the inside upper left corner. The latter two are also on white. Mr. James Whiteside has shown the 3c circular die wherein only half of the stamp is colored, the balance being embossed without color. An odd thing about this envelope is the fact that the color, which is missing, is to be found on the flap of the next envelope.

We have described in previous issues a sheet of 110 of the 1c engraved and a sheet of 90 of the 2c. Mr. B. K. Miller now writes to state that he has obtained a sheet of 90 of the 4c perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper, same being found in a Western post office. In describing this, Mr. Miller states that the pane contains 90 stamps "but 100 perforated spaces, 10 of which are blank. What occurred was, apparently the sheet was put through the perforating machine so that the knife cut the pane at the bottom of the 9th horizontal row, instead of the 10th; consequently the horizontal top row of the pane is perforated and there is a line of 10 blank squares cut in the imprinted margin. Each of the 10 blank spaces is perforated on all four sides." The sheet in question is from the upper right pane of sheet No. 7972.

Mr. H. E. Atchley informs us that he has located a block of the 3c Victory stamp from sheet 9426 wherein a slight crack is shown running diagonally from the upper right to the lower left of the stamps through the figures "3".

The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us several new revenues which have not been noted heretofore. In the way of "NARCOTIC" surcharges, they have located the New York provisional $1 green surcharged as per our previous description in black by means of a rubber stamp The surcharge reads down. Mr. Sterns states that he understands all values of the documentary series through the $1000 value, with the exception of the 20c, have received this overprint. We have seen and chronicled all up to and including the $1 but will await with interest a sight of the higher denominations.

The same company also shows us the 8c and 10c with printed surcharge, which overprinting, by the way, was done at the Bureau. Heretofore we had seen but the 1c and 2c.

1919 New York Provisional "Narcotic" Revenue. Black handstamp surcharge.
$1 green.
1919 "Narcotic" Bureau Print. Black surcharge.

This firm also shows us a number of "Future Delivery" and "Stock Transfer" revenues but these we have previously chronicled. It may be a coincidence, but it is odd to note that the very denominations which they have are the varieties that your editor has in his collection. This leads us to ask if the other lacking values were really issued. We have not seen the following which are mentioned in the Bureau's annual report and we would like to know if they exist. If any of our readers have these we would appreciate it if they will kindly write us. The lacking varieties are "Future Delivery" 25c, 50c and 80c and "Stock Transfer" 1c, 25c and 40c. We have tried hard to locate these six stamps but without success and are beginning to doubt their existence.

We have chronicled the new blue Playing Card revenue and have mentioned several varieties of surcharge. Mr. Albert C. Reukauff now sends us this stamp rouletted in red, the same being cancelled in a similar color "R. P. C. Co.—4-28-'19". The similarity in color of the surcharges and roulette, coupled with the fact that we have seen this stamp part rouletted and part perforated, leads us to believe that the Bureau issues these in imperforated sheets and the card manufacturer separates them to suit himself.

Mr. George Soulman submits for our inspection, a copy of the 80c Documentary in pink, series of 1914, with a distinct double print, similar to the 1c, 3c and 40c of the current issue. This is the only denomination of the 1914 series that we have ever heard of with a double impression. It may be of interest to mention that the second impression is much lighter and to the right of the main impression.

We wish to thank Prof. M. Loewy and Messrs. H. E. Rundel, L. J. Ragatz and Gerald Mongeon for notes of interest AUSTRIA.—Mr. Charles S. Thompson advises that he has just received stamps of this country surcharged diagonally in real Gothic letters "Deutschöterreich". These are the 10h arms type, and the 20h Charles.

BOLIVIA.—To those who are fond of calculating the comparative values of stamps, according to the numbers issued the following table, for which I am indebted to Champion's Monthly Bulletin, may be of interest. The stamps in question are the new issue, the vignettes of all values showing the Bolivian National Arms. The total facial value of the issue is limited to 824,000 bolivianos, which is divided among the various denominations as follows: 1c rose. 1,450,000; 5c green, 1,500,000; 10c red, 1,500,000; 20c blue, 500,000; 22c sky blue 1,000,000; 24c violet, 1,000,000; 50c orange, 50,000.—THEODORE H. AMES.

BOSNIA.—Mr. Charles S Thompson has just received a cover with the three stamps issued to commemorate the assassination of Franz Ferdinand in Serajevo. The postmark, bearing the date "28 VI 17", is in red, and was in use but one day. This date was of course the third anniversary of the shooting; rather a gruesome method of perpetuating the memory of the royal removal which led to the war!

CANAL ZONE.—Wednesday, May 7, a Victory Loan submarine mail service was employed between Cristobal and Balboa for the purpose of despatching mail containing subscriptions to the Victory Loan. The U. S. S. C-3 was used, and was the first ever employed in this manner. J. P. Coveleski sends us clippings from local papers dealing with the service and informs us that 1855 applications for Liberty Bonds resulted from the enterprise of the local postal officials.

Mr. Coveleski also calls our attention to certain varieties recently found in the current issue of envelopes, as follows:—

"The latest error of the Canal Zone is the current issue envelopes of the 1c and 2c denominations. As far as I could learn there are not over 15 of each that were discovered. They were found at the different P. O's. in the Canal Zone. There were several issued to the public before the error was noticed. The errors are as described as follows:—

Envelopes of the 1c denomination, containing the head and Canal Zone only, the stamp is omitted.

Envelopes of the 2c denomination, containing the head and Canal Zone only, the stamp is omitted.

Envelopes of the 2c denomination, containing the stamp only, without the head and Canal Zone. The center of the stamp is blank.

Envelopes of the 2c denomination, having the head and Canal Zone off of the stamp. The center of the stamp is blank.

CAPE JUBY.—It is stated that the entire current series of Spain is in process of being overprinted for this territory. —Stamp Collecting.

CILICIA.—We are informed by Mr. Chas. S. Thompson that he has received covers, one bearing three, the other six copies of Turkey No. 347, with the hand-stamped surcharge CILICIE, 4mm. high, and 17½ mm. long. The postmark has the name and date in both Roman and Arabic characters, and the additional postmark, in double-lined circle, CONTROLE POSTAL and across centre CILICIE. The surcharge has evidently been rather laboriously applied, and is at the bottom of the stamp, across the tablet bearing the dates 1331-1381, in every case. Thus a new country must be listed in our albums and catalogs. Lest some reader may be unfamiliar with the location of this new stamp-issuing country, it will be sufficient to say that Cilicia is in the south-eastern part of Asia Minor, adjacent to Syria, and about opposite Cyprus. Judging from the postmarks, it is within the French sphere of influence in Asia Minor.

FIUME.—We are informed by Mr. Charles S. Thompson that he has recently received 28 varieties of the Hungarian stamps surcharged FIUME in Roman capitals 3 mm. high, the surcharge being 12½mm. long. Among them were various values of the "Reaper" type, with both colored and colorless numerals, "Parliament" type, Charity Stamps, Special Delivery, Newspaper, and Postage Dues.

Of the Kr. 10, Parliament Buildings, but 669 were issued, and some of the others are almost as rare. Several of the dues were found in Fiume in very small quantity, and consequently are also very scarce.

PANAMA.—We are indebted to J. P. Coveleski for the following items of news:—

"Recently one sheet of Scotts No. 196 was found with stamp No. 10 in the sheet imperforate between the top of the stamp and margin. It is the only one known with this error. I suppose you know that these stamps are placed in use again for the reason that the 2c stamp of the exposition series Scotts No. 206 is out of issue.

The error of the Panama 1p lake with inverted surcharge is not mentioned in any of the catalogues. I did not see the whole sheet, but by a block of six which is in my collection, is from the left centre of the sheet, contains the left margin showing mark of the American Bank Note Co. They are stamps No. 31, 32, 41, 42, 51, 52, from the sheet. They all have the bar at the bottom."

SPAIN.—Senor Galvez mentions an unusual variety for those who are interested in Controls—viz., a block of the current 15 centimos, yellow, with three different "numerations" (the numbers on the back of the stamps)—P445.000, P443.000, and P453.000 How could one sheet have been issued with three, or perhaps more than three numbers? —Stamp Collecting.

SERBIA (569).—Our Royal contemporary lists a new set of stamps for this country.

In the centre appear double heads facing to left, somewhat similar to the lower values of the 1914 set, S. G. Type 15. There is also a postage due set of new design.

PHILATELIC ARMAGEDDON.

In dust of Armageddon war watchers can write history from envelopes—postage stamps last five years showing clearly events marched; any complete collection recording successive events. Russia under Lenin issued strange set Bolshevist stamps, weird cubist-like concepts symbolizing proletarianism! These seven days correspondent writes: "Next to the statesman and the politician few people will be more closely affected by the decisions of the Paris Conference than the stamp collector. During the next few weeks the eyes of the philatelic world will be anxiously following the deliberations of the Big Four in anticipation of political and territorial changes which must inevitably influence the postal issues of practically the whole world.

"With the dawn of peace, as conditions of commerce and communication revert to the normal, a flood of new postage stamps will be released from the world's stamp ateliers that will embrace almost every stamp-issuing country.

"In the former German overseas possessions of Togo, New Britain, Cameroons, East Africa, etc., the provisional 'occupation' stamps of Great Britain or France now current will shortly be withdrawn in favor of permanent issues under the ægis of one or other of the Entente Powers, while national postage stamps for Palestine, Syria, Mesopotamia and Armenia are among the philatelic possibilities of the immediate future. The Arab kingdom of Hedjaz is already provided for in this respect, as is also the Republican Government of Finland.

"Among the Allies many notable new issues are impending, whose advent has been delayed by the world-wide disruption of trade and transit. Brave little Belgium has in preparation a new general postage stamp series commemorating her liberation from the Prussian yoke.

"Italy has already signalized the restoration of her Irridentist provinces by imposing special overprints first upon the postage stamps of Austria, and, later, upon her own domestic series, reading respectively 'Venezia Giulia' for Trieste and 'Venezia Tridentia' for Trentino. Particular postage stamps of permanent design may be expected to supersede these local provisionals at no distant date.

"The political position of the Central Powers renders their need for new stamp designs even more acute. Germany in defeat and under a Republican Government will doubtless take the first opportunity of discarding the arrogant and warlike design of the existing stamps which have served under her Junker rule for the past eighteen years. It is noteworthy that these German stamps of the pre-war period were adorned—or disgraced—with the representation of Germania helmeted and armed while those of France portrayed a figure sowing grain on the land.

"In Bavaria the revolutionary party has banished the portrait of the Regent from the stamps of the kingdom. The disunion of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy is already reflected in the overprinting of the Hungarian postage stamps with the legend 'Koztarasasag' ('Hungrian Republic') and this inscription will in future be incorporated in the designs.

"Collectors are feverishly endeavoring to complete their sets of the historical stamps of war, preparatory to the coming deluge of the no less attractive postage stamps of peace."—Boston Transcript.

BOSTON PHILATELIC SOCIETY.

Incorporated.

A. W. DUNNING, Pres.; R. N. HALL, Vice Pres.; F. W. STILES, 310 Warren St., Roxbury, Mass., Sec.; OSCAR HILL, 60 State St., Boston, Mass., Foreign Sec.; G. CARLTON RUSSELL, 97 Waldeck St., Dorchester, Mass., Treas.; W. L. ALDRICH, Supt. of Auctions; S. G. BIXBY, 12 Parker St., Malden, Mass., Supt. of Sales and Bourse.

May 20, 1919.

The meeting of the Society this evening was attended by 40 members and friends. The usual reports were read and Messrs. D. C. Alexander, W. M. Kennedy, Fred L. Dresser, Alfred C. Malm and John Howard Newton were elected to membership. The applications of Messrs. Nathaniel B. Davis and G. A. Balch for resident, and of Richard G. Badger, Jr., for junior membership were posted.

Those present learned with regret of the death of Mr. George H. Greeley. He had been a member since 1904 and until recently a regular attendant at the meetings.

Mr. A. P. Brown showed his collection of 20th century British Colonials which was practically complete and mounted in the neat, symmetrical manner which is characteristic of Mr. Brown. The recruiting committee has had a label printed in four colors which can be purchased and is of course designed for the purpose of advertising the Society. It is of neat design and is about 1¼"x1¾" in size. If you desire them for use on your mail apply to Mr. C. K. B. Nevin 6 Beacon St., for prices, etc.

PRECANCELLATION OF THE U. S. PROPRIETARY ISSUE OF 1898.

By FRANKLIN S. SMITH.

(We are preparing a booklet on the "Precancelled Stamps of the United States" and this article by Mr. Smith will be one of the chapters. This side line in stamp collecting is very attractive to many philatelists and the chapter before us whl be one of the most interesting in the completed booklet.—(W. O. W.)

The collecting of the precancelled proprietary stamps of the 1898 issue is not general, but it is very interesting and affords an opportunity for a study of the almost endless variety of names of the users, the dates, types, and minor varieties of type used. With few exceptions, there is apparently no limit to the number of dates used by each, but a number of proprietors had stamps cancelled at definite intervals. For example, J. C. Ayer Co., E. Fougera & Co., and Humphrey Homeopathic Medicine Co. changed once a month; Hall & Ruckel, and J. Elwood Lee Co., at the beginning of each year, Emerson Drug Co. every few days, while Keasbey & Mattison Co. as a rule, changed the dates twice a month.

The part of the law relating to the origin and use of this issue is as follows:

Internal Revenue Law. Act of Congress, June 13, 1898.

An Act to Provide Ways and Means to Meet War Expenditures, and for Other Purposes.

SCHEDULE B.

"Medicinal proprietary articles and preparations: For and upon every box, packet, bottle, pot or phial, or other inclosure, containing any pills, powders, tinctures, troches, or lozenges, sirups, cordials, bitters, anodynes, tonics, plasters, liniments, salves, ointments, pastes, drops, waters, (except natural spring waters and carbonated natural spring waters), essences, spirits, oils, and all medicinal preparations or compositions whatever, wherein the person making or preparing the same has or claims to have any private formula, secret, or occult rt for the making or preparing the same, or has or claims to have any exclusive right or title to the making or preparing the same, or which are prepared, uttered, vended, or exposed for sale under any letters patent, or trade-mark, or which, if prepared by any formula, published or unpublished, are held out or recommended to the public by the makers, venders, or proprietors thereof as proprietary medicines, or medicinal proprietary articles or preparations, or as remedies or specifics for any disease, diseases, or affection whatever affecting the human or animal body, as follows:

Where such packet, box, pot, phial or other inclosure, with its contents, shall not exceed at the retail price or value, the sum of five cents, one-eighth of one cent."

(Between five and ten cents, two-eighths; between ten and fifteen cents, three-eighths; between fifteen and twenty-five cents, five-eighths; for each additional twenty-five cents or fractional part thereof in excess of twenty-five cents five-eighths of one cent. There was no provision made for a half-cent stamp.)

"Perfumery and cosmetics and other similar articles:" (Specified in detail similar to above for medicines, etc. with the same amount of tax for the same values.)

"Chewing-gum or substitutes therefor: For and upon each box, carton, jar, or other package containing chewing-gum of not more than one dollar of actual retail value, four cents; if exceeding one dollar of retail value, for each additional dollar or fractional part thereof, four cents."

"Sparkling or other wines, when bottled for sale, upon each bottle containing one pint or less, one cent. Upon each bottle containing more than one pint, two cents."

"In any and all cases where an adhesive stamps shall be used, the person using or affixing the same shall write or stamp thereupon the initials of his name, and the date upon which the same shall be attached or used, so that the same may not be used again." For neglect of this provision, a penalty was provided of a fine of not less than fifty, nor more than five hundred dollars, or to be imprisoned not more than six months, or both."

In the majority of cases the cancella-residing out of the large cities are likely to make some spending money if they keep their eyes open. To commence with — any stamps except the current perf. 11, on sale in post offices are wanted by us. We pay 10% commission for buying them for us. Kindly state very carefully whether they are perf. 10 or perf. 12, and if perf. 10 whether they are watermarked or not. If you can spare the money send us a block of four of each value to look at. It helps things along.

Our New Issue Service for U. S. is on the boom — subscribers are coming in very rapidly and we shall soon have to call out "stop!!" so if you haven't had the particulars write for them.

A SPECIALIST

Specialism today is being developed in every walk of life and it is an admitted fact that a doctor specialist on nerves or a lawyer specialist on patents has a great advantage over the general practitioner. He concentrates his energies on one line and gets at the finer points the general man does not have time to observe and study.

In stamp collecting it is the same. I handle United States stamps only and have concentrated my efforts and study on them for years. My efforts date back to a boy in 1894 and they're an asset to each of my clients.

A want-list of the United States stamps you lack will have the careful and business-like attention of "The House of Satisfaction."

UNITED STATES STAMPS !!!

I am breaking up a magnificent collection which contains such RARITIES AS THE 24c AND 90c IMPERF. 1860 ISSUE; 15c AND 24c 1869, 2c PAN-AMERICAN, AND THE 24c AEROPLANE WITH INVERTED CENTERS, all of the re-issues, and most of the special printings; Departments complete and Newspaper stamps nearly so. Now is a chance to fill up the vacant spaces you have been looking at so long.

H. F. COLMAN

tion was done with a rubber-stamp, but the larger users had sheets precancelled by various means. As the sheets of 400 were cut into panes of 100 each along the guide-lines, they had margins on the top, bottom, or sides, and as printers generally feed sheets into the press with the straight edges against the pins, inverted cancellations are found as well as up and down, the same as among the precancelled postage stamps. Rollers were used giving similar varieties, and cancellations were also type-written. (In MEKEEL'S WEEKLY STAMP NEWS dated December 29, 1898, the following is found under the heading of "Chicago Notes." "In a wholesale drug-house, an interesting spectacle was witnessed the other day. A type-writer was feeding sheet after sheet of 5c and lower denominations into her machine and neatly cancelling each stamp with type-written initials and date.")

The rarest and most valuable series, is the provisional issue, "Dr. K. & Co. I. R." on the 1c, 2c, and 3c postage, 1895 issue. The Government did not have their stamps ready for general distribution until about the middle of July, 1898, so several firms used provisional labels until a supply could be obtained, and the firm of Dr. Kilmer & Co. of Binghampton, N. Y., had the postage stamps cancelled by a local printer to use on their goods. Several articles have been published on this issue; by Mr. J. W. George in The American Journal of Philately for December, 1901; by the writer in MEKEEL'S for Jan. 9, 1909, and a comprehensive one by Dr. J. M. Brooks in The Stamp Journal from March to November, 1914. His list shows the existence of 104 known varieties out of a possible 126. The reason for this was the fact that the forms were set up for each stamp separately, and various fonts of type used, particularly the figures and hyphens, giving a very interesting number of minor varieties. When the regular issue was obtainable, the stamps were cancelled with the "block-letter" font of type used for the firm's initials in Type III of the provisional issue, and the same short-arm K has been found proving it. In April, 1900, the type was changed to a smaller font, and was used until the end of June, 1901.

The monogram cancellations of The Antikamnia Company, and of J. Elwood Lee Co. are also more or less popular with the collectors of U. S. Revenues. The Antikamnia Co., before they obtained their supply of stamps, used two type-set labels of ⅛c and 2½c value, guaranteeing the payment of the tax, which were cancelled in purple with a rubber-stamp, the design being that of an AK tablet surrounded by a wreath. Above it, the title, ANTIKAMNIA CO., and below the date, JULY 1, 1898. This cancellation is found on the regular issue ⅝c and 2½c. The next cancellation was printed. An electrotype was used for the design, a large AK in the center surrounded above by the title, THE ANTIKAMNIA CHEMICAL CO. in a curve conforming to the frame of the picture of the battle-ship, and below it the dates, which were type-set. Two fonts were used for the dates: Type I, "block" letters and figures, used on the ⅝c Oct., 1898, the 1¼c from 5—on the ⅝c Oct., 1898, the 1¼c from 5-12-1900 to 10-29-1900, the 2½c from Aug., 1898 to 2-23-1900, and the 3¾c from 9-6-1900 to 10-29-1900; Type II with smaller, shaded letters, on the ⅝c, ¼c, and 2½c, 4-3-1900, the 1¼c, 1900 to 5-16-1901. A purple ink rubber-stamp cancellation, AK CO. AK—6-15-01—AK CO. AK in three lines was also used on the 3¾c. In Type I four varieties of the numeral "1" were used. All "block-letters", but (a) has a small "flag" or tip, (b) has a square top; (c) the same but heavier type; (d) has a pointed top, sloping up from left to right.

Nine of the twelve values of the regular issue were used by the J. Elwood Lee Co., the 1c appearing only in 1898, and a set of inverted was made in 1900. The design is an artistic monogram of the initials of the company, surrounded below by an ornamental curve, and surmounted by the dates, 1898, 1899, 1900, or 1901. The only minor varieties are those appearing on both the rouletted and hyphen-hole perforations. The cancellation is found high or low on the stamp, thus putting the date above or below the monogram, as the case may be. During July and August, 1898, the stamps were cancelled in red by a printer who used several fonts of "block-letter" type, and the very first stamps used were cancelled in purple-red with a rubber-stamp.

A number of odd cancellations were used. That of The International Soap Co. was two small rosettes side by side. Alonzo O. Brown had a large O with the monogram AB within, a curved title OUR NATIVE HERB in "block" letters above, and the date below. National Remedy Co. used a small square with a circular opening in the center containing the monogram NR.

Occasional red cancellations occur, chiefly on the ⅝c, making a pleasing contrast with the blue, but Chamberlain Medicine Co. was cancelled in black during 1898 and in red on the ⅝c and 1¼c the remainder of the time, and W. H. Bull & Co., Hance Bros. & White, Hall & Ruckell, McKesson & Robbins, Ripans Chemical Co., Smith Kline & French Co., Wm. R. Warner & Co., J. Wyeth & Bro., and others also used red ink. Keasbey & Mattison Co. issued a "celebration" last set, June 15, 1901, and Wm. R. Warner & Co. a complete set on all twelve values dated 3-27-1901.

Proprietors of proprietary articles were given by the law the privilege of furnishing their own dies or designs for stamps, and there were fourteen used as listed in the Standard Catalogue. The only printed cancellations are those of Emerson Drug Co. and Lanman & Kemp, Johnson & Johnson using a hand-stamp for the dates only. The last two used the designs of the regular issue in different colors, but with their own names and trade-marks in the place of the battle-ship.

The numbers and letters on the private die Emerson Drug Co. stamps indicate the dates on which they were used. The first numeral indicates the day of the week; 1, Monday; 3, Wednesday, etc. The letter, that of the week in the last half or the first half of a year (26 weeks in each half). The final numeral 8 was used to indicate the last half of 1900, and 1 the first half of 1901. Thus "6 W 8" would mean Saturday of the first week of December 1900, and "4 D 1", Thursday of the fourth week of January 1901. With an old calendar, or with a "perpetual calendar" the exact dates can be worked out.

An Act of Congress, April 2, 1901, Amending Act of June 13, 1898, provided for the annulment of Schedule B, "to take effect on and after the first day o July, 1901."

There are not many of the precan cancelled proprietaries remaining in th stock of dealers, but they are still to b picked up from time to time, generall at about half catalogue prices.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—Boise, Idaho, is using a special cancellation. It consists of wavy lines, five in number, with the inscription in two lines "Home Coming Celebration"—Boise, July 3-4-5 1919".

—A. W. Hunt, Trinidad, states that Ewen's Colonial Stamp Market does not reply to any letters sent them. Mr. Hunt has written the firm several times without result.

—A subscriber who does not want his name used, remits $5 for a five-year subscription at $1 per year and with the enclosure was the following:—"By all means raise your subscription price. Everything is going up—why not the price of the WEEKLY? It is too cheap anyway at 50c for you have always furnished us stamp fiends with news good and plenty."

—E. N. Grey, Paterson, N. J., has a Patiala No. 157 in which the I of PUTTIALIA has fallen down so as to almost touch the letter A of STATE. This variety is not catalogued.

—I. W. Risdon's famous strip of four Newfoundland 1d imperforate on the original cover sold for $110 in the last Mozian sale. This cover is a superb one and the price makes an interesting quotation. A fine copy of Poland No. 1 on the original cover brought $12.75 at the same sale. The market in original covers seems to be firm.

—Four persons are reported to us by Emily King as paying no attention to communications sent them. They are Harold J. Belworthy, Bay City, Mich., Roswell Burford, Clarksdale, Miss., Walter J. Reed, Canton, Ohio, and R. Rapp, Melrose Highlands, Mass. The name of Belworthy is a very familiar one. He is known to fame (or rather, infamy), though his connection with the Wenona Stamp Co.

—J. P. Coveleski, Ancon, Canal Zone, informs us that he can get no replies to letters sent Leon Barri, Jr., El Paso, Tex., Chas. W. Adamson, San Francisco, Cal., H. B. Everett, N. Y. City, and G. W. Hawley, Allegan, Mich. So far as Barri is concerned he is notorious for failing to reply to letters. So near as we can find out he is a minor.

—The new Berlin government is planning for a new set of stamps. The designs for the same will be selected by a public competition, more than 500 designs having been submitted to the P. O. Department. Andrew Hertel sends us a clipping from the Chicago Tribune showing six different designs and three of these we are informed have already been accepted for certain values. The Tribune illustrations are not strong enough for us to reproduce, but they are all weird expressions of German art (?).

A PHILATELIST'S CREED.

A short time ago, there was enrolled upon our mailing list, a new subscriber, Judge A. C. Backus. At the time the name seemed familiar, and while looking over the editorial scrap book, we associated it with the following clipping:—

Hon. A. C. Backus, a Wisconsin judge, always has before him upon his desk a piece of cardboard upon which is printed the following verse from the Bible:—

"What doth Jehovah require of thee but to do justly and to love kindness and to walk humbly with thy God?—Micah 6:8."

Judge Backus says:—"I never convene court without that motto in my mind. With this appeal for justice and mercy ever before me I cannot go far wrong in my judgments".

EDGEWOOD REACHES 300.

These figures include all subscriptions received up to and including May 31, and we are deeply gratified with the splendid co-operation extended by many of our advertisers and subscribers. To the Edgewood Stamp Co. belongs the honor and credit of securing 300 subscribers in eight months. This fact of itself is an evidence of the business this firm is doing. At the same time we wish to make special mention of the Covert Stamp Co., Charles Christensen, Royal Stamp Co. and Apex Stamp Co., all of whom have been very active since our honor roll was last published. We have an ample supply of subscription forms and if you want your name to appear upon our honor roll, send for a supply. We call special attention to the number of subscriptions sent in since our last statement:

DELAY IN PUBLICATION.

The publishers of the WEEKLY greatly regret that there has been an unavoidable delay in recent months in publishing the WEEKLY, but matters will improve in the very near future. The issue of Saturday, June 7, was not off the press until the following Tuesday (June 10). We expect with coming issues that things will be improved and that we shall soon get back to normal conditions. Ordinarily, the WEEKLY is printed on Friday and every copy is in the post office by Saturday night. We expect that this schedule, in force for many years, will soon be effective again.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Loose—The following letter is from a source that has our respect and we know that the writer of it gives the thoughts of other than himself, in voicing the following opinion: "What has come over the market? It is running away and prices for U. S. stamps are getting beyond all reason. Why these advances are made is beyond sober analysis. I cite U. S. stamps because I know something about them based on an observance of thirty years; and when a dealer asks me double catalogue for something that three years ago he would have sold at from one-quarter to one-half off I cry out. The why and wherefore of what I consider inflated prices would be interesting and I suppose that dealers would not ask these prices if they did not make sales. What is odd to me is that the tall prices do not cause more comment instead of being accepted as the proper thing. I know that the good stamps generally have improved in price but why our own stamps have become almost unpurchasable is beyond my ken." There is more in this strain, but these extracts show the tenor of the reader's thoughts. We believe that not a few collectors, residing, as our correspondent does, away from the centers of philately, are puzzled by the closeness with which good U. S. are held and a few words of comment are in place. First of all, it should be known that all stamps practically have advanced in price and the cause for the rise may be attributed to the decreased purchasing power of the dollar; the augmented demand for stamps or what you will; we must recognize the changed conditions. That desirable U. S. should have mounted the heights is due to this basic fact, amplified by a demand following a growing appreciation of the worth of our early stamps in particular. The historical and national phases of the stamps nicely combine with the philatelic attraction and give an extra boost. Then, the intensive study of these issues means that where one variety was sufficient for the majority of collectors, many specimens of a single stamp are required to show differences of cancellation, sub-variety, etc. This demand by adult collectors includes a preference for prime condition; and hence, the skyward flight of prices for fine things. The dealers cannot be said to instigate the top prices as they do not have large stocks of the stamps in question and they are put to great lengths in scouring the country for the purchase of the stamps of this kind for re-sale. The tide is so strong for these stamps that it carries all objections before it.

Lore—Several months ago, a correspondent wrote asking for information about "Favor's Eastport Express" and Earle and Co.'s Providence, respectively. While for some reason Favor's Express is associated in our mind with stamps, it may have been that we saw in some old catalogue a fictitious stamp or two assigned to this enterprise. As we have just secured through the courtesy of Mr. T. W. Tucker, an old expressman, particulars of both the expresses mentioned by our inquirer, we shall put them on record, at any rate. Favor's Eastport Express, best remembered through its old steamer, Admiral, ran from Boston to Eastport and Calais, Maine, to St. John, New Brunswick. Colonel Favor, the proprietor, was a character of whom many stories were told, and who combined the "joy of living" with his transfer business; and his service was popular about 1855 to 1860, or thereabouts. He carried letters and freight, but it is certain that no local stamps were used on the letters. The express business operated as Earle and Co.'s Providence Express began service in 1840, and for many years transacted a prosperous business between Boston and Providence, until it was absorbed by the American Express Company. We have never seen any stamp references to this express. It is known that small gummed labels were used by some of the express companies that did a letter carrying business, but these stickers are not to be classed as local stamps such as are recognized in the catalog. They indicated that certain formalities had been complied with and did not represent a postal tax. We have seen a good many of these slips in the aggregate, and while some of them have local potentialities and approach the border of stamp-land, they cannot be accepted as stamps. If the correspondent to whom we make belated reply sees this paragraph, he may have something further to say.

Likely—The articles on the match companies that issued stamps during the old tax period are attracting the attention of some of our readers, so interestingly is the information about the match manufacturers and their stamps presented by Christopher West, the writer of the series. One of our subscribers asks why the old match, medicine, etc., stamps are not more popular and when they will come into their own. While popularity, in its broad sense, perches on the pennants of these stamps only in cycles, yet there is always a fair number of collectors who are quietly perfecting their collections of these revenues, and they acquire a fund of information in obtaining the stamps that is appealing to those who feel the historical side of the old pledges of tax tribute. There has always been a band of collectors to do them honor, however, and in 1877 a dealer advertised to pay three dollars each for any of the following stamps: "Aetna, 1 cent, green; American Match Company, 1 and 3 cents; Bousefield and Poole, 3 cent, brown; Brown and Darling, 1 cent, black; Chicago Match Co., 3 cent black; Doolittle, W. E. Gorman, Thos. and Bro., 1 cent, black; N. Y. Match Co., 5 cent, blue; Pierce Match Co., Wise and Co. from 1 to 15 dollars paid for rarities." This offer, which is quoted verbatim, mentions match stamps only; and a number of discrepancies will be noticed in it.

Latest—We have received an authoritative article from a postal officer at Shanghai telling of the reason, in detail, for the issue of the Shanghai surcharges that we hope will have space elsewhere in this issue. The explanation is opportune, and though our correspondent says that it is difficult to put clearly the circumstances to readers unacquainted with the vagaries of silver fluctuations in the orient, we believe that he has presented the subject in understandable form. From a Shanghai newspaper clipping we learn that the old stamps, while not exchangeable for Mex. surcharges, will be allowed to be used as heretofore.

Listen—A reader takes his pen in hand: "In the issue of May 31, 1919, you suggest an inexpensive way of keeping stamps from sticking to the album pages. I have a less expensive, but perhaps not less efficacious method. Rub the gummed side of your stamp lightly on your hair, and it will take up an invisible oil. Try it on some one cent current stamps, and carry them in your pocket for a few days. P. S.: This will not work with false hair; and the bald collector is discriminated against."

HUSSEY WELL SATISFIED.

During this past season a new name has appeared in the dealing ranks, A. E. Hussey of Cincinnati, O. Mr. Hussey has pursued the policy of using ordinary space week by week, but once a month blossoming out with a large announcement. The one elsewhere in this issue is a sample. We think it well to quote from his letter accompanying the advertising copy:—

"Enclosed find copy for your next issue. This will have to be my last advt. until fall as I am going to my cottage up north early in July. Shall surely be with you in the fall and shall then use as in the past regular space every week and a half column the middle of the month. Have certainly had fine results from your paper and have made many friends."

—Hugo Griebert has resumed the publication of Philatelic Notes and Offers. This publication is of great value to all lovers of new issues and we welcome its appearance. The subscription price is 24c per year, for six numbers.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

AMERICAN STAMPS SURCHARGED FOR USE IN SHANGHAI.

By F. G. S.

The American Postal Agency at Shanghai recently announced in the local press that from July 1st, 1919, the current American stamps would be surcharged in values double that of their face value, and such would be on sale from that date concurrently with the ordinary unsurcharged stamps.

This innovation is due solely to the high price of silver, and to the opinion of experts in high financial circles that its price will remain high for many years to come.

It has always been optional when purchasing American stamps at the United States Postal Agency in Shanghai to pay for them either in American or "Chinese" currency. (The term "Chinese" must be understood to cover all kinds of dollars circulating in China which are issued on the silver basis, which include the Mexican dollar.) But if payment is made in Chinese currency then the rate of "two for one" is charged, because before the war the value of an American dollar steadily averaged around two Chinese dollars. It was immaterial, therefore, in those days whether one paid for one's stamps in American or Chinese currency.

It must be borne in mind that an American dollar is based on a gold standard, and so its value does not fluctuate to any extent worth mentioning. But as China has no gold standard, the value of a Chinese dollar fluctuates in ratio to the varying price of silver, and as silver today is double the price it was before the war, it follows that a certain sum in any gold currency can now be purchased with considerably fewer Chinese dollars than formerly.

The American Postal Agency in Shanghai has never recognized this, and has never made any difference in its rates when payment was tendered in Chinese currency for stamps, but always demanded the "two for one" terms as in pre-war times.

What a purchaser of American stamps, etc., now does, then, before going to the United States Post Office in Shanghai is to call in at the nearest Chinese money changer's shop and buy an American dollar or dollars at the current rate of the day. This rate has frequently been as low as one dollar and ten cents (Chinese) for one American dollar and is at about that rate at this writing.

Here is a clear saving of 90c (Chinese) on every dollar's worth of postal matter bought with American currency at the United States Postal Agency!

For a long time during the war many firms in Shanghai, principally those other than American, who found it advisable to send their mail for Europe via America, did not know that the American Postal Agency would accept American currency, but continued to buy American stamps there in Chinese currency at the rate of "two for one". Further, there was always the case of the party in a hurry to catch the mail, and who had not had time to call at the Chinese money changers, or had perhaps forgotten to buy American currency, and so got "stuck" into having to pay double for his stamps.

Now it should be stated that one of the rules of the American Postal Agency at Shanghai is that anyone paying in American currency must sign a "chit" (i. e note) stating that this was the mode of payment. As there is no official form of any description for this requirement, and as any old scrap of paper is accepted, there was nothing to prevent a dishonest counter assistant (who are all natives) from selling stamps at the "two for one" rate, and afterwards, just writing out a "chit" as having received American money, then paying this into the accounts and pocketing the difference received from a customer.

Possibly the principal reason is to simplify the bookkeeping, as after the surcharged stamps are put on sale it will merely mean that for every dollar's worth of the unsurcharged variety one American dollar must be remitted to Washington, and for every surcharged stamp sold two Chinese dollars (or their equivalent in American currency) must be remitted.

However, who is going to pay double postage for his mail? The commercial firms who previously used the American mails, and who, in some instances, as above stated, paid in Chinese currency, have now reverted to the service of their own national post offices. There remains only the forgetful persons who find themselves without American currency when purchasing stamps, and it can be safely asserted that these individuals are now mighty rare. But if they are not too late for the mail they can just walk out of the post office and slip around the corner to the Chinese money changer, and get all the American money they need.

It means, consequently, that few, if any, of these surcharged stamps will frank any mail matter, and that the value of the used specimens to collectors will be considerably higher than the unused.

CARUSO'S HOBBIES.

Walter Doepp Jr., advises us that June Physical Culture contains a Caruso item of interest to our readers. We quote the same as follows:—

"I return home and play cards and amuse myself with my stamp collection," says Caruso. "You haven't seen my stamp collection? No? It is my hobby. It is a great relaxation. I can forget myself and my work, which is a good thing to do for a time, so absorbed can I become in it. One must relax to be healthy."

Then again he says, "And after I have devoted my time to study, I play with my stamp collection, or my coin collection. They are interesting; they are hobbies. You have a hobby? No? You must get one. One must have a hobby. It is relaxation."

to purchase anything in the way of FINE UNITED STATES postage or revenue stamps and if your collection is for sale write me before closing elsewhere. It makes no difference if your collection contains foreign for I buy them too, providing they are fine. Please remember I do not want trash. Numerous parties have sent me selections of foreign listing about $5 and some have been so generous as to allow 10% off. Remember, I am an advanced collector and am not in the market for 1000 variety packets. I want real collections valued from $100 to $5000 and single U. S. from $3-$5 up, but remember fine condition is necessary. Price is not the main consideration. If you have a grand collection I will pay a grand price.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED SATES.—In reference to the red error envelopes which have been turning up here and there, we are now informed that a quite a few have been returned to Washington. Dr. William Evans writes that a business firm in Norfolk recently received 2000 of these errors and returned them to the Post Office before he learned of the fact. To date we know of but two finds in the hands of collectors, namely, the New York lot on white and the Waterbury find on blue. Some were printed on amber and some on buff, but it is a question if any of these will reach the public. It may be of interest to mention that a new contract on envelopes goes into effect on July 1st at which time the prices on sizes 5 and 13 will advance. We hope under the new contract that the government will receive better product.

Mr. W. T. Robey informs us that the Bureau has discontinued the printing of the postage stamps by the offset method on March 25, and that since that time only the engraved plates have been used. He states that the 1c plate 10054 was the last printed from, although a number of such plates bearing higher numbers are held in reserve in the Bureau. These will probably never be used. We have not seen stamps from the last plate used, as yet, although we had the 1c No. 10053 in Philadelphia some weeks back. We would welcome information as to the whereabouts of the last printings.

Mr. H. W. Porter informs us that he has obtained a 3c documentary provisionally surcharged in Baltimore "Narcotic". This is the fourth city to our knowledge issuing such provisionals. Mr. Porter states that the surcharge is in large letters and runs obliquely from the lower left to the upper right. It seems that only the 3c value was so surcharged as the regular issue from Washington, of the other values, reached them in ample time.

Mr. A. S. Davenport has now obtained copies of the New York provisional "Narcotic" 1c and 2c. We had supposed these were issued but the printed issue of these two values from the Bureau reached New York so early that but few were made.

In the same letter Mr. Davenport tells us that the 1c documentary has been surcharged "Cigarette Tubes" but furnishes us with none of the details. The revenue collector of late issues certainly has a merry time these days. Keep at it, for some of the varieties that can be purchased at a few cents to-day are likely to be real rarities a few years hence.

Several kind correspondents, including Mr. Andrew Hertel, tell us that the higher values of the new proprietary stamps which we mentioned in a previous chronicle have been placed on sale All values are now to be had in New York and the larger offices.

The office of the Third Ass't P. M. Gen'l, A. M. Dockery, sends out under date of May 26, 1919, a very interesting bulletin from which we quote:—

WASHINGTON, May 26, 1919.
Special-Delivery Stamps.

1. Owing to the small demand for 10-cent special-delivery stamps at the U. S. Postal Agency, Shanghai, China, the issuance of surcharged stamps of this denomination, as listed in The Postal Bulletin dated May 6th, has been canceled. No 10-cent special-delivery stamps surcharged "Shanghai, China," have been printed.

How to Get Postage Stamps Surcharged "Shanghai, China."

2. The denominations of United States postage stamps surcharged "Shanghai, China," are as follows: 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 12, 15, 20, 30, 50-cent, and 1-dollar. The surcharged value is double the original value of the stamps, that is to say, the 1-cent stamp is surcharged "2 cents," the 2-cent stamp is surcharged "4 cents," and so on through the list.

3. The Department is receiving inquiries from collectors as to how the surcharged stamps may be purchased. They will not be placed on sale in United States post offices, for the reason that they are to be sold only for the local money current in Shanghai, known as "Mexican."

4. The best method of obtaining the surcharge stamps is to remit their value, with return postage and registry fee, in United States domestic money orders to the order of the U. S. Postal Agent, Shanghai, China. He will convert the money orders into local currency at the prevailing rate of exchange and send the stamps by registered mail to the purchaser's address, wrapped in paraffin paper to prevent them from sticking prematurely.

5. The rate of exchange for the "Mexican" money current in Shanghai fluctuates but is now quoted at about 124. It will probably be advisable to calculate it at 125. At this rate of exchange, 80 cents should be remitted to the U. S. Postal Agent in Shanghai for each $1 worth of stamps at their surcharged value, and the amount to be remitted for one complete set of all the denominations as listed in paragraph 2 hereof would be $4.52, to which should be added 12 cents for reply postage and registration, making a total of $4.64 in American money for a complete set of surcharged stamps.

6. It is advisable to authorize the Postal Agent in Shanghai to make proportionate changes in the order if the remittance does not exactly equal it, so that there shall be no delay in filling it.

AUSTRALIA.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the 1½d current George stamp on single watermark paper. We also note that the color is more reddish brown than heretofore.

BARBADOS.—New Printing 1916 Design.—A supply is to hand of the new printings of the 3d and 1sh values, some sheets of which we were informed first appeared on sale on January 6th last.

The 1sh is practically identical, both as regards printing and paper with the original issue, but in the case of the 3d, though the shade of purple is about the same, the paper is noticeably different, being pale yellow instead of lemon, and rather thicker. Two sheets, in the consignment to hand, we find, show further variations, being lemon-yellow and somewhat thinner in substance, with a more shiny gum.—Metropolita Philatelist.

BOHEMIA.—During the revolution, the postal service in the City of Prague was maintained by the Boy Scouts, who issued their own stamps. These are two in number, 10 and 20 heller, and bear a design of a crowned lion rampant with two tails. The inscription at top is POSTA CESKYCH SKAUTU (Czech boy-scouts post), and at foot VE SLUZBACH NARODNI VLADY (in the country's service). They do not appear to be a Government issue, and as their use was strictly local we do not propose to catalogue them.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

CILICIA.—A correspondent at Bagdad informs us that the French have seized all the Turkish stamps in this territory and overprinted them "Cilicie;" the stamps in question appear to be mostly of the Commemorative series which were issued during the war and which, being of enemy origin, are not in our catalogue. Our correspondent has seen nine varieties, of which he has kindly sent us a specimen; the overprint appears to be done by hand in large sans-serif letters at the foot of the stamp. Our correspondent says that the stamps are very scarce, and that they appear to be on a parallel with the Bagdad issues.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

MESOPOTAMIA.—A curious variety, occurring in the Iraq series, consists of an impression of the surcharged numerals (not the inscription) on the bottom margin of the sheet of ½, 1, 4, and 12 annas.—Stamp Collecting.

MOROCCO AGENCIES.—A doubly overprinted copy of the current 2s 6d value, overprinted MOROCCO AGENCIES, in two lines, is described and illustrated

ADLETS.

Minimum two lines.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—25c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to one line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $10.00, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

by the Madrid Filatelico. The variety is stated to be from the lower part of the sheet and, although the two impressions of the overprint are very close together, they are quite distinct.—Stamp Collecting.

NEW ZEALAND.—Sir Joseph Ward is busily occupied in the selection of designs for a new set of New Zealand stamps, which will make its appearance at an early date. The announcement will intensify the already keen interest manifested in the beautiful King George series.—Stamp Collecting.

NEW ZEALAND.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the current 1½d stamp surcharged OFFICIAL in black.

RARATONGA.—Mr. J. H. Smyth has shown us the 2d, 3d, 4d, 4½d, 7½d and 9d New Zealand stamps surcharged RARATONGA and also the value in two lines. The 2d is with red surcharge and also has the words RUA PENE. The 3d is overprinted in blue ink and has the words for value TORU PENE. The 4d is also in blue and A PENE. Both the 4½ and 7½d are overprinted in blue but in addition to the name of the country is the ITU PENE E TE APA both in two lines, making a three line surcharge. The 9d is with the red and IVA PENE.

330,000 of 2 satangs	5,500 of 1 baht
111,118 of 3 satangs	3,300 of 2 baht
110,000 of 5 satangs	2,468 of 3 baht
66,000 of 10 satangs	1,918 of 5 baht
55,000 of 15 satangs

The overprint in Siamese is WUN CHAI or "Day of Victory," and there have been two printings, both of which are included in the figures quoted. The whole issue was sold out in a few days. —Whitfield King's Monthly List.

TURKEY.—An esteemed correspondent in Constantinople writes us as follows:—

"The latest development in the philatelic world here is a new issue of stamps to commemorate the signing of the Armistice last year. They are thirteen in number with a face value of 175 piastres all told, yet the Public Debt Department who are controlling the sale of these stamps, have the effrontery to ask something like 2,000 piastres for the complete set, and 200 piastres for the eight lower values; these stamps have never been issued to the public for postal purposes, but are eagerly sought after as curiosities."

Needless to say we do not intend to have anything to do with such rubbish, and will not accord them a place in our catalogue.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

Sarkasm.

(A McVittles Monologue.)

The poor we have with us always—also the Condition Crank. He is indeed a poor, miserable duffer who was disappointed in love and is taking it out on the stamp dealers. He would rather look at an empty space in his album than admire the greatest rarity in existence if the said g. r. had an invisible scratch one quarter of a millimeter long in the S. W. corner on the back. He knows he can't get what he wants but he keeps on trying lest his reason return and he become happy like other people.

At the age of seven he gave up collecting stamps and began to collect condition and when he gets to be 87 he will have almost as many stamps as he had when he parted with his first collection 80 years before. He is always anxious to buy but would rather dine on poison ivy than let go of any real money unless an affidavit and hard boiled guarantee is supplied for nothing along with each stamp costing 10c or over. The affidavit must state that the stamp supplied is the finest copy that does or could exist and the guarantee must protect him against loss in case anything ever happens to the affidavit or the stamp.

The Condition Crank gets less fun out of collecting than any other human being on earth. He lives in constant fear that one of his immaculate specimens may not be quite so immaculate as he thinks it is or that some jealous fiend may look at it cross-eyed and inflict it with the pip or other terrible and incurable malady. If anyone tells him there is a lot of fun in replacing a good specimen with a better one he will act as though he was being invited to join a suicide club.

His collection progresses like a crab—backwards. Whenever a new specimen is added he discards two that are not quite up to his standard and when he finally reaches the pinnacle of his desires, his collection consists of one stamp and eight thousand affidavits.

The Condition Crank is cordially detested by all normal collectors—and with good reason. When he looks at the other fellow's collection he cannot see the good points in 3,657 beautiful specimens because the 3,658th stamp has a fly speck on it. He cannot say two words for the stamps that are as fine as the best he has got, but he will talk about one fly speck for two hours, and when he finally runs down and has said all there is to say about fly specks, the owner of the stamps will feel like nursing a grudge against himself for having gone to so much trouble and expense to collect over three thousand fly specks.

For the benefit of those who may think a bit of exaggeration may have slipped into this discourse, let me say that I ought to know what I am talking about. I am a Condition Crank (33rd degree) myself.

Notes and Gossip.

Bob French of Montreal speaks French with one hand and English with the other. When he lived in Louisville he spent part of his spare time at the stamp club and the rest looking for a second copy of the Thos. E. Wilson medicine stamp. Bob says he thinks there's a better chance of finding one of Doc. Wilson's stickers in Montreal than in Louisville, because no one ever looked for it in Montreal. Keep your eyes open, Bob, and there's no telling what you'll find. The only known copy of the 1c J. C. Ayer in blue came from Canada, you know.

Doc. Hetrich of Penn's Woods has a memory longer than Barham's Pile Cure and upon slight provocation will tell that good one about raiding a drug store 25 years ago and emerging from the fray minus a ten cent segar and a ten dollar bill, but bearing off as the spoils of conquest a packing box chock-a-block full of Franklin match stamps on the "original covers" and several segar boxes full of medicine revenues, including a fair sized wad of J. C. Ayer 4c uncut and unused in blocks. We agree with the Doc.—them was the HAPPY DAYS.

"My Creole Sue."

(Revised Version.)

Last night I sat reflecting o'er the mem'- ries of the past,
My thoughts turned back to you—my three cent blue;
The attic stairs, the dusty floor, the nook
beneath the eaves,
'Twas there in grandpa's trunk my eyes met you.

Chorus.

My three cent blue, how I loved you!
I love you still, and always will.
I sigh for you, I do, I do;
And to you I'll e'er be true.
My three cent blue.

The hair cloth trunk is now no more;
the letters thrown away.
What would I give to have them here with you!
Most loved of all the stamps that take me back to childhood days,
The square one with an engine—three cent blue.—(Chorus.)

Query Department.

Hard Up:—No, your $1 blue and black inverted medallion revenue stamp with punch hole filled in is not worth $250 or anything like it. Perhaps half a dozen unpunched copies are known and the cat price is based on these. Some 85 punched copies were turned up in the New York Custom House find. They seldom brought over $30 until the cat quotation was made $250, but now every fellow who owns one thinks he has a $250 stamp. If it will help you to understand why the cat does not always tell the whole truth we will say that the editors and publishers are confirmed optimists who would not do or say anything that might detract from the sum total of human happiness for less than $8.25, net. The next time Voorhees offers a punched copy at auction probably he will not describe it as "a great rarity (last auction price $236)," for even if he forgets, we won't.

Wm. R. Harrison:—McVittles has gone trout fishing. When he returns he will tell you what is a Rare Stamp. Meanwhile, here's something to think about in re Honduras. The 1865 issue catalogs 6c each unused and about half a dollar each used. The Ed. will pay $1 each for genuine used copies on the original cover. He would be perfectly safe in offering even more, because the best Honduras collection known to him does not contain one of the first issue used on cover. They are RARE stamps.

June 8, 1919.

The next regular meeting of the Society will be held on Tuesday, June 17th at 8 p. m. It is expected that both Messrs. A. B. Slater and Robert S. Emerson will exhibit their United States stamps of the issue of 1849. Either or both of these gentlemen have sufficient material for a first class evening's entertainment. The following gentlemen's names will be voted upon at the meeting:—Nathaniel B. Davis and G. A. Balch for resident and Richard G. Badger, Jr., for junior membership. As usual there will be the regular informal dinner at some one of the restaurants; those who desire to participate meeting at the club-room at 6 p. m.

A SQUARE DEAL AND A SQUARE MEAL.

By JOHN KENDRICK BANGS.

Advices from Washington state that the gum on the back of the postage stamps is made of sweet potato. This is all very well as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. If the public gum is to be made of food-stuffs, why, in a republic like this, should one man's taste be permitted to prevail over another's? We do not all of us care for sweet potatoes, and we cannot be compelled to even by the great I Yam himself, for all his big stick and its power. The sweet potato is not a bad thing, but there are thousands of us with cultivated gastronomic tastes who prefer other edibles, like Camembert cheese, canvas-back duck, lobsters, shrimp salad, and so on—there are even people who can eat squash with relish. Wherefore, why sweet potatoes exclusively? Are all these other tastes to be ruthlessly ignored because some bureaucrat likes sweet potatoes? We trow not—not, at least, if this is the age of the square deal. It is, therefore, respectfully suggested that the Post-office Department vary that recipe a bit, and give us a more extensive menu. Let the one-cent stamps be gummed with sweet potato, if you will, but on the two's let us have a hint of pickled oysters; give us a three-cent stamp flavored with stewed rhubard; a four-cent stamp with pumpkin pie; put mint sauce on the nickel stamp; and so on up to the highest denomination, catering as the stamps rise in value to the more expensive tastes. Surely if the man who never buys anything more expensive than a penny stamp is entitled to his sweet potato—and nobody denies that he is—the chap who buys a dollar stamp should be able to get something for his money in his gum—as the office-boy says, he should get what is gumming to him—ruddy-duck, pate de foie gras, or even a hint of a Bronx cocktail, if that is what he likes.

While we are on this subject, we feel constrained to interpellate the Post-office Department also on the point as to when it proposes to obey the mandates of the pure food law and stamp its gum with a statement of its ingredients?—Leslie-Judge.

THE 10c BLACK OF 1847.

By EARLY BYRD.

Specializing in the 10c black U. S. stamp of 1847 is limited because of the decided scarcity of the stamp in fine condition. It catalogs this year at $8.00, but I have not noticed any fine copies selling at auction for any such figure. The range seems to be from $12 to $15, with few showing below $10. The higher figure seems justified for more than one reason. There were between four and five times as many of the 5c stamp sold as of the 10c, so that all else equal with the 5c stamp selling at from $3 to $5, the 10c should rate between $12 and $20. Again, a larger percentage of the higher value were used outside of regular trade channels. The 5c rate prevailed between New York and Boston. Philadelphia, Baltimore, and most of the large cities on the Atlantic seaboard. There, it seems fair to assume, the bulk of the correspondence was between the larger establishments, many, if not all of whom made a practice of filing their correspondence. As a consequence, some large finds of the 5c stamps have been made in old files. But the 10c stamp was used principally for long distances,— 10c was the rate for any distance over 300 miles,— and that meant the stamps went, in perhaps the majority of the cases to individuals, pioneer firms, and others less likely to preserve their letters than the big firms of the Eastern cities. Few stamps came into the cities from these outlying correspondents because many of the small post offices were not supplied with stamps during the first few years after they came into use. Prepayment of postage was not compulsory nor usual, and when one was weak enough to pay cash in advance the postmasters generally stamped the letter "PAID" and let it go at that.

Regardless of whys and wherefores, the 10c '47 is a rare bird in fine condition, and not to be lightly parted with. For some unaccountable reason there seem to be more well known varieties of the 10c than of the 5c stamp. It lacks the varieties of color which make the 5c value easy to place chronologically, but offsets this by a larger number of shifts and other plate varieties.

There are four easily distinguished "shifts", or double transfers, and some lesser varieties. One of these shifts, listed by Dr. Carroll Chase as shift "B", is the finest example of shifted transfer known on any stamp, to my way of thinking, though the big shift in the first issue of Canada 3 pence might show as plainly if printed in black. In the 10c shift "B" the words Post Office appear to be printed double, once in white or colorless letters, and again in fine black letters, which overlay the white ones. The shift is also evident in the letters "U. S." and in the oval surrounding the medallion. A fine copy of this shift probably would bring about $50 at auction today. The copy offered at the Worthington sale brought over $30 and was resold for $40 a few weeks later.

Shifts "A" and "C" are sometimes mistaken for one another, as the principal distinguishing mark in both is a line through the right hand "X". In shift "A" this line runs from northeast to southwest, though the shift is clearly seen in the upper parts of "U. S." In shift "C" the line in the "X" runs from northwest to southeast in the lower part of the letter, and the bottom line is partly doubled. Shift "D" shows clearest in the frame lines, which show double across the bottom and at the lower ends of both side lines. Any of these shifts in fine condition should bring $25 to $30, and even where the stamps are cut into they still command considerable premiums, say $15 to $20.

Another interesting transfer variety is that known as the short transfer in which a blank, or nearly blank, space shows at the top or bottom of the stamp. This commands a small premium, though less than any of the shifts.

What is often mistaken for a shift is the variety showing a vertical line through the second "F" of Office. This is asserted by Dr. Chase to be the result of a scratch on the plate. It is a variety widely recognized and one that any specialist will be glad to acquire at a premium in case you find one and don't want it yourself.

In paper varieties there seems little to show beyond the stitch watermark (and you have me beaten if you can show this stamp with the stitch), creased paper, (showing a blank space where the paper was folded in printing) and the yellowish or white paper variety. Most of these stamps, like the 5c, are on a greyish paper. A small percentage are

A WORD ON EMCO PACKETS

Our recent advertisements are bringing inquiries regard our LARGER PACKETS, both UNMOUNTED and MOUNTED.

Many large purchases of collections and stocks have enabled us to make up our own larger variety packets instead of being dependent on the short European supply. Every packet makes an excellent collection in itself; the mounted especially so.

Condition and variety of countries are especially fine. While it has been difficult to secure the "cheaper" stamps in any quantities, the market is becoming much steadier and we can include many new varieties not to be found in packets of equal size offered by any dealer. In fact, we are today supplying one-half the leading dealers in the U. S. with EMCO packets.

4,000 VARIETIES AT $52.00

A genuine BONANZA for any collector having less than 7-8000 stamps. Hundreds of countries liberally represented.
4000 All Different, Post free and registered. Unmounted, only .....$52.00 Net.

8,000 VARIETIES AT $199.00

Worth much more considering the class of stamps usually included in a packet of this size. Well filled with the older as well as the newer issues and forms a fine collection. Many high valued stamps included and the catalog value runs very high. Guaranteed to satisfy. Post free and registered, $199.00 Net. Same Packet arranged and mounted on sheets, ready for transferring to any Album, $215.00 Net.

10,000 VARIETIES AT $325.00

Contains 2000 extra desirable and scarcer stamps than our 8000 collection. Practically every stamp issuing country is represented and at the above price makes it the best "Packet Bargain" we have offered in many years.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from H. H. Fend, Globe Stamp Co., John G. Jewett, W. V. Abdill, Ira L. Hay, W. A. Bowling.

—Will the Cambridge, Mass., subcriber who mailed a remittance for subscription to the WEEKLY on June 13, please send name and address to this office, informing us at the same time the amount of remittance sent?

—The C. E. Hussman Co. can get no replies to letters sent A. W. Woodward, 22 E. 7th St., Erie, Pa. Letters are returned "Unclaimed. Moved. Left no address."

—W. E. H.—We have heard no word as to when a new Scott's catalog will appear, but a new Gibbons' will no doubt soon be available.

—The Midland Stamp Co. can secure no replies to letters addressed F. G. Lacey, 537 Howard Av., New Haven, Conn. Write the company if others are similarly situated.

—As the Pacific, Berkeley, Western, and San Francisco Societies are each planning to entertain the S. P. A. convention one day in August, the date of convening has been made August 27, one day earlier than intended. S. P. A. members at Pittsburgh have applied for a Branch in that city.

—J. D. G.—We do not know when the Poole Dictionary will be published in its entirety. Certainly not until it has appeared in the WEEKLY. Two sections have already been printed and the third will appear very soon.

"BY ALL MEANS MAKE IT B."

By R. F. WILLIAMS.

(We do not know Mr. Williams' business connections but we do feel that he has sized up the situation confronting the WEEKLY in a very terse and intelligent manner.—W. O. W.)

A number of years ago I was on the board of directors and connected with the advertising department of the then and now best and biggest money-making paper in its field. We had several times before us the question of an advance in the subscription price and in no case advanced it, although the postage alone in many cases was more than th subscription, and in one case nearly fou times as much. The advance would no have reduced our lists materially but w wanted the paper to have the larges possible circulation as there is no bette advertising talking point, when couple with quality.

The WEEKLY has a splendid list of ad vertisers and a reasonable advance woul effect but a few. The present subscrip tion price is entirely too low but an raise will make fewer subscribers an reduce the advertising value just tha much. I, personally, would not be with out the WEEKLY no matter what the sub scription.

on paper that shows quite distinctly blue, and very rarely copies are found in which the paper appears to be plain white or slightly yellowish wove. The stitch watermark, I assume, would find more takers and a better price than the other varieties.

Varieties in which no great interest is displayed by the general run of collectors are those in which, due to recutting, some part of a side line is doubled.

Cancellations on the 10c stamps, especially on covers, are more apt to be interesting than those on the 5c for reasons already given. Route cancellations I think have the call, and a good cover with a Baltimore Railroad, Philadelphia Railroad, N. Y. & Phila. R. R., Eastern R. R., Hudson River Mail, Steamboat or Ship cancellation will find takers without number if you offer one for sale or exchange. Numerals were frequently used, as also the words PAID, FREE and WAY, and all of these markings command decided premiums over the ordinary grid obliterations.

When it comes to colored cancellations, Dr. Chase gives the prize to the Chicago pink, but this on a stamp off cover is practically impossible of identification. On cover it is easy to distinguish and is both rare and desirable. Why green cancellations are so seldom met with I cannot understand, for several cities in Great Britain used green receiving stamps during the period under notice, and it is not unusual to find foreign cancellations falling on the stamps. Anyway, green is very rare on both the 5c and 10c stamps. Black is less rare but not much so. Red is by far the commonest cancellation ink found on the '47 issue, as it was employed by both New York and Boston where most of the stamps were used. Philadelphia and Baltimore both used blue ink for town cancellations, as did some other cities, and that color is only less common than the red. Town cancellations are of course much scarcer than the gridirons usually employed. Personally, I am inclined to favor light pen cancellations as doing less to impair the effect of the stamps. This leaning, however, is contrary to the general rule and pen cancelled copies with most dealers are at a big discount. This should not be held against the stamps, though, as they never were used for fiscal or registration purposes and the penmarks represent only postal cancellation.

Rare Stamps Wanted

Used and unused singles, pairs, blocks and covers of the early issues of British West Indies and British North America. We will pay full catalog to double catalog for rare items in the finest condition. We also want rare blocks of the later issues both unused and used. LATVIJA.

By AUGUSTUS H. KIUSALAS.

In reviewing the new issue columns of the leading philatelic publications, the writer finds that stamps bearing the name Latvija (Lat-we-jah) are listed as Lithuanian stamps. This is an error which should be corrected.

The War Trade Board of the United States gives a better spelling for this name, Latvia. The above mentioned inscription is the name, in the native tongue, of a section of the Baltic Province inhabited by Lettish People. This section of Russia includes the southern half of Livonia. and also all of Courland.

The correct names of these two provinces are Widseme (Midland) and Kurseme (Kurland). The Lettish people inhabited this part of the Baltic Province as far as historical records can be traced.

Before the thirteenth century, these people lived in tribes and subsisted mainly by cultivating the land. The two chief tribes were Kuri and Livi, hence the names Courland and Lifland in German or of Germanic origin, which in turn was latinized to Kuronia and Livonia. Same applies to the Northern Baltic Province of Estonia:—Esteemaa, Estland, Estonia.

Although the Lettish people were in turn under the following governments, Germans, Poles, Swedes, and Russians, they were really ruled by the Order of the Teutonic Knights, since the early part of the thirteenth century. This was since the German merchants landed from Bremen, at the mouth of the Daugawa (Dwina) River, where they founded the city of Riga.

The gallant Knights built castles scattered all over the above mentioned Province. An excellent picture of the ruins of one of these castles can be found on stamps of the 1901 issue of Wenden (Livonia).

An explanation of the reason for building these castles, or fortresses, would not be out of place here. At first these German merchants landed on the sandy banks of the River Daugawa a few miles above its mouth, and traded various articles with the natives. Finding trading good and much to their advantage, these traders or adventurers came frequently. Finally they built a system of castles (really fortresses) for their protection from the natives, whom the Knights eventually enslaved. These castles were of gigantic size.

Riga was founded by Albert, Bishop of Livonia, in 1201 and became a busy city, and a prosperous member of the Hanseatic League. St. Peter's Church was built in 1204 and its steeple is 460 feet high.

Their language is very old, and it is said to be nearest to Sanskrit of any in use today. The people, unlike other Russians, are well educated and the proportion of illiteracy is extremely small, a compulsory school system, maintained by the people, is responsible for this.

The stamps, with the inscription Latvija, are provisional issues, which do not cover the entire section mentioned. They were issued for use only in the southern part of that country, evidently in the city of Leepaja, which is the Lettish name for the port of Libau. The remainder is still under Bolshevik (The Russian Federated Soviet Republic) rule.

The inscription on the stamps KAP, is an abbreviation of Kapeika, the Lettish for the Russian word Kopeika (Kopeck) the name of a coin in use.

The Lithuanians are entirely different people, inhabiting the country southeast of Latvija, between Russia, Poland, and Germany.

3c U. S. ENV. BLACK ON AMBER.

J. M. Bartels sends for our use a letter received from W. J. Barrows, Acting Third Assistant Postmaster General, dealing with the 3c envelope black on amber. We quote the letter as received:—

"Referring to your letter of May 19th, submitting a return-card stamped envelope with the 3c stamp embossed in black ink, you are advised that an investigation was made to establish, if possible, the cause of this error.

It has been found impossible to prove definitely how only part of the order could have been printed with stamps in black ink without being detected, but it seems probable that this order was printed at night and some black ink was inadvertently put in a purple fountain, or that a palette-knife carrying black ink was used in a purple fountain, and the difference in color escaped notice in the artificial light.

The black ink for the printed return-card and the stamp ink are close together in the press machine, and it has been suggested that a piece of paper may have lodged in the receptacle containing black ink in such a manner as to syphon a sufficient quantity into the stamp ink as to produce the black ink impressions.

No more definite explanation of the error can at present be given."

A STUDY IN VALUES.

(We are not at liberty to give the name of our Washington, D. C., correspondent, but we are mightily interested in his deductions. We have only to add that 52,000 seems too large a number of stamp collecting subscribers for the "American Boy" to claim. We advertised in this magazine for ten years and believe that 5,200 would be a more correct estimate.—W. O. W.)

I believe that your advertising rates can be increased, say by 33%, and still give big value to advertisers. I feel that I can say this freely because I hope to be an advertiser in MEKEEL'S myself when I am again permitted to return to the retired list of the Navy.

I choose to be more or less analytical about this. As the best medium for advertising stamps for sale outside of actual philatelic publications, we have the American Boy. This has, we will say, a subscription list of 260,000. Now while practically all boys are more or less interested in stamp collecting, it is not probable that more than ten percent are actual buyers. To avoid any question, I will assume that twenty percent of the subscribers to the American Boy are potential buyers. The rate is $1.50 per line. This gives a rate of $1.50 per line to reach 52,000 possible buyers. This is practically 3c per line per thousand buyers. Your contract rates of $1.80 per inch, (15c per line) figuring your subscription list at 8,000, offers space at the rate of 1¾c per line per thousand subscribers—less than two-thirds the rate of the American Boy. It must also be remembered that sales made through the medium of the American Boy must be figured on the basis of "cents" while most of the sales made through MEKEEL'S can be figured in "dollars" and hundreds of dollars.

IS IT THE GODDESS ISIS?

We recently received a letter from Wm. E. Davie of Sioux Falls, S. D., from which we quote the following paragraph:—

I have noticed in your handbook on "Egypt", that the design of the current 2m stamp is said to represent the goddess "Isis." In "A Thousand Miles Up the Nile." by Amelia B. Edwards, there is a picture like the one on the stamp. and is described as a bas-relief of Cleopatra from the Temple of Hathor at Denderah. The description also says that she wears on her headdress the vulture head of Maut, the horned disk of Hathor, and the throne of Isis. Could this picture be what the stamps is meant to show?

Submitting the query to C. A. Howes, we received the following reply, and thank him for his assistance:—

"I have chased up the Davis inquiry you sent me, as I thought myself the picture represented Isis. The result is that everybody appears to be right anyway. The statement by Miss Edwards is very definite, (she gives the photographer's name even) and the location of the bas-relief on the back of the Temple, where it is covered with debris for its protection. The cartouche at the left undoubtedly identifies it, although I haven't so far been able to find a representation of Cleopatra's cartouche to identify. However, the rulers of Egypt were usually represented with headdresses of the various deities and this picture of Cleopatra is with the headdress often used with representations of the goddess Isis. So there you are! The gods and goddesses often had headdresses representing several deities and this one of Isis represents the trinity of Isis, Hathor and Maut as Miss Edwards says.

For accuracy, then, it seems we ought to take the detailed statement of Miss Edwards rather than saying the picture is the 'goddess Isis.'"

A SLIGHT INCREASE IN AD RATES.

After much consideration and correspondence, we have decided upon a slight increase in our rates for displayed advertising. At the same time we desire to inform our patrons that the new rates may require a further revision a little later on, but we are averse to going the limit until we are compelled to do so. Labor conditions are much disturbed, readjustments are constantly needed and we are forced to face these problems as we find them. Here are the new

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Fair—The recent statement of our intention to raise our advertising or our subscription rates interested a good number of our readers sufficiently to impel them to write to us, in order to give their opinion of the impending change. First of all, we are pleased that we could command the attention of so many readers who would take the trouble to write us during these summer days; and secondly, it is gratifying to be able to say that out of the considerable number of letters that came from subscribers, not a single complaint reached the editor that an advance in one way was not justified. While the communications from advertisers did not come to us, we are able to say that readers favor the step that is to be taken. While a majority of readers prefer that the subscription rate be left as it is, there are some who think that it should be raised; and we are somewhat surprised that not a few of our advisers say that both advertising and subscription rates should be boosted. The hand-writing on the wall points to a reasonable increase in our advertising rates in order to fortify us against the added expense of production. We are pleased that we have taken counsel with readers and advertisers and they should know that the interest taken in our publication is heartening to us in our endeavor to give even a more satisfactory return for the money paid to us.

First—Our attention has been called to a notice in the San Diego, Cal., Union, dated March 4, 1918, in which it is shown by documentary evidence that the beloved Pony Express was antedated nearly ten years by hardy pioneers who undertook the operation of an express in the far West. If there had been any postal marking to signalize the mail that was carried, the announcement would be of singular interest, but as it is, the account of this early enterprise is so graphically presented by the newspaper that we plan to reproduce it in another column.

Frivolous—Says a correspondent: "It gives me grave concern to notice how our pursuit has become so sobering on its followers. I refer to the claim recently made by writer that the number of 'serious collectors' has greatly increased. I have spent a good many dollars on stamps in the past thirty-five years but barring the occasions when I found a thin spot under the hinge or something such as that I have not been a serious collector."

Feasible—We have to thank Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz, Madison, Wisconsin, for another of his valuable contributions: "In 'The Boy and His Gang,' (Houghton Mifflin Company, 1912), the author, J. Adams Puffer, Director of the Beacon Vocation Bureau of Boston, urges teachers to appeal at every turn to the natural activities of boys, organizing these activities on the basis of the boy's own spontaneous groups. He says (page 184), 'Let a teacher go in especially for nature study and have her pupils make collections for the school, butterflies, beetles, minerals, it does not make much difference what,—stamps if nothing else offers. By this means she appeals strongly to the acquisitive instinct, which is especially strong among boys, and often the sole reason for their thievery. By this means, also, since the collection is for the school, she appeals to the instinct of loyalty, and turns this powerful impulse of boyhood in the direction of the institution and herself as a part of it.' So we have stamp collecting presented as one of the means to settle the eternal boy problem. Even though it is relegated to last place in the category of preventives against mischief-making, it is refreshing to see our hobby accorded this recognition by an authority on boys, such as Mr. Puffer. Incidentally, I know of one school in which the plan of forming a school collection of stamps was tried with excellent results." We know of the work in this line that several of the Chicago school-teachers are accomplishing and while we do not anticipate any unanimous adoption of the stamp plan suggested, yet it is certain to gain adherents who will put it to practical use.

Furnished—From Sr. Erich Parke, San Pedro Sula, Honduras, we have received some details of interest: "When ordering stamps from Libia, one may encounter disappointment. Recently, I had a consignment with most of the stamps showing two holes caused by wire clamps put through the envelope after it had been closed. The clamps were not visible as they were covered with sealing wax. Some postmasters have many philatelic sins to answer for. Among my Honduras, I have just found a strip of two of Honduras, No. 160, 1913-15, with the distance between the '5' and 'cents' five millimeters on one stamp instead of 2 mms., as on the other. The 5 mms. difference is the variety." Another correspondent says that the post office at Adelaide, South Australia, uses the cancellation mark: "Buy War Savings Certificates. Help Repatriation." How many of our average citizens could define "repatriation" in a flash?

Further—The following interesting letter has come from Mr. W. J. Stanton, Coronado, California: "I was very much interested in the mention made by Mr. Ragatz in a recent number of the case of The Bermuda, reported in 3 Wallace, U. S. Supreme Court reports. This vessel was seized and with its cargo was sold as a blockade runner. The Supreme Court, in a lengthy decision reviews at length the evidence, and portions are interesting philatelically. It appears that the boat carried as passengers, engravers and printers from Scotland. To quote from the decision: 'There were at least 26 boxes marked P. O. D. (post office department?) with immense numbers of Confederate States' postage stamps; printing ink for postage stamps; copper plates with 400 dies, for printing at each impression 400 rebel postage stamps; also, 200,000 letter envelopes'; also, 'Many reams of fine white bank-note paper, watermarked C. S. A.' Continuing, the decision states: 'At the time of capture, two small boxes and a package, supposed to contain postage stamps, were thrown overboard.' Another portion 'Consisted of printing presses and materials, paper, and Confederate States' postage stamps and is described in a letter found on board, as presses and paraphernalia complete obtained from Scotland by a commission of the Confederate government and sent with a lot of printers and engravers.' The vessel sailed from England in February, 1862, and was captured April 27, 1862. The case was appealed from the District Court for the eastern District of Pennsylvania to the Supreme Court and was decided in 1865. A copy of the decree for the sale of the vessel and cargo may be found in volume 23 of the Legal Intelligencer, page 116. The return of the sale, made to the District Court at Philadelphia would show who purchased the cargo. Cannot some of your Philadelphia subscribers complete the history of this lot of stamps and dies?" Most important possibilities are indicated by Mr. Stanton's report and we trust that some one who is in a position to press an inquiry will develop the case. Enough evidence has been shown to make it obligatory that future historians of the Confederate stamps give heed to this historical phase of the stamps. We are acquainted with the watermarked paper referred to in the decision having had sheets of it at different times and it fits in with the description. We have no clue as to the "letter envelopes" mentioned.

THE NEW GERMAN STAMPS.

We noted last week the appearance of some proposed designs for a new set of stamps for Germany and commented upon the apparent crudeness of the workmanship. Through the kindness of Robert Loebl, Roanoke, Va., we reproduce the illustrations, though the result is far from satisfactory. Mr. Loebl says that these stamps were probably authorized by the German Assembly which convened at Weimar, and will replace the familiar militaristic set. The inscription on the stamps reads:—"German National Assembly 1919". Nos. 1, 3 and 4 in the order reproduced have already been selected for certain values of the new set.

PANAMA INFORMATION WANTED.

By FREDERICK E. HEYDON.

In Chapter X of my serial on "Panama and Its Postage Stamps", I omitted any reference to the 20c and 50c of the Fourth Panama Issue with wide bar which the Standard Catalogue refers to as "not known to have been issued. Some copies have been cancelled to oblige—" Before final publication of this Panama booklet I should like to obtain full information as to these settings, and would be greatly obliged to any of your readers who can supply data. There are also varieties of the 10c and 20c which cannot be placed in any known issue. All of those in my own collection have two characteristics in common, the first is a bar 3 mm. above PANAMA, and the second is that the surcharge reads in the same direction on both sides. I give below full description of these stamps so that any other varieties from the same settings can be identified:—

a. 10c yellow, vermilion surcharge, bar 2½ mm. wide, PANAMA reads downward on both sides.
b. 20c violet, dark glossy carmine-red surcharge, bar 2 mm. wide, PANAMA reads upward on both sides. My copy has been used postally and is from the upper row of sheet.
c. 20c violet, light dull carmine surcharge, bars 2½ mm. wide, PANAMA reads downward on both sides.
d. 50c bistre-brown, light dull carmine surcharge, bar 2½ mm. wide, PANAMA reads upward on both sides.
e. 50c bistre-brown, same as d but PANAMA reads downward on both sides.

Now all of these stamps were sold to and bought by me as being the well known varieties of the original printing, and the differences noted afterwards. The 20c I took as an interesting variety due probably to heavy inking. The questions I would ask in regard to these stamps are, have we to do with varieties of known printings that have been overlooked, or do they represent unknown printings?

I cannot agree with the publishers of the Standard Catalogue in rejecting these varieties as speculative as there have not been enough of them sold to collectors to pay for the trouble of arranging new settings and they may have been required on account of shortages of these values. They are not so readily recognized as the PA WANA, PANANA and some others, and have never been exploited so far as I know by speculators.

In this connection I will mention a hitherto unlisted variety of the 4th Panama Issue, 1st printing. It is the 5c blue, surcharged carmine with a period 1½ mm. below the stem of the P of PANAMA at the left. I suspect that this exists on all sheets of all values of the original printing, as except where the surcharge is considerably shifted to the left, the period falls on a solid ground where it would be readily overlooked. In my copy, the shifted surcharge brings it exactly on a white line where it is easily recognizable. I have looked over a large number of stamps of this printing in the hope of locating the error in a block where its position in the sheet could be determined, but have met with no other copies. Here is a chance for research on the part of anyone having complete sheets or large blocks with shifted surcharge.

Any information in regard to these doubtful points will be much appreciated and due credit given to those whose researches enable me to add to the completeness of the list. It is hardly probable that the work will be again attempted for a good many years, by which time all of the existing complete sheets or panes will have been broken up. Address me 5418 9 St. N. W., Washington, D. C.

SPEAKING FROM EXPERIENCE.

By R. C. HOOGHKIRK.

(Mr. Hooghkirk, seceretary of the Edgewood Stamp Co., speaks from an experience in connection with newspaper publishing that compels attention. His statement that the Edgewood Co. will use "just as much space and perhaps more" even though we increase our advertising rates is very gratifying in view of the fact that the firm has sent in no fewer than 300 six months' subscriptions in eight months.—W. O. W.)

You certainly are having quite a little difficulty about your increase in publication costs. We went through the same thing when we took Collectors Journal over from Guest and we were obliged to jump his advertising rates just about 100%. The natural thing to do would of course be to increase the advertising rates but the increase in subscription rates would both lower the efficiency of the paper in its good to the hobby in general and to its advertisers in particular. Then again the revenue derived from even a 100% jump in the subscription price would not be sufficient to even partially recompense you for the increased cost of publication. Even though your rates increase, you may count on us for just as much volume of space if not perhaps more as you will note it has been our policy to increase our advertising in the summer.

NO!

I do not issue any priced lists. Prices on the same stamp vary greatly according to condition, cancellation, shade, etc., and often too few copies of any one stamp are in stock to quote. Before a list could reach you the stamps might all be sold. What's the use?

YES!

Selections of the stamps you are interested in will be submitted on approval at reasonable net prices if you will send satisfactory references. U. CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. Arthur E. Owen has just informed us that the New York post office has received from the Bureau a number of the current 1c, 2c and 3c stamps in sheets of 170 subjects. These were printed upon the rotary press, from plates designed for the sidewise coils. We have not learned as to the gauge of the perforation and cannot say if it is the standard 11 of the flat plates or the perf. 10 of the coils. The paper, however, is unwatermarked and the sheets have margins at the top and bottom with guide line straight edges at each side. The subjects are arranged 17x10, that is seventeen stamps horizontal by ten vertical.

From a reliable Washington source we have also learned that plates of four hundred subjects have been made for the rotary press, so that it will be but a short time before most of our stamps in sheet form are the products of this press. We understand that these rolls will be perforated by a special machine and it is probably this perforator that we have heard so much about here of late. As the paper used for the dry method is so much heavier and tougher, perhaps we will leave the perf. 11 and go back to 12 or 12½.

When the rotary press was first designed and installed, it was the intention of Director Ralph of having all postage stamps printed in this manner at a considerable saving to the government. Influence, however, over which he had no control, prevented it.

Mr. W. A. Sisson has sent for our inspection a cover bearing a copy of the 1c blue, 1857 type II. Off hand it looks to be imperforated vertically with very satisfactory margins. A close inspection, however, shows that a number of the perforations on the left have been cut through but not sufficiently deep to cause the little bits of paper to fall out. The stamp, which is cancelled "Boston, Mar 25" (1858), is a most unusual variety, and while it is not worthy of catalogue rank is of interest to the specialist.

We have received from one of our oldest collectors, Mr. Wm. H. Faber, a copy of the 3c surface print, type IV, perf. 11, with a very distinct offset on the back. Copies showing a slight impression on the back are quite common, but this stamp, which, by the way, was found in the Charleston, S. C., post office, has an offset on the back in just as deep a color as the direct impression on the face. While from an artistic and philatelic point of view we are glad to see the offset stamps go, we must say that we will greatly miss them as editor of the new issue column. Something new in the way of unusual varieties, turned up constantly.

Mr. Percy M. Mann tells us that he has located several varieties of the provisional Philadelphia "Narcotic" surcharges which have not been listed before:—

First Issue, Black Surcharge.
1c double surcharge, one vertical, one horiz.
8c double surcharge, both horizontal.
Second Issue, Violet Surcharge.
5c double surcharge, both horizontal.

Mr. Edw. W. Fuss located at St. Mihiel with the A. E. F., informs us that he has received two very interesting covers from Berlin with the 3c Victory stamp upon each. The covers are postmarked in violet within two concentric circles "Military Mission—United States of America—Berlin". One of the covers has an additional postmark in black "Postal Express Service—No. 946—16 May 1919" while the second postmark on the other cover reads "Third Army—APO 734 May 16, '19". Victory stamps of the United States used to prepay letters from the capital of an enemy country are most unusual and are worthy of a place of honor in any war cover collection. We only regret that the post office did not send us a few of our stamps surcharged BERLIN.

We wish to thank Mr. Wyndham Haywood for sending us a copy of the Postal Bulletin giving details regarding the Shanghai surcharges and the Walters Stamp Co. for "Narcotic" information.

BRAZIL.—Mr. E. W. Spafford has shown us a further value in the new set of stamps in use in this country. This time it is the 25 reis and the color is a very pale olive.

CEYLON.—Mr. A. F. Koch has kindly sent us a number of blocks of the War stamps bearing different controls from those found on the earlier printings. Further, the one cent on 5c War stamp has appeared in a much brighter and redder shade of purple.

Overprinted War—Stamp in two lines.

The following is a list of the controls which we have not previously noted:—

The same correspondent also sends us several varieties of overprint, such as letters joined, but does not say whether they are constant or merely accidents due to bad printing. There is one variety, however, which is evidently constant as Mr. Koch tells us that it is now being removed from every sheet at the Government Treasury before being issued to the Post Office. This occurs on the 1 cent on 5 cent War Stamp, and shows the "R" of War with the tail of the "R" broken off and leaving a dot at the bottom. This makes the word read a "WAP."—Phil. Journal of Gr. Brit.

EPIRUS.—Mr. W. S. Ledbetter has shown us a copy of Moscopolis issue Scott's type A10 of 25l value. The color is ultramarine.

MALTA.—Two new issues arrive from our worthy correspondent at Valletta one being the ½d WAR TAX stamp in a paler shade of green than formerly, and on chalk-surface paper the overprint remaining unaltered.

The other specimen is the 10s value with the same representation of the shipwreck of St. Paul as before, but in a modified frame and in black on white Mult. Crown CA paper, perf. 14. In the two upper corners are Maltese Crosses, the name of the island being displayed in a curved band between them, while at left and right respectively of the central design are the words POSTAGE and REVENUE in uncoloured capitals. The base of the design, including the inscription of value, is practically the same as before.

The example of the new 10s stamp before us is almost totally devoid of gum, the paper being very thick.—Stamp Collecting.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—Are there any counterfeit Caribous on the market? I hear that huge quantities of the 4c, especially, are being offered in N. Y. What can the differing features of the counterfeits be? The originals are bad enough—then how much worse (or better?) the counterfeits. The stamps have all earmarks of being lithographs, and poor ones at that—for we have had some very good appearing stamps produced by lithography—witness certain issues of Guatemala, which are not easy to distinguish from engraved. However, in the case of the Caribous, I am informed, and officially at that, that the stamps are printed from engraved plates. Then, what is the cause of the blurring—those values in the lighter shades, more especially.

So soon as it was learned that Hawker and Grieve had been rescued, the Postmaster General acted in the matter of the balance of 3c Caribou, overprinted "First—Trans—Atlantic—Air Post — April, 1919." As Secretary of the Permanent Marine Disasters Fund, he bought these stamps in at face value, and then offered them to the public at $25.00 per stamp. Full details of the transaction were contained in a letter which he addressed to the editors of the local newspapers, dated May 29, 1919. The overprinted stamps were authenticated, by initialing on the gummed side, "JAR", and by noon of Monday, June 2nd, the small lot was exhausted.—HARRY E. HUBER.

Mr. Lewis W. Bealer has shown us a copy of Scott's No. 75 which is of a very much brighter shade of lilac than we have ever before seen.

POLAND.—Mr. C. G. Dietrich has shown us the set of rare Luboml issue and the following information regarding them is taken from the issue of May 10th of Stamp Collecting:—

Another new name for the stamp album! The township of Luboml, or Ljuboml, which is in Volhynia, on the railway between Lublin and Kowel, has just issued a set of five postage stamps, comprising the values 5, 10, 20, 25, and 50 heller. Each denomination has a different view of the town, and each has the quatri-lingual inscription, in Hebrew, Polish, Russian, and German (!): LUBOML STATE POST. The stamps are lithographed on white paper, perf. 11½, the 5 heller being in green, the 10h in red, the 20h in blue-green, the 25h in blue, and the 50h in slate blue; the first three are transverse oblong in format, and all have obviously been modelled on the lines of the Bosnian series.

The colours enumerated correspond to those of the Postal Union scheme, but we are inclined to regard the stamps as strictly locals.

RIO DE ORO.—We have received from this Spanish territory a brand-new series of postal adhesives, bearing an up-to-date portrait of King Alfonso, looking to right, in a double-lined circular frame, with inscription at foot, COLONIA DE RIO DE ORO, and numeral of value and Co. ("Centavo") in a square tablet on either side of the base of the portrait. The stamps are perf. 12½. The denominations and colours are:—

1c slate.	25c blue.
2c deep red.	30c green.
8c green.	40c rose.
10c carmine.	50c grey.
15c orange.	1 peseta lilac.
20c orange.	4p red.
10p violet.

—Stamp Collecting.

SPANISH GUINEA.—We have received a new series from this Colony, similar in design to that just issued for Rio de Oro, chronicled above, except that the inscription at foot reads TERRITORIOS ESPANOLES DEL GOLFO DE GUINEA. The values and colours are:—

1c lilac.	25c green.
2c rose.	30c orange.
5c rose.	40c orange.
10c violet.	50c red.
15c slate.	1 peseta green.
20c blue.	4p deep red.

—Stamp Collecting.

SWITZERLAND.—Schweizeriscshe Briefmarken Zeitung sends us the very latest Helvetian novelty—the first official Aerial Mail postage stamps for Switzerland. On the morning of April 28 an air post was inaugurated between Zurich and Lausanne, via Berne and Neuchatel, and the current 50c adhesive (seated Helvetian type) was issued, with an overprinted propeller and wings, signifying that it is so specially earmarked for the aerial mail service. The specimen kindly sent by Mr. Reinhard, which is postmarked "Berne 27th April," has the device in red.—Stamp Collecting.

Mr. Engene Tilleaux, Jr., calls our attention to a cancellation that has just been received from this country. It contains the words SPART FLEISCH ECONOMISEZ LA VIANDE. Both German and French inscriptions mean:—"Go easy on meat."

PREDECESSOR OF 'PONY EXPRESS.'

A long-delayed recognition at last has come to heroic pioneers who carried the mails to California for ten years before the famous "Pony Express" was established.

Everyone knows the romantic story of the "Pony Express," but by a curious irony of fate, the world had forgotten until now predecessors who for a decade faced every danger of nature, and of hostile Indians to carry the mails across the plains and mountains to California. This forgotten history has been received through documents sent to the California historical survey commission, at its headquarters at the University of California, by H. Chorpenning McGee of Berkeley.

Discovery has been made by Owen C. Coy, secretary of the commission, through examination of these documents, that as early as April 25, 1851, nearly ten years before the "Pony Express" was started, the United States contracted with George Chorpenning and Absalom Woodward to pay $14,000 a year to have the mail carried once each month between Salt Lake and Sacramento. The contractors agreed to make the 910-mile journey in not more than thirty days. The original route was along the regular emigrant road through Placerville, crossing the Sierras at Carson's Canon, then following along the Carson and Humboldt rivers and around the northern end of Great Salt Lake. In the first journey across the mountains, it took at times a whole day to make two miles through the snow. Before the end of the first year, Woodward was killed by Indians, near Great Salt Lake. Winter proved the northern route impracticable, so, after an unsatisfactory trial of the Feather river route, Chorpenning changed the winter route so that the mails went from Salt Lake to San Pedro and thence on a Panama mail steamer to San Francisco. By 1858 the quantity of mail to be carried increased so much—and also the government remuneration — that Chorpenning was able to run a stage line of four-horse coaches along the mail route. A new route was discovered, south of Great Salt Lake, which shortened the journey a hundred miles.

The very idea of the "Pony Express" was anticipated by Major Chorpenning, for in December, 1858, when the president's message was about to be issued, Chorpenning placed a fresh horse at each mail station from Salt Lake to California, and Sacramento read President Buchanan's second annual message only seventeen days after it had been delivered to Congress. This was two years before Russell and Company established the famous "Pony Express."

Californians who read a Chicago newspaper only three days old, or who look out over the desert from a dining car table, little realize the dangers and difficulties of these long-forgotten pioneer mail contractors. During the ten years Major Chorpenning was engaged in this service, says Mr. Coy, he lost at the hands of the Indians nearly three hundred head of horses and mules and many coaches, wagons and station buildings, and sixteen of his brave messengers were slain by the Indians.—San Diego, (Calif.) Union.

AN OLD STAMP ALBUM TURNS UP.

(Clipping From New York Paper.)

J. E. Handshaw, the John Street dealer, was standing behind his counter the other day, poring over a bunch of postage stamps when a stranger entered with a little album under his arm. He offered it for sale and Handshaw bought it.

"Guess what it turned out to be?" asked Handshaw of an old customer.

The customer couldn't guess.

"Well, I'll tell you. It was the original album which J. W. Scott, who died a short time ago at the age of seventy-three, started, back in 1868. Where it has been for half a century I do not know. Funny, how things turn up after so many years."

"Is it valuable?"

"Not worth mentioning. Scott wasn't much of a stamp collector fifty-odd years ago—in fact, he was just a beginner, but he was about the best of them when he died. Fifty years at it counts for something."

THE MILWAUKEE MATCH STAMPS.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Greenleaf & Co., 1c.

From the "History of Milwaukee" published by the Western Historical Co., (Chicago, 1881), is taken the following excerpt:—

"The first match factory in the West was established in Milwaukee in 1844 by Robert W. Pierce who came from Massachusetts, bringing the necessary materials with him for the purpose. The business was opened in the upper story of a dwelling house on the corner of 5th and Chestnut Sts. The first year only three hands were employed and $900 worth of matches were manufactured. During the first year the business was run at a loss of $300. The next year (1845), Mr. Pierce built a small factory 16x24 on Walnut St., between 6th and 7th Sts. Here the business was carried on till 1850, when he erected a brick structure directly opposite the old one and transferred his business to it.

The enterprise had gradually grown in importance till the factory produced $40,000 worth of matches annually. The matches were sold throughout the West and South, as far east as Cleveland and South to New Orleans. They were known as the 'Superior Percussion Matches'. In 1860 Mr. Pierce sold to Messrs. Ball, Hill & Greenleaf. After changing hands several times, the business was finally abandoned and the building converted into a starch factory."

R. W. Pierce is listed as a match manufacturer on Walnut St. in the Milwaukee directories for 1847-'49 and from 1854 to 1858 the firm appears as R. W. Pierce & Co., match factory, Walnut St. between 6th and 7th. In 1860 Pierce is listed as a lumber merchant. In 1862-'63 the match factory was operated by D. Daggett & Co., the members of the firm being Daniel Daggett, P. B. Hill and Frank H. Greenleaf. The directory for 1864 does not mention the business but from 1865 to 1867 it was run by Greenleaf & Co., at the Northeast corner of 7th and Walnut Sts. The partners were Frank H. Greenleaf, P. B. Hill and Samuell Ball.

Greenleaf was born in Charlemont, Mass., and came to Milwaukee in 1844, when he was 15 years old. Before and after his adventure in the match business he was a conductor on the LaCrosse & Milwaukee Railroad, the name of which was changed to Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul during the period of his service with it. He retired from the match business about 1867 and from 1868 until 1873 the factory was run by Barber & Co., the partners being Edward Barber, Priam B. Hill and Samuel Ball.

Barber was a native of England who came to Milwaukee in 1847. For a while he was connected with the Milwaukee & Mississippi Railroad and at one time was secretary of the Wisconsin Central. After leaving the match business he went into real estate. He is not known to have been any relation to the members of the Barber match concern of Ohio. The History of Milwaukee states, " * * * * he established a match factory in the city and was successfully engaged in manufacturing matches for eight years. During this time he paid taxes to the government of $1,000,000." Except that Mr. Barber did not establish the factory, did not run it for eight years and did not use a million dollars' worth of match stamps this statement is perfectly correct. The face value of all the stamps from the Greenleaf and altered dies was less than half a million dollars.

An interesting story about Mr. Barber has been told the present writer. It was customary for the Treasury Department to sell the match stamps on credit when a satisfactory bond was given to protect the government against possible loss, and when Mr. Barber made his first purchase of stamps, not having the ready funds he asked a prominent citizen of Milwaukee, whom we may call Mr. X, to go on his bond. Barber knew Mr. X only by reputation and was most agreeably surprised when Mr. X readily consented to his request although the amount was $5,000. Subsequently Barber inquired why Mr. X had been so willing to go on the bond of an almost total stranger for such a large amount, whereupon Mr. X replied that Mr. Barber wasn't exactly a stranger to him for he had been a director of the M & M Railroad when Barber was one of its ticket agents and he knew Barber was honest because Barber was the only ticket agent the road had who didn't steal from it!

Regarding the Greenleaf & Co. 1c stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Oct. 1, 1864.
First issued, Oct., 1864.
Last issued, May, 1873.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
12,068,849 issued on old paper.
5,449,019 issued on silk paper.

"This die was subject to many changes of ownership, though not all of them are indicated by any changes in the die itself. Commencing with the order of Jan. 26, 1867, the Greenleaf stamps were ordered by the First National Match Co. (Hunn & Co.) of Milwaukee. On Aug. 13, 1867, they were ordered by Barber & Co., also of Milwaukee, who continued to receive them up to Dec. 31st of that year. Commencing with May, 1868, they were received by Barber & Peckham, and after August of that year by Barber & Co. again until the latter were succeeded by Barber, Jones & Co. in December, 1872."

The Milwaukee directories contain no reference to the First National Match Co., to Hunn & Co., nor to Barber & Peckham. Probably these concerns were not in business long enough to become listed. Peckham is quite a common name in Milwaukee and it is not thought this Mr. Peckham was also the Peckham of Barber & Peckham of Middlebury, Ohio, although Barber & Peckham of Ohio went out of business in 1867 and Mr. Peckham may have gone to Milwaukee and engaged in business with Mr. Edward Barber for a short time in 1868.

The 1c Greenleaf die is one of the most beautiful engraved by Butler & Carpenter. The stamp was printed only in Philadelphia. It is an upright rectangle of the usual 1c size bearing a phoenix rising from the flames enclosed in a circular band which is inscribed MILWAUKEE, WIS. above and U. S. INTER. REV. below. A double curved label at the top reads GREENLEAF & CO. with MATCHES just below it and a small numeral "1" above either end. In the lower left corner "ONE" and in the lower right corner "CENT" appears. Floral ornamentation fills out the design.

Both the old paper and the silk paper occur in green and in yellowish green shades and all of them are scarce stamps, very few really fine specimens being known to exist and even ordinary copies are difficult to find. The centering is seldom any better than just fair. The writer has been able to trace only about thirty copies of each paper. If either variety was ever used in multiple, proof of the fact has not been noted. An uncancelled pair on silk paper is on record. The old paper is nearly as scarce as the silk.

Greenleaf & Co., 3c.

Of this denomination the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Oct. 1, 1864.
First issued, Nov., 1864.
Last issued, Dec., 1872.
170 stamps per sheet, (10x17).
4,319,904 issued on old paper.
1,107,202 issued on silk paper.

Also, "beginning with May, 1875, Kirby & Sons received stamps from * * * the Greenleaf & Co. three cent plate." The present writer cannot reconcile this statement with the other statement that the 3c Greenleaf stamp was last issued in Dec., 1872. A copy of the 3c stamp cancelled "Kirby & Sons" would prove the 3c value to have been issued after 1872.

The 3c denomination is a horizontal rectangle of the standard 3c size bearing a phoenix as on the 1c stamp. At either side is a numeral of value. A curved label across the top bears the firm name with MILWAUKEE, WIS. on a ribbon just below, and at the bottom is found MATCHES over U. S. INTER. REV. Straight marginal labels at the sides read THREE at the left and CENTS at the right. Floral ornamentation completes the design which, as a whole, is as handsome a production as any of the other match stamps engraved by Butler & Carpenter.

The color varies somewhat from a medium to a darker lake red that inclines to brownish. The writer has noted between thirty and forty copies on old paper and less than half so many on silk. Both varieties are very scarce in fine condition as most copies are either off center or damaged, or both.

Greenleaf & Co., 5c

Of this denomination the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Oct. 1, 1864.
First issued, Nov., 1864.
Last issued, Aug., 1872.
170 stamps per sheet, (10x17).
1,096,032 issued on old paper.
68,000 issued on silk paper.

This exceedingly beautiful stamp is exactly like the 3c, only the value being altered. It was used on a package of 500 matches and with one exception—the New York Match Co. 5c—is the only five cent match stamp. Few specimens are in better than fair condition and fine copies are indeed rare. Most of the copies that are not damaged in some way are off center and it seems doubtful if there are half a dozen really perfect specimens in existence. Altogether the writer has been able to trace only about thirty copies.

The 5c on silk paper is one of the rarest of the match stamps and one of the rarest stamps in the world. The shade is redder than the orange of the old paper. Of the few copies known to exist, perhaps seven or eight all told, nearly all are defective if not off center. The fortunate owner of one of these 5c on silk paper has a rarity compared to which Brattleboros and St. Louis postmasters' are almost common!

Of the 1c Greenleaf stamp the Boston Book remarks:— * * * "The stamp bears the various cancellations or surcharges of these firms (Greenleaf & Co., Barber & Co., etc.), but they are mostly very indistinct." The present writer has noted very few of the 1c Greenleaf stamps cancelled but the majority of the 3c and 5c stamps on old paper are cancelled or surcharged. The overprint is often a double circle about 20 mm. in diameter with the date in the center and the firm name between the two circles. It is seldom more than partially legible and was probably handstamped as the worst printer in the world could hardly have done such a poor job.

Greenleaf & Co. probably used less than half of the 1c, 3c and 5c on old paper and none of those on silk paper. The remainder of the old papers and nearly all of the silk paper stamps were used by Barber & Co. No pairs of the 3c and 5c stamps have been noted and neither of these denominations is likely to have been used in multiple.

MR. HAWKER AS AIR POSTMAN.

The envelope of the historic letter to the Daily Mail carried by Mr. Hawker on the first Trans-Atlantic Air Mail, is now on view at Mr. Fred J. Melville's War Stamp Exhibition at 110 Strand, W. C. 2. It bears signs of its long immersion in sea water, and on the reverse side is the familiar post office seal "Found open and officially secured". It is franked with a 3 cents Newfoundland stamp of the "Caribou" issue, overprinted "First Trans-Atlantic Air Post, April 1919", and is postmarked St. John's, Nfld, April 12, 2 p. m. 1919.

IN MEMORIAM—JOHN F. MAYER.

It is with great regret that I am compelled to record the death of John F. Mayer which occurred at his home in Richmond, Virginia, on May 29, 1919, in his 79th year.

A Virginian by birth, he served throughout the Civil War in both the Confederate army and Government Departments in various capacities. He was a 33° Mason.

He was a "stamp-collector" of the old school—genial, kind, and generous—a typical old Virginia gentleman in the full sense of that term. For years he had been a subscriber to the WEEKLY and a member of various philatelic associations. His A. P. S. number was 4363.

"Captain Johnny Mayer", as he was affectionately called by every Richmonder, began collecting at the close of the Civil War, and accumulated a vast quantity of stamps. With a natural preference for United States and Confederates, he had no "specialties"—stamps were stamps to him, and he loved them all. Values meant nothing to him—he never cared to sell—"swapping" and giving afforded him the greatest pleasure.

Aside from his stamp collection, which will probably be offered at auction in the near future, he possessed a remarkable "Confederate Scrap-Book", a huge handsomely bound volume into which he had gathered—during and after the war—photographs and autographs, and letters, of every Confederate celebrity, official papers and proclamations, historical newspaper and magazine clippings, rare engravings of that stirring period, and many other relics of great interest. He possessed one of the finest collections of Masonic Books ad Virginia in the south.

He was the Nestor of philately in Virginia—loyal to her to the end—and now there is a void—somewhere in this universe.—AUGUST DIETZ.

Another—Aerial postal communication has been established between St. Louis and Chicago, the first trip letters having been stamped, "Air Mail Service, Jun. 17, 9 A. M., 1919, Chicago." We are obliged to Mr. Justin H. Forrest, city editor of the Chicago American for several of the first trip envelopes and we reproduce the enclosure of one of the envelopes : "U. S. Navy, Anti-Submarine Flotilla for the Mississippi River. Saint Louis, Missouri, 16 June 1919. Dear Sir:—This letter is being carried from Saint Louis to Chicago on a United States Flyingboat, the first air mail ever transported between these two cities. These planes, piloted by Lieutenant (j. g.) Henry T. Stanley, Ensign R. W. Arthur and Ensign William S. Grooch, are making the flight from the flotilla now at Saint Louis, following the Illinois river via Peoria. The planes have accompanied the flotilla from Key West, Fla., to New Orleans and up the river and are to return. Wells Hawks, Lieutenant Commander USNRF., Accompanying Lieutenant (j. g.) Henry T. Stanley, USN."

Agitation—In our issue of May 24th, we printed a suggestion that a society of "shut ins" be formed and our contributor worked out a scheme for organization. In several respects this society would be useful, as first of all, it would bring in closer communion those philatelists whose physical limitations make them eligible for membership; and secondly, it establishes a head-quarters where interested and sympathetic collectors may send donations of odd lots with the knowledge that their benefactions will be properly distributed. A number of letters in commendation of the plan have been received both from shut-ins and from those who look with favor upon any plan to cheer the afflicted collector. As it is, every now and then we receive lots of stamps with the request that they be bestowed upon worthy shut-ins; and some time ago, we instituted a campaign for gifts for them that required much extra work for distribution at a busy time of year. Knowing the latent possibilities of a labor of love of this kind, we must decline to take a managerial position in the prosecution of the work, which, of course, has our hearty endorsement. We shall try to interest some responsive philatelist as patron of the society; and in the meantime, we shall extend every encouragement to the formation of the body. A correspondent who says that he "has organized societies from stamp clubs to labor unions" says that the shut-in society will need most careful preparatory work; and he makes the point that the plan should be referred to both the conventions of the American Philatelic Society and the Society of Philatelic Americans for approval and co-operation. No one will say that such a society is unnecessary.

Assisted—We had some thought of working up a paragraph on the effect of prohibition on philately and had got as far as saying: "Indubitably, the elimination of the intoxicant equation will be as unction to the soul of philately," but this introductory did not sound just right; and then we tried, "ashes," instead of unction," and still we feared that our preamble might be open to misconstruction. However, a clever correspondent saves the day; and by-the-way, he is a writer for whose work publishers pay a big price and he gets nary a cent from us: "Harking back to the golden days of the inimitable Count Lapp de Booz, that sublimated philatelist who had an armor that the flings and arrows of ill-fortune could not dent, I ask if you have had word from him lately; if you have, how does he regard the coming drought?" We have tried to avoid reference to that luminary, Count Lapp de Booz, whose adventures at one time were duly chronicled in our sheet, as truth to tell, the Count has been forced by his friends to live the life of a recluse for some years past at a rest cure. We are pained to learn that he has been amassing secretly quantities of cheap unused stamps, the larger in size the better. The Count says that in the gum of some of the stamps, the alcoholic content is several per centum; and so, the inference is that he will not be disturbed by the impending dryness, so long as philately endures.

Awaiting—What of the literature lovers' society that we have been speaking of for a good many months? We have opinions from a dozen representative men that an organization of the kind should be launched. This is all right as a sort of negative encouragement but what is wanted is constructive enthusiasm. While the society would be acceptable at present and receive perfunctory support, yet there is a force lacking that should vitalize the work. One astute adviser says that we should "hold off a while, until we get our breath after the excitement that we have gone through and the mind naturally reverts to the innocent pleasures of literature." We decline to take a chance that the fragile flower of our society may be trampled under foot by the unthinking host. So, the society will remain on dit for some time longer.

Announced—We have just had word through the Chinese post office at Peking that the new 1½ cent and 13 cent Chinese stamps, the subject of an official notification some time ago, will not be issued until the autumn. We hear that at Shanghai a good bit of interest is shown in the surcharges of the U. S. set which are to be issued July 1st.

Asked—A correspondent asks "Can you tell me the reason for a cancellation in purple, 'Passed by Censor—July,' initials in ink, enclosed in a rectangular frame, on two one cent stamps of the current type, on a letter addressed to Lincoln, Illinois." We do not remember ever having seen an impression of this kind on a letter that originated in this country and with an address in the United States, but there may be some simple explanation to account for it.

Across—This inquiry comes from a philatelic student: "When mail at the time of the gold excitement in California was sent there from the east and vice versa over the Isthmus of Panama route, what postal regulations had this country with the Colombian Republic? I refer to general mail and not that carried by private enterprise." The only pertinent information that we have is found in the postmaster-general's report for 1849: "The transportation of the mail across the Isthmus, being in a foreign country, is the proper subject-matter of a treaty, and is not within the power of this department. It is, however, respectfully suggested that this service, now done by the government of New Granada, is very tardily and carelessly performed, and the compensation under the treaty probably inadequate. A new arrangement should immediately be made by treaty as reliable information has been received that they would willingly yield up this service." No doubt, a search through the different post office reports of the period covered by the question of our reader would be attended with helpful results. Should he find anything of philatelic interest in his investigations we should be pleased to hear from him, as a fascination clings to mail matter that was carried over the Isthmus route.

ST. LOUIS STAMP AUCTION.

Attention is called to the Henry A. Diamant quarter page advertisement to be found in this issue. It will be a feature of the convention week of the American Philatelic Society which meets in St. Louis the latter part of August. Note that good stamps are solicited and there will be no charge for selling. Here is a good opportunity for members of the Association and others to not only dispose of stamps not wanted but also to make successful this feature of the convention.

An Announcement.
he American Philatelic Society Presidency

I did not know of my nomination for President of the A. P. S. until too late o prevent my name appearing on the official ballot of the Society. While I keenly appreciate the honor, I have felt obliged to decline this nomination, and beg all A. P. S. members to vote for Mr. H. H. Wilson, who will make a most capable President. My action in this matter is due to the fact that I consider Mr. Wilson the man, and further to my nability to spare the requisite time during this coming year.

BLACK BEAUTY

IT'S AN ATTRACTIVE AND SATISFACTORY LOW PRICED

LOOSE LEAF ALBUM

Precancel Nuts and Stamp Collectors

both will find this an excellent book. It is especially recommended for those with a side line. You always have something that you don't want to place in the high priced albums. This book solves the problem and even for the man who wants a loose leaf book and can't afford the Millionaire kind, this book will give the greatest satisfaction. We recommend the 50 page book with the linen washers around the binder holes. The book will hold more than 50 pages if you wish. Read the description below, order a copy and if you AIN'T pleased with it we will refund your money on return of the book in good condition.

THE BLACK BEAUTY LOOSE LEAF STAMP ALBUM is all that its name implies for it truly is a Beauty. The album was designed with the idea and intention to produce an ATTRACTIVE AND SATISFACTORY loose leaf album at a price so low every collector could afford to buy it.

To produce a loose leaf album at a low price a ring binder must be used. We use a two ring binder, with one inch rings. The binder opens with a pull and closes with a push, allowing changing of pages in a moment.

The binder is covered with black cloth in imitation of leather. The front and back show an embossed border, adding much in appearance. On the front cover, the name plate, in black and orange on a tinted buff paper, is mounted in a sunken panel, and the appearance as a whole, is one of beauty. The inside of the cover is lined with fancy paper. To protect the pages both front and back we have placed a title page of a tough fancy paper reinforced around the ring holes with cloth washers, making it so substantial that it will wear indefinitely.

The pages are 8x10½ inches, of a good grade of 20 pound white bond paper. Each page is printed with quadrille background surrounded with a panel border, with large name plate panel at top. The mounting space is practically as large on these pages as is allowed on the high priced albums retailing at several dollars each.

WE OFFER THE ALBUM IN TWO STYLES.

Style 1. Album with 100 pages.

Style 2. Album with 50 pages with which we supply 100 cloth washers which are gummed on one side and need be but slightly moistened and attached around the ring holes in the pages. Pages so reinforced will wear as long as any linen hinged page and this feature makes a ring album absolutely substantial and allows of the making of a LOW PRICED and SATISFACTORY loose leaf album.

PRICES AND TERMS.

Order either Style 1 or Style 2 as desired. Either Style at $1.25. Carriage charges extra. Shipping weight 2 pounds. Ask your postmaster and he will advise you of the postage necessary.

Extra Pages 50c per hundred postpaid.

Extra Cloth Page washers 18c per 100 postpaid.

DEALERS—ASK FOR WHOLESALE PRICES IN QUANTITIES. You miss a quick seller and a fair profit if you don't stock this book. Sample of each style book for $2.00 postpaid to dealers writing on their stationery.

"NARCOTIC" INVERTS.

By PERCY MCG. MANN.

The Documentary Revenue stamps which were overprinted for the purpose of making the provisional "Narcotic" revenue stamps for the Philadelphia district, are, as most collectors know, printed in sheets of 1600 subjects. These large sheets are then cut into 400 subject sheets before perforating. Each 400 subject sheet is divided into panes of 100 subjects each (10x10) by a guide line running through the center in vertical and horizontal positions. To the left and to the right of each vertical guide line, at top, and also at bottom, I believe, over the very center of each top pane of 100 stamps, and under the very center of each bottom pane of 100 stamps there is an imprint, for instance, "4 CENT DOCUMENTARY. PLATE 1953". This would occur, as one would see, over the fifth and sixth stamps in the top row of each pane of 100. In a reference block which I have, the imprint extends over the fifth, sixth and seventh stamps.

The Philadelphia "Narcotic" overprint was applied by a handstamp containing five horizontal duplicates of the word "Narcotic". Five stamps were overprinted at one impression of the handstamp. The procedure was to imprint the first five stamps in a horizontal row and then the next five, or go down vertically imprinting the first five stamps in each row and then down the second column of rows of five. Thus, under the plate imprint on the top margin the end of the handstamp would show on the fifth stamp and the beginning of it would show on the sixth stamp, on account of uneven alignment. As far as I know, very few inverted overprints have been found. Double imprints have been caused by hasty application of the handstamp, the same row having been struck twice, undoubtedly and purely through accident. Other doubles have been caused by too little ink at the end of handstamp, making a faint imprint on the last stamp in a row of five. In this case, the operator would, if he thought the imprint too light, in the case of the fifth vertical row of the sheet, turn the handstamp sideways and imprint vertically down this fifth row of stamps, and in the case of the tenth vertical row, he would give the light one a second dab with the front end of the handstamp and the second word would appear in the margin. Under these circumstances, I have seen the 1c, with black surcharge, with double horizontal overprint; double, one horizontal and one diagonal and double, one horizontal and one vertical. I have also seen the 8c double horizontal and the $1 double, one horizontal and one vertical, all black surcharge. I have also seen the 5c red surcharge double horizontal. I have not, however, seen the 50c inverted surcharge, Scott's No. 4311a, altho' I believe this is absolutely authentic and accidental.

There has been offered to me, in Philadelphia, a set of blocks of twenty-five (5x5), with plate imprint at top, of all or most all the low values up to 50c overprinted "Narcotic" normally imprinted with the exception of the third horizontal row which is inverted. On the face of it, (the stamps were offered to me by telephone call), I called the lot a deliberate attempt to hoodwink the public. By what chance the overprints were made, I know not. I believe the Government will not sell the stamps to anyone but those who are legitimately entitled to purchase them for regular use, thereby opening a way for the misuse of the handstamp by some employee of the Collector of Internal Revenue Office, to oblige a "friend".

The original method of overprinting excludes the possibility of accident, such as displayed in the blocks of twenty-five with plate number recorded above, as the overprinting was not originally done in the way shown by these blocks, which were undoubtedly "handstamped to order," with the intention of making a variety for collectors.

It gives me pleasure to know that I recorded the method of overprinting when the stamps were first issued and to be able to warn collectors.

While I have not seen them, I believe the overprint is in violet, but, of course, most any color ink pad could have been used.

FIRST PAGE SQUARES.

We have just received a letter from George E. Foster of Milltown, Wash., and we think it best to quote the same with some comment that will furnish information to various advertisers. Mr. Foster writes:—

"Should you raise your advertising rates and any of your first page people drop out, I would be pleased to have two inches on a yearly contract, cash monthly in advance. I am willing to take one inch if unable to get more."

We have purposely given Mr. Foster's address, as this letter came to us unsolicited and it is interesting in showing the estimation in which advertisers hold the WEEKLY, and especially the value of first page space.

We were compelled to write Mr. Foster that we already have a waiting list and that we should be very pleased to add his name to the same. For the benefit of our numerous advertisers we herewith present the list in the order that applications have been filed:—

(1) Edgewood Co. (4) B. Max Mehl.
(2) Apex Stamp Co. (5) T. Allen (Eng.).
(3) J. M. Bartels Co. (6) B. W. H. Poole.

While we recognize the desirability of a first page location, we venture to say that there is no paper printed in which the advertising throughout is more carefully read than in this publication. We have frequently been advised by subscribers that they make it their first duty and pleasure to see what is advertised before perusing the reading matter.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

WAR STAMPS

are in great demand the World over. Our prices represent only a reasonable profit over cost, and we have bought as carefully as possible for our own and our customers protection. In many cases cat. prices mean nothing. The retail price one month is the wholesale price the next, and it's our firm belief the demand has only just started. We have heavy shipments on the way and those who intrust their wants to us will be as sure of getting them as with anyone. Our stocks of the "New Europe" are not yet here as we preferred to delay and get them as near "right" as possible. Those who wish can have approval lots sent them as fast as new items arrive.

OUR BIG FREE OFFER

GOOD TILL OUR NEXT LIST

This is practically the same offer we made during several of the summer months last year, which caused hundreds of new buyers to try our series of "Jumbo" books, and made many friends for them. We make the offer again, subject to being cancelled at any time, but premiums will be given at any time for purchases made during the time limit which begins July 1st and ends at a time to be set later.

To keep our series of "Jumbo" books working we will give FREE stamps cat. one-third the amount of your remittance, your selection from a list of several hundred good stamps we will send you on request. Thus if you purchase $3.00 you select to the cat. value of $1.00 from the list. This offer is good only a limited period beginning July 1st and applies only to Jumbo books and want lists. It's one of the most liberal ever made and as we give you good value anyway is so much absolutely free. No free stamps will be given, however, for purchases of less than $2 at a time as it does not pay to send out these books for less.

PREMIUMS TO APPROVAL APPLICANTS

Any one of the following offers free to applicants for approval selections who satisfy us as to their reliability and responsibility. This offer is only good for those who are not at present receiving selections of us, and is made to get in touch with new buyers. Please give us size of collection, state whether general or special collector, and some idea how much you are ready to spend. Don't send just to get a premium. We want LIVE collectors and make this little inducement to give us a trial.

Our celebrated "Jumbo" books, Mounted collections, approval books by countries, special books, etc. Approvals for all classes and kinds of collectors. A partial list follows.

1919 Series of "Jumbo" Books

A brand new series just made up. Better than ever before. In the few years we have put out these books they have proved the most popular series in America. It's not uncommon for us to make sales of $15. to $25. from a couple of books, and sales of $5. from a book are the usual thing, which shows their popularity and quality. Books contain about 400 stamps each, about 10,000 var. in the series. Priced net from 1c up, usually at about half catalog, but in many cases less. Will average 50% of list. An extra 10% discount on sales of $3. and 20% on $5. or more.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

SHANGHAI SILVER EXCHANGE.

By THEODORE SIDDALL.

I read in a late issue an article treating of the exchange rate between Mexican and gold money, referring especially to the new surcharged U. S. stamps for Shanghai, China. The article has one serious misstatement, in that it assumes that the exchange rate being quoted at "125", means that for a gold (U. S.) dollar you get $1.25 Mexican.

The exchange quoted in the financial circles is given at "125", we will say, on a given date. This means that for $1.25, U. S. money, you get one Shanghai tael. The ratio between the value of the Shanghai tael and the Mexican dollar is, that the Mexican dollar is worth 73 tael cents, or candareens, or to put it the other way round, a tael is worth $1.37 Mexican. By a little figuring you will find that a gold dollar at exchange 125, will bring you about $1.11 Mexican.

The figures above are given without the fractions or decimals, but in practice there are very few days on which the price comes out in even cents. There is generally a good long decimal fraction, sometimes carried out to the third or fourth decimal; also the rate of 73 tael cents or candareens to the dollar is not exact; the Chinese dollars are stamped with the value, 7 mace and 2 candareens, which is 72 tael cents. The fact is also that the rate varies from day to day. The exchange rate fixed by the post office for postal money orders is fixed from time to time but is not often as favorable as the bank rate; but then the banks do not care to trouble with small drafts such as the post office generally handles.

One man's opinion as to the future course of silver exchange is as good as another's. It may go up, and it may come down. But if you had $100 with which to speculate in exchange in China, and not only knew the next move that exchange would take, but bought or sold accordingly, inside of six months you would be a millionaire. There are 7,486 capitalists in Shanghai alone all playing the silver market, but the course of the price of silver is so uncertain that instead of any of them becoming millionaires, many of them are going in the other direction. From the above your readers who are thinking of buying a set of stamps based on the silver currency may determine whether or not it will be wise to wait for a drop in the price of silver. While they are waiting for the drop, the stamps may become obsolete, and then there will be a new factor injected into the problem.

There is a saying in China that if a traveler started at one end of China with $1000 in silver, and changed his money into the local currency at each town on his route (each town's idea of the value of silver is a little different from any other town's idea), by the time he arrived at the other end of China, and without spending a cent of his $1000, he would have nothing left, all having been consumed in paying the fractional exchange which is shaved off in each conversion of the money. This is the explanation of why the French have made so many surcharges for the different towns where they have offices, also is the reason for the surcharge "China" on Hong Kong stamps, and is the reason for the surcharge on U. S. stamps. The American office in Shanghai formerly kept fairly close to the bank rate of exchange, until the latter got above 50 cents gold to the Mexican dollar. They kept the rate at $2 Mexican for $1 gold even when the bank rate was $1.04 Mexican to $1 gold, but at the same time were obliged to sell their stamps for U. S. money when demanded. If you remember what has been stated above as to the daily fluctuation of the rate, you will be able to see that under the circumstances it would be an intricate job to keep an accurate account of receipts, and the postmaster at Shanghai has made several attempts to get authority to mark the stamps to distinguish them, and naturally, now that the surcharged set is authorized, unsurcharged stamps will not be accepted for use there, and stamps bought there must be paid for in Mexican money at the prices that have been charged on them.

ADDENDA.

Have just received and read the issue of June 14, and notice a considerable amount re Shanghai surcharges. I wrote you a screed bearing on this subject and I offer a further word. I may have been wrong in thinking that the unsurcharged stamps would not be accepted for postage in Shanghai after the surcharges were introduced—but I don't think so in spite of the local paper clipping you mention as saying they would both be accepted. If the two kinds are used concurrently, nobody but collectors will use the surcharged, because people out in China are just as keen on getting cheaply as are people here.

On page 206 you quote from a circular of the Third Assistant P. M. General, advising that the rate of exchange would be about 80 cents gold to the Mexican dollar. With all deference to his official status, he is wrong. Today's rate for demand drafts, which is the rate you would pay if you took out a draft on Shanghai, is 126. For $1.26 U. S. money, you get a Shanghai tael, and the Shanghai tael is within a small fraction of a cent of $1.37 Mexican. Therefore, for $1.26 gold you will get $1.37 Mexican, which makes a Mexican dollar cost you between 91 and 92 cents gold and not 80 cents.

I may be wrong in thinking the two sets won't be available concurrently. If they are, who is going to pay $1.83 for what he can get, at the same shop, with no more trouble? Business people don't do it, and the surcharged issue will therefore be one made specially for collectors, as no one else will want or buy them.

I think I recognize the writer of the article signed "F. G. S." Everything he says is correct, except that the U. S. P. O. there did not always figure $2 Mexican to $1 gold, but only since the rate was equal to or better than $2 Mex. to $1 gold. When I first reached Shanghai the rate was $2.40 Mex. to $1 gold; the P. O. rate was then $2.50 Mex. to $1 gold. They were always 10c or so behind the bank rate.

A NOTABLE ADVERTISEMENT.

June 28.

Right in the heart of the summer season the W. C. Phillips Co. takes the large advertisement which no one reading this issue can fail to see. Such an advertisement costs real money and anyone desirous of knowing how much, should take the matter up with us. It is no easy task to get the copy ready, to say nothing about furnishing the stock upon which to draw for material.

All in all, we commend Mr. Phillips for his faith in the WEEKLY and his faith in our subscribers, and hope and believe that with all the handicap of the warm weather he will get a goodly patronage.

Indeed, so far as the summer season is concerned, the WEEKLY has not yet experienced the business dullness that is usually evident at this time. There is every indication that we shall go through July and August in Regulation size.

It is doubtful if there is any business that is holding up better than the stamp trade.

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our chronicle of last week we mentioned the fact that the New York post office had placed on sale some sheets of the 1c, 2c and 3c stamps consisting of 170 subjects arranged 17x10. We stated that these were the product of the rotary press. Since writing our first notes, your editor has had the pleasure of inspecting sheets of each and was surprised to find them with compound perforations 11x10.

The stamps are printed on the hard unwatermarked paper that the Bureau uses on the rotary presses and they have those shades that we always recognize as the product of this method of printing. Instead of being straight edged at the sides of the sheets, we find that they are perforated throughout and are simply divided at the end of every seventeen vertical rows, that is where the guide line appears. They are, of course, from the sidewise coil plates, hence the guide line just mentioned. The plate numbers appear on the top margin only, over the 9th stamp in the case of the three values, and over the 10th stamp of the 1c and 2c sheets we find in addition to the plate number, "S 30". An open star on all sheets is above the first stamp just to the right of the guide line.

We surmise that the stamps were originally perforated 10 vertically for the sidewise coils and then run through the wheels used for the flat plates, that is perforate 11 horizontally. The variety is no doubt of an experimental nature and will probably be scarce. They were sold out before many had discovered them and when the writer was in New York a couple days after they were placed on sale, the 2c had been exhausted for sometime, the 3c ran out shortly after and only a few of the 1c were left and these were in a branch office.

3c bluish purple.

In our issue of June 7th we stated that we had not seen certain "Future Delivery" and "Stock Transfer" stamps although they were mentioned in the annual report of the Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing as having been surcharged. Mr. L. A. Thompson sends us the 1c "Stock Transfer" and Mr. William Lloyd and Prof. Albert Johannsen kindly remember us with the 50c and 80c "Future Delivery". This leaves the 25c of both series and the 40c "Stock Transfer" unaccounted for and we trust if any of our readers have or know of these three values that they will be so kind as to remember us.

Mr. Lloyd also sends us the 5c Documentary provisionally surcharged in purple by means of a rubber stamp "F. D." and advises that the whole issue from 1c to $30 were so overprinted previous to the arrival of the printed series from the Bureau. In a previous chronicle we spoke of these stamps but at that time were not aware that so many values were so treated.

Mr. H. W. Porter informs us that he has obtained a copy of the 4c "Narcotic" with Bureau overprint. We have previously chronicled the 1c, 2c, 8c and 10c.

SALEM, MASS.

STAMP AUCTION

American Philatelic Society

Convention Week of August 18th at St. Louis

The Arrangement Committee will try to make this Auction one of interest to visiting members

GOOD STAMPS WANTED

For this sale, only in perfect condition, and of all countries. About 500 more lots required. Each lot will be a single item, consisting of a single stamp, pair, strip or block, either unused, used or on cover and a catalogue value of not less than $5.00 nor more than $50.00. No combination lots of any kind.

There will be no charge for selling. The only cost will be the catalogue and postage which will be divided pro rata according to the value of the stamps.

Send stamps by registered mail direct to me and I will be personally responsible to owners.

hope others will advise us if they have varieties which we have not as yet chronicled. We want to print a complete list and would like to list all varieties known.

BAVARIA.—Mr. W. A. Sisson has shown us a copy of Scott's No. 96, 10p, surcharged with characters meaning "State of the People". The surcharge is in two lines and printed in black.

CILICIA.—(1485)—Mr. W. A. Sisson has shown us a cover containing three of the Turkey commemorative 20pa stamps surcharged CILICIE. The surcharge is at the bottom of the stamp and is printed in black.

In addition to the above stamps we are advised by Mr. M. Dicranian that he has received the following on a letter: Turkey No. 271, no surcharge, and No. 255, No. 346, No. 936 and No. 1179 all of which have been surcharged CILICIE.

COOK ISLANDS.—The Australian Stamp Journal says:—

"Last month we chronicled the Cook Island 1s on chalky paper, perf. 15x14. As the supply we received was not sufficient for our requirements, we wrote for some more, and received the following reply, dated Feb. 21: Sorry you are too late for 1s Cook Islands, as they were all sold out before I realized it. Last week they had £100 worth, and I thought there would be no hurry, but when I went to get your lot, they were all cleared out.' It seems strange that the postal authorities should have prepared such a small supply. Perhaps some more will be obtainable later on, but one never knows. Our agent says he has also heard rumours of the issue of New Zealand stamps overprinted 'Raratonga,' and perhaps these shillings were only printed off temporarily to comply with requests until the new stamps were ready. At any rate, we would strongly advise collectors to hold on to this stamp, and not merely swap it away for another of apparently similar value until we know something of what is going to happen.

Why the new stamps should be overprinted 'Raratonga' is a mystery to us, for a reference to our philatelic map of the Western Pacific will show that it is only one of the group of Cook Islands. On the other hand, stamps have been overprinted 'Aitutaki,' which is in the same group. Apparently the New Zealand authorities reckon that such an outlandish, heathenish, barbaric, but pretty, name as 'Raratonga' will induce a bigger demand for the stamps."—Stamp Collecting.

DENMARK.—(Faroe Ids.)—An interesting provisional arrives in the shape of the 5c (green) stamp, surcharged with a large figure "2" above the word ORE in black capitals. Owing to the difficulties in maintaining regular communication between the Faroe Ids. and Denmark, their mother country, the supply of 2 ore stamps ran out, and recourse was therefore had to surcharged ones, of which, we understand, only 10,000 were overprinted as above.—Stamp Collecting.

JUGO-SLAVONIA.—Another independent State carved out of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. We do not know whether it will long be known by this clumsy name, but we hope not. Already it has been called Croatia and Serbo-Croatia by various of our contemporaries, but neither of these names cover the whole of the territory which is claimed by Jugo-Slavonia. However, we will not, for the present, worry over the name. It will be sufficient for the present to attempt to compile a catalogue of the stamps which the new State already has to its credit.

The first issue consisted of stamps of Hungary overprinted SHS HRVATSKA, in two lines, and a line with a bulge at each end above; we will call this type I. There is a second type with the same inscription as above, though in different type, and instead of the line above there is a wheel-like device, with a short horizontal bar on either side of it: this we will call type II.

Hungarian Stamps of 1916-17, overprinted with type I., as above.

3fi red-lilac.	50fi pale blue.
5fi green.	80fi yellow-green.
6fi blue-green.	1kr claret.
10fi red.	2kr olive-brown.
15fi violet.	3kr lilac and grey.
20fi grey-brown.	5kr bl.-br. and brown.
25fi blue.	10kr vio. br. and lilac.

Hungarian War Charity Stamps of 1916, similarly overprinted.

10+2fil red.
15+2fil violet.
40+2fil carmine-brown.

Postage Due Stamps of Hungary of 1915-18, similarly overprinted.

1 filler, green and red.
12 filler, green and red.
50 filler, green and black.

Hungarian Stamps of 1918, overprinted with Type II.

10 filler, carmine.
20 filler, dark brown.
25 filler, blue.

Then we have the Bosnian pictorial stamps of 1910 overprinted,

At top with the inscription—DRZAVA S.H.S.
On either side— 1918 1918
And at foot— BOSNIA; HERCEGOVINA.

There are three types of this surcharge, one of which is in Serbian characters, but fortunately the different types are peculiar to certain values, no value having been reported so far with two different types.

Pictorial Stamps of Bosnia of 1910, overprinted as above.

5h green.	60 on 50h purple.
10h carmine.	80 on 60h or.-brown.
20h brown.	90 on 35h dark green.
25h blue.	2k bronze-green.
30h green.	3k on 3h olive.
40h orange.	4k on 1kr carmine.
45h orange-red.	10k on 2h violet.

—Phil. Jour. of Gr. Brit.

LA GEORGIE.—According to Bright & Son this is a new Republic in the Caucasus and three new stamps are reported:—40k orange, 60k carmine and 70k violet. The stamps were issued May 26, are imperforate and printed in sheets of 238. In the 40k sheets have been found with twelve stamps upside down, furnishing nine tete-beche pairs. Other values up to 10 rubles will probably be issued. We thank Bright & Son for sending us a specimen of the 40k, but we will leave a description of it to some future chronicle.

LITHUANIA.—Mr. C. G. Dietrich has shown us the third issue of stamps for this country which consists of 6 values, viz. 5k red, 10k blue, 15k green, 20 orange, 35k brown and 50 purple. The are all printed on silk paper and in perforate. At the same time Mr. Dietrich shows us the fourth issue which on ordinary paper, watermarked Honeycomb, but has two additional values added viz. 3k lilac, and 75k bright green.

NEWFOUNDLAND.—A second aerial issue appears for this new Dominion made in connection with the mail taken over by the Vickers-Vimy machine (Alcock and Brown), and which really got to the other side. The 15c Cabot was issued on June 9th, with an overprint in four lines, reading:—"Trans-Atlantic—AIR POST— 1919.—ONE DOLLAR." The overprinting was very neatly done, but the troublesome period caused some varieties. As yet, I have not been able to determine which is the normal form of overprint. I have seen two single copies of the stamp without punctuation after AIR POST, but with periods after 1919. But a block of four shows two stamps with a comma after AIR POST, one stamp without any punctuation, and the fourth with a trace of something—whether a comma, or merely a smut, is to be questioned. Three of these stamps have the period after 1919, but the fourth is innocent in this respect.—HARRY E. HUBER.

We are also advised by Mr. Michael P. Hines of this overprint, and that arrangements have been finalized for the conveyance of a small mail both by the Handley-Page and Vickers Vimy machines. Of necessity the mail will be very small the maximum weight in each case not exceeding 3 lbs. including 10 official letters in each. The H. & P. mail will be despatched from Harbour Grace and ⅓ of the weight, or one pound will be for those citizens of H. G. who may desire to avail themselves of the opportunity. The mail for the Vickers machine will be closed at St. John's as soon as all the number of letters is reached. Not more than two letters will be received from any one person. The fee for each letter will be $1. By permission of the government, 50 cents out of every dollar will be apportioned to the permanent Marine Disasters Fund. The "76" FIRST TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT stamps were offered for sale at St. John's at $25 each and were rapidly disposed of. All sold the second day.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. W. A. Sisson has shown us two covers of this country with telegraph and fiscal stamps used for postage. One is blue and the other bistre brown and both 5 centavos value. The stamp is oblong and has the flags and arms in the middle of a circle while around the circle of the brown stamp is TIMBRE TELEGRAFICO and above REPUBLIC OF NICARAGUA. The value is at the bottom. The blue stamp is the same type except that it has TIMBRE FISCAL.

FROM THE DEALERS' STANDPOINT.

By B. F. ENELOW.

I have noticed repeated complaints in which subscribers relentlessly take to task those dealers who do not answer requests for approvals. A few remarks by a dealer, who admits his own occasional guilt, will help to elucidate the injustice of such complaints in most instances.

First of all, your complainant should take cognizance of the fact that the stamp business is essentially a "one man business", and therefore the dealer's most valuable asset is his time. In order to operate his business profitably, he must eliminate every moment of waste. That is why he frequently consigns two classes of inquiries to the tolerant waste basket. First, the one which is written in a slovenly, irresponsible manner, vaguely asking for something which cannot be intelligently complied with. Secondly, the request which comes from a member of that great army of collectors, who assumes that the dealer is so eager for business that he should consider the merest request of your complainant, be he ever so unknown or of the blackest record, a command to be peremptorily executed. I believe that every dealer is anxious for business that does not involve unnecessary waste. If your complainant will make his wants known in a clear and definite manner, and leave absolutely no doubt as to his responsibility, then I venture to say, not one dealer in a hundred will neglect to acknowledge his letter. Let him also take notice of the fact that nearly every dealer is kept informed of the ever-growing list of dead-beats, and you can hardly condemn him for refusing to waste time and postage on one who happens to be an active member of that clan.

In conclusion, my dear complainant, if your intention is to get something for nothing, or your past is rather shady, be not peeved if you get no reply. On the other hand, if your conscience is clear, and you have the best intention, please make your wants known intelligently, and never, never fail to mention just who you are, and why you are entitled to credit. Your reward will be a courteous reply in 99 cases out of 100.

DO YOU REALLY WANT TO HELP?

We have decided (for the present at least) not to increase the subscription price of the WEEKLY, though we are well aware that the price of 50c per year for fifty-two issues is ridiculously cheap for the service we render. Believing that the WEEKLY has a mission to perform in propagating an interest in stamp collecting among boys and young men, we have refrained from making any change in the rate. Many subscribers have written us urging that we make the rate $1 per year and expressing their hearty appreciation of our publication. In view of the evident desire upon the part of our subscribers to help us secure the largest amount of efficiency, we make a few suggestions that we shall run occasionally in the WEEKLY for the guidance of our subscribers:—

Make no remittances in postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new Addressograph plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new plate.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home address.

When you write us a letter, enclose a stamped addressed envelope—if a reply is wanted.

These are little things of themselves but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year the above suggestions, if carried out, will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

DETROIT—MR. KARL KOSLOWSKI.

We are pleased to announce the fact that Karl Koslowski has accepted the Detroit agency for our publications, and collectors in that city who can get in touch with him will be able to have their wants taken care of. We recognize the fact that Detroit is one of the great philatelic centers of the country and with two flourishing stamp societies the value of an agency is apparent. Just as fast as new books are issued Mr. Koslowski will have a supply.

We also wish to remind the collectors of Rutherford, N. J., that Mr. Tillson will be glad to know their needs, while in Pittsburgh Mr. Schwarz is our local representative.

There are other centers such as Springfield, Mass.; Columbus, O.; Minneapolis, St. Paul, Minn. and Seattle, Wash., where agencies could be established.

The "3c Green" second edition is now in press and will soon be issued. It will be followed quickly by a third edition of the "Stamp Collectors Guide" and this latter by a second edition of the U. S. envelope book by Bartels and Barrett. We feel very much pleased with our success in publishing these low-priced booklets. Our list of dealer agencies follows, and collectors will always find for examination and sale a full line of our publications:—

THE FAROE ISLANDS PROVISIONALS.

By A. A. KRANHOLD.

I beg leave to both correct and complete Mr. Ames' short article in No. 1484 which refers to the Faroe Island provisionals.

The local letter rate in Denmark was raised from 5 to 7 ore on January first, this year. There must have been a shortage of all the smaller denominations on the Islands, since the 7 ore rate can be made up by a combination of a five and a two or two ones, or a three and a four. However, pending receipt of the new 7 ore stamp permission to surcharge the five ore with a large "2" was received from the Postal authorities in Copenhagen and in addition, permission to bisect the four ore. These provisionals are not therefore Faroe Island locals in any sense but properly authorized government issues.

Communications with the Islands had been interrupted for a few days only. I do not know the reason for this but the war can hardly be responsible since the armistice had been signed six weeks or over previously and there was no shortage of stamps during entire war period. I have a cover with the bisect and have ordered the other. The latter cost about $9.50 in Copenhagen. My correspondent is a prominent official of the postal department and this information should be authentic.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We have received a clipping from the Kansas City Star sent us by Lucien B. Wellborn that announces the probable transfer of the Miquelon Islands to the United States. This is an item of interest to the philatelist. It is reported that Newfoundland does not take very kindly to the proposition.

—"The Little Man of 28th Street" is the title of a stamp sketch in the World Magazine of June 8. It occupies a page and is of more than ordinary interest. We are indebted to Frank E. Hadley for the clipping.

—Chas. A. Townsend pays his respects to what he terms our "peeved correspondent in the Canal Zone". Mr. Townsend says the reason why dealers pay no attention to certain approval requests may be easily figured out. It is because they do not want to take chances with collectors who are not responsible. He writes:—"I have turned down quite a number of requests from the Canal Zone and Porto Rico just because they pretend never to have received the stamps."

—C. J. W. C.—Bright & Son, London, England, can furnish you with a catalog giving values of postcards, envelopes and wrappers, both U. S. and foreign. A Forbin's catolog will give you prices on foreign revenues, while of course Scott's Standard will fix you up on U. S. revenues.

—2c postage becomes operative July 1. Do not under any circumstances purchase 3c stamps for use as remittances. There will be a surplus of these in the channels of business after the first of July and WEEKLY subscribers can confer a great favor by eliminating them from their correspondence.

—Mr. Wolsieffer of the Philadelphia Stamp Co. would like to secure the present address of W. F. Slusser, who was formerly in Florida and more recently in the Philippines. He has since returned to the U. S. and Mr. Wolseiffer desires to retire his books from the A. P. S. sales department.

—Hotel Cliff has been selected as Headquarters for the S. P. A. convention in San Francisco on Aug. 27-30th.

—T. H. A.—We know of no catalog or book which will supply you with the statistics as to quantities issued of standard stamps. This information is scattered through the files of the WEEKLY and similar publications, and would require a patient student to dig it out.

—We recently made inquiry concerning J. C. Matthews of Olympia, Wash., with the understanding that he was associated with the Golden Rule Stamp Co. of Seattle. Such is not the case. Our complaint against the Golden Rule Stamp Co. still stands, but we desire to publicly exonerate Mr. Matthews from any possible reflection cast upon his name. He was a former advertiser in the WEEKLY and our relations were perfectly satisfactory.

—We are informed by Frank E. Hadley that he can secure no replies to letters sent J. N. Collette, 153 W. 84 St., N. Y. City.

—W. J. Zink can get no reply to letters sent Harry Fink, 1307 Campbell Av., Chicago, Ill.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Kenneth Tallmadge and A. B. King.

—"About the first of December I sent my application for membership in the New York Philatelic Society to Mr. Weiss, the Secretary, together with a dollar for the dues. Since then I have written to him and the president, Mr Herbert, several times, but have not received an answer to any of my letters. I wish that you would publish the facts so that nobody else will get caught as I have."—KENNETH J. SMITH.

—"I think you'll lose fewer advertisers by the increase in adv. rates than if you were to increase the sub. price. You know youngsters don't have many odd dollars lying around loose! In most cases, it's hard to get even the 50c. I remember I had to use my whole month's spending money (50c) to make the start! Had it been $1.00 a year, I'm afraid I'd have had to stay off your lists for a year or so longer!"—H.

—"Please issue a warning against counterfeits of Argentine 1892, Scott's Nos. 90 and 91, which are flooding the stamp markets in considerable quantities. The stamps are engraved, while the fakes are apparently lithographed. The watermark also is forged and is generally incomplete altho' too strongly impressed, and this after the paper was made. This is an old time counterfeit, unknown probably to the present generation."—PERCY MCG. MANN.

THE LINN CO. TO THE FORE.

The words "Black Beauty" have been conspicuous in our columns during the past weeks. With this issue the cat is out of the bag and we know what "Black Beauty" refers to and what it is intended for. The Geo. W. Linn Co. has aroused a great deal of curiosity with their advance advertising and the quarter page advertisement elsewhere in this issue will give all the necessary particulars.

Judging from a communication just at hand from Mr. Linn there will be no dearth of activity in Columbus during the summer months. The company of which Mr. Linn is the proprietor has moved to the Clinton Building at the corner of Chestnut and High Streets, two blocks south from the Union Station. Here the company has large quarters on the third floor fronting on High St with lots of room and all the conveniences of a first class building. Visitors to the city will be welcome.

An auction is being planned for July. The firm has faith that business will be good all summer and is working up this sale to back up the belief.

We have had the privilege of inspecting one of the albums advertised by the firm and feel that it will fill a worthy place amongst philatelic accessories. We urge every collector who has any thought of buying an album to consider this latest in the album line offered by the Linn Co.

We quote this paragraph from the letter received:—

"Business this past season has been excellent and present indications are that this summer will be the biggest the stamp trade has ever known. As business with Europe opens up and the new issues from there keep coming the serious collector will simply have to stay on the job or miss the good things for new stuff is coming fast and dealers are replenishing their long depleted stocks of those countries."

JAMAICAN WARS, ½d INVERTS.

By HARRY E. HUBER.

During the early months of 1919, there was offered from Jamaica, the ½d yellow green, WAR STAMP, one line, with overprint inverted, and while five or six dealers in the East were approached, in no instance was more than one pane offered. The total find was said to consist of one sheet, of four panes of 60 stamps each, and was obtained over the Post Office counter in the Island, in the regular course of business, with normal sheets.

On comparing with the normal variety, certain differences showed up, viz., the overprint on the inverts was clear and sharp, while the normal stamps, in the main, showed an impression not so sharp,—as if from type which had seen considerable service. These differences were taken, in certain quarters, as being evidence against the stamps, and the inverts were classed as counterfeits,—with the explanatory statement that the normal variety and genuine, were overprinted from Caslon type, while the inverts were from Roman.

The inverted overprints were then referred to the Superintendent of the Government Printing Office at Kingston, and also the Postmaster for Jamaica, both of whom pronounce them as genuine.

Mr. Ellis Wolfe, Postmaster for Jamaica, expresses himself as follows:—"This Department keeps no record of the errors in overprinted War Stamps, but from the variety of errors which have come under its notice, particularly in the ½d denomination overprint of 1916, I have not any reason to doubt that the overprint inverted in the halfpenny stamp which you submitted is genuine, and I would not regard it as a forgery."

The Superintendent of the Government Office adds further interesting details:—"This Department does not use Caslon type in overprinting the War Stamps. Therefore, the statement that this description of type was used in the overprinting of these stamps is not correct."

The apparent differences in the type, causing the overprints in some sheets to appear sharp and clean cut, and on others, with thickened strokes, he considers:—"Not at all surprising. The first impressions of these prints appeared sharp, clean and well defined (and) the different appearance of the overprints in various sheets is no doubt due to wearing of type from constant use.

"The first impressions of these stamps were quite in order, and free from defects or errors, so far as I am aware, but shortly afterwards, it was noticed that the points were missing, and spaces and defective letters appeared. These defects were corrected. It was afterwards decided to alter the setting and the two-line ovreprint was introduced.

"An officer from the Post Office Dept. stands by the press whilst the stamps are being overprinted, and the greatest care is exercised in this respect."

Summing up the situation:—

"I have investigated this matter since you brought it to my notice, and am quite satisfied that the inverted overprint stamps shown to me are genuine, and were printed from type set and used in this Department . . . . . All single line printings were made from Roman small cap Monotype, viz., 8-pt., 14a, and this is the description of the type which is shown on the inverted specimens shown me."

With these two statements from official sources it appears that rather hasty judgment was exercised in pronouncing these inverts "Counterfeits", and instead, they should be considered a legitimate error.

—L. A. C.—You have named the best of the English papers and the Philatelic Journal of Great Britain, Stamp Collecting, Postage Stamp and Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly may all be addressed at London. Street address will not be necessary.

—Emily King informs us that Walter J. Reed, Canton, Ohio, concerning whom inquiry was made in a recent number of the WEEKLY, has been heard from and matters are satisfactorily adjusted.

—"I would like to have the present address of the Essco Approval Co., 415 Spring St., Atlanta, Ga. It is managed by one James G. Can anyone give Mr. Christensen the desired information?

—"I am now in my 81st year and have been interested in the collection of postage and revenue stamps for the last 44 years. I learned there was such a hobby as stamp collecting by seeing for the first time the word "philatelic" in The Nation of New York for June 3, 1875, which gave a notice of John K. These publications numbered 569—American, English, German, French, Italian, Spanish and Danish, with some Russian price lists."—JOSIAH MORROW.

FROM AN ADVERTISING MANAGER.

(We do not expect to use much more space in publishing opinions about raising our advertising and subscription rates, as the ground has been pretty well covered. So long as we have decided what we shall do, we feel pleased to have our position endorsed by one, who, as an advertising manager of the DuPont Co., is qualified to advise. We do not feel at liberty to give the name of the subscriber who wrote this letter, but feel that his judgment is well worth considering.—W. O. W.)

In the issue of June 7th, I note some of the advertisers' comment upon the proposed raise in your subscription price. Being an advertising manager of the Du Pont Co., I think your advertisers are right in advocating an advance to them and not to your subscribers. I'm inclined to agree with them that your advanced rates would have a tendency to reduce your number of subscribers. A dollar a year is little enough to pay for a weekly messenger of the calibre of the MEKEEL'S, yet in these days of aeroplane ideas as to living costs, it would be a refreshing incident to be assured that at least one thing had not been raised on account of the war! Your subscribers are your advertisers' opportunities. Anything done to reduce the chances of your advertisers making their advertising efforts pay will discourage advertising, diminish returns and make the lot of the stamp dealer anything but a joyful experience. I judge that the few comments referred to are typical of those which would come from a large majority of your advertisers were they asked to state their views. As you are no doubt aware very many of the trade, technical and popular magazines have advanced their advertising rates,—and their subscriptions, too, by George! Actually, the publishers must conduct their papers at a fair profit. If you decide to advance the subscription price please credit my remittance accompanying this letter in accordance with your decision.

"EAGLE EYES".

He was just a month past four yrs. At the first glance you could see he was not an ordinary boy. Last Saturday afternoon, his usual philatelic lesson commenced—A 4c Pan American was taken from soaking—"What is the colour young man?" "Brown and black". "What is the picture?" Automobile and two men" was the very prompt response. I took a good look, and learnt something I never knew before:—There were two men in the picture.

You said it: "Pepper".

He is my son.

THE MILWAUKEE MATCH STAMPS.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Barber, Jones & Co.

This firm was the successor of Barber & Co. and was composed of Eugene A. Jones and two former members of Barber & Co.—Edward Barber and Priam B. Hill. It is mentioned in the Milwaukee directory for 1873-'74 only, conducting business at the old Greenleaf factory.

The Boston Book gives the following data regarding the stamp:—

Die approved, Jan. 6, 1873.
First issued, May, 1873.
Last issued, Aug., 1875.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
5,401,920 issued on silk paper.

This is the only match stamp which bears the names of two different firms. The 1c Greenleaf die was altered by adding the initials "B. J. & CO." over the phoenix in the circular disk containing the latter device but the Greenleaf & Co. name was not removed and for that reason the stamp is often confused with the 1c Greenleaf on silk paper.

The Barber, Jones & Co. stamp was printed by Jos. R. Carpenter in Philadelphia and, according to the Boston Book, was used successively by Barber, Jones & Co. and by three other firms during the following periods, as nearly as can be determined by the present writer:—

Barber, Jones & Co. to January, 1874.
Eugene A. Jones & Co. to August, 1874.
Kirby & Jones to April, 1875.
Kirby & Sons to August (?), 1875.

On January 28, 1874, Eugene A. Jones & Co. advised Mr. Carpenter to "cut out Greenleaf & Co. from the die and put in Eugene A. Jones & Co.", and on February 5th, following, they further instructed him to "also take out the initials 'B. J. & CO.'" On March 4th, Mr. Carpenter replied, "The new plate from altered die of Greenleaf & Co., late Barber, Jones & Co., is ready for the press." It is not known that any Eugene A. Jones & Co. stamps were ever printed and certainly none were ever used, but proofs exist in various colors. The firm of Eugene A. Jones & Co. was composed of Mr. Jones and Priam B. Hill and appears in the Milwaukee directory for 1874-'75 only.

The Barber, Jones & Co. stamp occurs in a yellow green exactly like one of the Greenleaf & Co. tints on silk paper and also in a dark green shade. It is fairly plentiful and nice copies can be obtained. Cancelled specimens are the exception. Confirmation of the opinion that this stamp was used in multiple for 3c is not now available.

Kirby & Sons.

This firm was composed of Abner Kirby and his two sons, Welcome U. Kirby and Oa A. Kirby. It carried on the business at the old Greenleaf factory, 626 Walnut St., and is listed in the Milwaukee directory for 1875-'76 as the O. K. Match Works. Kirby & Sons used the Barber, Jones & Co. stamp until August, 1875, according to the Boston Book, which also states, "Beginning with May, 1875, this company received stamps from the Barber, Jones & Co. one cent plate, * * * *

Die approved, Oct. 27, 1875.
First issued, Nov., 1875.
Last issued, before Dec. 31, 1879.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
440,160 issued on silk paper.

Presumably Kirby & Sons also used the Barber, Jones & Co. stamp after August, 1875 until their new stamp was ready in October, but whether their last supply of the B. J. & Co. stamps was printed by Mr. Carpenter or by the National Bank Note Co. is an unsolved problem. If they obtained a sufficient supply of the B. J. & Co. stamp in August, 1875, to last them for three months there probably was no National printing of the B. J. & Co. stamp.

The Kirby stamp differs from the 1c Greenleaf only in the change of firm name. "B. J. & Co." does not appear on it. The die was altered and the new plate made by the National Bank Note Co. who printed the entire issue, 2,096 sheets. As the shade runs remarkably true, a bright clear green, slightly bluish, there may have been only one printing. The firm does not appear in the directories for 1877 or 1878, and their stamp was probably in use a year or less. It is often found in much better condition than others from the 1c Greenleaf die but is under-rated, being scarcer than the B. J. & Co. Cancelled copies have not been noted and pairs are almost unknown.

About 1879 Mr. Kirby started a starch factory where the match business had been for so many years. He was then over 60 years old, having been born in Maine in 1818, and a resident of Milwaukee much of the time from 1844. A jeweler by trade, he had worked in lumber camps, built saw mills, engaged in shipping and in many other pursuits, about 1857 being a member of Kirby, Carpenter & Co. of Chicago, at that time the largest manufacturers there. In 1865 he was elected mayor of Milwaukee without opposition.

It is an interesting coincidence that Pierce, who started the Milwaukee match factory, Greenleaf, whose name appeared on over 80% of the stamps, and Kirby, who was the last to operate the business, were all from New England and landed in Milwaukee in 1844. Barber, who was at the head of the business for about six years, came in 1847 at which time Hill, who was a partner from 1860 to 1874, was also a resident of the Wisconsin metropolis. Although connected with the business longer than anyone except Pierce, who sold out before the match tax went into effect, Hill and Ball were the only partners for any considerable length of time whose names do not appear on any of the stamps. Both Pierce and Kirby were in the lumber business for a time and both Greenleaf and Barber had railroad experience.

EDITORIAL.

Heavy—Mr. C. F. Richards, New York City, writes: "A correspondent in Europe sent me the other day, a lot of United States stamps that recently he received on his mail and said that our government did not seem to be very considerate of collectors, judging from the fact that the stamps sent were most decidedly 'thoroughly and completely defaced'. I wrote our third assistant postmaster-general a long letter sending him some of the sample stamps and giving a number of reasons why the government should treat the stamps on collectors' letters with consideration and not deface the stamps unnecessarily." The following reply was received by Mr. Richards: "Your letter of June 20th is received. Section 539, Postal Laws and Regulations, provides: 'Postmasters shall cancel stamps on mail matter by the use of canceling ink furnished by the department and shall thoroughly and completely deface the stamps.' The purpose of this cancellation, is, of course, to insure such thorough canceling as will prevent the re-use of stamps; and it is found to be necessary to publish cautions from time to time because of insufficient canceling. The Department cannot, consistently, therefore, issue instructions that stamps shall be canceled lightly so that they will be better suited to collecting purposes; nor would it be practicable for postal employees, at the speed necessitated in the canceling of hundred of millions of stamps yearly, to exercise the care which would be necessary to carry your suggestion into effect. I thank you, however, for submitting it." The claim of the post office department is not unreasonable. On occasions in the past, when protest was made against undue blotching of stamps on envelopes with odd values addressed to collectors, various explanations were given. Once the complainant was reprimanded for suggesting that the very object of cancellation be lost sight of, in the case of stamps of high denomination. Again, it was said that sometimes the canceling machine in being tried out with new ink, sometimes beat a tattoo on the stamps with the result that they were pounded black. Still, moderation should be the rule in canceling stamps and it is hoped that the postmasters will not be unduly severe on them.

Here—In showing us plate number 10000 on the current one cent stamp, surface printing, Mr. John E. Lord says: "This plate number to which some interest may be said to attach and which our post office here has just received supplies a missing link between the plates over and under these significant figures. I suppose that some collectors will put away a sheet of the one cent surface printing on which the number comes, in view of the even number and the impending retirement of the one cent surface printings." We have plate number 1 on the two cent, 1894, and here, twenty-five years afterwards, we behold No. 10000. Verily, as Hippocrates snappily said: Ars longa, vita brevis.

Hit—A few weeks agone, we sowed a few mild observations about prices of early issues, United States, in particular and now we reap the whirlwind. From men of many minds, we have received criticisms and commendations but it is worth noting that the points that we made to account for the prices of today have not been disproved by critical correspondents, our harshest objector contenting himself merely with saying that we are playing into the hands of dealers. On the other hand, a few candid friends admonish us that we should make our counts more strongly the next time, as the conditions in reality are more extreme than we indicated. Be that as it may: a hint sometimes is as good as a strong assertion. The critic who says that the dealers have been instrumental in creating the boom is clearly out of bounds. The demand for the certain stamps swept them off their feet before they knew what it was all about. Their stocks are depleted and they are replenished when luckily, they may buy at correspondingly high prices. The collectors have made the market for choice United States and the dealer is merely the runner-up. It is sufficient to point to the articles by Early Byrd which, by-the-way, are of singular value by reason of the advanced and authoritative information supplied by the writer. He shows how the collector has blazed the way to a higher regard and consequently, "evaluation" of certain early U. S. It is true that some dealers soon caught the stride that was made by the competition of their patrons but this was due to an innate philatelic judgment coupled with a market sense. Others held longer to the traditional view before catching the idea.

Holds—A summary of opinion on the prices of quality stamps as received would only amplify the remarks that were made originally on the subject of prices on our stamps. However, there has been one argument sent in that was not regarded by us in the paragraph that set the wheels in motion. One of the keenest students of intensive philately says that the primary cause for the soaring prices is due to the fact of the scarcity for many years past of really prime United States. He says that it is odd that only at this late date there is an awakening to the fact that the visible supply of first-class U. S. is almost exhausted. You know, he explains, that years ago, dealers advertised that they would not send out United States stamps on approval; and in the comparatively plenteous stock of commercial copies extant thirty years ago, the superb copies were comparatively few. Kindly but critically, he says that the old great collections of United States are almost discredited in the light of to-day's exactions as to condition and suffer by comparison with the fine collections of these times; and this is saying nothing about the progress in study and the correction of old errors that persisted, made by the modern student. Now when a demand born of appreciation of the great possibilities for study in the stamps exhausts the ordinary channels of supply, the upward price tendency has no limit. This quickening influence, with the reduced buying standard of the dollar is the logical explanation, he well says. He adds that clear visioned collectors with purses that will allow of indulgence in the best of U. S. stamps are not without their effect.

Here—Mr. B. W. H. Poole, one of the deans of the WEEKLY's staff, passed through Chicago en route to Los Angeles, where he will repeat his philatelic triumphs. Mr. Poole says that the market at this time of year is "peculiar to itself" inasmuch as in the summer season the demand for fine things outstrips the supply.

Happy—"Your par about the serious collector is good but I want to introduce the sober collector," writes a subscriber. "In a recent stamp article the 'sober collector' was mentioned just six times. It is possible that the author knows his subject as he says that 'members do not go home soberly from the stamp society meeting'. However, with the advent of July 1st, there will be more sober collectors than ever before."

OUR BOOK REVIEW.

"A Brief Philatelic Bibliography" with prices, by Percy C. Bishop, has just appeared from the publishing house of F. Hugh Vallancey, 89 Farringdon St., London, England. As its name implies, we have here a list of handbooks and articles on postage stamps. The author disclaims any completeness for the list, but at the same time we cannot fail to express our admiration for the length of the list and the field that it covers. While Eugene Klein, of Philadelphia, has without doubt the most varied stock of philatelic publications that can be found in America, Mr. Vallancey appears to have the finest lot not only in England but the world. Copies may be obtained at 6c each, but intending purchasers will please note that the office of the WEEKLY has no supply of this list.

A book resulting from the war is "Stamps of the New Europe" by Fred. J. Melville, price 14c postfree, to be obtained from Fred J. Melville Ltd., 110 Strand, London. This book gives in attractive form the story of the stamps recently issued as a sequel to the war and Mr. Melville affirms that they are "historic records of the greatest period in history". Mr. Melville is rather chary in pricing the hundreds of stamps he has listed but as he writes it, "The valuing and pricing of them presents a problem of much complexity". He says that these stamps "are often obsolete before the first lot reaches England and each consecutive consignment has to be charged up at enhanced prices. Mr. Melville covers Jugo-Slavia, Latonia, Poand, Trieste, Laibach, Esthonia, Fiume, Trent, Croatia, Finland and Ukraine. A new and revised edition of the catalog will be issued when the necessity for it is evident.

RARE AND SCARCE.

A youthful collector in Palouse, Wash., sends a letter to the WEEKLY in which he criticizes the too frequent use of the words "rare" and "scarce". We feel that our correspondent is right in his contention that some dealers are using these terms in such a way as to cheapen their merit in describing values. We offer the suggestion that it would be well for dealers to exercise care in the future in the use of these words.

A PHILATELIC DICTIONARY.

By BERTRAM W. H. POOLE.

S. G.—An overprint found on certain South Australian stamps used between 1868 and 1874 on the correspondence of the Surveyor-General. These stamps were suppressed in 1874 in favor of the issue overprinted "OS" for general use in all government departments.

(II). These letters signifying "Sudan Government," were punctured through the 5m stamps of the 1897-8 issues and served as official stamps until 1903.

SGR.—An abbreviation for "silbergroschen" found on many of the stamps of the German states.

S. H.—The first stamps issued by the United Duchies of Schleswig and Holstein bore no name, but simply the letters "S.H", which were placed in the upper angles.

(II). These letters appear on the base of the bust of some of the envelope stamps of Great Britain and signify "Somerset House"—where the work of stamping them was performed.

SHADE.—A shade, in philatelic parlance, is a slight variation — either lighter or darker—from the normal color of a stamp.

SHAHI. — The value shown upon many of the stamps of Persia and Afghanistan. In Persia 20 shahi are equal to a kran, worth about 8c in American money, while in Afghanistan 12 shahi equal a rupee and a shahi is only worth about 1½c. The Persian shahi is often spelled "chahi".

SHAMROCK. — A shamrock forms part of the device in the watermark known as the heraldic emblems found in some of the early stamps of Great Britain.

SHANGHAI.—The most important seaport of Central China. Its first postage stamps were issued in 1865 and it has continued to issue its own stamps to the present day.

SHANGHAI LOCAL POST.—The inscription shown on the 1890-93 postage stamps of Shanghai.

SHANGHAI MUNICIPALITY.—The inscription shown on all Shanghai stamps issued since 1893.

SHEET. — A sheet of stamps is a term applied to a piece of paper upon which an impression has been printed from a stamp plate. Naturally, they vary greatly in size and in some cases —the stamps of the United States, for example—the large sheets are cut up into two or more portions before issue. These smaller sheets are sometimes known as post office sheets.

SHEET NUMBERS.—These are consecutive numbers struck on the margins of some sheets of stamps—usually in the upper right-hand corner. They refer to the number of sheets printed and included in a specific consignment and therefore act as a check or control on the stamps despatched from the printers.

SHILLING. — The value in which many of the stamps of the British Empire are expressed. A shilling is worth 24c in United States currency.

SHINY BARS.—For a time the paper upon which the stamps of Austria were printed was covered with an arrangement of parallel bars of shiny varnish of a pale brown color. The object of this was to prevent used stamps being cleaned, but this safeguard was discontinued after 1905 as being of little practical value.

SIAM. — An Asiatic kingdom lying between British Burmah and French Indo-China. Postage stamps were first issued in 1883.

SIC FORTIS ETRURIA CREVIT.—The motto shown on the famous "Sydney View" stamps of New South Wales meaning "Thus brave Etruria grew".

SICILIA.—The Italian equivalent for Sicily as shown upon the stamps for that state.

SICILY.—The largest, most fertile and populous island of the Mediterranean, forming part of the kingdom of Italy. Its first postage stamps appeared in 1859. These were superseded by the stamps of the Neapolitan Provinces in 1861, and in the following year these, in turn, were replaced by the general issue for the kingdom of Italy.

SIERRA LEONE.—A British colony on the west coast of Africa which issued its first postage stamps in 1860.

SIGILLUM NOV. CAMB. AUST.—This inscription appears on the circular band surrounding the view on the "Sydney View" stamps of New South Wales. It signifies "Seal of New South Wales, Australia".

SIGIL. INSS. ANTIGUAE ET BARBUDAE.—An inscription shown below the centerpiece of the 1903 stamps of Antigua meaning "Seal of Antigua and Barbuda".

U. S. SPECIALISTS are always anxious to obtain the new and unusual and as a rule they want them as soon as they are discovered for quite often there are not enough to go around.

I quite often obtain such items, for instance, I obtained ALL of the imperf, 2c rotary coil (Scott's No. 370i), I sold the 3c red error envelope at its lowest price and had them early. There were only 25 of the black error envelope and I had eleven out of the lot. I was the first to obtain the recent compounds, the first to have the current 20c part perf., etc. When I secure anything new I take out what I want and then send the rest to those interested. If you would be interested ask me to put your name on my list of U. S. Specialists.

Have no approvals, carry no stock for sale but when I run into a novelty I send it immediately to those interested. If you want everything as it comes out, write me.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our last two issues, we have spoken in detail regarding certain of the current stamps with compound perforations and are pleased to be able to quote herewith from a letter just received by the Bartels Co.

WASHINGTON, June 21, 1919.

"The J. M. BARTELS Co.,
New York N. Y.

Dear Sirs—Your letter of June 19th is received.

The following is quoted from a letter of the Director, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, dated March 25, 1919:

'This Bureau has on hand approximately 85,000 sheets of 170 subjects each of the 1, 2 and 3-cent stamps. These sheets result from the manufacturing of coiled stamps, and are laid aside as mutilated because they cannot be made into coils on account of some defect, but otherwise are commercially perfect.

'We propose to perforate these sheets and to put them in packages of 100 sheets each, with 170 stamps to the sheet. * * * * * * * * * * *

'It is requested that the Post Office Department approve of the putting up and shipment of these stamps, as above, to postmasters upon your order, and while it is not possible just now to advise you approximately of the number of stamps of this character which will result from defective coil work in the future it is not expected that it will be very great, and when accumulations of these stamps, say once a month, are made, notice will be given to the Post Office Department that we have so many of these stamps on hand, when the necessary order can be made for shipment.'

Answering your questions, so far as known the Department will continue to issue stamps in sheets of 170 perforated 10-hole on the rotary press and 11-hole on the regular perforators, as the waste mentioned by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing accumulates.

No action has been taken looking to the issuance of higher denominations than the 3c in sheets of 170.

Any continued issue of stamps in heets of 170 must necessarily be with the 10x11 (should be 11x10, Editor) perforations, because of their being perforated on machines of different types.

(Signed) A. M. DOCKERY,
Third Assistant Postmaster General."

This means that we are likely to have more of the 1c and 2c with this perforation and later on possibly the 4c and 5c, but with the domestic postage back at 2c the 3c coil will terminate and therefore the few 3c out will quite likely be scarce. It is interesting to note that at first but a very few of these were found and commanded good prices, due to the fact that the New York stock became exhausted before the collectors and dealers were aware of the variety. Later on, however, a second lot followed and some dealers were then able to lay in a supply.

We are anxiously waiting to learn if any of the 3c type I were among the lot. The sheets were not always torn along the guide line consequently pairs of all values may be found with guide line between.

We also wonder what the Bureau does with its endwise coil waste, for if they later issue these in sheet form we will have the 10x11 as well as the 11x10. As far as we can learn these stamps were on sale in New York only, and if as we suppose they received the entire lot, the supply at the longest would last but a few days.

CHAS. S. OSGOOD, P. O. BOX 204, SALEM, MASS

The Economist Stamp Company informs us that they have secured a coil of the 5c rotary, coiled sidewise, perforated 10 vertically on unwatermarked paper. The entire coil series has now appeared on unwatermarked paper.

5c blue, Sidewise coil.

Mr. J. M. Bartels tells us that he has located Die H of the 3c envelope on buff, Size 7, watermark 19, knife 51. This envelope is now known in all dies, that is A, E, F and H, on buff.

1916-19 Circular Die.
3c violet on buff, Die H.

Mr. P. M. Mann has located another provisional series of "Narcotic" surcharges, this time from San Diego, although we are of the opinion that they were issued in Los Angeles. The surcharge is applied by a hand rubber stamp in violet, in san serif capitals, 2½ mm. tall and 13½ mm. long. The surcharging, we are told, was poorly done and was applied in all ways, up, down, straight, inverted, etc. Six values in all were so issued namely the 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c. 8c and 10c. So far we have accounted for provisionals from New York, Philadelphia, Detroit, Baltimore and Los Angeles. We know the Collectors of Internal Revenue in the other districts had to have these stamps and if our friends know of any varieties that we have not

We wish to thank the following correspondents for their courtesy in remembering us. Messrs. W. A. Langdon, W. A. Sisson, W. V. Abdill, W. A. Geiger, F. W. Armstrong, L. Peter Krogh and L. D. Peaslee.

AUSTRIA.—Prof. M. Loewy calls our attention to a recent item in this column that the surcharge on the stamps was "Deutschoterreich". This should have been "Deutschosterreich".

FRANCE.—Some months ago we referred to reports which were circulating regarding the impending appearance of special Aeroplane postage stamps for this republic and the belief that the opportunity would be taken of incorporating the portraits of certain great French aviators in the designs of these stamps. So far as we are aware, there is no official confirmation of the report, but now we find the following in our technical contemporary, the "Aeroplane":—

"AN AERIAL POSTAGE STAMP.

"The French postal authorities propose to charge a surtax of 75c on packets of 500 gr, 1 fr from 500-800 gr, and 1 fr 25c above that weight, on packages or letters carried by aerial post. A special stamp is being printed at the Boulevard Brune works, designed by M. Leon Ruffe. In the centre of the design is the head of Capt. Guynemer; on the left a view of Issy-les-Moulineaux, the cradle of French aviation; and on the right an aeroplane flying over the Seine. The stamp is to be issued in three colours for the different denominations—black, blue, and red respectively. It will not be issued to the public, but will be affixed to correspondence by the Post Office to show that the proper fee has been paid."—Stamp Collecting.

GREAT BRITAIN.—(1483)—Referring to our item in a previous issue regarding the 1d, No. 79, stamp, we are informed by Mr. J. F. Garlock that he has an envelope in his possession bearing this stamp (addressed by "Annie Thomas", the authoress, to a friend of hers in London) and is postmarked July 9, 1880, Paddington W—. Also the back of the envelope bears the receiving postmark of same date, Jy., 9, 80, London. It is evident that Scott is wrong on this item.

Information is also at hand from Mr. A. V. Richardson that he has two copies of the same stamp (both used in London) dated 3 Jan 1880 and 10 Jan 1880, and also adds that the 1d, red, with plate number, was not withdrawn from use immediately, however. He has a copy used as late as May 3, 1880.

ITALIAN AUSTRIA.—The Italian stamps overprinted with values in "Centesimi, di Corona" were withdrawn from use on April 29, and the ordinary adhesives of that country, without overprint, are now current in the occupied territory. Some items of the superseded issue have reached very high prices.—Stamp Collecting.

JAMAICA.—The 1½d commemorative stamp, which we forecasted some months ago, is now officially foreshadowed, the following supplementary details being supplied:—"A new 1½d pictorial stamp, depicting the Jamaica contingent embarking, has been engraved and will be printed, by the copper-plate process, in light green colour. The stamp is oblong in shape, about 1½ in. by 1 in., and each sheet contains forty stamps."

It is also stated that, the stock of 5s stamps (bearing the Arms of the Colony) having been exhausted, a supply of this value, printed from the King George plate, is in course of preparation. —Stamp Collecting.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—M. Champion informs us of the appearance of a 2h stamp for newspapers and periodicals. It is a plain label, printed in orange, with S H S, in a circle, in the centre, the inscription DRZ. POSTA HRVATSKA above, and numerals in the lower corners. He also mentions a series of four values which were issued to commemorate the independence of Croatia. They are decidedly crude in effect, showing the torso of a man, with Slav inscriptions. These are now obsolete, and apparently very rare.—Stamp Collecting.

We are informed by Messrs. Bright & Son that the following Unpaids (numerals in centre) Laibach issue have appeared: 5, 10, 20, 50h red on white, and 1, 5kr blue on grey.

NORWAY.—Mr. W. F. Palmer advises us that in looking over a set of 1910-12 re-engraved he finds that the 12 ore purple is a little different from the others. The tail of the "R" or Norge extends and touches the "G".

PERSIA.—We have received three new provisional stamps which were issued at Teheran in April. They are a very roughly imitated and badly printed copy of the design of the 1908 issue (type "jj" in our catalogue), with the two circles in the upper corners and the value tablet at foot left blank, the whole stamp being overprinted in the centre "Provisoire 1919, 1 (3 or 6) chahi," Persian characters in the upper circles and "1 (3 or 6) ch" at foot. The values are 1ch yellow, 3ch green, and 6ch violet. There are two errors on the sheet of the 1 chahi the 6th stamp on the top row having the central numeral "1" inverted, and the 7th stamp on the bottom row having a numeral without either serif at the top or cross stroke at foot. They are evidently a local production, there being a serious shortage of stamps in Persia, owing to the difficulty of getting supplies from Europe.

Our correspondent at Teheran has sent us some interesting information, which we publish as a warning for the benefit of our clients. Four surcharged stamps have appeared, 1, 2, 3 and 5 tomans on the 10 and 14 chahi of 1892 issue. Postmasters are not allowed to sell these to the public under a heavy penalty, they are put on parcel receipts (not on the parcels themselves), which are retained by the Post Office and sent to the Head Office and then sold to speculators. Some sheets have the overprint inverted, no doubt done purposely. We hope the speculators will find themselves in the possession of a white elephant.

A very large remainder stock of the Coronation stamps of 1915, also the same overprinted "Service" and "Colis Postaux," is held by a high Persian official, who is only waiting for an opportunity to put them on the market. Our correspondent says they could be sold profitably at a few pence per set, in fact sample sets are being given away!

Finally, it is stated that a set of "War" stamps is to appear shortly, which will cost 100 tomans (about £40), but whether this is the face value or includes a premium is not stated. This is an excellent opportunity for some of our war profiteers to get rid of part of their ill-gotten gains, as they will not be likely to see their money back!—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

POLAND.—Bright & Son inform us that the Poland on German Warsaw has the variety "Pocata" for "Poczta" on four different stamps:—5 on 2½, 5 on 3, 5 and 40pf. Also, a sheet of 40pf has been found doubly overprinted including the error. A variety showing single bar instead of double bar over DEUTSCHES REICH on 5 on 3, 5 on 2½ and 25 on 7½pf has been found on stamp 97 in the sheet.

TRINIDAD AND TOBAGO.—D. H. Seale of St. Thomas advises us that he has a specimen of the Red Cross issue of 1915 in which there is no period after the "15" of "21. 10. 15." Mr. Seale adds that while this variety in the October, 1919, issue is catologed, this is the first that he has seen in the 1915 issue, although he has examined thousands of the stamps and made inquiries of other collectors.

THE SHANGHAI OVERPRINT.

(American Philatelic Service.)

For the first time in twenty years the United States Government has especially prepared a series of its postage stamps for use in a foreign land. On account of the confusion, associated with the price of silver to-day, such franking labels are to be put in circulation in China.

Not since the days of the Spanish-American War have United States stamps with overprinted markings, which philatelists call "surcharges", been put into use in territory outside of the United States. During that period, surcharged American adhesives were despatched to Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and Guam for temporary or provisional use on mail originating in those former Spanish possessions.

The stamps now being prepared by order of the Post Office Department are to be sold only through the United States Postal Agency at Shanghai, and for the prepayment of postage only on mail which is deposited through that agency for transmission to addresses in the United States and colonies. The prices at which these adhesives will sell in Shanghai differ in that it will require twice as much Chinese silver money, to buy one stamp, as the purchaser will have to surrender if he makes payment in gold.

It is to simplify this method of payment that the Government decided to incorporate in the text of the surcharge an additional value which amounts to twice the face value of each stamp. To illustrate, the overprint on the one-cent label will read "Shanghai—2 cent—China" in three lines, while the new value of the 4-cent stamp will read "8 cent". Similarly the 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 9, 10, 12, 15, 20, 30 and 50 cent and $1 denominations are being overprinted with the name of the city and country and an additional value. The 10-cent special delivery stamp also is treated in this manner. Of the current series, only the 11 and 13 cent denominations are not to be thus surcharged.

After July 1 the postal rate of an ordinary letter is to be reduced to two cents, the wartime tax of one cent being removed by Congress. Thus a person who enters the American post office in Shanghai to mail a letter to the United States will, upon purchasing one of the overprinted two-cent stamps, be required to pay four Chinese silver cents to make certain his letter will reach its destination. In return for two Chinese silver dollars the purchaser will be handed fifty of these surcharged 2 cent labels the face value of which is $1 but the total overprinted value of which amounts to $2; and these fifty stamps will prepay postage on fifty letters. On the other hand, if the purchaser offers $2 in American gold, 100 2-cent stamps will be given him which will prepay on 100 letters.

In this way the Government will attract to its Shanghai postal treasury the American gold which is more desirable than the Chinese silver. In other words the issuing of these surcharged stamps indicates that the Government considers Chinese silver currency worth just half as much as American gold currency.

DO YOU REALLY WANT TO HELP?

We have decided (for the present at least) not to increase the subscription price of the WEEKLY, though we are well aware that the price of 50c per year for fifty-two issues is ridiculously cheap for the service we render. Believing that the WEEKLY has a mission to perform in propagating an interest in stamp collecting among boys and young men, we have refrained from making any change in the rate. Many subscribers have written us urging that we make the rate $1 per year and expressing their hearty appreciation of our publication. In view of the evident desire upon the part of our subscribers to help us secure the largest amount of efficiency, we make a few suggestions that we shall run occasionally in the WEEKLY for the guidance of our subscribers:—

Make no remittances in postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new Addressograph plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new plate.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home address.

When you write us a letter, enclose a stamped addressed envelope—if a reply is wanted.

These are little things of themselves but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year the above suggestions, if carried out, will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

CURRENT TELEGRAPH AND REVENUE STAMPS OF PANAMA.

By FREDERICK E. HEYDON.

The following notes as to these interesting stamps are submitted for the information of collectors, but I would say that I have been unable up to the present time to secure material for a complete list or verify the dates of issue. Some of the stamps I will refer to have doubtless been listed in foreign catalogues but these are not accessible to collectors generally.

The telegraph stamps in use at the present time are surcharged postage stamps of the 1906-1907 issue except where noted. The word TELEGRAFOS is overprinted in black letters, the inscription measuring 2½x18½ mm., and the new value when present in similar type, in the 5 cts., on ½c, measuring 3x8 mm.

The varieties which I have seen are:—

1. 2c red and black, surch. diag. in black.
2. 5c on ½c deep rose (1915), surch. horiz. in black.
   a. inverted surcharge.
   b. double surcharge.
   c. double surcharge, one inverted.
   d. double surch., one shifted to right.
   e. double surcharge, TELEGRAFOS twice, "5 cts." once.
   f. double surcharge, "5 cts." above TELEGRAFOS.
3. 10c dark violet and black, surcharged diagonally in black.
   a. double surcharge.
4. 20c on 25c red-brown and black, surcharged horizontally in red.
   a. double surcharge.
   b. surcharge shifted to right.
   c. and d. entire surcharge shifted so that on first row of sheet only the "T" of TELEGRAFOS appears while the others read ELEGRAFOS and "5 cts."
5. 25c red-brown and black, surcharged diagonally in black.
6. 50c black, surcharged diagonally in red.

The revenue stamps in use for documents are of a type quite common in Mexico and Argentina, in which the stamp is double, one-half being attached to the document and the other half remaining in the possession of the government. In the case of the Panama issues the entire stamp is square forming two triangles when divided, the central design is the arms of Panama, of which one-half is shown in the portion on the document. My correspondent on the Isthmus, Mr. J. P. Coveleski, has been unable to obtain the entire stamps, so that I can only give a full description of the portion that goes to the public. The stamps are lithographed, the work being very poor and colors usually pale, and the whole result in marked contrast to the beautiful postal issues that are printed in the United States. The arms and border are in color, inscriptions always in black. Size of entire stamp 36x36 mm., perforated 12. The inscription for the 1c reads as follows:

REPUBLICA DE PANAMA
SECRETARIA DE HACIENDA Y TESORO
DERECHOS SOBRE ENCOMIENDAS
ENCOMIENDA
UN CENTESIMO

The others read the same with change of value.

I am informed that the values run as high as 100 balboas, but only list those up to 10 balboas, as neither Mr. Coveleski nor I have seen the higher values.

1. 1c gray and black.
2. 2c light gray-blue and black.

There are also revenue stamps in use for cigarettes and liquors, but the only one that I can describe at present is the 1c cigarette stamp. It is oblong, 17x143 mm., having at the left the arms of Panama and at the right "1917" with ornamental panels at sides. In the center the inscription reads:—

TIMBRE DE ESPECIAL.
UN CENTESIMO DE BALBOA (B/0.01)
CIGARRILLOS

1. 1c black on pale greenish paper, typographed, perf. 12 horizontally, imperforate vertically.

In conclusion, I cannot but express the regret that I feel and which I am sure is shared by others, that some publisher here does not undertake the issue of a catalogue of foreign revenue stamps, and also of our own state revenue stamps. As a rule they are far

5c 1902 IMPERFORATES

I have found this United States stamp to be one of the most sought for varieties of all 20th Century issues—and it is really scarce. Personally, my opinion is that it is catalogued far too low at $4.00 and my prediction is that it will be advanced considerably before long.
If you need the stamp, my advice is to buy now.

superior to the postal issues in beauty and interest, and in Europe I believe they are generally collected and studied. Here, however, they will never receive the recognition they merit until there is a readily accessible catalogue in the English language.

I have twice given up collections, once of Mexican and the second time a far larger collection of the beautiful Argentina revenue stamps, as there is little pleasure in collecting what no one else in your vicinity is interested in, where you have to send abroad for material, and which you can only dispose of at a loss.

A JUNIOR DICTIONARY.

By C. A. HOWES.

(Outside of the author of our Dictionary no one has taken a livelier interest in it than C. A. Howes, the former president of the A. P. S. Mr. Howes is a most painstaking student and we are indebted to him for considerable service in the reading of proofs, etc. When the completed work appears every page will have been proof read by Mr.. Howes, and while we shall not hold him responsible for any errors that may creep in, we shall give him great credit for the measure of perfection attained by the work.—W. O. W.)

IDROVOLANTE.—A surcharge on an Italian special delivery stamp used in June, 1917, for airplane mail between Naples and Palermo, Sicily as shown by the further surcharge NAPOLI-PALERMO-NAPOLI. The word means literally "hydroflight" and its application to the route between the cities mentioned is obvious.

I. E. F. D.—This overprint, together with the word Postage, appeared on certain Turkish fiscal stamps in 1919. The letters represent "Indian Expeditionary Force (Troop) D." This "Troop D" is the military force that occupied the city of Mosul northwest of Baghdad where the provisionals were used.

POCCIR.—This word is made from the Russian alphabet (or "Cyrillic") and to be properly spelled the last letter is our R written backwards, but is "ya" in its sound. The word is "Russia" in Russian. The word as it appears upon the stamps is the equivalent of Ros-si-ya.

HAITI SURCHARGES 1915-1919.

A correspondent sends us some valuable data dealing with the surcharges applied to Haitian stamps 1915 to 1919 We quote from his letter and include a table submitted by him:—

I have noticed that there appears to be considerable confusion regarding the Haitian surcharges, of the last three years, and I have enclosed a list of them ALL with the number of each surcharged. The rarity of these items cannot be judged from the number printed as I am fairly sure that certain ones are still in the hands of local speculators, and may show up at any moment. On the other hand one of the rarest I believe will be the one I have marked "xx", as this was issued in red for only a few days during the rush of Christmas and New Year cards, and was exhausted before the speculator could get hold of it or knew of its existence. Doubles, inverted and "one without" surcharges exist in practically all these stamps, and those so surcharged during the last two years (that is since an American Post office inspector has taken charge) I believe to be genuine. Previous to the arrival of this inspector, many faked inverted et cetera were issued. Of this I am certain as I have seen a strip of Scott's No. 148 in which each stamp had a different sort of surcharge, manifestly made to order. Practically all the genuine odd surcharges occur at the corners of the sheet. The effort to create interest in the stamp of Haiti by statements that this republic will soon become a dependent of the United States are hardly in accordance with the facts. The United States has a treaty with Haiti which is now good for twenty years and gives us sufficient control to maintain the present form of government, and the continuance of the issue of stamps by the Haitian government itself.

THE LITTLE MAN OF 28th STREET.

Another Tale of the New York We Pass Through With Closed Eyes.

By KONRAD BERCOVICI.

Some people call him Signor, but he is better known as "Unique" and many more people call him "Signor Unique." He is a bent little man in a long green Prince Albert coat that was once black. A short gray beard frames a pale face in squashed folds on which squats a flat nose. Bushy, low-arched eyebrows shade two little eyes which move rapidly up and down and in and out of their orbs as move scared little mice in their hole. Such is the appearance of Signor when you meet him in his musty shop littered with bric-a-brac.

On the street his gait is so irregular it suggests that he is vociferating with his legs; that the two limbs are quarreling with the jerking arms and that the four limbs argue each separately with the pavement and the curb stones about things we simple mortals will never understand.

From where and when he came here nobody knows. But all the antiquarians on 28th Street swear—and some of these gentlemen are much older than the antiques they sell—that Signor was there before any of them was born, that his shop is the oldest on the street.

They also assure you that he can "smell" a fake antique from a distance. In fact, they maintain, this sixth sense of Signor has been his undoing. He could not "guarantee" the genuineness of an article. He knew too much.

Most of the others guaranteed in good faith and ignorance thousands of pieces, and made fortunes, where Signor only shook his head derisively.

They have sold "genuine" Memlings to collecting millionaires, swords of Gaspard Olivares and statues of Osiris as well as Chinese porcelains and Buddhas, the origin of which they refused to know, while Signor maintained that the real things still on the market would not fill a good sized shoe.

On the dusty shelves in Signor's store are pieces in brass, pewter, glass and iron of no particular artistic value, but the origin of each thing is guaranteed by the dusty old man.

He will tell you the whole history of every bit of metal in his shop. And if you think him stark mad when he announces the price of the iron hinge on which once hung the principal door of the Amiens Cathedral, or of the brass lantern which once adorned the nuptial chambers of the Moor King Mambrin of Don Quixote fame—if you are stunned by Signor's prices he will tell you that all these things are "unique."

Signor never owned or sold a thing which was not unique. He has investigated that Cathedral door hinge and convinced himself that the upper hinge on which now hangs the door is a new one. As to the brass lantern, he has a hundred authorities to strengthen his allegation.

One must know that Signor does not deal in things that have their counterpart somewhere on this planet.

But above all, Signor has always been proud of his collection of stamps. Among the philatelists the world over he is listed as the owner of the most searched for stamps.

There are standing offers of thousands of dollars for some of the little colored squares of paper Signor is tucking safely away in his heavy safe every sundown. Bent over his little desk in a corner of his darkened shop, the old man is daily examining his stamp collection.

He looks them over again and again; treats them, where there is suspicion of decay, nurses them back to health, using medicines from labelled bottles or by exposing them to the air after mid-day, when the rays of the sun no longer affect color and tissue.

No living thing ever had his care. To these square pieces of paper he has devoted all his life. To obtain them he has schemed and worried and worked and lived.

Of all the stamps in his collection, Signor had one which had given him the greatest trouble and which he had nursed for years. It was the only postage stamp left of a first emission of one of the Bahama Islands.

For some reason or other this stamp was perforated and the edge around the little holes in the paper was thinning away with a rapidity frightful to the old philatelist.

He loved that stamp as a father loves a sick child of genius. There was not another one like it in the world. Not another bit of carmine paper with a five-cornered crown and a small cross a little off center.

There was a standing offer for the stamp by a philatelist of London who had tried for years to induce Signor to part with it, but the bent little man prized and loved the stamp even more, when he knew how much the other man across the waters wanted to have it.

Out of sheer perversity, he occasionally wrote to London to find out whether James Bolton would not offer a bigger price. With each increase the other offered, he grew in Signor's estimation. But to part with the "Bahama" was another question!

And suddenly, through some other philatelist, Signor learned that there existed in Mexico City, another "Bahama," just like his own. At first he pretended that he did not believe the report. He was so sure that the one he had was unique!

But little by little the suspicion of such possibility wormed itself into him and undermined his confidence. He looked at the stamp, questioningly as one would on the corpse of a dead woman, whose faithfulness was just impugned, but there was no answer.

A few days later, unable to live in doubt, Signor was en route to Mexico City.

After manoeuvering for a week he found out that Don Garaye had once possessed such a stamp, but had sold it to a house in Lisbon, Portugal. There was no more impatient man on the boat than the Signor.

The expanse of water and sky was nothing to him. The thousands of horse power of the big engines harnessed did not work fast enough and the possible quest of every one on the boat dwindled to meaninglessness before the importance of his own.

Without a night's rest he hurried from Havre to Paris and fumed and fretted the few hours he had to wait for the

Some of our advertisers are a bit dilatory in getting advertising copy to this office. It is due, no doubt, to the fact that during the past six months the publication of our paper has been frequently delayed and advertisers have taken advantage of this situation. Things are becoming normal and within two weeks we shall get back upon the old schedule. It means that the WEEKLY will be mailed not later than Friday and advertising received the previous Monday will be too late for us to use. Advertisers will please note that Saturday is the day for the receipt of copy.

EDITORIAL.

Visitor—The most recent visitor postally by way of airplane arrived from Toledo, with the pass-port postmarked as follows: "Air Mail Service, Jul. 4, 11 A. M., 1919, Toledo, Ohio." Mr. F. B. McGown sends us "Greetings from Toledo on the first Air Mail trip."

Views—From a source favorable to the union of Northern Epirus to Greece, we have received some particulars as to conditions in Epirus to-day. It was March 1, 1914, that Epirus declared its independence, a few days after William of Wied accepted the Albanian throne. Of the 200,000 inhabitants of Northern Epirus, 120,000 are said to be Christians and 80,000 Moslems; and it is maintained that the Greek influence is easily dominant. We quote: "The fact that the boys and girls are sent by their parents to learn Greek rather than Albanian and to study Greek history instead of Albanian is an irrefutable proof of the will of the Christian Epirotes to be Greeks and to be united with Greece."

Vindicated—A subscriber says: "I like to read the discussions on questions of philatelic moment as they are a sauce for the solid meat of the stamps. You used to tell of the different types of old-fashioned collector and I want to ask what has become of the o. f. c. who collected in a secret, mysterious way in order never to be known as identified with philately. I was one of the sort who collected on the sly, as it were, and I look back on this phase of my collecting career with amusement. Latterly, sanity reigns with me and instead of slinking along the back roads with my album, so to say, I travel down the main street. I do not hesitate to avow myself a stamp collector when opportunity allows me to proclaim the good news and I am ready to smile defiance at the scoffer. Virtue has its own reward and recently I made a charming philatelic acquaintance by this course, in the person of a business confrere who has a fine collection."

Varied—Several correspondents who have called attention to mistakes in the assignment of cuts in the catalogue and whose letters were referred to the publishers are advised that corrections have been given in the errata of the 1919 edition; and we have been informed to that effect.

Various—We have been favored again by Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz: "I notice that a reader advocates the rubbing of mint O. G.'s across the hair lightly so that the gum may become covered by a thin and invisible film of oil and thus be kept from sticking to the page in cases when atmospheric conditions are such that the relative humidity is high. This method may bring results but I am sure that it would go against the grain of most collectors to employ it. Personally. I have found that a little talcum powder rubbed onto the gum side of unused stamps will prevent them from adhering to the pages under the most trying circumstances. By-the-way, did you know that censorship on A. E. F. mail came to an end on June 19th? A friend in the local post office says that he saw the departmental order. According to newspaper reports a New York bank lost $63,000 when an airplane was burned at Cleveland. It seems that the bank's mail was not intended for aerial despatch but was transferred at Cleveland to airplane for Chicago. This is an expensive method of popularizing the air mail but further reports may be of interest."

Valuable—From Mr. C. F. Richards, New York City, we have received the following testimony: "I read the remarks of a correspondent relative to the resistance of a safe to damage by fire of stamp contents; and perhaps the following lines from a large San Francisco dealer regarding his experience in the awful conflagration there may be of interest: 'One might say that it was extremely careless to leave rare stamps where they could be destroyed but in this connection I wish to say that we had a safe in our office that weighed more than seven tons and was guaranteed by the manufacturers to protect its contents against fire. The very hot fire caused the bricks as well as the safe to become pretty close to red hot. After the safe was buried three weeks almost, we secured a permit to have it uncovered. Two days afterwards, the safe was opened and the contents burst into flames but no particular damage was done as all of the stamps had been ruined by having been done brown by the intense heat. I saw a number of safes opened about this time, not one of which that was exposed to a really hot fire, similar to ours, protected the contents.' Each one may draw his own conclusions. Mine are that a safe is a vain thing for safety."

Victorious—In the foregoing paragraph, a somewhat sinister picture is given of the ability of the safe to protect the stamps and other papers in it from the effects of intense heat but we have several accounts that seem to prove that modern safes escape the test of fire unscathed as to contents. From a reader who knows his subject, we have received a remarkable story of "testing" safes before they are installed for use. One test is a straight heat duration test and the other a combination of heat, dropping, impact and then more heat, simulating actual fire conditions." The tale of the test is so gruelling that not having space to relate it in detail, we can only sympathize with the safe, which, assuredly, is treated "rough". One might place reliance upon the inviolacy of the contents of an engineer's "checked" safe, we should think; and obviously such a mechanical marvel would be a great dampener of an ordinary fire's ambition.

Voice—We have received a few more letters about the present prices on the choicer United States stamps but they do not call for special comment. They are mentioned as indicative of the deep interest that is felt in our issues and it is not our wish to prolong the discussion that our original paragraph provoked. Recently, a large number of priced auction catalogues of sales dating from 1885 onwards have been examined with an idea of following the trend of prices on U. S. stamps. It becomes apparent from a study of the auction prices that there has been a steady advance in auction prices during the past thirty-five years, ignoring the big advance in the early nineties when for the first time a consistent demand for United States was experienced. In the sale of the great collection of E. Harrison Sanford, in New York, in April, 1886, a penmarked Brattleboro brought $145; the 30 cent, 1869, shield reversed, realized $35 and the prices were considered very fair at the time but they prove that the demand for the thirty cent, inverted shield, was almost negligible at the time. When the call for good U. S. became sustained, prices reflected this firmness and when as at present, there is an inquiry beyond all precedent for the issues, the basis for the present strong prices is found.

COMING AND GOING.

—A subscriber suggests a nice little side-line in U. S. collecting. He refers to stamps perforated with initials of railroad and steamship companies and mercantile firms. He has been collecting for the past two years and vouches for the fascination of the quest of these stamps. We quote from his letter:—"While they do not usually run above the 3c value there are numerous shades, perforations, pairs and even strips. Over one hundred railroads are represented in my collection."

—W. H. W., Jr.—We are glad that your claim against the Pittsburgh party has been settled so satisfactorily. You fail, however, to mention his name in your letter.

—W. H. Dodge, who has recently taken advertising space in our columns, informs us that he has just opened a new store in Los Angeles in addition to the one in Pasadena. He comments upon the large mailing list that we have in these two cities and we can only add that outside of Chicago and New York there is no area where stamp collecting has a stronger hold than in these two fine cities in southern California.

—No attention was paid to a recent News Gleaning request. We will try again. Will the subscriber living in Cambridge, who on June 13 made a remittance to this office, please inform us of his name and address? To make certain that we get the correct party please indicate the amount of the remittance.

—It is the intention of C. E. Severn, editor of the WEEKLY, to attend the A. P. S. convention at St. Louis. If you wish to place your proxy in his hands it will be properly taken care of. We have heard from P. M. Wolsieffer that he will attend in company with Mrs. Wolsieffer and we shall start a convention list as soon as other names are reported to us.

—J. E. Handshaw, the veteran dealer, in the Metropolitan Philatelist claims that the 3c envelope on amber, said to be printed in black instead of purple, is not what its friends claim it to be. He says:—"If examined closely with a glass it will be found to be a very dark purple and not really black."

—The British dirigible which has just made the trip across the Atlantic, dropped some mailbags as it journeyed over Newfoundland. These will no doubt be heard from in due season.

—Jos. A. Steinmetz, president of the Penn Aero Club, has just been elected president of the Engineer's Club of Philadelphia. The firm of Janney, Steinmetz & Co. is a prominent factor in the steel and iron business.

—Maitland Milliken, contributing some notes to the Philatelic West, acquaints us with the death of Daniel Y. Dodd which occurred some months ago. He was a shut-in, a young cripple who had taken a great delight in stamp collecting. Mr. Milliken says: "He found great comfort and solace in his stamp collecting pursuits" and a number of WEEKLY subscribers gladly extended a helping hand.

—The word is spelled RAROTONGA and not RARATONGA. We are not the only ones who made the mistake. Even the Australian Stamp Journal has this to say:—"We thought a mistake had been made, but on consulting the British Admiralty Guide Book the correct spelling was found to be with the O."

—A Grenada subscriber has sent us a copy of the West Indian dated June 6. In the deliberations of the Legislative Council we notice that a measure has been put through repealing the war tax on postage. It was explained that "it would not be right to give the United States an advantage in one direction while we were penalizing other islands under the postal Surtax Ordinance".

—A new Gibbons catalog may shortly be expected. It is being looked forward to with a great deal of keen anticipation.

—The London Stamp Club, in which F. Hugh Vallancey is a leading factor, is now a reality and rooms have been opened on Farringdon St., Ludgate Circus. There is every indication that the venture will prove a success. In this connection we may add that the Royal Philatelic Society is also seeking a permanent home of a similar character.

—It will come as a surprise to many to know that the business of the J. W. Scott Co., including the Metropolitan Philatelist, is on the market. Mr. Handshaw, who purchased the business but a short while ago, has been in poor health recently and desires to take a well-earned rest. The store at 36 John St. is so much of a philatelic landmark that there will be little difficulty in disposing of the business. We learn that Mr. Handshaw has just undergone two surgical operations at the Swedish Hospital in Brooklyn and we congratulate him upon his recovery.

—A. G. McA.—We do not know of any issue of stamps in 1905 that commemorated the exposition in question. Possibly you have in mind the Alaska-Yukon Exposition held at Seattle in 1909, for which we had the 2c Seward stamp.

—A. A. Hyde, Sherman, Texas, can get no replies to letters sent Harold Davis, alias Oak Stamp Co., Dallas, Tex., or Frank Yoakum, 2927 Francis Av., Los Angeles, Cal.

—Homer D. Rose feels that a raise in our subscription price would be O. K. but wonders what the effect of increases has been with Red Book, Good Housekeeping and other magazines. One can make a safe guess.

ATLAS STAMP CO., (P. C. Smith, Prop.) W. Somerville, Mass.

FOR THE LOVE OF PHILATELY

Will you kindly help me obtain information regarding the present revenue stamps so that collectors 50 years from now will know what happened in 1919 and won't have to guess at it as we too often do about what happened in 1869.

WHAT TO DO

Go to the Internal Revenue Office in your city—in the Custom House or Post Office—and ask the clerk who sells the revenue stamps a few questions. Be polite and considerate and patient and don't tackle him when he is in the middle of a rush. If you happen to have a cigar with you don't be stingy with it and don't forget that the clerk doesn't have to tell you anything unless he feels like it but that he is probably a good fellow and will "come across" if properly approached.

Find out if he has sold any of the current documentaries surcharged "NARCOTIC" with a rubber hand-stamp; how many different hand-stamps he used; (probably there was only one), what colors of ink he used; and what denominations were over-printed, with the color used on each if he can remember.

If he will favor you with an impression of his hand-stamp on a clean piece of paper just let him know that you'll be tickled to death to have it, but don't ask him to put it on any stamps and don't ask him to sell you any "Narcotic" stamps because that is against the law and you don't want to get him nor yourself into trouble.

Have a piece of paper and a pencil in your pocket and write down what he tells you at the time so you won't forget it. Then write me a nice letter giving all the facts you have obtained and send the impression of the stamp. Then I'll take my coat off and get to work compiling a list that will be some list, friends, BELIEVE ME!

If you want the impression back just say so and if another good fellow has been ahead of you and got the whole story, don't make the clerk tired but say "thank you" just the same and leave him with a smile.

Do your part and I'll do mine and when the list is compiled it won't be hid under a bushel but will be published for the benefit of every collector in America—and some outside.

FIRST COME FIRST SERVED

PERCY MANN,
720 Liberty Bldg., Philadelphia, Pa.

I KNOW that many collectors have rare United States duplicates that they have been intending to sell or exchange but have not taken the trouble to either get them together or hunt up an interested party. I am the very collector you are looking for because I will pay you good prices if you want the cash or offer excellent exchange should you rather add to your collection.

Do not put it off longer, make those idle duplicates work. Put them in an envelope and send them to me today and tell me what you want in cash or exchange. A reply will come by return mail. I will also gladly buy your United States collection provided it contains desirable material in fine condition. Price is not the main consideration. I pay unusual prices for unusual items. Rare covers especially wanted. Please remember I am not an amateur so want no trash, no perforates trimmed, no pen cancelled cleaned and gummed, etc. Remember, I have cut my eye teeth. The best of Commercial, Bank or Dealer reference furnished on request.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—One of the most interesting items that we have seen for sometime, in the way of a new variety, has just been shown us by Mr. Wendell Harmon. He has located the 1c green surface print upon unwatermarked paper, with one row of vertical perforations missing between the stamps. This gives us horizontal pairs perforate between and perforated 11 on other sides. These are clearly part-perforates for there is not the slightest trace of the perforating wheel to be seen. The missing perforations are lacking between the 9th and 10th vertical rows of stamps, for in the block we have had the pleasure of inspecting, there is a straight edge at the right.

1919 Surface Print, Unwatermarked, Perf. 11.
1c dull green, horizontal pair, imperforate between.

In further reference to the recent compounds, we note that a certain dealer is offering them perforated "10x11". In the interest of accuracy and to forestall more letters upon the subject, your editor would advise that such varieties are not known. All that have been found to date are perforated "11x10". Should the Bureau later on issue in sheet form some of the stamps from the endwise coil plates then we are likely to have the 10x11.

It will have been noticed that there has been a great difference between the prices asked for these varieties, between those who had them first and those who later obtained them. This is due to the fact that when the first supply arrived in New York they were sold out almost before being discovered and consequently the few owners of the first supply felt confident that they had something comparing favorably with the former compounds. Later, however, a second supply was received with the result that supplies were obtained by many.

Mr. Albert C. Reukauff submits for our inspection a very unusual provisional issue of the Playing Card stamp. We have the well known 2c blue roulette and watermarked stamp surcharged in red with a large "8c" followed by "R. P. C. Co.—4-1-'19", the above appearing in three vertical rows of surcharge. The stamp, however, had previously been surcharged in small red letters "8 Cts."

Mr. William A. Sisson has shown us a very unusual oddity, resembling a shinplaster of old. It is dated 1838, is about the size of the old twenty-five cents note, and we find within a fancy border "Benton Post Office—Due the Bearer—Five Cents—Payable in Postage." We judge these were used by the postmaster to make small change but we would welcome further details from those familiar with these old notes.

Messrs. C. C. Donaldson and Fred E. Prohaska as well as the Cleveland Stamp Company have sent us notes of interest for which we express our thanks.

ABYSSINIA.—The Ethiopian Government is issuing a new set of postage stamps of the following denominations: ⅛, ¼, ½, 1, 2, 4, 6, 8, 12 guerches, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and 10 thalers or dollars.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

AUSTRALIA.—We are advised by Mr. J. H. Smyth that the 3d stamp is now being issued surface printed.

BELGIUM.—Messrs. Bright & Son advise that they have official information from the Director of Posts at Brussels that the Belgium stamps overprinted with the letter "T" which have been chronicled in some of the Philatelic papers were not officially issued; this was done in a few cases by the Post Office Employees with a hand-stamp for their own convenience, we therefore do not consider these stamps worthy of Catalogue rank.

BOLIVIA.—An entire new pictorial series has been placed on sale in this Republic, the values, colours, and subjects being stated to be as follows:—

1 centavo, green (Ruins of Thiahuacu).
2c red (Cathedral at Thiahuacu).
5c light brown (Ruins of Thiahuacu).
10c violet (Bay Indijena Titicaca).
20c orange (Lake Titicaca).
50c blue (Guaqui and La Paz railroad).
1 boliviano carmine (Ruins of Thiahuacu).
2bol blue (Port of Guaqui).
5bol black (Coat of Arms).

We list these on authority of the Revista Filatelica but we cannot quite reconcile the chronicle with some of the pictorial stamps actually received. The subject of the 2c is, we believe, Lake Titicaca, and not the one shown in the chronicle.

We are also not at present aware as to whether the above are already obsolete; presumably they are, for Mr. Theodore Champion informs us that the undermentioned set has just been issued in an uniform design, reproducing the Arms of the Republic. The numbers given below are the totals printed of the respective values:—

1c rose,	1,450,000	20c blue,	500,000
5c green,	1,500,000	22c sky-blue,	1,000,000
10c red,	1,500,000	24c violet,	1,000,000
50c orange,			50,000

These stamps have been printed by the American Bank Note Company, New York, in accordance with the decrees of April 24 and May 15, 1918, the total nominal value of this new output being 824,000 bolivianos.

GREAT BRITAIN.—(Offices in Levant).—In consequence of the re-opening of the British Post Offices in Constantinople and Smyrna recently, it seems probable that something in the nature of a special issue of postage stamps for the use of these agencies may be forthcoming in the near future. Developments in this quarter will be closely followed by Levant specialists and others interested in the fascinating stamp issues of the Near East.—West End Philatelist.

ITALY.—(Offices in China).—A definite issue of overprinted Italian stamps for the use of these offices is now being prepared by L'Officina de Carta Valori, Turin.—West End Philatelist.

JAMAICA.—A sheet of the current 3d "War Stamp" has been found with the surcharge inverted.—Whitfield King's Monthly Circular.

MOSUL.—From an official source we have now received the figures of the Mosul provisionals overprinted "I. E. F. 'D.'":—

½ anna,	650.000	3 annas,	65.000
1 anna,	245.000	4 annas,	85.000
2½ annas,	130,000	8 annas.	45,000

—West End Philatelist.

POLAND.—Messrs. Bright & Son chronicle the Cracow Issue 15 & 25f overprinted "Porto" in a frame.

PORTUGUESE COLONIES.—The current fiscal stamps of 1c, 4c. and 5c have been overprinted "Taxa de Guerra" (War Tax), and issued for postal use. There is only this one issue for all the colonies except in the case of Portuguese India, Macao and Timor, which have to be provided with separate sets owing to the difference of currency.—Whitfield King & Co's Monthly List.

RHINELAND OCCUPATION.—Whilst the prospect of a British special issue of postage stamps for the occupied Rhine provinces is as remote as ever, the Belgian Government is said to have decided upon the preparation of a series of occupation stamps for circulation in the Belgian zone of administration.—West End Philatelist.

RAROTONGA.—We are advised by Mr. J. H. Smyth that the stock of the 3d has been exhausted and it is expected that the next printing will be on the surface printed 3d stamp of Australia.

RUSSIA—(Offices in Levant).—The resuscitated stamps of the Russian Levant post offices, overprinted with the significant initials of the Russian Company of Navigation and Trade, viz.: "R. (Russkoie)" "O (Obshtchestwo)" "P (Parschodstwa)" i "T (Torgowli)," were re-issued in this form under authority of the Ukraine Government for use upon correspondence conveyed by the company's vessels between the ports of the Black Sea.—West End Philatelist.

UKRANIN.—Mr. Fred E. Prohaska sends for our inspection a stamp from this country. It is printed on white paper with a frame of O and within are the words "Lietuvos pastasi sk. 30 sk." in three lines.

COLLECTION FOR SALE

Collection of nearly 12.000 varieties in four volumes cloth bound International Albums, printed one side only. Albums new. Condition of stamps is 98% first class condition. A very fine collection for any collector, especially for a starter. For a quick turn over the first draft for $500 gets it. You couldn't buy a packet for that price. Nearly 900 U. S. in the collection.

Madrid express. After three days' travel in the train, crossing France and Spain, Signor reached the city of Lisbon. But lo, the stamps, exchanged for a collection of other things, was now in Italy. The old Raspiegli of Rome, Italy's oldest philatelist, had acquired the much sought for unique "Bahama."

News of sudden inquiries travels fast among antiquarians and philatelists and the frequency of such inquiries raises the value of the thing inquired for.

Giuseppe Raspiegli of Rome knew all about Signor's travels ere that gentleman crossed the frontier of Italy. When an old man in a Prince Albert coat, casually visited his shop and inquired about a perforated Bahama stamp the Rome philatelist just as casually answered that the little thing was somewhere in Italy and that he could procure it if—if Signor was serious enough. Signor answered that he wanted to see it, but when he heard the price Raspiegli asked, he threw his hands up. It was double the amount he ever dared to ask for his Bahama.

For weeks at a stretch Signor secluded himself in his little attic room overlooking the Tiber. For hours and hours he looked at his own Bahama, he had believed so many years to be unique.

Raspiegli demanded such an enormous sum for his stamp! It was in much better condition than the one Signor owned. Time had been kindlier to its color and tissue. But the price was an enormous one. It was almost all he possessed. It meant ruin.

The old philatelist could neither eat nor sleep. His limbs grew even more quarrelsome with one another and his bent shoulders now frequently entered the argument.

J. E. LEA, 120 Portland Street, Manchester, England

Raspiegli was made of adamant. He had fixed his price and would not relent.

He had sized up his customer and knew that sooner or later the little man would open his wallet and pay.

Meanwhile Signor starved himself to death. When he had finally decided to pay the price to Raspiegli he had just enough left to carry him home on the next boat.

That last night in the attic room overlooking the Tiber was one of great suffering. He cried. He tore his hair. He bit his nails.

But early morning found him at the door of Raspiegli, money in hand.

"It is all I possess Maestro Raspiegli," he muttered.

"Which shows you are a real philatelist," the Italian answered suavely as he counted the money.

From the deepest recess of the safe he brought out the little square of carmine paper. Signor looked at it again. No doubt it was in a better state of preservation than his own, but he felt no warmth, no intimacy, no kinship with it.

"You will probably yet make a profit on it," Raspiegli disturbed the old man's contemplation.

"A profit! A profit! I did not buy it to make a profit. I only wanted that my own Bahama should be the only one of its kind."

As he spoke he lit a match and before Raspiegli had time to interfere, the ashes of the other "Bahama" mixed with the dust on the floor.

For Signor things had to be unique or nothing.—N. Y. World.

INTRODUCING T. ALLEN.

We have a new and somewhat modest advertiser with us by the name of T. Allen, whose announcements will be found regularly on page 3. The casual reader cannot decide whether Mr. Allen's name be Thomas or Timothy, but this much we can affirm, that he has an excellent name with the stamp trade in England and moreover his advertising copy was accompanied by a cash payment covering thirteen weeks' use of the WEEKLY. This means that Mr. Allen is going to try out our publication and quite naturally we want his experiment to be successful. In writing him, save time by sending the finest reference you can muster.

SHALL WE KEEP IT AT 50c?

You say our paper is worth $1 per year. You are right! Won't you help to keep it at 50c and thus keep it the greatest philatelic missioner in the world? This is how you can do it:—

Make no remittances in postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new Addressograph plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new plate.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home address.

When you write us a letter, enclose a stamped addressed envelope—if a reply is wanted.

By B. W. H. POOLE.

SILBERGROSCHEN. — The value shown upon some of the stamps of Prussia, Thurn and Taxis, etc. There were thirty silbergroschen in the thaler of that period one of these being equal to about 2c in American currency.

SILK PAPER.—A term applied to paper containing colored fibres such as that upon which some of the United States revenue stamps were printed.

SILK THREAD PAPER.—Paper into which long strands of silk thread are embedded at the time of manufacture. It is sometimes known as "Dickinson" paper from the name of its inventor. The 1854-62 stamps of Switzerland furnish examples of this kind of paper.

SILURIAN PAPER. — A name by which granite paper is sometimes known.

SIMI.—One of the islands of the Aegean Sea which since 1913 has had its own special stamps formed by overprinting, the name "Simi" on the contemporary stamps of Italy.

—C. Reitter, Box 1054, Detroit, Mich., would like to know the present addresses of Frank Hart, Greenridge, S. I., N. Y., and A. Held, 2061 Mance St., Montreal. Mail is returned marked "removed".

—We are indebted to F. B. McGown for a cover bearing a 6c aeroplane stamp with postal marking indicating aerial service between Toledo and Chicago, July 4. A purple cancelling ink was used and within the circular canceller is the inscription:—"Airmail Service — Toledo, Ohio" with date July 4, 1919, 11 A. M. A clipping is sent us by Mr. McGown taken from the Toledo Blade of July 1 describing the arrangements for the accommodation of the fliers.

—J. A. M., Jr.—The stamps referred to by you do not have a sufficient postal standing to merit being catalogued. The Australian stamps perforated with the letters O. S. are as you say bona fide. Under Luxemburg where perforated official stamps have been in use, Scott says, "We no longer list stamps of this character."

—W. J. Long, 5136 Catherine St., Phila., Pa., reports that he is unable to secure satisfactory returns from Burton Hoffman, Nevada, Mo.

—We have received a short article entitled, "The Condition Crank," by E. D. Swartout. Mr. Swartout opposes the disposition upon the part of collectors to be over-particular as regards condition of stamps and believes that something should be done to meet this "feverish condition."

—A correspondent in the Richmond, Va., Times-Despatch wants to know what the Bolshevists in Russia are going to do for the portrait of a public man with which to adorn their stamps. He adds:—"No engraver would ever be able to get all of Trotzky's whiskers on a postage stamp."

—We are informed that Elliott Perry has purchased the Luff collection of Sanitary Fair stamps. Mr. Perry is engaged in writing a booklet manuscript on these stamps and the WEEKLY will have the privilege of profiting by Mr. Perry's study.

—M. Herbert, the president of the New York Philatelic Society, desires that Kenneth J. Smith shall communicate with him in care of Lazard Bros., Bankers, 19 Nassau St., N. Y. City. Mr. Herbert says he has not received any letter from Mr. Smith and will be glad to straighten out any misunderstanding that may have arisen between him and the secretary, Mr. Weiss.

—E. A. St. Clair, Kansas City, Kans., sends us a distinctive cancellation that is being used in Denver, Colo. There is an insert in the canceller in four lines, reading:—"Be Careful—With Fire—In the—Mountains".

—We have received from Jos. A. Steinmetz the Dutch Indies 22½c 1908 issue surcharged in large figures in black with new value 17½. The numerals are very large, covering a considerable portion of the circle containing the picture of the Queen. Our new issue editor is away on a vacation and we take a chance in listing this as something new. It will be noted that the 22½c stamp used is not of the issue of 1912-14 but the previous supposedly obsolete issue of 1908.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Harry Griffin, Raymond B. House, W. R. Cline, Kenneth Tallmadge.

—W. M. Boggs.—The Philatelic West has been sailing over troubled waters, but a number just at hand is dated April-May. In the opening editorial, the publisher expresses deep regret at the irregularity with which the paper has been issued, but a return to normal conditions is anticipated in the very near future.

—A young man of seventeen desires a situation in the office of some stamp company. Can translate Spanish and French. G. A. Bradlio y Martin, 211 S. King St., Xenia, O.

—The Midland Stamp Co. is unable to secure any replies to letters sent to L. J. Miller, furniture dealer, Orange, Texas.

69 FLEET STREET, LONDON, EN

A. E. Hussey of Cincinnati, O., makes similar claims as regards O. Peartree, 306 W. 15 St., N. Y. City and W. G. McLaughlin, Catskill, N. Y.

—"I believe that if a correspondent will read a dealer's advertisement intelligently, asks for the lines that he sells, furnishes reference if he is unknown, and encloses return postage if he is asking for information, that he will receive a prompt reply. When a dealer distinctly tells you he deals in rare stamps only, do not write for cheap approvals and if he advertises to sell cheap foreign only do not write for rare United States. Use just a little judgment and there will be slight cause for complaint. I allow dozens of letters to go unanswered. When someone writes for approvals or offers me common foreign stamps, when I distinctly state I am not interested in either, I do not feel called upon to waste postage to tell him the very thing that he would learn if he read my advertisement intelligently."—PHILIP H. WARD, JR.

RYDER, CROUSE & WELCH.

BY CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Probably most collectors of the private die revenues will agree that the "R. C. & W." match stamps is the handsomest of those engraved by the Bureau. Not that the design or the workmanship is so much better than any other of the Bureau stamps, but simply because of its brilliant and striking color—a carmine lake much like the color of the 6c Newfoundland postage stamp of the 1890-95 series. The color is so effective that we overlook much in the stamp no real artist could pardon.

For instance, what could be more incongruous or absurd than to group American flags around a shield a la the beautiful 30c 1869—but a shield vastly too large, and then to surmount this enormous shield with an eagle, if it really is an eagle, that looks no bigger than a full-grown sparrow and seems to be in imminent danger of falling from his precarious perch atop the gigantic shield? If the bird is an eagle, it must be a very young one, not steady on his legs nor accustomed to his wings and one is puzzled to decide which is the more ridiculous, the undergrown eaglet on the big shield or the overgrown shield under the tiny eaglet! As an artistic triumph, this stamp is a joke; and yet, where is the collector who has not welcomed it to his collection with joy!

The firm was composed of Nehemiah C. Ryder, Charles M. Crouse and Michael J. Welch and the place of business was East Water St., corner of University Avenue, Syracuse, New York. Mr. Ryder is not the Ryder of the Excelsior Match Co. of Syracuse.

The stamp is a horizontal rectangle of the standard 1c size bearing the numeral "1" in each corner. It cannot be mistaken for a medicine or perfumery stamp because at the left it reads "MATCH" and at the right "STAMP", the letters being placed under each other instead of side by side. In many respects it suggests the stamp of the Trenton Match Co. which preceded it by a few months. No date of the approval of the die is given in the Boston Book which states:—

First issued, December 1, 1881.
Last issued, June 24, 1882.
210 stamps per sheet, (15x14).
2,100,000 issued, all printed by the Bureau on watermarked paper.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

THE PASSING OF THE 3c ENVELOPE.

By J. MURRAY BARTELS.

After a course of 20 months, during which period the 3c rate for inland letter postage was in force, the sale of the 3c envelope practically ceased on July 1, and we understand that all stock remaining in post offices is to be returned to the P. O. Department by August 1st for credit.

The designation of the four different dies corresponds with those of the 2c with which they agree in every detail, except the two numerals. Surely a task for a real collector it would be to attempt to get together a complete set of these envelopes entire, but those desiring them only cut square or collecting only dies and papers will be well repaid for their efforts.

A review of the issue which has treated us to three of the most interesting U. S. color errors will not fail in interesting features.

The chronicle of this 3c as corrected to date shows 117 envelopes, if we consider dies, sizes, paper, watermark and knife. Those who collect cut square only can reduce the list to just 20 and still include two dies on white paper First Quality.

There are to begin with the four dies, all easily distinguished most readily as follows:

Die A:—Large head and D S far apart.
Die E:—Small head. D S near. T S near at base.
Die F:—Small head, hair in "bumps" instead of strands. T S further apart at bottom.
Die H:—Clear cut lettering, especially, the O in POSTAGE. Ear shows distinctly.

Die A is by far the most common and embraces 54 out of the 117 envelopes, including the rare error with stamp in black on amber. This die is found on all sizes in which the 3c exists, namely 2, 3, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 13 and 14. Only one window envelope has been seen so far size 13 on buff. It seems safe to say that between 70 and 80% of all 3c envelopes printed are die A.

Die E exists only on sizes 5 and 13, of which the first is quite common and the latter decidedly rare, our firm having been unable to secure any stock at all. The rare errors in red are all Die E. They have been found only on white and blue paper, though it is claimed that the amber and buff were probably also printed. Of each of the above only one box was ever discovered. Both are window envelopes with the usual return request in upper corner and appeared alternating with the regular 2c. The white paper was found in New York and the entire lot of 250 errors was saved and distributed among 8 concerns. The one on blue paper bears return request: Blue Ribbon Garage, Waterbury, Conn. Some of these were used before the error was discovered. The total supply, including 3 used copies, was 120 to which 20 more were added as being subsequently discovered, therefore 140 in all. All window envelopes size 5 and Die E. Including the errors, papers and watermarks nine are now known. For some reason watermark 20 is very rarely found "window". In all Die E numbers 20 envelopes.

Die F appears only on sizes 8 and 13 and is quite rare with watermark 20. It has been listed on size 5, but latest investigations seem to prove this to be an error. 21 envelopes including six "windows" are known, but half of them are very rare and this will be the most difficult of the four dies to complete.

Die H exists on sizes 5, 7, 8, 9, 10 and 13. It includes three "extra quality" on white and all are what are known as "high back" envelopes. These are shapes (or knives) in which the bottom flap is broad at top and the sides do not meet. A total of 22 envelopes are known with this die and most of those on white and amber are not scarce. It comes on blue (size 7) and is rare. Quite recently a used copy, same size, was found on buff, and this may turn out to be one of the rarities of the series. No unused copy has been seen so far. Window envelopes Die H are not known.

It may be said in a general way that no one post office was ever supplied with any sets comprising papers or sizes. Many are known only with printed return request. In numerous instances only from 25 to 50 copies were saved unused and are therefore destined to become quite rare.

5c 1902 IMPERFORATES

I have found this United States stamp to be one of the most sought for varieties of all 20th Century issues—and it is really scarce. Personally, my opinion is that it is catalogued far too low at $4.00 and my prediction is that it will be advanced considerably before long.

If you need the stamp, my advice is to buy now.

HERE AND THERE.

—The Belmont Stamp Co. as will be noticed by the firm's advertising in this issue has made a temporary change in address. Instead of being at Philadelphia the firm is now located at Ocean Grove, N. J., for the summer months.

—Henry F. Romain of Wahjamega, Mich., can get no replies to letters addressed to the Eureka Stamp Co., Stroudsburg, Pa. This company is run by the notorious John Obert.

—We note that some of the Ukraine stamps have values expressed in schagiw and krivna. What subscriber will help us out? We are fast approaching the time when our Dictionary will be closed up and we are very desirious of including just as many as possible of the terms that have been created as a result of the changed conditions in Europe.

—The Lithuania "bread ticket" stamps are an interesting issue, and constitute another example of the paper shortage prevailing in the old Russian districts. We now have "map" stamps, "bread ticket," and "writing paper" adhesives. Being distinctive and a novelty in philately, there is always bound to be a good general demand for these philatelic curios. They will all appreciate in value in due course. It is now up to Poland to provide us with the next sensation in stamp paper.—Stamp Collecting.

—Who can give us a translation of the inscription "I Polska Wystawa Marek" found on the current stamps of Poland?

—Still another cancellation is reported from Colorado. The latest reads in six lines:—"Vacation—Outdoors—In—Colorado's—National—Forests."

—The New York Sun for July 9 printed an article in which it stated that:—"The Bolshevik monetary system is probably the most spectacular financial experiment in history, and there is at present a neck and neck race between the printing presses and the decreasing value of the ruble." It has this to say in connection with the use of postage stamps:—

"Stamps have lost their former use. You don't need to put a stamp on a letter to send it. Just put it in the box. When the post office has to pay the bills or runs short of funds it calls up the treasury printing office and orders a few thousand sheets of rubles."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from John M. Stone, A. E. Drought and Standish Prescott.

—We have received a clipping from a Philadelphia paper showing an illustration of a letter mailed by Joseph A. Steinmetz and carried across the Atlantic by Capt. Alcock in his Vickers-Vimy plane. The letter was addressed to Mr. Steinmetz in care of F. J. Melville. The 15c Newfoundland was used with the $1 overprint to which reference has been made in the WEEKLY.

—Mr. Alph Bossey, Victoriaville, Quebec, desires that any complaints against his son, L. P. Bossey, be sent to him and he will see that they are adjusted.

—Mrs. E. W. Oughtred can secure no replies to letters sent S. P. Hughes, Howe, Neb. Can anyone render assistance?

—The P. O. at Boise, Idaho, has recently used this cancellation:—"Home Coming Celebration Boise July 3-4-5 1919".

—The catalog gives no price for the Eddy match stamp. Mr. Perry informs us that in some manner the price of this stamp got left out in the compilation of the catalog some few years ago and the catalog makers have not taken the trouble to re-value it. A good copy is worth 25c.

—"I want to acknowledge the receipt of the various letters which were mailed direct to you or your office, and which were intended for me personally. I got them all, and I must say I never received from all quarters so much encouragement. Over twenty different people sent me letters regarding the 3c green article. We found four with those who knew more about the matter than I did. Men in Detroit, Hartford and N. Y. who have big collections, all wrote me urging me to write another article along the same lines, and enclosing fine items for reference. Of course that is a later consideration, but I simply mention it to let you know the article called forth expressions of praise from so many."—C. A. NAST.

MISTAKEN FOR AN ANARCHIST.

A Washington correspondent, H. B. M., relates an incident of more than ordinary interest that happened recently. As a local philatelist who is a candidate for A. P. S. honors was approaching the entrance to the Senate Chamber the suspicions of the guards were aroused by a brown paper parcel which our friend, whom we will call Mr. H., carried in his hand. Having been requested to leave the same with the door-keeper, Mr. H. politely but firmly declined. An examination of the package was immediately demanded and while two watchmen stood ready with uplifted buckets to dash water on the contents, a third untied the string and found a—circuit of A. P. S. books. After mutual apologies and explanations Mr. H., wearing his bland smile, was allowed to enter the gallery, while the Senate, unmindful of the startling event, continued vigorously to legislate.

CRAMER & KEMP.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This firm was composed of Frederick Cramer and Frederick W. Kemp. Cramer appears in the New York directories of 1862-'65 in the cigar business at 220 Canal St. Kemp is listed as a carver in 1863-'64 and the next year as being in the match business at 367 Greenwich St. The firm of Cramer & Kemp, matches, appears in the directory for 1866-'67 at 367 Greenwich St. and Kemp is listed there again the following year, but Cramer went into the liquor business. Neither of the partners are listed after 1870.

The Boston Book states:—

Die approved, March 15, 1866.
First issued, April, 1866.
Last issued, July, 1869.
210 stamps per sheet, (14 x 15).
13,302,500 issued in black on old paper.

Regarding the blue stamp:—

First issued, July, 1869.
Last issued, Aug., 1875.
10,981,190 issued on old paper.
31,541,102 issued on silk paper.

Also, "John Loehr came into possession of this die in June, 1866, and received stamps from it from that time on."

The portrait shown in the central oval on the stamp may be either Cramer or Kemp or neither of them. The writer has not been able to find out. It is a rather unusual portrait for a match stamp—Cramer, or Kemp, or whoever it is not having any beard. Instances of this kind are rare among the M & M stamps. The design is in the form of an upright rectangle of the usual 1c size and it is too overdone to rank with the most beautiful M & M. It sort of gives one the impression of being all mixed up. "U. S." appears three times, which is twice more than was necessary, and in addition we can find "CRAMER & KEMP" and "NEW YORK" and "EXCELSIOR MATCHES" and other inscriptions. However, there is only one numeral—"1".

All of the blue stamps and most of the black stamps were used by John Loehr. The blue stamp occurs on thin, medium and thick old paper, experimental silk and full silk, and on old paper in the true ultramarine. It is one of the easiest ultramarines to obtain and often comes in the most violet and most attractive tint of any of the ultramarine match stamps. Placed beside a good Cramer & Kemp many other true ultramarines look only dull or pale blue. Probably the scarcest variety of the Cramer & Kemp is the printing of 1870 in light blue on thick paper.

JOHN LOEHR.

John Loehr first appears in the New York directory for 1863-'64. His occupation is given as "matches". From 1865 to 1883 he appears off and on, sometimes being engaged in the beer or liquor business and at other times in the match business. The house address and business address are both given as 427 W. 54th St. After 1878 the match business address is always 427 W. 54th St. and the house address and beer business address is next door at No. 425. He is last listed as being in the match business in the directory for 1875-'76 but as late as 1895 the reference "John Loehr, liquors, 425 W. 54th St." appears.

Regarding his stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Oct. 16, 1875.
First issued, Oct., 1875.
Last issued, Dec., 1875.
2,040,245 issued in blue on silk paper.

John Loehr's stamp is exactly like the Cramer & Kemp except that the name is changed. It was printed only by the National Bank Note Co. Many copies have the appearance of being printed from a worn plate which is difficult to explain in view of the small number issued.

JOSEPH LOEHR.

Joseph Loehr first appears in the New York directory for 1876-'77. He is listed as being in the liquor business at 425 W. 54th St. which has a familiar sound. From 1877 to 1880 he lived at No. 425 W. 54th St. and was engaged in the match business next door at No. 427. Between 1883 and 1890 he was in the beer business again as a brewer. The odd circumstance about this family mix-up is that the years Joseph Loehr appears in the directory John Loehr is missing and the years John is listed Joseph is elsewhere. It is a pretty puzzle and perhaps the reader can solve it. The writer gives up.

Of Joseph Loehr's stamp the Boston Book states:—

Die approved, Jan. 18, 1876.
First issued, Feb., 1876.
Last issued, Dec. 13, 1880.
44,868,120 issued on silk, pink and watermarked paper.

This stamp is exactly like John Loehr's except that the name is changed. All those issued on silk and pink paper were printed by the National Bank Note Co. The stamps on watermarked paper were printed by the National and the American Bank Note Co.'s, with the possibility of a comparatively small printing by the Bureau. Probably there were two or three National plates and one or two American plates, but whether or not there was a Bureau plate it is impossible to determine yet. No stamps showing the Bureau characteristics have been noted.

A PRACTICAL METHOD OF BINDING.

By JOSEPH R. LONG.

Having been a subscriber to this paper for a number of years I have accumulated a large number of old issues to which I frequently have occasion to refer. It would be practically impossible to do this satisfactorily, however, without binding the paper in some way. I have hit upon a very simple, yet perfectly satisfactory, way of doing this which I pass on to others. I punch four holes at intervals in the left margin of the paper and fasten together as many issues as desired by passing brass fasteners through these holes. For this purpose I use the ordinary round headed brass fastener with the two flexible prongs. Those with prongs about one inch in length are a good size. The issues of the WEEKLY for six months make a volume about one-half inch in thickness.

I find this to be the most convenient number to bind in one volume. At an expense of five cents for fasteners and with a few minutes work several volumes may be bound. If desired, very good covers may be made of sheets of heavy wrapping paper. It is surprising how interesting your old issues become when bound in this way. Indices obtainable for the years 1902 to 1915 add much to the value of these files.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Daubs—The remarks about stamps that were blotted out of existence by the postal clerks, in the issue of July 5th, have borne fruit in the receipt of a number of conglomerates that have wholly lost their color identity. In each instance, the stamp or stamps submitted was of a common kind, showing that the deluge of ink was the result of accident rather than design. Miss Amy L. Swift has sent a specimen that is literally blotted out of existence and concerning it she says: "In all my philatelic days, I have never seen its equal for unnecessary thoroughness and utter lack of conservation in the ink line." It is when a good stamp is the victim of the ink-pad that the collector cries out in anguish.

Decided—Having noticed several instances of seeming divergence in the treatment of mail from Americans abroad, we received the following explanation from the authorities: "All persons having official connection with the American Expeditionary Forces do not use stamps on any of their mail, except on personal packages and on registered letters; all others, of whom there are few, comparatively, come under the postal regulations."

Dearth—Several inquiries have been received from dealers asking if we could assist in securing help for them. As a preference usually is expressed for assistants who have had some stamp experience, we cannot be of service to the dealers as the local demand in a large city for employees of the kind exceeds the supply. Cannily enough, we suggest that the short-handed dealers try our advertising columns. If philately was better known publicly for what it is, a permanent institution founded on the solid rock of fact, we should start a correspondence school for training the young people for "lucrative positions." The salaries for dependent, intelligent young men and women with some philatelic training are, or should be, generous; and we know of several instances where ambitious young folks in the course of a few years were receiving pay that was more than that received by those in some general line of work.

Drastic—The following communication has been received from Mr. Charles H. Garrett, Kalamazoo, Michigan: "The enclosed letter may be of interest to you and the stamp collectors of the country. I have been trying to get next to the situation regarding the certain revenue stamps. The Commissioner is blocking the game now. Action for relief is necessary and I am willing to do my bit and get some remedial measure started." The letter that is enclosed was sent by Daniel C. Roper, Commissioner, to United States Senator Truman H. Newberry, Michigan: "Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of June 2nd, 1919, enclosing a letter addressed to you by Mr. Charles H. Garrett, of Kalamazoo, Michigan, in which he asks whether it is possible to obtain revenue stamps for his stamp collection. In reply your attention is called to Section 3324 R. S., which requiries that stamps be completely effaced and obliterated from empty spirit packages, which provision of law has also been held applicable to wine stamps. You are further advised that Collectors of Internal Revenue have been instructed to sell wine stamps only to proprietors of bonded wineries or bonded storerooms who actually use such stamps, in order that revenue officers might be in a position to readily check up the sale of stamps to bonded premises, and so that the records of the Collector's office will agree with those of the proprietor of the bonded premises. From the above you will note that stamp collectors may not obtain canceled or uncanceled wine stamps for the reasons stated."

Defense—The foregoing decision is a harsh one from the collecting view-point and it rescinds privileges that heretofore were allowed tacitly. At one time, it was practically admitted by the authorities that while the collecting of tax paids, for instance, was not encouraged, by any means, yet their inclusion in a collection was not considered a menace. The new era of prohibition may have some bearing on this later edict but we shall not attempt to follow the circumlocutory course of the official mind. A circumstance of this kind brings home a realization of the necessity for our national organizations to constitute themselves the guardians of philatelic rights and repel aggressions against the full and free enjoyment of our pursuit. The protective committees should be alert to champion philatelic rights; and they could speak with voice of authority as they represent the sentiment of several thousand members at the outset. These committees duly appointed by the societies would have discretionary powers and they could accept or reject measures after consideration. As it is, the organizations do not take action except at conventions, but an advisory or ways and means committee could move with alacrity. Occasionally, the demand for instantaneous action is imperative and with several such committees scanning the horizon, impending storms might be avoided.

Differences—It is apparent that a lack of understanding of collecting motives on the part of Washington imposes limitations, at times, on collecting. For a long time before 1898, when the newspaper set was sold to the public, collectors coveted the stamps, not because they were supposed to be almost contraband in unused condition in collecting hands, but because they were stamps and therefore objects of collection. As for unused due stamps, they are not supposed to be in collections, but that they do come to the surface is known. The government says that it wants each postage due stamp to actually rate postage deficiency, as one of the reasons for the issue of the stamps is a control over money collected as postage due. We cannot see how the check could be an absolute one and at any event the government is the gainer, if more postage due or beverage stamps are sold than used. We know that philately is entering more and more into the ken of the post office department since the discovery by Mr. E. B. Sterling of the counterfeit beer stamp about forty years ago, thereby saving the Treasury Department many dollars, but collecting's importance will have to be greatly emphasized before it will not be brushed aside for more weighty considerations.

Distant—A correspondent who in connection with his business has occasion to touch at different of the British West Indian ports, says that the prices on war issues in the place of origin of the stamps are so well established and understood that the speculator from afar cannot hope to make quantity purchases advantageously. As travelers have often remarked, philatelic knowledge in far-away countries is more general than at home, as a rule. We may say again that the patron of new issues has reason to feel that investments in war stamps have been good ones.

U. S. VIRGIN IDS. JAN. 1917 ISSUE.

By HERMANN FOCKE.

I venture to assume that the stamps of the former Danish West Indies, now the U. S. Virgin Islands, should be of special interest to U. S. collectors, and as the Standard Catalogue for 1920 should now be nearing completion, it would be interesting to know what prices are to be assigned to the used stamps of the 1915-17 issue, particularly to the six values of 10, 15, 20, 30, 40 and 50 bit, which appeared in January, 1917.

As is generally known, only 500 copies of each of these were despatched from Copenhagen to St. Thomas, and sold to the public up to the time when the Islands were transferred,—March 31, 1917—and of these probably not more than 50 copies of each—if that many— did postal, or near postal, service. It's also known that these stamps, used as well as unused, commanded fabulous prices early in that year, a set of the latter having brought at auction $27.50 while a used set brought as much as $35.00 at that time, until the Danish Postal Authorities made use of the sunshine to harvest the remainders in the "bins" of the collectors, by disposing of them at 6 Kroner ($1.50) a set, thus bringing about a collapse of the market.

Since then the market value has been stationary at about $2.00 and even at that collectors have been keeping shy of the pretty stamps, and rightly so, in view of the procedure of the D. P. A.

Still the fact remains that the entire set of 8 values constitutes a legitimate postal issue, and while the unused set may be of a purely fictitious value, since there is no distinction between the stamps sold at St. Thomas, and the other D. W. I. Post Offices, and those sold at Copenhagen, the few stamps actually used constitute, without doubt, an issue of interest and great rarity.

It is to be assumed that the greater part of the used stamps were "cancelled to order" and although this is obnoxious to a good many collectors, in the present case it is a proof that they belong to the "genuine 500" and therefore should command a corresponding value.

I suspect that some of the used stamps are put away for the time being because they have no value, and as quite a few collectors would like to acquire them, it might be well to give them a catalogue price, and why not take the price of sale on record as a basis and quote them at $6.00 each? This would certainly be cheap enough, and could be applied to the off-center copies, of which there are a good many and give the choice copies the value which the "condition-crank" is willing to pay for them.

I have some of the stamps on the original covers, but as these are not for sale, my suggestions bear no selfish purpose, but are meant for those who would like to know their relative value. The expression of other collectors' opinions will be welcome, and is, in fact, invited.

FACTS!

Realizing the popularity and future value of the new European stamps, many of which are provisional issues and will soon become scarce, we have arranged to submit wholesale selections of these on approval to dealers in the U. S. and abroad who can handle lots netting from $10 upwards.

We have made arrangements for the importation of several thousand dollars' worth of these stamps each month, which will be distributed to dealers on our list at 10% or 15% over actual cost. It should be remembered that in most cases these stamps will come DIRECT FROM THE COUNTRY THAT ISSUES THEM, thus eliminating all middlemen's profits. This is an important saving.

DO NOT FORGET

that we also submit general wholesale selections of used and mint stamps on approval to dealers both large and small throughout North America. Our wholesale approval department is rapidly taking its place as one of the best in the country and a good variety of stamps is always shown. A Trial selection will gladly be sent upon receipt of two commercial references.

WE WOULD LIKE TO HEAR from dealers who are in position to take entire consignments from us just as imported. Such lots will run in value from $50 to $1,000 net and will be offered at a small per cent. over cost price.

"Yours for Service"

H. E. HARRIS & CO., Wholesale Dealers, Baltimore, Maryland

A ROMANCE OF THE AUCTION ROOM.

(The firm of Harmer, Rooke & Co., of London, England, is an old-time patron of the WEEKLY. During the past three months the firm has engaged in a publicity campaign and we consider this a proper time to give them the following complimentary mention. We are indebted to the Postage Stamp for the sketch and can confirm all that Mr. Melville has written concerning the business ability of E. G. Harmer, who has been the prime factor in promoting the business prosperity of the firm.—W. O. W.)

Mr. Ernest Harmer has hammered away something like 400,000 lots of stamps, rare and otherwise, at over 1000 stamp sales held by the well-known firm of Harmer, Rooke & Co. That is a wonderful record, and the announcement of the firm's 1100th sale recently led us to extract a few details and reminiscences from the man in the rostrum.

His business is one of the romances of Philately. Started in 1901 it did not at first achieve any great results, and not until the present proprietor, Mr. E. G. Harmer, took over the management of the firm, did the business assume any real importance. Up to that time, about 1905, only 80 auction sales had been held under the aegis of the firm.

Since 1905—that is to say, in a period of fourteen years, Mr. E. G. Harmer has held an average of nearly 80 stamp sales a year and has disposed of upwards of 400,000 lots.

They have just held their 1100th sale, and we are reproducing a photograph of this eleventh century milestone in the firm's history. It will be seen that the attendance on this occasion was a full one, and we recognise many familiar and notable stamp-men among the audience.

Mr. Harmer may fairly assert that his is the only firm of stamp auctioneers that has achieved a record of 1020 stamp auctions in fourteen years, and they are justly entitled to their claim to be the world's leading stamp auctioneers.

A dip into their 1106th sale catalogue shows a total of 1056 lots, including the "lot of lots," a 1d Post Office Mauritius, of which only a bare dozen of copies are known to philatelists. What will it fetch? I should not be surprised if there is a "sweep" in the room on the price it will realise.

The firm owes much of its success to Mr. Harmer's adaptability, his power of keeping up with the times, and during the war the firm has made a name for itself in connection with the War provisional issues. They obtained $1350 not long ago for a complete set of the Samoan G. R. I. provisionals, and if it were put up again now, Mr. Harmer agrees, it would fetch half as much again—well over $1500—so rapid has been the appreciation in the value of the rarer war stamps.

MR. E. G. HARMER.

$1650 was recently obtained for an incomplete set of Baghdads, one of the most sought after, but most difficult to get, of all the war provisional issues.

Of course, the firm is not exclusively engaged in auctioning scarce stamps. They have made quite a speciality of auction sales of wholesale lots of stamps, which invariably draw together into the sale room representatives of famous firms whose names have been familiar as household words in the mouths of generations of school boys.

It is a curious but significant coincidence that the auction rendezvous at 69 Fleet Street is the very birthplace of the postage stamp, for it was on this very site that the old firm of Perkins, Bacon & Co. engraved and printed the Queen of Stamps, the Penny Black of 1840. In many of Messrs. Harmer, Rooke's advertisements they have illustrated a view of the old premises as they were in 1840.

REASONABLE.

With reference to recent remarks in your columns from Prof. Clark, and a correspondent in the Canal Zone relative to dealers' neglect to reply to their letters, I have been vainly waiting for some dealer to tell these gentlemen the plain truth, which is, that their business is not considered sufficiently remunerative to bother with.

In one case only used blocks of four are wanted, and unless the dealer has a high priced one, or a good many low priced ones, on which a satisfactory profit can be made, the prospect is insufficiently alluring to prove tempting. In the other case the time required to obtain the return of approval selections makes the business uninviting unless one is assured of a large remittance. Then too, there is the question of damage to o. g. stamps through the moisture of the Tropics. This is intended as an explanation of the dealers' failure to respond—not as an excuse. There can be no excuse to habitual failure to send a reply to letters inviting same.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Messrs. H. F. Colman, William A. Sisson and Albert J. Moore have all called our attention to the current $1 stamp, unwatermarked, perforated 11, in a new shade of what might be called yellowish violet brown. When compared with the normal the difference is striking. This stamp could almost be classed as more than a shade variety and the fact that the numerous specimens shown us have come from different parts of the country lead us to believe that at least one whole printing was of this hue.

Mr. George Soulman sends for our inspection two lower right panes of the 1c surface print, unwatermarked perforated 11, from plate number 9511. While the stamps came from the same run and were found in the same lot, one is in a very dark deep green, printed so heavily that it almost seems double, while the other is in such a light, washed-out shade that it appears to have been printed from an uninked roller.

Further oddities in the same stamp are to be found on the upper left pane of sheet 10049. Mr. Harmon Wendell sends us the upper and left plate blocks wherein the second "0" is so indistinct that it is to be seen only upon close inspection, the numbering seeming to read "10 49". It is indeed a coincidence that such an odd peculiarity should occur in the identical place on two different plate positions. A long chapter indeed was brought to an end when the Bureau of Engraving and Printing discontinued the printing of postage stamps by the surface method.

Dr. George H. Smith, Mr. N. E. Carter and others have written us regarding the Documentary stamps surcharged by rubber stamp "F. D." mentioned in our chronicle of June 28th. These provisional "Future Delivery" revenues were quite likely all surcharged from one central point, for I find upon inspecting a number of copies sent me from different cities that the surcharge is identical. Each city made its provisionals "Narcotic" stamps quite recently but perhaps in the case of the "F. D." surcharges they were all overprinted at Washington.

Mr. L. J. Ragatz shows us the 2c blue playing cards, rouletted, watermarked U. S. I. R. surcharged in red "8 Cts." The stamp is cancelled in black "4-1-1919—U. S. P. C. Co." These 8c provisionals were probably issued to use up the old type playing card stamps, pending the arrival of the new "Class A" variety.

Some firms, however, received the new type before the 8c rate went into effect for Mr. H. F. Metz has just sent us a copy of this latter stamp with purple inverted surcharge reading "3-4-1919—7 CENTS—S. P. C. Co."

Your editor has recently been fortunate in locating a most unusual early United States cover, vintage of 1857. The cover in question bears a very fine vertical pair of the 30c orange with red bar cancellation in addition to a circular town cancellation, falling part on the stamps and part on cover, reading "New York Paid—Apr 14—48". The envelope is addressed to Lyon, France, where it arrived according to postmark on the back, May 8, 1861. The stamps are well centered, of brilliant color and in perfection condition in every way. A 60c rate in those days was of rare occurrence.

BELGIAN CONGO.—Red Cross stamps. Messrs. Bright & Son inform us that in a consignment of the +1fr on 1fr Red Cross stamps lately received by them, they found, on the bottom row of part of one sheet, that the last row of perforation was missing, so that the last two rows are imperforate between.—Stamp Lover.

BERMUDA.—The Lindum Stamp Company show us the 1d "WAR TAX" with a thick dot between the letters "W" and "A" of the first word.—Stamp Collecting.

BAHAMAS.—We learn from the Colonial Journal that the 2½d and 6d values have been printed from the combined Plates Nos. 1 and 2; also that a new issue of the ½d, 1d, and 1s, King George design, and the 3d "Queen's Staircase," overprinted WAR TAX in two lines, is in course of preparation.—Stamp Collecting.

Mr. Erich Parche has shown us a copy of the current 1d WAR TAX stamp in shade more to the pink than heretofore. He also advises us that he has received the new 3sh with inverted watermark.

CHINA.—We are informed by S. S. Wang Chin Chai that he has found a double overprint of the four Chinese characters on No. 120 of the issue of 1912. He writes us that this is the first he has ever seen and that it is a scarce error.

CZECHO SLOVAKIA.—Messrs. Bright & Son advise us that the 40d has appeared perforated 9½.

INDIA.—A new value—1½anna—arrived in our Indian mail last week. It is in the current King George portrait type, the words "one and a half anna" being on a curved band below the portrait, with "India Postage" in a semicircular band above the King's crown, and "1½a" in the two top corners of the stamp. This new arrival is in maroon. —Stamp Collecting.

IRAQ.—We learn on good authority that a definite postage stamp issue for this territory is in course of manufacture, in a design reminiscent of those of the Hedjaz stamps. This is, of course, a concession to the religious scruples of the Mohammedan natives, as the Koran prohibits the reproduction in art of any animate object.—West End Philatelist.

LIVONIA.—We have received from C. G. Dietrich three stamps commemorating the liberation and freedom of Riga. There are three values, 5 kap red, 15 kap dark green and 35 kap brown. The stamps are poorly executed. The design shows in the background the outline of the city, while in the foreground are two female figures, one resting her head upon the shoulder of the other.

LOURENCO MARQUES.—Messrs. Whitfield King & Co. inform us that, in a large consignment of these stamps recently received, they discovered one sheet of the ½ centavo (black) containing a singular error, one stamp only on the sheet—the first in the sixth row—having the value entirely omitted, both the tablets being wholly blank, without a trace of ink on them. All the other ninety-nine stamps on the sheet are quite normal, and only one sheet contained this error.—Stamp Collecting.

POLAND ON GERMAN WARSAW.—Messrs. Bright & Son chronicle the following values handstamped in blue "Polska Poczta Lyczca": 2½, 10, 15, 20, 30f.

POLAND.—From an authoritative source we understand that the several issues of postage stamps now current in different parts of Poland will be shortly superseded by a single general issue in standardized (gold?) currency.—West End Philatelist.

RUSSIA.—In our April issue we described the new 35 and 70 kopecs stamps as a Bolshevik issue, but an esteemed and well-informed Russian correspondent has taken exception to our description, and sends us the following interesting information, which we have no hesitation in accepting as correct. The two stamps referred to were the work of the Russian artist, Saaren, who designed the Romanoff stamps, and were done by order of M. Nikitin, Minister of Posts and and Telegraphs in Kerenski's last Cabinet. The two stamps were issued two months before the fall of Kerenski, and were only part of a complete set for which designs were made, but the other values were not printed because the Bolsheviks abolished the use of postage stamps altogether, and allowed all letters to be sent post free without stamps. The Bolsheviks had nothing to do with either the production or the issue of these stamps.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

SERVIA.—Prof. M. Loewy shows three values in a new series of stamps recently issued by this country. Each stamp contains the profile of the King and Crown Prince and are of the 10, 15 and 25p values. The colors are red, dark brown and blue respectively.

UKRAINE.—Messrs. Bright & Son advise us that a new series of stamps for this country has appeared and they are of the following values: 3, 5, 6, 10, 12, 15, 20, 25, 30, 40, 50, 60, 80, 90h, 1kr. The stamps (current issue of Austria) have been surcharged in black. Messrs. Bright & Son send us a copy of the 10h and the surcharge has the "3." in the upper left corner and the "Y." in the upper right. At the bottom is "H" at the left, and "P." at the right. An insignia is also in the centre of the stamp.

GIBRALTAR.

If one should look for about the smallest possession of Great Britain as well as about the most important, he would very quickly find the object of his search at the Rock of Gibraltar. As one of the "Pillars of Hercules," the other being at Ceuta on the African side of the Straits of Gibraltar, it stood as the limit of the maritime activities of the ancients, for beyond was the unknown and limitless ocean whose terrors they dared not brave. It was here, after the fall of the Roman Empire, that the Moors crossed from Africa into Spain and threatened Western Europe. They held it for many centuries, but were finally dispossessed by the Spaniards in 1462, who lost it to the British in 1704, since when it has remained under the Union Jack.

Although hardly two square miles in area and with a population of about 30,000, it is a Crown Colony. British stamps were employed there before the local stamps were issued, and can be distinguished by the cancellation lettered "G" or numbered "A26." The local stamps were not issued until January 1, 1886, and then were evidently decided upon in such a hurry that they were made provisionally instead of being especially prepared—in other words, they took a supply of stamps printed from the Bermuda plates and overprinted them with the heading GIBRALTAR, although in doing this some of the values were printed in altered colors from the regular Bermuda issues.

During the year 1886 special plates were prepared for a permanent issue, which appeared in December. The most used values, ½, 1 and 2½ penny, each had a special design, but the remaining values were printed from a "key plate" which had blanks for inserting the denomination by means of a second printing from a "duty plate."

These first two issues were expressed in English currency, but the currency used mostly in local trade was quite naturally Spanish and the authorities finally decided to conform to local conditions. Accordingly, in July, 1889, the current stamps were overprinted with new values in "centimos," the lower values corresponding to the English currency at 5 centimos to the half penny, except for the 2 pence stamp. Of the highest value, 75 centimos, but 12,400 were surcharged and of the 40 and 50 centimos only some 14,000 odd of each. The 25 centimos surcharge on both stamps contains two minor varieties in the shape of defective letters, namely, a broken N and a short I in CENTIMOS. Two varieties of the figure 5 can also be found on the values containing this figure, one having a much more open "body" than the common form of the figure.

The permanent series was ready and issued in November, 1889. All values were now printed from the "key plate" used for the higher values of the December, 1886, issue, and two "peseta" values were added. The 25, 40, 50 and 75 centimos stamps were not issued until early in 1890. In 1895 the 75 centimos and 1 and 5 pesetas stamps were withdrawn from issue; a new 1 peseta stamp with value in blue was issued together with a bi-colored 2 peseta stamp and a 20 centimos in single color. this issue, it being an error of the 10 centimos stamp with the value label blank. It very evidently occurred through the omission of the printing in of the value from the duty plate, which means that at least one sheet of 120 copies occurred thus. They were regularly bought from stock at Gibraltar, but so far as known, none of them was used. Although without value, the color, of course, gives a clue to what was intended to be printed in the value tablet.

In 1898 the effect of the Spanish-American war was such in depreciating the Spanish currency that the Gibraltar authorities deemed it best to revert to sterling values for the stamp issues. Accordingly a notice dated September 14th announced the proposed issue of new stamps in British currency on October 1st and the retirement of the stamps expressed in Spanish currency on that date. The new stamps were simply a re-issue of the December, 1886, issue, the ½, 1 and 2½ penny stamps, being hard to distinguish from their predecessors unless one can differentiate between dull green and gray green for the ½ penny, rose and carmine for the 1 penny, and ultramarine and bright ultramarine for the 2½ penny. The other values being bicolored in the new issue, present no difficulties.

The death of Queen Victoria and accession of King Edward naturally presaged a change in the design of the Gibraltar stamps, which finally occurred on April 30, 1903, when the current issue was withdrawn and the new issue placed on sale. An entirely new design was used and the stamps were bicolored, some being on colored papers. The same low values were issued, with the exception of the 4 pence, and four high values in an enlarged and handsome design were added because of the combined "Postage and Revenue" use for the stamps. The watermark was the usual "Crown CA" at first, but in 1904 new supplies began to appear on the newly adopted "multiple Crown CA" watermarked paper and all the values finally appeared thus except the 8 shilling value. With the "multiple watermark" paper also came the experimental "chalk-surfaced" paper for preventing the cleaning of used stamps. All the values on "multiple watermark" paper eventually appeared on both "ordinary" and "chalky" papers except the 2½ pence, 4 shillings and 1 pound, which were issued only on "chalky" paper. A minor variety occurs in the 2½ penny stamp, on all papers, in which the "2" of the fraction is distinctly larger than the ordinary. It occurs but once in a pane of 60 stamps.

In 1907 the Crown Agents devised another scheme of standardizing the colors used for stamps of the same value throughout the Colonial issues, no matter what the denominations in local currency. This "Universal Color Scheme" caused a change in the colors of practically all of the Gibraltar stamps. The ½, 1, 2 and 2½ penny stamps were printed only on "ordinary" paper in the new colors and the 6 pence, 1, 2, 4 and 8 shillings only on "chalky" paper. The "large 2 in half" variety is also found in this issue, showing that the same "duty" plate was still in use. Much controversy has raged over the issue of the 6 pence stamp, the only difference between the "universal" color and the previous one being that the value is printed in a brighter mauve than the latter. The "multiple chalky" 6 pence lasted for use until just before the issue of the King George set; because of this a very small supply had been printed in the "universal" color (only 1440, it is said), and these were issued in July, 1912, on the eve of the King George series. About half the issue was sold over the counter according to reports, which accounts for its scarcity. All the remainder of the Edwardian stamps were burned after the issue of the Georgian series.

The death of King Edward and accession of King George presaged the last change in the Gibraltar stamps, a change which affected only the monarch's head, the design, colors, paper and watermark remaining as before. Slight shade changes occurred in three stamps, the ½ penny changing from blue green to pale yellow green in 1917, the 1 penny from carmine to scarlet in 1916, and the 2 shillings having both ink and paper brightened about the end of 1916.

A war tax of ½ penny was levied on every letter and postcard mailed in Gibraltar from April 15, 1918, and this has been collected by means of the ½ penny stamp overprinted with the words "WAR TAX."—New England Stamp Monthly.

SHALL WE KEEP IT AT 50c?

You say our paper is worth $1 per year. You are right! Won't you help to keep it at 50c and thus keep it the greatest philatelic missioner in the world? This is how you can do it:—

Make no remittances in postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new Addressograph plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new plate.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home address.

When you write us a letter, enclose a stamped addressed envelope—if a reply is wanted.

These are little things of themselves but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year the above suggestions, if carried out, will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

SOME DETACHED OPINIONS.

By EDWIN B. HILL, Author of "Range Tales", "Monaco," etc.

In a previous paper I mentioned the Peplow library, and the dispersal at auction of this very excellent library. At the time, I momentarily overlooked the Alfred Smith collection of philatelic literature, dispersed by Mr. B. T. K. Smith. This collection, while by no means so complete as the Lord Crawford collection, nevertheless, contained many rarities, and the opportunity to enrich one's library was not overlooked by those discerning ones who study the market. The catalogue, issued in parts, is worthy of preservation, for its artistic as well as for its commercial value. The prices are given in every instance, and, while they may not represent the market values of today, nevertheless, they are informative and valuable always for reference.

It is interesting to know that, the coming season, philatelic literature is to have prominent place in auction catalogues, as addenda to the listing of stamps. This is perhaps a better way than to try to conduct a sale made up wholly of the literature of our hobby. One far-western dealer, with whom I have business relations and also friendship of more than passing note, writes me that in the past he has sold philatelic literature in his auctions, to the satisfaction of his clients. It is the satisfied client who decides whether the results are worthy of the time and labor, aside from the pleasure of garnering the stray leaves of our literature.

Delving among some ancient papers, today, I came across two copies of a four-page circular, issued by Messrs. J. W. Palmer & Co., Adelphi House, 76 Strand, London. The date is January, 1878. In it, the firm says it has "the pleasure of handing to their several collectors a list of Canadian Fiscal Stamps, many of them little known as yet in this country, and, being really very beautiful, will form a very valuable addition to the Album. The collection of Fiscals is only beginning in Great Britain, but is destined to become very general here, as it has already become on the Continent and in the United States."

The Circular goes on to say that "this is the very time to commence, as now may be secured nearly all the rarer specimens, and at a much more reasonable rate than when the masses begin to add them to their Albums, and in a short time not only render the acquisition of the rarer stamps impossible, but enhance the price very considerably of even the present day commoner stamps."

But, alas! for the prophecy! The prices quoted, as a rule, in 1878, are higher than those of Forbin in 1915, which are the latest standard quotations. I may say, however, that Mrs. E. W. Oughtred, of Westmount, Quebec, the American authority, is preparing for publication a complete catalogue of Canada revenues which will be a boon to collectors of these stamps, and a book to add to the library of the discerning philatelic literarian.

There are, in these United States, some fine collections of philatelic literature. I think Mr. W. R. Ricketts probably has the most complete collection. Mr. H. E. Deats has a magnificent collection, and it would be a rare pleasure to search through his 15,000 duplicates for wants to add to one's own library. Mr. Deats has recently printed for private circulation a complete index to the "Quaker City Philatelist," which enhances greatly the value of that publication. Members of the Philatelic Literature Society, London, have been presented copies, and I have also in addition an inscribed presentation copy amongst my treasures.

The dean of our philatelic writers, Mr. Charles A. Nast, of Denver, Colorado, once dealt in philatelic literature, and also collected the literature of our hobby. I do not see his name in the advertising pages, these latter days. His stock must have been very large, as his knowledge of our literature is very great. Mr. Nast's little history of the philatelic publications of Colorado, issued several years ago, is invaluable to collectors.

A friendly writer and collector in a missive of encouragement informed me that he no longer kept his philatelic papers and magazines, but passed them on to boy friends who loved things stampic. "When I wish to refer to anything, later, I'm obliged to importune and bore my friends who are not so reckless as I am," he adds. I think his scheme of things has its pains, as well as its pleasures. Neither seems to be a perfect balance!

The reference, in a recent issue of the WEEKLY, to an ancient Scott's album turning up, reminds. Long months ago, a collector friend said he'd send me a Lallier album, to add to my tribal relations,—or words to that effect. Then he didn't write. Occasionally a missive would come from him, in reply to four or seven of mine. Only the other day he wrote delightfully that the Lallier was on the way,—that he'd felt so ashamed of failure to get the album he'd not written more frequently. Isn't that a heart-breaker? If all my philatelic friends and acquaintances did likewise, I'd never receive those warm and heart-cheering letters they send me,—letters of whose value I would not wish them wholly to know.

Books! Long ago, collecting the stamps of Sarawak, and specializing in a modest way, I picked up from an English catalog a volume which told me of the ins and outs of Sarawak, with some good historical data regarding Rajah Brooke. Recently, three volumes of a biographical nature relating to Rowland Hill were brought to my shelves. And here is first-hand information regarding the pioneer of penny postage.

How many collectors know the date of publication of the first item of philatelic literature? It is a lithographed list of stamps, published in Strasbourg, in 1861. It may be described as follows:

Berger-Levrault (Francois Goerge Oscar): List of Stamps, Strasbourg, Septembre, 1861, 8vo., 10¼ in., 12 pp. Printed by autographic lithography.

Of this great rarity, only two copies are known. One is in the Lord Crawford collection, now in the British Museum. The other,—and it is an honor and a pleasure to chronicle the fact,—now reposes in the library of Mr. Howard Speakman, of Chicago. This excessively rare "item" came to him through Victor Marsh, the well-known London dealer, who, it may be chronicled, has the largest stock of philatelic literature in the world. Among Mr. Marsh's big purchases are the Moen's stock, weighing two tons; J. Van Rooij, two tons; Eaton library, 1500 pounds of bound volumes; Palmer stock, 1200 pounds; Heide library, 600 pounds. And these are only a few! I do not estimate my own small holdings by weight,—but my back knows full well the penalty one pays for collecting!

The collector may care to know the commercial value of the Berger-Levrault list. It would be cheap at $100. Perhaps another copy may turn up in an attic or other philatelic dust-bin. If so, there is a ready market for it.

The demise of that fine publication, The Philatelic Record, has been incentive to collectors to complete their files. The publication has not been rare, in a way, but it will be daily more difficult to complete files where odd issues are wanted. My own file is regrettably very incomplete, and I am always promising myself the pleasure of adding to it. There is a Spanish word used extensively along the border by Americans,—manana. It means tomorrow. The rest is silence!

If the London Philatelist ceases publication, there will be a rush for files. This scholarly publication finds the cost of existence too great, seemingly, and it is feared the end is at hand. However, until the last year or so the issues have been numerous enough to cause no anxiety. The world war, however, curtailed the number of copies printed, and he who is discerning will act accordingly.

I am under many obligations to the editor of the WEEKLY for favors and suggestions. His latest most excellent advice is embodied in one of those rare missives he knows so well how to indite. He says:

"Have you ever thought of dealing in our literature in a leisurely sort of way? I think the business would yield you much pleasure and a bit of profit; and further, you would be put in the way of acquiring a good thing occasionally."

To this I replied at once. It was Dream-Come-True! And, may I not add further, in the words with which Maurice De Guerin closed his immortal journal,—

"The tide of travel is full of charm. . . . Oh, who will set me afloat upon this Nile?"

TO THE EDITOR:—

The following information is what I received in regards to the Panama stamps, Scott's No. 213 surcharged into No. 389, and No. 197 into No. 477.

On the 31st day of March, 1917, the Panama Gov't sent 640,000 stamps, No. 213, to the American Bank Note Co., in a very dirty condition. They were stuck together in sheets to be surcharged in RED, the same as No. 389 which were in use up to the present time.

From the 640,000 stamps that were sent to the A. B. N. Co. there were 637,000 returned June 30th, 1917, surcharged as ordered, but without gum. There is a slight difference in the color of ink that was used by the A. B. N. Co. compared with the ink that was used by the Panama Gov't when it surcharged the 50,000 (which were in use up to the present time) of which the

AFTER SEPTEMBER FIRST

I shall have more time to devote to the Stamp Auction business which has been my specialty since 1892. I am not a candidate for re-appointment for the Sales Superintendency of the American Philatelic Society this year, which will give me considerable extra time to take care of more fine stamp properties that may be offered to sell at Auction.

I was obliged to decline several good properties in the past year for the reason that I did not have sufficient time to devote to it. I have several properties now on hand, but can take care of several other fine properties later in the season. An early application for space is advisable if you have any really fine material to offer.

If you do not receive my Auction catalogs regularly, better "GET ON OUR MAILING LIST."

supply is exhausted. These stamps were surcharged in the Panama Gov't printing plant. The rest of the stamps that were retained by the A. B. N. Co., were in such a bad condition that they had to be destroyed, it is likely.

The above described stamps were placed in use the 1st day of June, and as far as I could learn the following described errors were found. Two sheets with Inverted Surcharge, and one sheet with the surcharge on top horizontal row omitted, making ten vertical pairs, one 'Without Surcharge.' No typographical errors were found.

At the same time, the Panama Gov't sent 200,000 stamps Scott's No. 197, to be surcharged A. R. in VIOLET (No. 477); all these stamps were surcharged and returned at the same time. They have no gum, and the color of the ink that was used by the A. B. N. Co. is of a lighter shade compared with the ink that was used by the Panama Gov't when it surcharged the stamps that are in use at the present time. No errors were found.

The type that was used by the A. B. N. Co. on the above described stamps is similar to the type that was used by the Panama Gov't.

TO THE EDITOR:—

The WEEKLY of June 28 asked a reason for a Censor postmark on a letter addressed to Lincoln, Illinois, and posted (presumably) in the United States. I have heard of several thus marked, and was told it was merely an accident of some kind. In one case, a soldier abroad was sent stamped and addressed envelopes enclosed in his home letters, his people not understanding that no stamps were necessary on letters sent home by soldiers. In another case a letter became mixed accidentally in among mail a censor was handling, and in the rush it received his "O. K." The impression falling on the postage stamps was another accident. It was liable to fall anywhere.

WHITMAN, MASS.

THE STANDARD MATCH COMPANY.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

In attempting to gather information regarding the proprietors of the old M. & M. stamps, and their stamps, the writer often meets with unexpected difficulties and sometimes would be entirely at loss to know where to look for the desired facts but for the kind assistance of friends, acquaintances and occasionally, the almost unaccountable occurrences of chance. This feature of the work will be touched upon again later. At the moment the Standard Match Company will furnish an example.

The only address given upon the stamp itself is New York, and a search through the New York directories of the period when the stamp was in use failed to reveal any indication that there ever had been such a concern. Finally, the writer stumbled upon a reference to this company in a business directory for 1883-84 which gave the firm's address as 30 Burling Slip, New York—a most unlikely place for a match factory. Yet, as will be seen, there was such a concern and not only did it use stamps, but it had a factory and made matches though the New York part of it was only a sales office.

In the editorial column of MEKEEL'S WEEKLY for June 27, 1914, we find:—

"Standard Match Company—Sometime ago, Dr. Wm. H. Mitchell, Bayonne, New Jersey, sent us some interesting details of this company, which is represented by one match stamp in the U. S. proprietary revenue section of the catalogue: The Standard Match Company's factory was located in the Constable Hook section of Bayonne, New Jersey; and it was erected and started as an adjunct of the long established sulphur refinery of T. C. and S. C. White. The late Mr. Samuel C. White occupied the somewhat strenuous position of Sunday-School teacher to the writer for a number of years and so the writer was on intimate and confidential terms with him especially just before Christmas. That the name Standard Match Company was chosen may have been due to the fact that the Standard Oil Company had only recently (at that time) established its Bayonne plant, which was a close neighbor to White. The Standard Match Company had only been running about six months when the tax on the manufacturers of matches was repealed. As soon as this news was made public the writer offered double face for the remainders on hand but the stamps had already been forwarded to Washington for redemption by the government. Even at that time very few of the firm's matches were on sale in Bayonne; and the factory fell to the Diamond Match Company who continued it but later a fire destroyed it. The writer in the discharge of his duties as a member of one of the volunteer fire department companies was saved from injury by his heavy leather helmet when several cases of matches ready for shipment slid on him from the floor above."

The stamp is an upright rectangle of the standard 1c size bearing as its most prominent feature an American flag enclosed in a circular disk with THE STANDARD above, MATCH COMPANY below and the figure "1" in an oval on each side. With one exception it was the last match stamp engraved by the Bureau and with all due respect to The Flag it is a most ordinary piece of work. Most of the other Bureau stamps are superior to it and there is not the slightest resemblance between it and the beautiful productions of the Bank Note companies. It is too black, and if you don't get what we mean just lay it beside the flag stamp of the Swift, Courtney & Beecher Co. (S. C. B. C.). The Boston Book does not give the date of approval of the die but states:—

First issued, November 25, 1882.
Last issued, June 5, 1883.
210 stamps per sheet, (14x15).
2,444,820 issued, all printed by the Bureau at Washington on watermarked paper.

EDITORIAL.

Extreme—We have received a remarkable letter from one of the philatelic leaders in which he takes to task collectors and dealers alike for their lack of organization due to "an incomprehensible lack of modern spirit that makes philately lag instead of receiving the impetus that enthusiastic co-operation would give." Simmered down to essentials, the critic says that collectors are "inert" and the dealers "selfishly aloof". He asks what have the national societies done to glorify collecting and what are the dealers doing to purge their ranks of objectionable hangers-on. Our captious correspondent goes to an extreme and yields to the spell cast on him by the flow of words at his command. Even so, it is not to be denied that his criticisms are not a reflection of what many philatelists feel in some degree. The organizations that represent the collectors and the one that is maintained by the dealers are doing constructive work. We know that the indications of activity of these societies are not always on the surface and in consequence, the impatient member may have some seeming reason for complaint against their inaction. The dealers are attending to the publicity campaign that is resulting in much good to the pursuit and they are getting after the sharks that follow in the wake of the ship. A beginning has been made and the good work will be prosecuted with increased ardor; and the expectation of the times will be met and that is, the demand for a close organization of any business, profession or cult. Let the coming of the day be hastened when "a store-house of millions of dollars' worth of stamps, left unguarded" is amply protected.

Conventions—The coming conventions at Saint Louis and San Francisco will afford an opportunity for the adoption of legislation that will redound to the advantage of philately; and it becomes the duty of members to take part in the proceedings in person or by proxy. The suggestions to make the national bodies more effective as a means for the protection of the welfare of philately have been received favorably by different members of the national societies. The disposition of the correspondents is to make the organizations more wieldy as a force for watching the interests of our pursuit. It is admitted that out of a clear sky may come a thunder-bolt to throw consternation into the ranks of collectors; and a means for combatting any aggression against us is advisable. It is imperative that we have a mobile committee capable of adopting on a moment's notice measures to protect our position. While we are organized, in a broad sense, yet our organizations are not elastic enough to repel attack. It is improbable that philately will be discriminated against by the powers because of any unfriendliness that they may have for it, but it is none the less advisable to be able to show a strong front at the beginning of any hostilities. A greater activity on the part of the national stamp organizations is demanded by the developments of the day; and every line of endeavor has its guardians in the shape of press committees, protective bodies and missionary workers. While the good that such committees accomplish sometimes is intangible, yet in the aggregate, they justify their existence. At any rate, the decks are cleared for action at the conventions.

Questioned—There have been in circulation at different times reports that would account for the existence of the grills of the Continental issue, 1873, and several other experimental asides as due to influence of some sort or other that was brought to bear by some one interested. Hints are given from time to time that collectors should be chary of giving fancy prices for these varieties. The main division of collectors gives little attention to these ornamental varieties and for that reason is not an investor in them. The collectors who pay for such stamps know, usually, just what they are buying. Any damage that is done by the suspected stamps is not great. If it could be announced with authority just which are the goats, if any, among the sheep, the effect would be of benefit, but it is not easy to get the student to say flat-footedly that such and such stamps should be rejected as not being of purely philatelic type. In an advanced circle of students, here and there, they may have a rather good line in the character of the stamps but there is no disposition to give unqualified information on the stamps in question.

Narcotics—The strip stamps for the payment of the tax on drugs and preparations under the Harrison Narcotic Law, are being distributed, presumably, as they are promised for delivery on July 1st, 1919. There are four sizes of the stamps, which are purple in color and of one cent denomination, measuring: 1½x ½; 2½x⅜; 4x½ and 6x¾ inches. According to Daniel C. Roper, commissioner, one of these strip stamps must "be used by importers, manufacturers, producers or compounders upon each original package of narcotics or preparations, taxable under the Act, the additional tax on such package to be represented by overprinted documentary stamps, placed upon the side or bottom of the package." The overprinted documentary stamps for package use, consisting of 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 10, 25 cents and $1, are available and "as soon as they can be designed and printed. strip stamps of the four sizes herein referred to will be furnished in sufficient denominations to take care of packages of the various sizes and render unnecessary the use of overprinted documentary stamps."

Proprietary—The complete set of nine denominations of the proprietary stamps, one to forty cents, is now available and postmasters are requested to redraw requisitions if they order the proprietary stamps of a denomination higher than five cents.

Possibilities—The success of Mr. A. C. Roessler in inducing the department to use special postmarks or cancellations on airplane mail is gratifying and the result shows what energetic, intelligent effort can do. Mr. Roessler had the conviction that his stand was taken reasonably and he pressed his point home. We know that the public officer does not willingly take a position on a theoretical proposition that will antagonize a good number of citizens and a persistent campaign to secure recognition to which collectors are entitled is apt to be effective. It is about time to broach again the subject of illustrations of U. S. stamps and the failures of the past should not deter philatelists from starting another inquiry.

THE RIGHT SPIRIT.

(We have received a letter from M. Ohlman, the New York auctioneer, that has the right ring to it, and we are taking the liberty of giving it space in our columns. In this connection we wish to add that there has never been a year when dealers have held to their advertising campaigns as they have this year. —W. O. W.)

Although I shall not have another sale until after the middle of September and could save my advertising money, I shall nevertheless, although I have nothing to sell, as I am only in the auction line, send you steady adv. copy throughout the summer months, as I realize that it is up to the dealer to support really steady Philatelic publications. So just to take up space, I am advertising for collections, but it would not be amiss to inform your readers that towards the end of September I shall run a splendid 2-night sale containing probably 500 or 600 lots of U. S. (many choicest copies) and some of the rarest War and Occupation stamps, of some values of which there were only 100 to 200 copies issued. —M. OHLMAN.

KEEP THE PRICE AT 50c.

You can help in various ways. We suggest the following:—

Renew for 2 yrs.—$1.00.

Send no postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new name plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new one.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home.

Enclose a stamped addressed envelope —if a reply is wanted.

These are little things of themselves, but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year these suggestions will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

Falkland Islands, War stamps, Set of 3 RARE	5.00

Also nearly all the other War and New Europe stamps. Will gladly send approvals if you are interested.

Just purchased a fine lot of Rare Old Mexico on cover. Many imperf. pairs, etc. Are you interested? If so, will send you a selection.

Our stock of the 3c violet U. S. is one of the largest. Can supply most anything, mint or used. This is going to be a scarce stamp. Better fill up on them now.

ELK STAMP EXCHANGE, Box 231 ST. MARYS, PENNA.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are compelled to throw up our hands in the matter of making a chronicle of advertising cancellations. Throughout the west from Denver to the coast various kinds are being employed and we thank William T. Miller and J. C. Schriver for specimens submitted. We cannot attempt to make a regular chronicle of these.

—A subscriber of ours, Reuel W. Smith, noticing our comment on using 2c stamps as remittances, offers the suggestion that some of our subscribers who are in business take off our hands at face value the stamps that accumulate. He writes: "I for one would be glad to take $5 or $10 in stamps occasionally just for the good of the cause." We thank Mr. Smith for his suggestion. Who will follow his example?

—C. F. Richards can get no replies to letters sent Douglas Fowler, Box 670, Sydney, Nova Scotia.

—Charles A. Nast, who recently advertised in the WEEKLY for U. S. 3c vermilion, pays a striking tribute to the scarcity of this stamp in anything like wholesale lots. Here is what Mr. Nast says:—"That stamp must be a very scarce item as I have not had a single lot offered me. It seems unbelievable, but it's true. so if you ever get a chance to buy this stamp be assured that in used condition it is underpriced."

—Our U. S. new issue editor, Philip H. Ward, Jr., formerly general manager and secretary-in-charge of sales and exports of the Chelten Electric Co., has severed his connection with that company and has organized the Ward Electric Co., Inc. Offices are in the Philadelphia Stock Exchange Bldg., Phila., Pa. We congratulate Mr. Ward upon his business success.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Ted J. Tyrrell and J. Levin.

—Andrew Dempsey sends us specimens of Terre Haute, Ind., dues precancelled in the familiar roller type. The name of city and state occupies two lines printed between horizontal lines 16 mm. apart. We do not make it a practice to chronicle precancels and would urge all of our subscribers who are interested to subscribe to Bushnell's Magazine.

—"I have received a letter from the Third Ass't Postmaster General with the information that there will be no change in the dies of envelopes beginning with the new contract July 1, 1919, but instructions have been given to change the date in the watermarks from 1915 to 1919."—J. M. BARTELS.

—Within recent weeks the Marks Stamp Co. has purchased the stocks of no fewer than four New York dealers The Gandenberger, Qualander, Voltz and C. J. Gregory stocks are numbered in the firm's purchases. Mr. E. Marks the proprietor writes:—"These purchases together with our large stock, places us in an exceptionally good position to look after the wants of stamp collectors and dealers during the coming season of 1919."

—Who will give us a literal translation of the inscription "Posta Ukr. N. Rep." found on the stamps of Ukraine, also "Lietuvos Pasto Zeklas" on Lithuania?

—Charles A. Townsend would like a short article in the WEEKLY dealing with U. S. Customs stamps. Can anyone favor us with a readable article dealing with these stamps? They are advertised frequently but little is known about them.

—The current number of the Paper Mill and Wood Pulp News contains an article on "The Postage Stamp" by Harold Jay Snyder. We regret that our space does not permit us to reprint it.

—The Elk Stamp Exchange can secure no replies to letters sent W. A. Nuxol, Louisville, Ky.; Conrad Stephenson, Superior, Wis.; Reuben Miles, Chicago, Ill. and Ben Herman, Detroit, Mich. The manager sends us a list of five Brooklyn names but we do not think it worth while to list them. Dealers should beware of approval applicants from certain sections of New York and Brooklyn. If interested, write the Elk Stamp Exchange, St. Marys, Pa.

—A. C. Roessler informs us that Japan issued a Peace set of four values July 1. It's a very handsome set.

—Thomas Letts says that there are just as good authorities for Raratonga as Rarotonga. He has consulted his books of reference.

—In the issue of July 12, George T. Moon, Jr., advertised a Gold Coast shilling No. 45. The number should have been No. 75. The stamp catalogs 40c and Mr. Moon offers it at 15c.

AIRPLANE MAIL TO BE ON A 2c BASIS.

(The following Washington despatch was published in the daily press Saturday, July 19, and it indicates a new P. O. policy as regards air mail. The despatch carries with it its own explanation and no comment is called for excepting that it seems likely that special cancellations will be discarded.—W. O. W.)

WASHINGTON, July 18—Postmaster General Burleson today reduced the postage rate on airplane mail to 2c an ounce, the regular rate for first-class matter, and placed the air mail service on the same footing with all other means of mail transportation.

The effect of the order, Second Assistant Postmaster-General Otto Praeger explained, is to place all first-class mail on the same basis and the question of time in mailing will determine whether or not a letter will go by airplane instead of by train. Letters in transit which fail in train connections will be forwarded by airplane to make up the lost time.

It was stated that there was no guarantee under the new arrangement that a letter would go by airplane, but that persons might go to postoffice stations where airplane mail sacks were made up and request that their letters be put in these sacks.

Special airplane stamps will be abandoned and letters need not be marked "via air post."

3c COIL—VARIETY
I recently purchased a 500 coil of 3c stamps—sideways—perf. 10 vertically on which the stamp next to every other plate joint line shows a smeared head of Washington. There were 14 of these oddities, two of them less strong than the others. Anyone desiring this oddity will be supplied with a strip of four stamps showing plate joint line and the variety next to it for $2.50

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. Montgomery Evans, 2nd, sends for our inspection the finest double print or rather shift of the 1c surface print perforated 11, unwatermarked, that we have seen. It is similar to the double print 3c values but to date it seems that the 1c has not been as plentiful as the 3c. The stamp in question was from plate 9247 and was found in a small Pennsylvania town.

Dr. William Evans has submitted to us a copy of the 1c NARCOTIC, Bureau overprint on the 1c Documentary wherein at first glance we are led to believe that the stamp has a second surcharge applied by means of an ink pad. This came from one of the Mulford products and we thought it probably a provisional surcharge, reading, NARCOTIC REVENUE. On closer inspection we are quite positive that this is nothing more than a cancellation. We mention this for a similar variety was mailed us from Texas several weeks back.

In a short paragraph of a recent edition of the WEEKLY, a New York dealer questioned the standing of the 3c black error envelope and stated that it was nothing more than a deep shade of purple. He, no doubt, saw one of the deep shade copies which we mentioned, but he certainly did not see the black envelope for there is positively no doubt that it is black. Copies were submitted to printing experts who stated positively that the ink was black and when the matter was referred to the Post Office Department they explained how it occurred. Their explanation was the one which we gave at the time the envelope was chronicled.

Mr. H. W. Porter reports that one hundred sheets each of the 1, 2 and 3c compound perforated sheets from the rotary press, consisting of 170 subjects were recently placed on sale in Washington. The plate numbers of those which he saw were as follows: 1c, 9463; 2c, 9465, 9466 and 3c, 9143. We still believe that the 4 and 5c will turn up sooner or later and we trust if they fall into the hands of any of our correspondents they will advise us promptly.

ARGENTINE.—Miss Cora H. Fosalba sends us the following:—"The Argentine 1917 series (Nos. 231 to 246) was reissued recently in unwatermarked wove paper. As the stock of unwatermarked paper was exhausted in Buenos Ayres, the "Casa de Moneda" bought 13500 sheets of different kind from Serra Brothers, to print the values of ½, 2 and 5c. This small lot of low values are watermarked with the words SERRA RIVERDALE BOND, four times on each sheet or one to two letters on each stamp. Those ½, 2 and 5c with one or two letters watermarked. will be scarce, because the words SERRA RIVERDALE BOND covers one-tenth of the sheets."

BELGIUM.—Messrs. Bright & Son tell us that they have official advice from the Director of Posts at Brussels to the effect that the Belgian stamps, overprinted with the letter "T" (referred to in last week's Stamp Collecting and previously) were not officially issued; this was done in a few cases by the Post Office employees with a hand-stamp for their own convenience. Messrs. Bright, therefore, do not consider these improvised "Dues" worthy of catalogue rank. —Stamp Collecting.

BRAZIL.—Miss Cora H. Fosalba advises us:—"On May 11 began the sale of the new official set, with the portrait of the last President Wenceslao Braz in the center, and the value and color are as follows:—10r sepia, 20r violet, 50r green, 100r carmine, 200r blue, 500r orange, 600r chestnut, 1000r bistre, 2000r purple, 5000r emerald green, 10000r vermilion. The old values of 300, 400, 700, 20,000, 50,000, 100,000, 500,000 and 1,000,000 of the official series are suppressed."

CANADA.—It is reported to us that a complete sheet of the 3c Confederation stamp has been found in imperforate condition. It was located in a small office in northern Manitoba. We are indebted to R. F. Robinson for this information.

GUATEMALA.—Our first examples of the new series described in our issue for October 12 last have been kindly submitted by Mr. W. G. Walker, of Southsea. The values, subjects, and colours are as follows (the centres being in black in all cases):—30c, Towers of Inalamerico, red; 60c, Government House, olive-green; 90c, University Building, brown; 3 pesos, Arms, bluish-green. Each stamp is inscribed "U.P.U. 1918", and the numerals of value are on both sides of the view in the case of the 30 and 60 values, at the top in the case of the 90 centavos and on a shield to the left of the Arms in the highest denomination.—Stamp Collecting.

HAYTI.—Mr. A. W. Dunning has shown us copies of No. 190 and No. 208 with the added surcharge "1 cts. Gourde" and "2 cts Gourde", respectively.

JUGO-SLAVIA.—Messrs. Bright & Son submit examples of the five "Unpaids"—5, 10, 20 and 50 heller, red on white, and 1 krona, blue on grey—chronicled on authority of Major Lockhart in our issue for May 31, also a further value—5kr blue on grey. These all belong to the Laibach series.

Major Lockhart tells us this series—the ordinary postal adhesives—has just been augmented by four further values viz.:—60h grey-blue, 1kr carmine, 2kr deep blue, and 5kr deep red. All large oblong stamps with various designs.—Stamp Collecting.

ROUMANIA.—Prof. M. Loewy has shown us a copy of the 10 bani stamp of the type of No. 375 printed in black.

TURKEY.—Mr. W. A. Sisson has shown us two covers from the Army Post Office at Constantinople with English stamps being used. We have also been shown covers from the same office with British Levant and British stamps also on the same cover.

URUGUAY.—We are indebted to Miss Cora H. Fosalba for the following information:—

"The Uruguayan Government is preparing a new issue, each value with the same center but with different colors and ornaments. The central picture will be the Hill of Montevideo, famous in the history of the country. The picture of the hill was taken through phototelescopic procedure. This set will appear about September.

The series commemorative of Peace will be issued in the present month of July, bearing the portraits of Presidents Wilson and Poincaré, also the Kings George, Victor-Emmanuel, Albert, etc.

In August will appear, too, the stamp to honour the memory of the great Uruguayan Jose Enrique Rodo, whose body will be taken from Italy (where he died) to Montevideo in the warship "Uruguay".

OUR NEW U. S. BOOKLET.

If any firm of publishers deserves th palm for prolific production of philatel primers and prepositorial textbooks, th firm is surely the Severn-Wylie-Jewe Co., for which Mr. F. Hugh Vallancey sole British Agent. Here we have a old and much-esteemed friend in ne clothes—Goodwin's goodness "altered an rehung.". We have no fault to find wit it. Mr. Goodwin's work is dedicate specifically to the army of beginners an to the budding specialist, and is so eas to follow that even a child could maste it in one perusal. And by this we d not mean to imply there is nothing soli about the book. On the contrary, it i a good square meal, and one's philateli appetite is considerably whetted by th numerous diagrams and illustrations o spandrel ornaments, etc., which accom pany the text. Mr. Goodwin's book from its opening chapter on the fasci nating issue of 1847 down to its closin one (Chapter LXV) on the so-calle "Victory" stamp, is a recreative and a instructive treat.—Stamp Collecting.

BRITISH ERRORS.

By E. BENTLEY WOOD.

The above heading might easily, in the present days of stress, be interpreted to cover the many errors, political, military and domestic, which have been committed since Great Britain entered into the arena of the Great War, but stamp-lovers do not let these mistakes unduly worry them when they betake themselves to the companionship of their albums. They are carried away from the clash of arms and the intrigue of politics to a more serene environment,

"The world forgetting, by the world forgot."

And so it was one day that I began to jot down the philatelic errors of Great Britain which I am now endeavouring to summarize in the following notes.

The two best known errors on the British stamps are the OP, PC instead of CP, PC on the 1½d, pl. 1, of 1870, and the LH, FL instead of LH, HL on the 2½d, pl. 2, of 1875. Neither was corrected and both were out of issue long before the mistake was detected.

Mr. H. G. Ellwell, writing in the British Philatelist, suggests that the O in the 1½d was originally a C inadvertently struck upside down, thus ƆO and then in an attempt at correction, the workman turned his punch and re-struck the letter, superimposing C on Ɔ and thus making the O. This novel theory is quite possibly the true solution.

The 2½d error was discovered in America in June, 1893, and was first noted at Somerset House in consequence of a letter from the finder on the 17th of the following October. One wonders how so obvious a mistake could have passed unnoticed for eighteen years; it could hardly escape for eighteen days the eagle eyes of the active philatelist of today.

The corner letters were a source of several other blunders. On pl. 77 of the 1d red, die 1, the A of BA was accidentally omitted. The mistake in this instance was soon noticed and the plate was corrected and re-registered nine months afterwards. A copy of this error recently fetched £11 10s at auction.

Double letters are frequent in the early line-engraved series. It must be remembered that the letters were struck on the plate by hand after the main design had been completed. The workman in some cases appears to have made a light stroke of his punch to test the correct position, and the second, or permanent blow, did not always coincide. Thus we find the varieties called "double letters". These are accidents rather than actual mistakes, but a real error of this nature was perpetrated on pl. 21 when the last stamp of the 11th, 12th and 13th rows were all originally lettered KL and were corrected in the lower two by a second stroke to LL and ML. A similar instance occurred on pl. 39, where the L of LK was originally inserted as P, and there are some others of like character.

The letter s was another source of trouble and was frequently punched in an inverted position (s). Pls. 78, 105 and 107 show every s thus inverted and there are individual instances on other plates.

An unaccountable error is that on pl. 2 of the 1s. which was so numbered on the margin of the sheet but as pl. 1 on the stamps themselves. Pl. 3, of which only the registration sheets appear to have been printed, is similarly marked "2" on the stamps.

A small printing was made in 1867 of the 10d brown, pl. 1, on "emblems" paper instead of "sprays". Wright and Creeke state that this was a printer's error, contrary to instructions, the old paper being at that time superseded by that with the new watermark. Specimens are very rare, only seven copies having been discovered.

A similar error of watermark, but due to a mistake of the official who made out the warrant, occurs on the £1 brown-lilac. In filling up the requisite form for the paper the quantity required was inadvertently entered in the "orb" column instead of the "crown". The consequence was that 80,000 stamps were printed on the wrong paper. It was at first intended to recall these sheets from circulation, but ultimately they were allowed to be sold.

Through incorrect feeding of the paper into the press, errors of watermark are fairly common and may be found in practically all issues from the 1d black to the current Georgian. Thus inverted, reversed, or inverted and reversed watermarks may be detected; in fact the errors on the 6d octagonal of 1854 are more numerous than normal copies! Sideways watermarks are known on the 1½d Edwardian (crown), and 1d second type Georgian (multiple cypher); both these are Harrison printings.

Some interesting combinations occur in the "emblems" watermark in which some of the later papers show one or both roses inverted. This feature, together with the errors caused by faulty feeding, provide fifteen different varieties from what may be regarded as normal, but there is an additional error which is even more interesting. Owing, probably, to a damage to the watermark frame, a thistle "bit" was lost and was replaced by a rose; thus we have three roses and a shamrock to the exclusion of the Scottish emblem. A correspondent in Ewen's Weekly Stamp News claimed also to have found a similar substitution with three roses and a thistle, on a 6d, pl. 5, but I have never seen this corroborated.

Damage to the "bits" is also responsible for the well-known crown error, which is of an entirely different shape from the normal. This occurs on MA (and reversed ML) on the 1d stars, rose, and on several of the early 1d plate-numbers. The writer recently discovered a similarly shaped crown on TA of the "stars"; this has since been found on TL and inverted on AL. Who will be the first to record it on the AA?

Stamps with reversed watermarks are of course printed on the wrong side of the paper, but for this to happen after the paper was gummed was a comparatively rare occurrence. Owing to the paper of the 6d embossed stamp having been coated with a clear, transparent gum before printing, several sheets appear to have been impressed on the wrong side, a mistake which led to the mucilage being later on tinted as a precaution against its repetiton. There was a story which once went the round of the philatelic press of a man who, on carelessly removing the paper from the back of a copy which happened to be printed "over gum", found his stamp had lost its colour in the wash! The British Philatelist also illustrates the 6d, 1856, printed on the gummed side of the paper, and mentions several other of the surface-printed stamps known to exist with this error.

Perforation errors are naturally more often those of omission. The "Cardiff penny", pl. 116, is the best known, but many other imperforate copies exist. Unless these are found with extra wide margins, they are indistinguishable from copies which have been de-perforated by accident or design with a pair of scissors.

There is one variety which may be regarded as a perforation error of commission. On certain of the small crown 16 stamps of 1854 the side perfs. are of very large, irregular holes, gauging about five by the acknowledged standard, the explanation of which has never been satisfactorily determined. This only occurs on stamps from the extreme left or right hand sides of the sheet.

Whether the ½d and 1d Georgian, perf. 14, is an error or a variety must, in the absence of authoritative information, be left to the lucky possessor to decide. (This is a very interesting point which our contributor raises, and we are able to state that the ½d, perforated 14, occurred probably in error on the part of the authorities, though intentionally on the part of the printers. The stamps were being produced under great pressure, and to expedite delivery of the completed stamps, authority was obtained by telephone to use the Edwardian perforating machines. The permission was apparently given under a misunderstanding, the difference in gauge being overlooked.—EDITOR.) A pair of the ½d, unknowingly "used by one specialist to another", was submitted to auction and was knocked down for £15 10s.

One single tête-bêche error is known, on the plate of the 1d "Draft" fiscal, which was for a time admitted to postal duty. Unless an inverted watermark would identify it, it is very unlikely to be found, for the mistake was afterwards rectified and the plate re-registered.

The official overprints provide a few errors, the inverted GOVT. PARCELS on the 1d lilac being the best known. A similar inversion on the 1s is illustrated in Wright and Creeke's "British Isles", and was for a time inserted in Gibbons, but this has since proved to be a clever forgery.

The OFFICIAI variety on the Army series was caused by a broken letter, but may be classed among the errors. The British Philatelist illustrates a 1d lilac I. R. without the OFFICIAL, and recently a flutter was caused in the philatelic dovecot by the discovery of a 1d Edwardian inscribed OFFICIAL only without any departmental designation.

The double overprint on the 40 paras British Levant, and the small o on the 80 paras Queen, and King, of the same series, may conveniently be included here.

The embossed envelope dies provide a few interesting examples. Albinos—stamped without colour—are the result of two sheets of paper being placed under the die at once, the lower one, of course, escaping the ink. In this category I have a copy of the 1d Victorian with a double impression, one albino and the second in colour; I have also one postmarked on the back instead of the face which must have been folded wrong side outwards. I was recently shown a most curious freak in the Georgian issue depicting our king as "two faced". The envelope was an albino and the paper had apparently been folded vertically just where the stamp was impressed. When opened out and the envelope made up, the stamp showed the left side of the head in normal relief, and the right side in recess with a face looking in the opposite direction, something similar to the head of Janas with which we are familiar on the cover of the "Nineteenth Century and After". This was a Somerset House printing and had been duly sent through the post.

An error of colour was recently chronicled in which a 1d Georgian envelope was found in green, the colour of the ½d.

In the old dated Victorian Registration stamps the "2" of the month was for a few days inserted inverted (1.7.82) and the die-numbers of the 4d envelope appear to have become mixed, those numbered 1 and 4 being, between the proof state and the actual issue, transposed.

An error on a par with the "colonisation" freak of Newfoundland occurred on some of the early postcards. On the bordered issues, 1870 to 1878, the N of PENSE in the garter round the arms is reversed—N, but was corrected in all later editions.

A grammatical error crept into the Nov. and Dec., 1914, printings of the Field Service Postcards, which reads "Letters follows at first opportunity."

Though not actually stamp errors, there are some mistakes in the postal obliterations which are worth looking for. Stamps overprinted for the Oxford Union Society are often postmarked 613 instead of 603, a slip which was not in long use. Brighton had a cancellation allotted to it of its office number, 132, in a diamond—the London type—but copies of this appear to be scarce; I have only found one example of it. Wrong numbers or types were also used by other towns, but they require a lot of searching for and corroboration by an accompanying date stamp.

It will be seen that quite an extensive collection could be made of British errors alone. Of the 151 1d plate numbers, only four remain undiscovered with inverted watermarks, and there are very few exceptions in the higher values. Certainly it would need a long purse, for one would not care to estimate the value of the 2s brown with inverted watermark, a copy of which graces the album of a well-known specialist, and there are several other items which would probably run into double figures.

After all, my notes only "skim the cream"; there are numerous other minor points which might be construed into errors if any departure from the normal may be so called. Their inclusion in a collection makes for completeness; the knowledge gained by their quest adds zest to further pursuit, and knowledge gained is Philately strengthened.—Postage Stamp.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

ONE CENT OF FIFTY-ONE.

By EARLY BYRD.

When it comes to spectacular rises in value (assuming that value always represents the relation between supply and demand) probably no postage stamp has taken such a jump as the once comparatively common 1 cent, Type IV, of the 1851 issue of United States. Two years ago there were very few collectors who paid much attention to securing a fine showing of these stamps. They were in good supply and many dealers could produce a hundred or more of them on demand. Today, if any of the well known dealers secures a few good copies he makes character by sending them along to his pet client, and as an accommodation lets him have them at prices ranging up to ten times their list price. It is absurd to lay the rapidly advancing prices of stamps to the score of stamp dealers. Many dealers are distinctly opposed to what they short-sightedly consider a dangerous boom market. Any man who collects objects of art and vertu, not to mention food for his table or shoes for the baby, realizes that back of these enhanced prices lies the solid foundation of increased demand occasioned by the unprecedented redistribution of wealth which the world has experienced during the past five years. Stamps are merely sharing in the general rising prices of desirable things. Practically everyone likes to possess nice things; most people like beautiful and interesting objects. Ordinarily, however, one's living expenses are so closely balanced with one's fixed income that comparatively few have money left to indulge artistic taste. But the war changed all that. For several years, millions of dollars, say a hundred million, were distributed each and every day throughout the business world. Scarce a community in America, or in Europe for that matter, where the incomes of a number of men have not multiplied faster than they could readjust their standards of living to absorb the money. All the world had cash to spend; a large proportion of the world still has and will for some time continue to have a surplus of ready money. And with that money they will buy the things they always have craved possession of, fine pictures, fine jewels, first editions, antique furniture, ceramics, engravings. The high prices of manufactured articles will slide down the scale rapidly as production catches up with demand. Present scarcity has forced the price of the Rolls-Royce motor car, to use a conspicuous example, in one instance at least to more than $20,000. But soon the output of fine cars will force the price to a more logical level. But the prices of objects of art and antiquity will not share in this decline, because once absorbed there is no way of duplicating the supply. People seldom part with treasures of this kind. They may reduce the number of servants they employ, or the number of motor cars they maintain, but they do not, except in rare instances, think of taking their pictures from the walls, or the stamps from their albums. Those things become part of one's life, and not until the last ditch is reached does one part with them.

Quite apart from the fundamental fact that a whole lot more people are buying fine stamps today than were able to buy them five years ago is the equally important fact of increased study of and interest in the stamps we already were familiar with, and the consequently multiplied demand for them.

Type IV of the 1c of 1851 is a particularly good example of this doubly increased demand. For several years a few earnest students of United States stamps have realized that Type IV stamps were printed from the first plate made for the 1c stamps, and that almost all the varieties present in that plate in its original state could be found in the Type IV, plus an interesting variety of recuts and shifts, caused by the re-entering and refurbishing of the old plate. Only within the past year has the idea begun to percolate through to the general collector that Type IV is the designation not only of one stamp but in reality of about 150 readily recognizable varieties of stamps, and a full 200 varieties that can be differentiated by careful study. When that idea did begin to seep through it required only a few weeks to sweep the big markets clean as a whistle. I have seen page after page of a dealer's specialized book absolutely denuded of stamps by the first enthusiast for Type IV's who happened to get his eye on it.

One need not go to the extreme of replating the entire 200 stamps to see the desirability of collecting a number of very obvious and interesting varieties. Almost any boy collector should have interest enough in his collection to want to show the chief recuts. Those are, recut outer line at the bottom only; recut outer line at the top only; both label and outer line recut at bottom only; label and outer line at bottom and outer line at top recut; and labels and outer lines top and bottom all recut. Of the two hundred stamps in the plate, I think 39 had only the top outer line recut; 19 had only the outer line at the bottom recut; 6 had two recut lines at the top and one at the bottom; 34 had two lines recut at the bottom and one at the top; while scarcest of all are those showing four recut lines of which, unless memory is playing tricks on me, there are but two. These varieties of recutting are so obvious it seems reasonable to suppose they will be listed in the Standard Catalogs in the not too far distant future; in any event, they will be generally recognized and whatever quotation the catalog gives for Type IV, it will be safe to assume that in ordering from any price list you will be ordering the commonest variety.

There are a number of very clear shifts, or double transfers, to be found in this stamp. The most numerous and plainest show duplication in the lettering of top and bottom labels; next easiest to find are those showing the horizontal lines of the background encroaching on the white frame about the center oval; third, those showing more or less duplication in the ornamental frame. The foregoing are general classifications, but there are four big shifts demanding special notice. Three of these are said to be inverted transfers; that is to say, the stamps were first impressed on the plate upside down and then re-entered right side up, so that traces of the inverted impression still remain on the stamps. These may be identified by a dark line running through the center of the ornament at the upper left corner. There are three of these inverted shifts and I have known $200 paid for a strip showing all of them. Another beautiful shift in the 1c shows the lower label and scroll work repeated about 2 mm. below the stamp.

Any of the easily identified shifts is worth from $5 up in fine condition, while pairs and strips are selling at from $5 to $50 according to the varieties they happen to show.

One thing to be mentioned regarding the stamps from Plate I, whether in the original or the recut state, is that the Type I stamps may easily be passed over for commoner varieties because the scrolls are so faint. If you see a stamp with clear, strong scrolls, more or less as they appear in the reissue, it is fairly safe to say it is not Plate I. Nos. 6, 7 and 8 in Plate I all show the complete or nearly complete scrolls, but the color is usually light and the scrolls are only to be well seen through a glass. If you have some 1c '51's you never have examined under a glass, get right after them and see if you haven't an unsuspected treasure.

Of course all this is very superficial and kindergarten "dope". It will take a very respectable sized volume to cover the details of the 1c of 1851. There were three or four plates, and Heaven knows how many transfer rolls, so the minor or fly-speck varieties run into the hundreds. Dr. Carroll Chase has written some articles on the subject, which one hears he intends to complete, while there are promises of an exhaustive analysis of Plate I in its first and second states by those enthusiasts Messrs. Ashbrook, McDaniels, and Jacobs.

While good cancellations are as interesting on these stamps as on any others, the stamps themselves offer such infinite variety that the postal markings are apt to be a secondary consideration. However, many of the interesting markings seen on the '47 issue are to be found on the 1c 1851, including town and grid cancellations in green, blue, red and black, relatively scarce in the order given. A nice bright red grid makes a pretty cancellation on the blue stamp, but it is far harder to find than on the 5c '47. Red town cancellations are easier to find, though far from being had for the asking. Among the black towns found on these stamps are two that are quite out of the ordinary in that they have no frame; these are Baltimore and Indianapolis. The unframed black Baltimore postmark seems to have been in use only a few months in 1853, and is a comparatively scarce cancellation. Blue was the pet color of both Baltimore and Philadelphia postoffices for many years, but both tried black for a time during the life of the '51 issue; Baltimore also used a dark blue-green for a short time, but soon abandoned it in favor of blue. On covers the 1c '51 is frequently found used as a carrier in combination with other stamps, such as a 3c and a 1c on ordinary letters, or a 10c and 1c on California covers. Railroad cancellations are at considerable premium, though not so rare as on the 1847 issue. Numerals, Way, Free, Paid and Steamboat cancellations are decidedly scarce and worth good premiums.

Make friends with the 1c of 1851, if you have not already done so. It will repay careful study better than any stamp I know, both in its wealth of variety and its almost certain rapid increase in value. It has gone up a lot, is still going, and probably will climb faster than ever when the general run of collectors begin to appreciate it better.

Collection of 20,000 Varieties
Now On Sale

We take pleasure in announcing that we have recently purchased a fine general collection of both 19th and 20th Century stamps numbering about 20,000 varieties, with a large number of duplicates and shades, making altogether 100,000 stamps contained in a twenty-two volume album. We are pricing this collection and shall be glad to send selections on approval to readers of the WEEKLY furnishing satisfactory references.

AFTER SEPTEMBER FIRST

I shall have more time to devote to the Stamp Auction business which has been my specialty since 1892. I am not a candidate for re-appointment for the Sales Superintendency of the American Philatelic Society this year, which will give me considerable extra time to take care of more fine stamp properties that may be offered to sell at Auction.

I was obliged to decline several good properties in the past year for the reason that I did not have sufficient time to devote to it. I have several properties now on hand, but can take care of several other fine properties later in the season. An early application for space is advisable if you have any really fine material to offer.

If you do not receive my Auction catalogs regularly, better "GET ON OUR MAILING LIST."

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—The Whiteside Co. (Ill.) Agricultural Society will hold its annual fair Sept. 2-5. For the first time in its history cash prizes will be awarded for the best stamp exhibits. T. M. Whitemore, 511 N. Cherry St., Morrison, Ill., writes that he can furnish good references to any philatelists who may desire to make exchanges.

—Wanted.—Present day address of Capt. Geo. F. Glass, formerly at Base Hospital No. 111. Who can favor us?

—In sending us two advertising cancellations, Lucien B. Wellborn enclosed a clipping giving the particulars of an unofficial airmail trip from Bishop, Cal., to Los Angeles. Letters were carried at the regular 2c rate. Mr. Wellborn says there is an aeroplane service from San Pedro, Cal., to Catalina Island, but only passengers and newspapers have thus far been carried. The schedule is eighteen minutes for the trip.

—Baltimore has a new stamp firm in Schnick & Co., 2618 Francis St. The firm is composed of H. H. Schnick, a member of various stamp societies, and C. Lat. Wilhelm who has become a conspicuous figure in Baltimore philately. Mr. Wilhelm is connected with the Baltimore American and we have made frequent references to the stamp department which has been a prominent feature of that publication. We give the new firm a cordial greeting.

—Alfred F. Lichtenstein sends us a Swiss envelope with a "Save Meat" cancellation. It reads "Spart Fleisch—Economisez la Viande". From Edwin H. Bailey comes the information of a New Zealand cancellation reading:—"The Repatriation Dept. trains men for every trade."

—So far we have only four names to list on our A. P. S. convention roster. Mr. Severn, the editor of the WEEKLY, will attend. Messrs. Mann and Wolsieffer of Philadelphia and Mr. Koslowski of Detroit. Are there others?

—Herman W. Boers, noticing our mention of Detroit as a great philatelic center, comes to our support with the statement that it contains two flourishing stamp societies and is second only to New York City in A. P. S. memberships. It leads both Chicago and Philadelphia, though by a narrow margin. New York has 104, Detroit 55, Chicago 54 and Philadelphia 52. Mr. Boers says that New York leads in state membership with 212, Pennsylvania 147 and Massachusetts 114. We would like to publish Mr. Boer's letter in full but must content ourselves with saying that he makes a good Detroit booster.

—R. P. B.—We do not know where you can get the watchcharm which is a replica of the triangular Cape of Good Hope stamps. Some English dealer could no doubt secure it for you.

—"I Polska Wystawa Marek". One reader says this means "First Polish Exposition of Stamps", another affirms that it means "& Polish Exhibition Stamps" while still another gives "This stamp represents the Polish people". We are waiting for a new translation or a confirmation of one of those given.

—Charles Wilson sends us three postcards received from 42nd St., Brooklyn, N. Y. The numbers are 1315, 1318 and 1328. They are all requests for approval selections and applicants and references consist of the following names:—Gittelson, Levin, Morris, Waldmann and Wolfe. Further comment seems unnecessary.

—The contest inaugurated by the Elk Stamp Exchange and announced last week (consisting of the naming of the scarcest stamp cataloging 25c or less) will close August 30.

—Edwin H. Bailey sends us the particulars of an aeroplane mail service tried out July 18 between Brooklyn and Babylon, N. Y. Long Islanders are anxious to have established an aeroplane mail delivery system.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from W. R. Horney, E. A. D'Armour, Wm. J. Langholz, Harold R. Arnold, Charles E. Booth, Jack Printz, Maitland Milliken, Kenneth Tallmadge.

—P. H. G.—We can supply back numbers of the WEEKLY at 2c each.

—The Jordan Stamp Co., Kingston, N. Y., woud like to hear from dealers who can get no replies to letters sent A. B. Cleveland, Holyoke, Mass.; Harry E. Ament, Rochester, N. Y. and J. Alex. Copeland, Jersey City, N. J.

—We have received from J. A. Galbraith specimens of three new stamps, viz.:—Jamaica 1½d green commemorative, also 2sh deep blue on light blue, and Gilbert & Ellice 3d violet on yellow, chalky paper.

—F. J. S.—As yet we have no indices for the years 1917 and 1918. For a personal reply enclose stamp.

—There was an error in the adlet of S. N. Oughtred July 19. 25 Halifax law stamps were advertised for 25c. Only one stamp, 25c value, was intended.

—A very excellent series of stamp articles has been appearing in the Christian Science Monitor. In fact, various articles received from various parts of the country indicate that the hobby is receiving a great deal of publicity at the present time. The stamps of new Europe have a special charm for these philatelic writers. We acknowledge the receipt of four Monitor articles from M. A. Woodbury.

—"Went to the Los Angeles postoffice and asked for the 'Narcotic' stamps. The I. R. C. would only sell me the 1 cent. This stamp he overprinted in my sight. The handstamping is done with a rubber handstamp printing the word 'narcotic' five times at one application. I expect to get the rest of them soon.—LUCIEN B. WELLBORN.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Revised—The news of the reduction in the rate for mail carried by aeroplane to two cents an ounce or fraction thereof and the displacement of special stamps by "any stamps good for postage" practically closes a chapter of philatelic history that will have a somewhat curious place in the annals of philately. First, some years ago came the aerial markings on mail with ordinary stamps that was carried on flights for exhibition purposes at different points, in order to give the people a new sensation. In due time, the establishment of regular air-mail routes followed and the use of distinctive stamps gave a substance to mail carried through the air. Though the philatelic significance of aerial mail carried was not adequately recognized by the authorities, yet enough material was presented to make a fascinating aside that appealed to many collectors. The devious turns that the department took with its orders for the treatment of the mail confounded collectors but even so, there is a good number of special markings to engage attention. Mr. A. C. Roessler, the most active exponent of air-mail philately in a communication to us says: "I see that it is all off with the special cancellation. This new rate and lack of distinction between that class of mail and the ordinary make the airplane cancellation obsolete." We think the fact that a sort of philatelic finale has been given to the air-mail envelopes will center attention on those that are available for collecting.

Echo—An occasional pot-shot is still being taken at us by readers who do not coincide with our remarks recently on the high prices of United States. One of them asks who benefits if not the dealers from the new scale. It is certain that the dealers do not as they have not enough of the stamps in question in stock to make it worth while. One dealer writes: "It seems that the sky-high prices arrived after my stock was shot to pieces and I am now anxious to buy back some of the stamps I sold not so very long ago at prices that will yield the buyers a good profit." A dealer is apt to hold a few if any stamps for future price possibilities; and it is the "turn-over" of stock that he strives for as a rule.

Postmarks—On an envelope bearing the three cent green, 1882, we notice this postmark, "Verona, Ill., Jan 25, 1883, F. P. Avery, P. M." The incorporation of the name of the postmaster in the postmark may strike some of us as odd but the collector who has interested himself in the earlier postmarks on U. S. stamps may know that this form of self-exploitation by postmasters characterized a period in the late '70's and early '80's when room for the play of the postmaster's individuality was afforded in the selection of postmarks, cancellations, etc. This postmark of 1883 that has been referred to is about the last survivor, as to date, of this tolerant postal era. Receiving or back stamping postmarks, such as, "Received at P. O. Marseilles, Illinois, Apr. 26, 1880, 2 P. M., D. H. Slagle, P. M.," showed another style of publicity for the patient P. M. These liberties, viewed from the postal standard of to-day were taken with the tacit consent of the authorities, as in the U. S. Postal Guide, 1881, for instance, we find the advertisements of several enterprising firms addressing themselves to postmasters and offering post office supplies, such as "postmarkers," (with the name of the postmaster if desired) and different styles of cancelling stamps. Several of the firms that catered to the wants of postmasters before uniformity of equipment was demanded by the government grew to good size and no doubt, some of the older readers who have done their turn in the country post office will remember the illustrated catalogue of F. P. Hammond & Co., Aurora, Ill., which was "sent free to postmasters only." We suppose that the use of the postmaster's name in the marker was made about 1885.

Ink—In 1879, the postal laws and regulations provided that postage stamps be canceled by postmasters, with black printing-ink only, "whenever that material can be obtained; and where it cannot, the operation should be performed by making several heavy crosses or parallel lines upon each stamp, with a pen dipped in good black writing-ink." Each succeeding year, the department emphasized the use of black ink only but it was a long time before the reform was a sweeping one; and even to-day, mail comes from small offices, here and there, principally in the south, with colored postmarks and cancellations.

Signs—As the new stamps of the reconstruction period come in an unbroken stream, one becomes aware of the important part that philately plays in war and peace. Stamps of a verity are signs of the times. The story of the war stamps is concluded; the stamps have done their part well and are content to rest for all time with the comforting thought of duty performed. Peace has its stamp celebrations and its issues come under the reconstruction era, which with its regular issues born of political exigencies are making a lively time for our pursuit. In years to come, the pages that are now being filled in the albums will be a graphic exposition of the changes in nations; and stamps that have an historical basis have an added dignity. Poland, for instance, with its lone stamp was a philatelic pygmy but now with its hundred and more stamps has changed about face and we do not know of anything that could more compactly express the political mutuations of that country than its stamps. By-the-way, the peace stamps of Japan that several readers have shown us with appreciative comment in which we chime are beautiful stamps and are meaningful in their symbolism of design and special cancellation.

Reported—From Mr. R. J. C. Brown, we have received particulars of his discovery of the five cent, 1851, U. S., with a distinct double transfer. From the drawing that Mr. Brown submits, it is seen that the doubling is very marked in the "Five Cents," while the bottom projection instead of having the normal double line appearance is a solid mass of color.

Wanted—We have a request from Mr. Erwin C. Campbell, who may be addressed in care of the editor, for particulars of the suit brought by Christopher C. Campbell against the postmasters of different cities, including New York, about 1880, for "alleged infringements of letters patent for an improvement in post office marking and canceling stamps, which stamps are furnished to postmasters by the department." We know of Francis, Fletcher, Steel and Douglas, through their patents to prevent the re-use of stamps but Mr. Campbell who is a relative, we assume, of the plaintiff in these old cases, is interested to know just what turn the inventive genius of the litigant took.

NEWFOUNDLAND AIR MAIL.

By MICHAEL P. HYNES.

In your issue of the 12th inst. it is stated that the British dirigible R-34 dropped some mail bags as it journeyed over Newfoundland. May I set you right by saying that no mail was dropped here by the airship? As she passed over Grand Bank, on our south coast, a parachute was dropped to which was attached two messages, one addressed to the Prime Minister of Newfoundland and the other to the Colonial Secretary.

The Martinsyde attempt at a trans-Atlantic flight has been abandoned and Raynham has left here for England. His mail has been handed back to the Postal authorities and will be forwarded to England at the first opportunity. As there is no direct steamer leaving here soon it is likely it will go via New York.

When the Handley-Page machine left here on July 4th for Long Island, N. Y., she carried an English mail of 171 pieces and a small supplementary American mail. After the forced landing at Parrsboro, N. S., the mail-bag was sent to New York to connect with the R-34 for transportation to England. It is not known here yet if the connection was made. It is likely that Newfoundland will have a regular Air Mail Service stamp in the near future.

STAMPS OF THE CZECHO-SLOVAKS.

By JAMES F. HAMILL.

Czecho-Slovakia, or Bohemia, as it is commonly called, is one of the newest nations resulting from the World's War, and one which has provided the collector with several interesting sets already. Up to 1918 Czecho-Slovakia was the northeastern part of Austria-Hungary, comprising the land inhabited chiefly by the Czechs and Slovaks, hence its name. The largest city and by far the most important in this state is its capital, Prague. This is a city of 228,000 inhabitants and is situated in one of the most fertile regions of the world. The word "Prague" is the English form of the German "prag", or "praha", which in Czech means the "threshold", referring, it is supposed, to a reef of rocks in the bed of the Moldan River on which Prague is situated. This nation is bounded on the north by Germany, on the west by German-Austria, on the south by Hungary, and on the east by Ukrania, Russia and Poland. Professor Thomas G. Masaryk is the President of this republic and is a most capable man and staunch patriot in every sense of the word.

Taking up the regular postage stamps first, we find one design existing throughout—that of the Cathedral of Prague in the center, the word "posta" above, the value in numerals below, and—in the first issue—the words "cesko slovenska" at the sides. In the second issue the plate was altered, the words "cesko slovenska" removed from the sides and placed horizontally across the stamp immediately above the value and below the pictorial center, and the spaces left vacant at the sides filled in by two small circles. These two issues we shall designate as Types I and II.

The newspaper stamps issued by this republic are square in shape, and have as a central design a pigeon with outstretched wings, surrounded by a circular band upon which "posta" is inscribed at the top, and "cesko slovenska" at the sides; the value in numerals is in both lower corners of the stamp. The special delivery stamps are rectangular in shape and depict two pigeons perched on the square containing the value of the stamp; the band surrounding the stamp is also inscribed "posta cesko slovenska." The postage-dues are perhaps the least interesting of all owing to the oneness of color practically throughout; with the exception of the three highest values, they are all bistre. The value and the word "doplatit" form the central design, while "cesko slovenska" forms the border on left, top and right sides, and "posta" on the bottom. To my knowledge there have been no changes whatever in the designs of the newspaper, special delivery, and postage-due stamps.

For the benefit of those who have found it difficult to classify all the varieties, I herewith submit a list of all the varieties that have come to my notice thus far, and although unable to vouch for the absolute completeness of the same, still I believe it will go a long way toward helping the collector out in his attempts to chronicle all values and varieties. It should be borne in mind, however, that in several values, particular in the postage stamps, a great many shades have been discovered which I think unnecessary to report.

In Type I of the postage stamps, the following values were issued imperforate:—3h violet, 5h yellow green, 10h rose, 20h bluish green, 25h blue, 30h bistre, 40h light red, 100h red brown, 200h ultramarine, and 400h violet. Not long afterwards I procured the 5, 10 and 20h (Type I) in a clean-cut perforation measuring clearly 11½, and although Scott lists them as "perforate 11", I cannot help but think them mistaken; I have heard of no other values in this perforation. A few weeks ago I received a set of Type I very roughly perforated which was executed by a hand-machine; this set included the 3h, 5h, 10h, 20h, 25h, 30h and 40h, and although I did not receive the higher values, I can see no reason for their not being also issued in this perforation; the perforations are very indistinct and in some cases immeasurable, but those which I was able to measure seemed to be 9½. I am informed, however, that 13½ is the new and permanent perforation, and have received the 25h (Type I) in a very clean-cut perforation of that measurement—evidently the first value to make its appearance

The following values in Type II have been issued imperforate:—1h chocolate, 15h vermilion, 50h purple, 60h orange, 80h olive green, and 300h blue green. I have also received the 1h, 50h, and 60h in the rough perforation of 9½. No stamps of Type II have as yet appeared in the permanent 13½ perforation, that I am aware of. There are not so many varieties in the newspaper, special delivery and postage-due stamps, and they are, therefore, much more easily classified. Only three values have appeared in the pewspaper stamps, namely 2h green, 6h scarlet, and 10h violet, all of which are imperforate. The 2h violet and 5h yellow green, both on yellow paper, constitute the special delivery set. I have them, both imperforate and in the rough 9½ perforation. The following due stamps have been issued in bistre:—5h, 10h, 15h, 20h, 25h, 30h, 40h and 50h; 100h deep brown, 500h blue green, and 1000h violet. All are imperforate, but no doubt they will appear soon perforated.

The stamps this new nation has given us have been so far very interesting, and should prove a delight to every collector of new issues; and the least we can do is to wish for its welfare and success as a newcomer among the nations of the world.

NEW TAXPAIDS.

By CHAS. S. THOMPSON.

The United States has always been held up to the philatelic fraternity as a shining light among great countries, because it has not as yet surcharged any postage stamps, at least, for postal uses. As an overprinter of revenue stamps, however, the most Nicaragually inclined speculator has nothing on some of our revenue officials, as the following stamps indicate:—

20 Cig.—Green on blue, Series of 1901. Schgd. "$1.25 PER M. ACT OF AUG. 5, 1909." in Roman caps and figures, 3 mm. high, two-line schg.

20 Cig.—Same as above, the schg. barred by fancy zig-zags, and schgd. "ACT OF 1917" in characters 5½ mm. high, (sans-serif caps.) Both above schgs. in deep carmine.

20 Cig.—Same as above, but with additional schg. "P. I." in thick Roman caps, 5½ mm. high, in gentian violet. This surcharge is applied horizontally, the others vertically, reading up.

20 Cig.—Same as above, but the "1917" barred by four lines of gentian violet, 10 mm. long, and schgd. vertically up in red, "1918" in figures 5 mm. high, the surcharge being 14½ mm. long. The P. I. is very faint on this and succeeding varieties, probably due to wetting.

20 Cig.—Same as above, but the "1918" is schgd. in figures which are only 4 mm. high, the surcharge being 15 mm. long, as the type is much more expanded. The "1918" in 2 preceding varieties occurs in various positions due to the fact that the surcharges were applied by hand with a "consecutive number" stamp.

It will be noticed that these surcharges are all on the same stamp, there being no less than five overprints on the last-named variety.

The cancellation consists of a series of six undulating lines, alternating with ovals 31 mm. high, bearing date of cancellation. This appears like a sixth surcharge, and there is no room for doubt that the practice of economy has been carried to the ultimate degree in the case of this series of stamps. About the only place where another overprint could be applied is at the top of the stamp, in corner spandrels, where the "20" might be converted into a "5" to indicate the number of surcharging operations.

Probably other values have been treated in the same manner as the 20 of 1901, but that denomination is the only one I have seen.

No Chance for a Vacation

Just bought a nice lot U. S. and B. N. A. stamps, and will be pleased to hear from any one wishing to add some nice stamps to their collection at the right price.

The more you pay the better the stamps. I have medium, and high priced, depending on condition.

State whether you are particular about condition, as it makes it easier for me, if you can use slightly damaged stamps I have them at bargain figures. Be sure to state what you collect, to avoid sending something of no interest to you.

MR. U. S. SPECIALIST, my recent advertisement asking that those interested in the varieties of our country and those anxious to receive unusual items as issued, should have their name upon my list has brought in many replies. As explained, I am in close touch with numerous philatelists throughout the country and as a result generally obtain the oddities as they come out. Of some varieties that I have had less than 50 were known and as a result they were placed without trouble. In order to obtain such varieties it is necessary that the serious collector be in close touch with those that are likely to have them. It will cost you only a 2c stamp to write me and it is not necessary for you to purchase. It, however, is the advanced specialist that I am likely to interest for I have no approvals, carry no stock and only send out odd things as I run into them to those who are likely to purchase them.

Look up my recent advertisement in which I mention several rare varieties that I had FIRST and some items that I had the ENTIRE supply. If you are not on my list you are likely to pay someone else a good premium on the items I distributed.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—The daily papers carry notices that the Post Office Department has reduced the rate on aeroplane mail to 2c per ounce and that in the future such mail will be carried via aeroplane or train, whichever is the quickest, at the option of the department. Inquiry at the local post office shows that the official notice from Washington regarding this change has not yet been received. If this information is correct it means that the 6c aeroplane stamp will be discontinued and we hardly believe that a special 2c stamp will be issued, in its place.

It is barely possible that the clipping did not give all the details and that it meant the rate for the carrying by air was reduced to 2c in addition to an extra postal charge of 2c, making four cents in all. If this is the case, it is quite likely that a special stamp will be made.

We have been lead to believe that the department contemplates issuing a special peace series which will make their appearance around the time that the League of Nations meets in Washington. Of course nothing definite can have been done for the Senate has not as yet ratified the treaty which brings into being the League of Nations in so far as this country is concerned.

In further reference to the now famous compounds recently issued, Mr. B. K. Miller informs us that he has located sheets of the three values, namely the 1c, 2c and 3c with the vertical guide lines in nearly every possible position. Some show it between the 2nd and 3rd rows, some the 3rd and 4th rows and so on. It will be recalled that the sheets are supposedly separated at the guide line but as mentioned before a large portion are separated elsewhere.

We are pleased to be able to report another series of provisional rubber stamped "Narcotic" revenues. Dr. L. G. Tedesche and A. E. Hussey write that Cincinnati has issued a series surcharged in red violet ink in capital letters upon the current documentaries. Dr. Tedesche is unable to furnish information as to the exact denominations but believes all values up to and including the $2 value have been overprinted.

Mr. A. S. Davenport also reports that additional values of the Documentary stamps have been surcharged at the Bureau "Narcotic". We have chronicled heretofore the 1c, 2c, 4c, 8c and 10c and now wish to add 1919 "Narcotic" on 1917 Documentary, Bureau-Surcharge.

5c rose.	$1 green.

The letter which Mr. Davenport received from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, is most interesting, and under the circumstances quote from it.

Washington, D. C.
July 15, 1919.

"Sir: I am in receipt of your letter of May 28 in which you state that you are very much interested in making a collection of United States revenue stamps, and would appreciate it if I could give you information set forth in your several questions, and in reply beg to give below your questions and answers thereto, as follows:

1. I note a new playing card stamp inscribed "Class A".

A. About when was it issued, as it does not bear the series, as heretofore. A. December 14, 1918. Has no series.

B. In reading the law covering playing cards I do not seem to find any reference to "Class". Are there other classes than A? A. There are no other classes than A.

C. Have new stamps been prepared for, or any overprinted by the Bureau under the 8c tax? A. 2c playing card stamps, Series 1894, are overprinted 8c. (Ed. Bureau means "8 Cts" in red.)

2A. Have other values than the 1c and 2c documentary stamps been overprinted "Narcotic", and if so, why? A. Documentary stamps that have been overprinted "narcotic" are 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 8c, 10c, 25c and $1.00.

2B. Is a special stamp to be issued for narcotics and if so, what values? A. Special stamps will be issued for narcotics as follows:

1c to be known as No. 1, size ¼"x1½"
No. 2, size ⅜"x2½"
No. 3, size ½"x4"
No. 4, size ¾"x6"

3. Has a special stamp been prepared or issued for "stock transfer" and "future delivery", or are the overprinted documentaries to continue?

A. No special stamps have been prepared for "stock transfer" and "future delivery." Will continue to overprint documentary stamps."

JAMES L. WILMETH, Director.

We have recently had our attention called to several heretofore unlisted varieties of provisional surcharges upon the 2c blue playing card stamp, series of 1894. Mr. H. F. Metz has shown us the stamp surcharged in heavy black letters "17", inverted, indicating that the stamp was used under the act of 1917, that is at the 7c rate. Mr. A. S. Mark shows us the same stamp issued at the Cleveland office surcharged first in violet red "1917" and then inverted "1919" indicating that the stamps were first prepared to be sold under the act of 1917 and some being on hand when the new act went into effect they were surcharged with the year of the new act. The same gentleman also shows us this stamp surcharged in black reading up as well as down, the former being the invert. as follows: "S. P. C. Co. 7 Cancelled". Mr. R. H. Mason reports the "10-4-1917 7 Cents S. P. C. Co." in violet reading both up and down as well as the "10-4-1917 7 Cents A. D." in bright red, double surcharge.

Mr. Charles Huscher as well as Mr. G. T. Kettlewell send us several new as well as unusual postmarks from the West. From Denver, "Be careful with fire in the mountains", also "Vacation outdoors in Colorado's National Forests", from Sacramento, "Help prevent forest fires", from San Francisco, "Take your vacation in the National Forests".

BAHAMAS.—We are indebted to Dr. Walter Hess for first glimpse of the new issue of WAR stamps for this colony. The values are ½, 1, 3d, and 1sh and are surcharged in two lines. The ½d and 1sh are surcharged in red while the 1d and 3d are in black. The type of surcharge on the 3d is very much larger type than the other three values.

BRAZIL.—A San Paulo correspondent says that the new 25 reis stamp, chronicled recently, was placed on sale there on February 11 last.

The Madrid Filatelico says that the new official adhesives, with portrait of Wenceslao Braz, were issued on April 11. The values and colours are :—

10r brown.	500r orange.
20r mauve.	600r brown.
50r green.	1,000r bistre.
100r carmine.	2,000r purple.
200r blue.	5,000r emerald green.
	10,000r vermilion.

—Stamp Collecting.

CHINA.—We are informed by S. S. Wang Chin Chai that two postal savings stamps will be issued soon. The values will be 5c and 10c and they will serve the people who are unable to deposit $1 at one time, which is the minimum

ADLETS.

Minimum two lines.

This column is for the use of our patrons who desire only a few lines of space. If you want to buy, sell, or exchange, it is without doubt the best advertising medium in the world. It is impossible to guarantee advertisers in this department and patrons must satisfy themselves as to the reliability of the parties with whom they desire to engage in business relations.

RATE.—25c per line, cash in advance. No display allowed. Six words (32 letters) to the line, including address. We offer 50 lines for $10.00, where cash is paid in advance. This space can be used at such times and in such quantities as may be desired.

FEDERATED MALAY STATES.—A new 10c in blue has been issued, in the same color as the 8c No. 41. The new stamp has not been placed on sale to the general public and will not be until the stock of the 8c has been disposed of. We are indebted to A. S. Jessup for this item.

FIUME.—(1484.).—Messrs. Bright & Son chronicle the following Charity set inscribed PRO-FONAZIONE STUDIO LIRE5:—

5c+5l green (Animal ?).
10c+5l red (Animal ?).
15c+5l grey (Animal ?).
20c+5l yellow (Animal ?).
45c+5l drab (Ship).
60c+5l rose (Ship).
80c+5l lilac (Ship).
1cor+5l grey green (Ship).
2cor+5l red brown (Temple).
3cor+5l grey (Temple).
5cor+5l brown (Temple).
10cor+5l deep violet (Temple).

GILBERT & ELLICE ISLANDS.—We are indebted to J. H. Smyth for a copy of the new 3d George, violet on yellow.

GUATEMALA.—Mr. W. G. Walker kindly supplies correct translations of the inscriptions on the centavos values of the Guatemalan pictorials. These are:—

30c Wireless Station Towers.
60c Refuge of Motherhood (Hospital).
90c Practical School.

—Stamp Collecting.

JAPAN.—We have received from Lucien B. Wellborn specimens of the new Japanese peace stamps, 1½, 3, 4 and 10 sen. They are most artistic. The 3 and 10 sen and the 1½ and 4 sen are in two groups of designs. The colors are brown, olive green, carmine and blue, respectively. A dove is the central figure on all four stamps but is particularly striking on the 3 and 10 sen where with outstretched wings it is shown carrying an olive branch. The workmanship and colorings of the set are of the highest order.

JOHORE.—A supply of Johore stamps on multiple CA watermarked paper has come to hand, consisting of the values of 2, 10, 21c, 1, 2, 3, 4, 5 and $10.—Griebert's Notes.

LA GEORGIE.—Messrs. Bright & Son advise that in addition to the values chronicled in No. 1487 a 1 rouble value has appeared.

LITHUANIA.—We are indebted to W. C. Stone and C. A. Howes for calling our attention to the item appearing under the head of Ukranin in issue No. 1489. This should have been under the heading as above.

MESOPOTAMIA.—We have repeatedly heard statements that sets of Iraq (Mesopotamia) could be purchased in London at a certain Government Office at face value. Nothing, however, is further from the real facts, as these stamps are only obtainable from the authorities in Mesopotamia. One day it was given out that the Indian Government had prohibited the exportation of these stamps, but this was contradicted soon afterwards by the message that certain values only could be supplied. At first only values from 1 anna upwards were obtainable, but our agents managed to secure the ½ anna as well, the lowest value, however, could not be procured, as the entire quantity had been bought up by speculators.—Griebert's Notes.

PARAGUAY.—Joseph C. Northup advises that a stamp famine is on and while waiting the new issue, surcharging is running rampart. He has received at the same time 2 new colors of the 1910 issue (No. 191 and 196) namely the 5 centavos in a very dark blue-green and the 10c in a deep violet. Three samples of overprinting were also included. The 40c yellow brown No. 410, is overprinted in 3 lines "Habilitado en 0.05 1918". Another copy of the same stamp is made good for its face value postally by the overprint "Habilitado 1918" in two lines. Also No. 211. 40c rose, overprinted "Habilitado en 0.30 1918" in smaller and lighter face type than was used in the other surcharges but with much larger figures in "1918".

WITHOUT ANY WATERMARK.

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

It seems to be the rule, rather than the exception, when a big stamp concern discovers a variety, it, the variety, is listed and goes into a catalogue and all the other big stamp houses the world over proceed to chronicle the stamp in their house organs and then duly place it along side a number in their catalogues.

It has recently been the good fortune of Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., of London, England, to discover a complete sheet of 240 subjects of the current Georgian 1½d printed on paper without any watermark. Normally the stamps are printed on paper with a multiplication of the royal crown and the King's cypher "G v R" (George V Rex).

We doubt whether the American chroniclers have seen any of the 1½d unwatermarked stamps, so the appearance of this stamp is only chronicled in America on hearsay, albeit with the veracity of Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., to back it.

The discoverers, or the present possessors of the unwatermarked 1½d claim that the paper upon which the stamps are printed is thicker and coarser than than the usual watermarked paper. This sheet of paper may be one of those heavier sheets which are placed in a consignment of paper from the mill to make up weight, that we have heard about. Generally, these sheets are thrown out—or rather they are called "throw outs"—and should not be used, but should be accounted for and destroyed. London stamp printers, however, have had probably more difficulty in obtaining paper than American stamp printers, although the latter here had their own troubles, which are little known to the stamp consumer or philatelist, and the London printers may not have wanted to waste even a single sheet of stamp paper. The demand for 1½d stamps was and probably is quite heavy.

Messrs. Stanley Gibbons, Ltd., consider the unwatermarked stamps as errors, offers them as such for sale at a good price, reserving the right to advance the price after a number of the errors have been sold. American chroniclers are not listing the stamp as an error, because, as has been customary, errors in texture of paper and watermarks are seldom, if ever nowadays, listed in the American catalogues, but are listing it as a straight unwatermarked issue.

The thickness of the paper may be the cause of the elimination of the watermark, but we, with others, believe the House of Gibbons when it states the stamps are unwatermarked. Taking some of the war stamps of Trinidad and Tobago, for instance, the thin paper varieties show the watermark very strong, while the thicker paper varieties hardly disclose a watermark—but one can see it.

Now, the most peculiar part of our dissertation is that while the American chroniclers have jumped head over heels in their endeavors to get the unwatermarked 1½d stamp listed in their catalogues, they ignore the fact that Messrs. Chas. Nissen & Co., Ltd., of London, England, have, for some time past, listed other unwatermarked stamps of the same issue, viz.: ½d green at $2.50; 1d scarlet at $2.50; 1½d brown at $7.50; 2d orange at $10.00; 4d greenish-gray at $10.00; 7d gray-olive at $22.50, and 8d black on yellow at (unpriced). Messrs. Nissen & Co. are specialists in British stamps and do not deal in any others, and there is every reason to believe their veracity in the matter of unwatermarked stamps as well as to consider a variety offered by Stanley Gibbons, Ltd.

The American cataloguers catalogue the "Grande Consommation" paper varieties of France, but ignore the handmade and machine-made papers of the first issues of Austria; likewise they note not thin and thick papers of Austria's first issue and in the meanwhile list such varieties, though they are harder for the stamp collector to detect, of the stamps of Spain.

These values are in terms of United States money. The exchange rates would make a small difference in some cases and owing to present high prices of silver the actual cash values in some countries is more than in this Table, but it will give values near enough to estimate what the current issues of foreign stamps are worth in our money.

KEEP THE PRICE AT 50c.

You can help in various ways. We suggest the following:—

Renew for 2 yrs.—$1.00.

Send no postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new name plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new one.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home.

Enclose a stamped addressed envelope—if a reply is wanted.

These are little things of themselves, but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year these suggestions will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

U. S. PRIVATE PROPRIETARIES.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

Paper.

The paper used for the private die proprietaries printed by Butler & Carpenter and Jos. R. Carpenter until about September 1, 1871, was the same as that used on the documentary and general issue proprietary stamps of the first issue and probably all varieties of paper, (except the green experimental paper), found on the general issue stamps can be found on the private die issues. All varieties of this paper not containing silk fibres are classed as "old" paper. The paper containing a few small and widely scattered silk fibres is sometimes called "silk" paper but more properly should be called experimental silk to distinguish it from the true or "full" silk paper of the second issue.

All the old paper is white, usually yellowish or grayish, and, in the usual sense of the term, is unwatermarked. The absence of watermark serves to distinguish it readily from the white watermarked paper without silk fibres used after 1877. In the earlier printings the old paper is thin and brittle, easily cracked and so close grained that the mesh is seldom visible. The so-called laid paper common to the early printings of the general issue stamps has been found on the Jaynes and other medicine stamps printed in 1863. This "laid" paper also shows a "hair watermark" consisting of fine criss-crossed wavy lines as if the blanket on which it was made had a surface of coarse hairs and these hairs were pressed into the paper while it was soft. The depressions believed to have been caused by these hairs can be seen on the backs of the stamps. This paper is identical with the "laid" paper found on some values of the postage stamps of the 1861 series.

The only private die stamp cataloged on laid paper is the 1c medicine stamp of Alvah Littlefield. This stamp was first issued in February, 1870—several years after the paper with hair watermark and laid lines was in use—and the copy from which this variety was cataloged has extremely doubtful standing. None of the stamps printed on the laid paper of 1863 are so cataloged. If any laid paper varieties are cataloged it would seem better to list those whose existence can readily be verified rather than an alleged variety that was not even printed within five years of the right time.

The extremely thin, tough paper occasionally found on some of the general issue stamps printed about 1868 has not been noted on the private die issues, but at least one variety—the playing card stamp of John J. Levy—undoubtedly exists on the very thick paper used for a short time about 1870. Between 1869 and 1871 the greatest variation in the old paper occurs, just as in the general issues. The experimental silk was used during this period, also a thin paper with a coarse mesh, a thicker paper with coarse mesh, a medium thick soft paper sometimes mistaken for the watermarked paper, and enough other varieties to keep anyone who enjoys studying paper happily employed for a long time. Certain stamps first issued during this period are not known to exist on the thin paper characteristic of the earlier printings. A stiff and unusually white paper, like bond paper, has been found on the 2c Henry medicine stamp and it is obvious that any stamp printed during this period may occur on any or all of the papers which were then in use.

The paper used for the adhesives of the second issue was all white with colored silk fibres plentifully distributed through it. The fibres can be seen on both the face and the back of the stamps and there are many on every stamp. It is much easier to distinguish this paper from the "ex" silk paper of the first issue than to distinguish the ex silk from some of the old paper. Many stamps that must have been printed on the ex silk paper do not show any fibres because the fibres are so small and so far apart, but the full silk paper of the second issue is unmistakable.

The full silk paper continued in use until late in 1877 or early in 1878, when it was replaced by the white paper watermarked double lined U S I R supplied by S. D. Warren & Co. of Boston. The letters of the watermark are nearly ¾ of an inch high and were so spaced that each of the small stamps—those of the standard size of the low values of the general issues—might have one letter.

"Bargain Approvals"
Summer time is cleaning house time for many dealers. With somewhat decreased business, an opportunity is afforded to take appraisal of stock. Many slightly defective copies are put aside during the winter and these are now being added to my only approval series, known for several years as "Bargain Approvals." I have just added to this series my remaining stock of United States Colonies, mostly in excellent condition, but all prices very low.
"Bargain Approvals" are sent to those who can spend $2.00 or more at a time. If you spend less, ask for my price-list.
Reference is required from all who have not had an approval account with me within the past two years. The most satisfactory reference is the names of two stamp dealers, from whom approval selections have recently been had. [H&T

2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

The sheets of this paper measured 13x16½ inches and at first weighed 18 pounds per thousand. Later, the weight was increased to 20 pounds per thousand sheets. The stamps on thinner watermarked paper may therefore be assigned to 1878 and probably all of them were printed by the National Bank Note Co. There was no further change in the paper contract until September 9, 1882, when it passed to the Fairchild Paper Co., also of Boston, who supplied the paper during the few months the stamp tax remained in force. If there is any difference between the Fairchild paper and the Warren paper it has not been noted. Under the first Warren contract the price was 11½c per pound. Later this was reduced.

Little is known about the pink paper and what we do know appears contradictory. None of the general issue stamps have been found on it and many private die stamps printed when it was in use are not known to exist on it. Others exist only on this paper. It is rather thick and harder than the watermarked paper but is not watermarked. Some of the private die stamps are extremely rare on pink paper and this has been an inducement to imitate it by tinting a common variety on white paper. Almost always a stamp rare on pink and common on watermarked paper is selected for faking of this kind. Fortunately for collectors the watermark on the white paper is rarely faint and such frauds can easily be detected by holding the stamps to the light or by using the benzine cup. If a stamp is watermarked it is not on genuine pink paper.

None of the old paper is enough like the pink to fool anyone who really knows the characteristics of the pink. Faked pink papers do not often match the color well, but color is not a satisfactory test because the genuine pink is not a permanent color. The paper of used copies on the real pink is apt to be lighter in tint than that of stamps that were not actually used or exposed to sunlight. For the novice a copy of the Cannon Match stamp is handy to have around. As this stamp exists only on the pink paper it is not open to suspicion.

Referring to the Boston Book, (page 130), we read,—"Now as to the pink and watermarked papers; so far as we have been able to ascertain but one lot of pink paper was ever received, or used, by the National Bank Note Co., this lot. which consisted of five boxes, each containing ten thousand sheets 13x16½ inches in size, or fifty thousand sheets in all, was received on November 14, 1877. Upon looking up the dates of approval of the dies for the stamps which were first issued upon this paper we find they were all approved during the last four months of 1877; the first, that of Vogeler, Meyer & Co. being Sept. 22nd, and the last, the Centaur Company's two cent value, on December 22nd.

It is evident that this paper was more of an experiment than anything else and that its use was very short-lived. Further, it does not appear to have been used prior to the adoption of the watermarked paper, but to have been, to a certain extent, contemporary with it. For example, boxes numbered 262 to 423 were all received between November 26, 1876, and August 27, 1877, and were all marked "Private Die Stamp Paper, New Paper." This paper was all watermarked, which fact shows that the use of the watermarked paper antedated that of the pink by at least ten months, or, if its use did not, its reception most certainly did.

The records are strangely silent as to the exact time when these papers were put into use and what stamps, and how many of them, were printed on each. In only a few cases do they note anything in relation to the papers and these cases are far too insufficient to enable us to treat the subject as fully as we could desire. * * * several firms to whom the stamps on pink paper were sent absolutely refused to use them; in some cases enough were used to tide them over until they could obtain a supply on "white paper" and in others, rather than use them at all, they fell back upon the regular Government stamps until a new supply could be obtained.

The following are a few examples where the records show the stamps to have been on pink paper:

Geo. Laird,	5,048 stamps
Vogeler, Meyer & Co.,	328,347 stamps
Dr. C. C. Moore, 2c,	17,210 stamps
Henry Dalley,	12,156 stamps
Gardner, Beer & Co.,	1,787,940 stamps
Fred Brown,	15,159 stamps
Cannon Match Co.,	1,131,520 stamps
Chas. S. Hale,	330,120 stamps

These were all issued between January 29, 1878, and August 6, 1878 * * *. It will be noted at once that Henry Dalley had 12,156, yet neither of his stamps is known on pink. Dr. Moore had 17,210 and Fred Brown 15,159. It is very improbable that either used all of this supply, as both are far too rare for us readily to believe that so many were put into currency. The above list would account for 25,143 sheets of the known supply of 50,000, leaving 24,857 sheets still to be accounted for."

Much of the above data as given in the Boston Book cannot be reconciled with the statements contained in the reports of the Treasury Department, or the Bureau of Internal Revenue, and some of it fails to agree with what is evident in regard to the stamps. There must have been a great deal more than mentioned. A supply of about 300,000 sheets might have been sufficient to print the stamps which the facts indicate must have been printed on pink paper.

The annual reports of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue do not men tion any change in the revenue stamp paper from the time of the adoption of the silk paper in 1871 until 1877 when the Treasury Department advertised for bids to supply new and cheaper paper than the Willcox paper then in use at 20c per pound. The writer has been unable to find these advertisements but apparently they were placed just before June 30, 1877. The Warren concern made the lowest bid and their first contract went into effect December 14, 1877. The first orders for green, white and magenta paper were all dated December 21, 1877, and the first shipments were made in January, 1878. During that month, some white and some green paper and the entire order of 345,000 sheets of magenta paper, (except 14,000 sheets delivered in February), was shipped. The white paper was for "Private Die Stamps" and measured 13x16½ inches. The green paper was for "Documentary and General Proprietary Stamps" and measured 12½x16 inches. The magenta paper was for "Special Tax Stamps", measured 15x15½ inches and weighed 33 pounds per thousand sheets. It cost 1½c per pound extra.

The quantity of magenta paper supplied, the date when it was supplied, and the fact that it appears to be the only reddish colored paper supplied to the department at that time led the writer to believe it may have been the pink paper used for the private die stamps but further investigations show that these indications are merely coincidences. Referring to the new Warren paper, the report of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue for June 30, 1878, says.—"The paper furnished is distinctive in color and is watermarked with the letters U S I R in such a way that each square inch of every sheet bears some portion of the watermark."

This statement may refer only to the Tax Paid beer and tobacco stamps, etc., for which about nine-tenths of the paper was used, or only to the Special Tax stamps. The latter were all watermarked after 1877 and, as will be seen by the following list, every year the color of the paper was changed. These are large "coupon" stamps measuring about 15x7 inches, including the stub, and dealers in liquor and tobacco were required to buy one each year. They were printed two on each sheet, (except certain varieties for wholesalers printed one per sheet), and the quantity printed for 1878 would have required about 345,000 sheets. All were printed by the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and only those for 1875, 1876 and 1877 had silk fibres in the paper. It is understood that each year all the denominations were printed on the color of paper selected for that year.

1874, cream.	1880, buff.
1875, green.	1881, cream.
1876, pink.	1882, yellow.
1877, yellow.	1883, gray green.
1878, magenta (note).

Tests made on a scale sufficiently large to give quite accurate results show that the pink paper of the private die stamps is much lighter in weight than 33 pounds per thousand sheets. Sheets measuring 15x15½ inches would weigh about 22 pounds while those measuring 13x16½ inches would weigh only 20 pounds per thousand. Where the pink paper came from and the total quantity used are questions that still remain to be answered. The writer ventures the suggestion that the pink paper may have been intended for the Special Tax stamps of 1876, 1877 or 1878 and not being suitable on account of its weight, or for some other reason, was laid aside and then worked off on the users of private die stamps—more or less successfully.

The Cannon Match Co., Gardner, Beer & Co., and Chas S. Hale match stamps, known to exist only on pink paper, are stated to have been first issued in December, 1877. The 1c Curtis & Brown Mfg. Co. and the Vogeler, Meyer & Co. medicine stamps, known to exist only on pink and watermarked paper, are also stated to have been first issued in 1877—the former in November and the latter in November or December. These dates agree perfectly with the statement that a quantity of pink paper was received by the National Bank Note Co. on November 14, 1877, and it is evident this was not Warren paper because the first Warren paper was not received until January, 1878.

The Centaur Company's 4c stamp is stated to have been first issued in January, 1878, and is known to exist only on watermarked paper. This and others of the early printings on watermarked paper may or may not have been printed on the Warren paper. It cannot yet be proven that any of the new watermarked paper stated by the Boston Book to have been received before August 28 1877, was used for any of the private die stamps except possibly for the J. B. Rose & Co. 2c medicine stamp. This stamp is listed in the Boston Book on silk, pink and watermarked paper and the date of last issue is given as November, 1877. Since 1908, it has been cataloged only on silk and pink paper, but as late as 1907 it was also cataloged on watermarked paper. There appears no good reason why the watermarked variety was dropped from the catalog for it certainly exists. Within the past two or three years the writer has seen more than one perfectly satisfactory copy on undoubtedly genuine watermarked paper.

The stamp of the Barham Pile Cure Co. is printed on a paper not known to have been used for any other private die stamp. This paper is a medium thick and rather soft white paper like the other watermarked paper, but the watermark is quite different. In the American Journal of Philately of December, 1885, Robert S. Hatcher wrote of it,—"The Barham has 'U. S.' in script and a net work running alternately through the paper." The Boston Book states,—"This stamp is peculiar inasmuch as it is not found on the paper watermarked U S I R but upon a special paper with a watermark of large diamonds." Perhaps this was the only stamp printed on the paper from boxes Nos. 262 to 423 —the "new", watermarked, "Private Die Stamp Paper". The die was approved January 5, 1878, and, if the records are correct, it was issued only in that year.

EDITORIAL.

Farther West—The editor generalissimo is off on a trip to Colorado and for the nonce the chair is taken by an understudy. No doubt this trip was taken after a brain racking consideration of the consequences and he will hurry back to his job as soon as possible. Count Lapp de Booz and his associates must look with horror upon the apology for an editorial department herewith presented.

Trade with Germany—The English press is considerably perturbed over the question of doing business with Germany. Some months ago an eternal boycott was vowed upon Germany and everything made in Germany but there appears to be a relenting. Major R. Lockhart with the Army of Occupation in the Cologne district writes Stamp Collecting that the dealers of Cologne are doing a "roaring" business and that army men have no hesitation in patronizing them. Douglas B. Armstrong in a subsequent issue of this English weekly urges English collectors to consider that "what was a very proper and patriotic policy in time of war assumes a totally different aspect under peace time conditions." He also declares that the uncompromising attitude assumed by some dealers and collectors towards what are no longer "enemy" war stamps is a "trifle narrow and childish." Truly the English press and collecting interests face an interesting question and we quote in closing Editor Derek Ingram's comment in part:—

"Is philately, so far as its adherents in the United Kingdom and colonies are concerned, about to undergo a volte-face? In other words, is there to be a change of front with regard to our attitude towards trading in and collecting postage stamps issued by countries with whom, since August, 1914, the British Empire has been at war? Of late we have received a number of communications—notably from men of the Army of Occupation on the Rhine—which, it seems to us, are symptomatic of such an impending change. Indeed, for a long time it must have been obvious to all of us that there must come a day when the question as to whether we are to remove the philatelic boycott and resume normal business relations should be finally settled."

Ourselves—So far as our own people and government are concerned there is a different situation. True, we felt the anguish, pain and sacrifice of the great war, but not as England felt it. Germany was compelled to sue for peace and for many years will stagger along under a deserved burden which she must pay but which the United States realizes she can only pay as she has access to the markets of the world. If therefore a subscription or an advertisement reaches us from German sources we shall be justified in accepting the same in keeping with the policy of our national government. The best argument against so doing would be likely to find a place in our columns.

France—The Paris Society of Stamp Dealers has decided in favor of dealing in "enemy" stamps and Yvert and Tellier will include them in the next edition of their well known catalog. This information is published in L'Echo de la Timbrologie.

Summer Trade—We have never known a summer trade that could compare with that of the present year. The reason is plainly evident. Collectors and dealers alike realize the necessity of being constantly on the job with the provisional issues that are coming from new Europe. A year ago a six paged paper met our every need while this year eight pages have barely sufficed to supply the necessary well balanced issue. It bespeaks a great fall and winter trade.

Whole Number 1500—On September 27, whole number 1500 will be issued. It will be given a handsome cover—the first for five years and as a Season Opener Special it will take a prominent place in the annals of philatelic journalism. Percy McG. Mann forestalled our appeal for advertising by requesting the inside front cover page. There are two other cover pages open to the first applicants.

Book Situation—We are greatly pleased with our success in booklet publishing and a word in this direction may be informative. We have just issued a second edition of Barrett's and Bartels' "U. S. Envelopes", a second edition of the "Three Cents Green" is now on the press and this will be followed by a third edition of Poole's "Guide". We have several books and pamphlets in the making and due notice of their appearance will be given.

Reference Please—A long time subscriber eases his mind with a letter to the editor that has a good deal of punch in it. We wont divulge his name but will make a public reference to one of the paragraphs as he suggests that we might "give an opinion that might be of interest to others as well as the writer." Our friend says: "I received an auction catalog the other day from the St. Louis convention headquarters of the A. P. S. but at the same time I was informed that A. P. S. membership would not be considered a sufficient guarantee and bidders should furnish the usual commercial references. That being the case, what is the A. P. S. good for? How do the undesirables get by? Do their references amount to anything? Are they investigated to ascertain the worth? I have been a member of the A. P. S. for several years and I have supposed that having my name on its membership list would identify me in a favorable way. If not and I am an unknown to the trade, I may as well save my annual dues." Our answer is brief and to the point:—We believe that membership in the A. P. S. should be as valuable an asset in doing business as though one used the name of a bank or some mercantile firm. If members of the association who are bidding for business are unable to see the matter in this light they should take the steps necessary to make A. P. S. membership what it should be.

Mozambique—We are fully in sympathy with the views expressed by D. C. Alexander concerning the operations of the Mozambique Co. and we quote from his letter the following paragraph:—"I note in the philatelic press the advertising of the Mozambique Co. in which they offer to sell to collectors and dealers mint copies of their new issue of postage stamps. They stipulate that no order of less than $25 will be accepted. Evidently they are out for the cash, but discerning collectors will not be seduced by such methods as these. This ad puts them in the class with North Borneo and while some of the stamps may be genuinely postally used, the entire issue is at bottom speculative and collectors will do well to purchase only copies which are guaranteed postally used by some responsible dealer. The next step probably will be the cancelled to order stamps, if indeed, they have not already appeared. The disreputable methods of the Mozambique Company should be given all possible publicity, in hope that the majority of collectors, when they become aware of the facts, will leave the issue severely alone." The WEEKLY has not been offered the advertisement in question and it would not accept the same were it to be offered us. We are sometimes imposed upon and a questionable advertisement will appear in our columns, but we are as careful as is humanly possible. If you want to know why the advertising of such and such a firm does not appear in the WEEKLY you can attribute it to one of two reasons:—(a) They are doing a business that does not require the use of the WEEKLY or (b) they are doing a business that will not permit upon our part the use of the WEEKLY.

3c U. S. ENVELOPE BLACK ON AMBER.

By E. R. DURBOROW.

As the discoverer of the 3c black on amber envelope, I feel that some statement from me will be in order owing to the number of adverse criticisms that I have read.

I have in my possession three of these envelopes. Two pure black, one used, and one unused; and one near black, used.

Immediately on the discovery on the used copy, I took the matter of color of ink up with one of the leading publishing houses in Philadelphia, and it was submitted to their expert on printing and he declared it absolutely black. I then secured twenty-five copies of the envelope from the owners of the same which I distributed to members of the Philadelphia Stamp Club at a nominal figure.

It has been explained by the department of Bureau of Printing and Engraving that the black ink was fed in the press on both sides, namely the business card and the stamp.

After about one hundred had been run off, the purple ink was fed in on the stamp side, producing the near black copies of which I spoke of above, which shows the blending of the purple and the black ink.

OLD HOME OF PERKINS, BACON & CO.

We illustrate above a building that is historically interesting and especially from a philatelic standpoint. Here the firm of Perkins, Bacon & Co. produced the penny black and here at a much later date Harmer, Rooke & Co. are holding their great auction sales. It should be a good rendezvous for those philatelically inclined.

AS THEY SEE US "OVER THERE".

By BILL BLOSS.

"Corporal, I want you to go to Headquarters for me this morning. And if you like, you may spend the day in town," said the Major, that big, good-natured father of our outfit. I saluted, and made my departure lest I explode with joy, or become "unmilitary" in his presence. The thought that at last I was to see London prompted me to turn a few handsprings and other gyrations not becoming to a Major's stenographer.

I lost no time in hurrying from the camp, and mounted one of the ever-present London busses. This was my first trip to the big city, and I could scarcely realize that it was real. The bus-girl took my copper with the remark "Ye feel jolly well this mornin', Sam. Yer bloomin' face is split from ear to ear."

At Golders Green, I changed to another bus and rode through Hampstead to Baker Street, and thence to Hyde Park. After a walk through the famous garden, I made my way to 35 Eaton Place, that one spot, where America reigned supreme—the General Headquarters Base Section No. 3, S. O. S., A. E. F. I was then at liberty to go where fancy willed.

I made my way toward the business district, and at Trafalgar Square turned into the Strand—that famous thoroughfare I had heard so much about. I thought of the many times I had written to the dealers on the Strand, and kept my eyes open for the stamp shops.

I was not disappointed, for I soon found they were abundant. I saw signs of dealers in postage stamps every few doors, and came upon several large ground floor stores displaying stamps.

At first sight, these big stamp shops on London's greatest street, if one street in London is greater than another, fills one with a wholesome regard for the stamp business, and for stamp collecting. How those dealers could afford to pay for such elaborate quarters on such a prominent street was beyond my comprehension, for I have a fair knowledge of the stamp business, or thought I had until I began to learn of the extent of stamp trade in Europe.

With the exception of one New York dealer, and possibly two or three others who could have large stores if they chose, I have seen nothing in my travels around America to equal these London shops.

Dealers we seldom hear of on this side, have large, expensively furnished stores. They employ several clerks, generally young ladies or old gentleman, (for the young men were scarce in England at that time). The shops compare very favorably in furnishings with our stock brokers' offices, or "smart" retail stores.

As I visited these places, I could not help but think of the small, poorly equipped shops I so often visited in America. It is true, however, that rents in England are much lower than in New York and Chicago, while stamp prices are about the same. That, of course, is largely responsible for the difference. I do not doubt but what our American dealers pay as much for their small shops as the London dealers do for their large ones.

I visited Stanley Gibbons, Bridger and Kay, Bright and Sons, and many others. At each, I was most cordially welcomed, and in fact, was forced almost to rudeness to tear myself away from their hospitality. I was not urged to buy, as that is not the custom when one makes a social call. In fact, I do not believe the English dealer ever urges his clients to buy his wares. He seems quite reluctant to sell them!

Mr. Hugo Griebert, whose New Issue Service is familiar to the WEEKLY readers, was most cordial in his reception. I had longed to make his acquaintance, since I had corresponded with him, and so when I came to 170, Strand, I mounted the stairs to the second floor, and entered his office. I was greeted by a very pleasant lady, who bore my message to Mr. Griebert. The reception on a vacation which I believe has been well earned the shop will be closed. It will be closed TIGHT. So don't try to sneak in the back door or climb in through an attic window.

Here's something better to do.—Sit down and make out a list of the U. S. postage revenues, departments, match and medicine, etc., that you need and mail it to me. Or write me about what stamps you would like to see on approval at reasonable prices.

When I have acquired as many freckles and as much sun-burn as it is possible for a person of my avoirdupois to acquire I shall return, open up the shop, and have a bully time digging into the mail that will have accumulated.

I think the shop will be open again about August 18th, 1919, but am not making any affidavits. Take a chance on that and see how good a guesser you are.

WANTED--WANTED--WANTED
REVENUES —NARCOTICS

I desire at least one copy of each of the following "NARCOTIC" overprints and would be glad to have selections submitted on approval. I also want for my collection any other varieties that have not as yet been chronicled. Blocks are preferred but will be satisfied with singles. Those wanted are:—

Los Angeles provis'nals—all denominations.
Cincinnati provisionals—all denominations.
New York provisionals—all above $1.
Bureau overprint "Narcotic" 4c, 5c, 25c, $1.

Would also be pleased to receive "Playing Card" surcharges as well as any of the scarce values of the current Documentary, Future Delivery and Stock Transfer series. Please price everything.

UNITED STATES.—Mr. Joseph B. Leavy, in The American Philatelist for July furnishes us with additional information relative to the recently issued rotary press compounds and we take pleasure in quoting from same. "Under an invoice dated June 14, 1919, there was shipped from the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to the New York Post Office the following quantities of the above stamps:

1c 4,800 sheets, equals 816,000 stamps.
3c 7,200 sheets, equals 1,224,000 stamps.

He also tells us that:—"The S 30 appearing above the tenth stamp in the top row of the plates of the 1c and 2c is a distinguishing mark of the Bureau for the type of plate. When the first curved plates were made it was found that the outer frame of the stamp design was cut too deep on the original die to produce good printing results from the rotary press curved plates, therefore the outer frame of the design on the transfer roll, where the design is in relief, was cut down 20% and plates laid down from these transfer rolls were marked "S 20". The 20% cut down was found to be insufficient and was increased to 40% and the plates laid down from the increased cut down transfers were marked "S 40", these plates, however, printed too "thin" or light a frame, and the medium of a 30% cut down was tried and found to produce the desired results. Plates from the 30% cut down outer frame transfers were marked "S 30". These experiments were made with the 1c and 2c transfers only, the correct percentage of cut down having been established before the 3c plates of type II were laid down. * * * * * * * * * Plates of the "S 20" and "S 40" were not in use at the time the Bureau commenced conserving the short lengths of coil stamps."

Several weeks back we mentioned that the Bureau had laid down plates of 400 subjects for use on the rotary presses. These, of course, will be used for making the sheets of 100 stamps and not for coiling purposes. This will result in our having a new variety, namely the 1c stamp, rotary impression, perforated 11 on unwatermarked paper. Two such plates have been made bearing numbers 10151 and 10152. It is supposed that these plates have gone to press and therefore it is quite likely that the stamps will be issued by the time these notes are printed. If any of our readers run into these sheets we would like early information.

Mr. Arthur E. Rozin informs us that fifteen copies of the 3c envelope printed through error in the green of the 1c have been located at his post office. He does not state the color of the paper nor the die. We cannot vouch for this information being accurate for we have not seen the variety although we have written asking that a copy be sent us for our inspection. We hope to be able to give definite and positive information later.

Mr. George Soulman has submitted a copy of the 1c Documentary stamp cancelled in a greenish blue P. W. R. Co. NARCOTIC. The P. W. R. Co. is the Powers, Weightman, Rosengarten Co., of Philadelphia. The odd part, however, is the fact that the above cancellation which was applied at one time by the Company evidently has the word NARCOTIC in the identical type of the Philadelphia provisional issue. Later on when this company used the regular Bureau surcharged stamps, they must have cut the word "NARCOTIC" from their canceller for we find this later issue cancelled in the same type, simply "P. W. R. Co." The stamp which we describe above is also pen cancelled "3/4/19".

Mr. Cassius L. Clay has also shown us another variety, namely the 5c Documentary surcharged "NARCOTICS" in black similar to the Philadelphia provisional issue, the stamp being cancelled by the same firm. This surcharge was without doubt applied by the P. W. R. Co. for we have seen a complete impression from the Philadelphia handstamp used by the local Collector of Internal Revenue and they all read NARCOTIC without the final "S".

As for the provisional overprints "F. D." on the current Documentary series, Mr. H. W. Porter informs us that they come surcharged not only in the reddish rubber stamp overprint but also in a light black. Mr. William Lloyd has shown us the 4c and the 10c in the latter color.

ABYSSINIA.—This country has just favored us with a fine new pictorial set of bi-colored stamps running from ⅛ guerche (piastre) to 10 talari (dollars). Native fauna are interspersed with likenesses of the Empress Waizeru Zauditu and the Heir to the Throne named Ras Taffari. The stamps are said to have been printed by the Swiss firm of Girardet. The recent set was manufactured at the National Stamp Factory in Paris. The Abyssinian unit of value was based on the old "Maria Theresa Thaler" (from which comes our name "dollar") a coin worth about the same as our own silver dollar in bullion value, and this was divided into 16 guerches or "piastres," nominally equivalent to the Turkish piastre used in the Levant and therefore worth about four to five cents of our money.—N. E. Stamp Monthly.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—We are informed on the highest official authority that no surcharged stamps have been issued for this Republic, and that the Austrian stamps overprinted with a lion and inscription "Cesko-Slovensky Stat" are unofficial and fraudulent.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

ESTHONIA.—Messrs. Bright & Son inform us of the receipt of the following:—Diagonal Overprint in Violet on ordinary Russian Stamps:—
1, 2, 2, 3, 3, 5, 10, 15, 25, 50 kop.
New type numeral in centre 5p, imperf.
New type numeral in centre 10p, perf.
—Stamp Collecting.

New stamps have been issued with values expressed in "penni" instead of kopecs. Only two denominations have yet appeared, the 5 penni, which is imperforate, and the 10 penni, perforated. Before these were put on sale a stamp of 5 penni was issued, the design showing two seagulls flying over the sea, and inscribed EESTI VABARIIK at foot. The design not being approved, the stamps were withdrawn after being on sale for three days only; the number printed was 130,000. One sheet of the 35 kopecs stamps was printed on both sides; a correspondent has kindly sent us a specimen.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

JAMAICA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a copy of the long looked for commemorative stamp of this colony. The value is 1½d and is oblong in shape and has JAMAICA at the top and beneath it the ONE PENNY HALF PENNY in a curved frame. Beneath is the view of the contingent embarking. POSTAGE—REVENUE is at the left and a profile of King George with the value beneath it at the right The color is green and a very handsome commemorative stamp is added to the list.

JAPAN.—We are indebted to the Economist Stamp Co., Alfred Rasmussen, and O. J. Olson for showing us sets of the new peace stamps chronicled last week. Mr. Olson advises that the stamps were issued July 1, and were on sale on that day only.

LATVIA.—(Lettland).—Just as we go to press we have seen specimens of a fifth issue, which is by no means an improvement on the earlier issues, the design, which is an allegorical one, being roughly lithographed. We hope to give further particulars next month.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

LETTONIA.—We learn from Messrs. Bright & Son of the appearance of three values in a new type—5k red, 15k green, and 35k (colour not stated)—all imperf.—Stamp Collecting.

NICARAGUA.—A. W. Dunning sends us a list of the values and varieties of the recent lot of provisionals that he has seen. He writes that at least one revenue has been used for postage recently. The letter after each item indicates the color of the surcharge, black or red:—"medio" on 6, 10, 15, 50c (b); "un" and "1" on 3c (b); "un" on 15c (b); "un" on 20c (r); "un" on 50c (b); "dos" on 4c, 25c (b); "cinco" and "5" on 6c (b); "cinco" on 15c (b) and "5" on 15c (r).

RHODESIA.—A consignment of the current issue 1s stamps was recently sent out to Southern Rhodesia printed in error in black and green instead of black and blue.—Whitfield King's Monthly List.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—An esteemed correspondent in Hawkesbury, Ont., sends us a specimen of a new revenue stamp issued in the province of Quebec. It is a large stamp nearly two inches square. It is evidently intended for use in connection with liquor taxes as it bears the word "Prohibition" in bold type horizontally across the lower portion of the stamp. At the sides are "Liquor" and "Liqueurs". The color of the stamp is orange and the value 1c, though other denominations no doubt exist. For the benefit of this correspondent, Forbin's catalog of revenue stamps may be obtained from F. H. Vallancey, 89 Farringdon St., London, England. It is the best catalog of its kind published.

—At the laying of the corner stone of the Hampden Plains M. E. Church in New Haven, Conn., Sunday, July 20, a complete set of the current U. S. stamps was included with the other articles deposited in the stone. This item of news comes from Dr. George H. Smith of that city.

—The Exchange Stamp Co., East Auburn, Cal., proposes to hold stamp auctions every six weeks and announces auction reports with prices realized at sales mailed post free to bidders and also to non-bidders where requested. The firm has over 1100 lots in its sale of September 6.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from R. H. Smith, Wm. F. Ferguson, C. M. Breder, Mayo L. French, Jr., Walter Loebl, C. M. Breder, Harry B. Mason, C. H. Goodrich, Maitland Milliken, P. M. Wolsieffer and George Kump.

—Stanley F. Kunicki sheds a little light on the "I Polska Wystawa Marek" translation. He writes:—"When Poland became a republic it had three different kinds of stamps, German, Austrian and Russian. Poland now manufactures and uses its own stamps and this is why the inscription referred to is put upon her stamps. It means 'First Polish Issue of Stamps' and it informs the people that no other stamps will be used and the stamps with this inscription are the only proper ones."

—James L. Wilmeth, director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, says that the bureau, working 24 hours a day, has caught up with the tremendous demands made by the issuance of new bonds, revenue stamps and money, and that postage stamps hereafter will be engraved as of yore, instead of being produced by the cheaper process.

—C. M. Breder comes to our rescue with a translation of "Posta Ukr. N. Rep." The literal meaning is "Stamp Ukraine Combined Republic". The N stands for "Narodna" meaning "All the people". A good translation of the sentence would no doubt be "Stamp of the Ukraine United Republic". Score one for the Dictionary.

—We have received many advertising cancellations during the past few weeks and regret that we do not have the space to acknowledge all these courtesies in detail.

—R. H. M.—U. S. stamps are used in Alaska. There was no stamp in your letter for a personal reply.

—H. O. Burgett, Lima, O., can get no replies to letters sent Bernard Hudwitz, 1935 Clinton Av., N. Y. C.; L. S. H. Wright, Woodhaven, N. Y.; H. W. Palmer, Wenonah, N. J. and Burton Hoffman, Nevada, Mo.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hubel intend to be at the A. P. S. convention at St. Louis.

INFORMATION WANTED.

Who can give us any information in regard to the "Distrito Marino" surcharge on the stamps of Venezuela? What purpose did this overprint serve?

On the dollar stamps of the current China issue is a building or a gateway, and we should like to know what it represents. Who can help us?

KEEP THE PRICE AT 50c.

You can help in various ways. We suggest the following:—

Renew for 2 yrs.—$1.00.

Send no postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new name plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new one.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home.

Enclose a stamped addressed envelope—if a reply is wanted.

These are little things of themselves, but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year these suggestions will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

Dear Sir:—I have decided to sell my large Stamp Collection around 15,000 varieties and fill want lists at 50% discount. Also any stock I have outside collection at very reasonable prices. Packets 200 to 3,000 varieties; all put up sell at reduced prices. My reason for selling is all kinds of junk, rags, metals and paper are advancing every week and I have either got to sell all I have or else raise money enough from the sale of stamps to keep buying and have decided to sell stamps. Will send you (written) bargain lists if you want to spend $1.00 or more.

room is tastily furnished, and contains several display cases of stamps, all attractively arranged.

I was requested to see Mr. Griebert in his private office, and was given my first view of the European business office, behind the scenes. Instead of finding an office like our executives use, I found myself in a large room, handsomely furnished in true Old World style. A cheery fire was burning in the big fire place. Several attractive paintings adorned the walls. The room was furnished more like a parlor than an office.

I made myself known to Mr. Griebert and was invited to select one of the many big easy-chairs. Then I was given the first real —and only one, in fact,—cigar that I met in England. Real cigars, like many other luxuries were unknown articles at that time

With the customary desire to "get down to brass tacks" I started to talk business, and asked to see some stamps. Then, I was aware that this was not done over there, for Mr. Griebert politely switched the conservation to other lines, and I saw my error. For in Europe, as in South America, it is not considered polite to engage in business the first time one calls on a friend.

We discussed various topics of the day, and I found Mr. Griebert to be a most interesting and well-informed gentleman of broad experience and travel.

I felt quite guilty for taking up so much of his time, for I realized that he was a very busy man. However, this fact did not appear to concern him half as much as it did me. He insisted that I stay and "visit" with him.

As we talked, Mr. Griebert asked me many questions regarding conditions in America at that time, and I, in turn, tried to absorb all the information I could gain on the European situation. And so, the conservation drifted around to New Issues as Mr. Griebert is proprietor of the largest new issue service in the world.

"The profit in the new issue business does not lie in the service itself," said Mr. Griebert. "In fact, I do not break even on this department of my business. I am obliged to keep a very large sum of money in transit between the various post-offices at all times. Sometimes I have as much as a thousand pounds tied up in this way for over a year. Then the expense of handling the stamps must be considered, as well. At ten per cent over face value, one does not make very much profit.

"However, I find that the new issue business brings me many good customers for other stamps from my stock. As an advertising feature it is worth while.

"When Mr. Peckitt retired from the new issue business some years ago, he urged me to take it up. After thinking it over from all angles, I decided to try it, so I entered it on a small scale. I found such a demand that to-day I am distributing thousands of new stamps to my customers, and I have been obliged to sink a small fortune in the business.

"As long as my clients maintain their deposits, everything works out very satisfactorily, but many people object to this method. I have found that it is necessary to adopt an iron-clad policy in this matter, for when one is dealing on such a small margin of profit, the slightest delay is disastrous. Probably I have lost some friends this way, but I feel sure that those same people would agree that I am doing the most advisable thing under the circumstances.

"Many people do not appreciate the service they are getting, when they subscribe for new issues at ten per cent over face. Here is a sample of the consignments I am sending out this month. This Cayman stamp costs the new issue man less than tuppence ha'penny, while I am selling them over the counter at five shillings. My stock is almost exhausted at that price but I must live up to my contract with my customers."

I looked over the lot, and saw many stamps which would be cheap at a hundred per cent over face. Many of the war stamps, some with local surcharges, were included. Some of these were obsolete before they were received in England, and command premiums. Yet Mr. Griebert supplies them to his subscribers at the same rate as the common stamps. Collectors certainly should be appreciative of the service he is rendering.

Then Mr. Griebert showed me a small book—one of the many he keeps in his private safe in his office. It was literally filled with choice stamps. Knowing that I was especially interested in early Netherlands, he showed me a beautiful block of four of the fifteen cent orange, the most splendid piece of its kind I have ever seen. Fortunately for my friend there was nothing handy with which I could assault him, for if there had been, I fear I would have let my desire for this magnificent prize overcome my better nature.

Finally I decided that I needed the air, after looking over these unobtainable things. Each page he showed me was better than the one before and I have no doubt but what the last page contained a block of four of the post office Mauritius. We didn't get that far, for the noon hour was passing, and we both felt need of refreshment after our long visit.

I spent the afternoon browsing among the stamp shops on the Strand and Fleet Street. The window displays attracted me, for many contained stamps seldom seen in America. Postally used copies of stamps from the smaller colonies were in evidence, some on cover. War stamps claimed the most attention.

The dealers catering to the younger collectors showed a liberal assortment of sets, along the lines our American dealers follow. Packets and supplies were exhibited, at prices somewhat lower than ours. Business appeared to be good that day, for there were streams of customers passing in and out.

On the whole, I believe we may well get acquainted with the English dealers. I found them to be pleasant men, well-versed on their wares in most cases, and I noted that most of the larger firms carried on their business with neatness and dispatch. The specialist will find that many of these dealers are in position to supply stamps which rarely find their way over here, for over there, they pay more attention to such things as telegraphs, revenues, essays, proofs, and the minor varieties that so often bother the specialist.

How do prices over there compare with ours? you ask. As a rule they are about the same, or possibly a trifle higher. Of course, for the really choice stock, they are usually much higher. For instance, 50c will buy a penny black over here, while over there the price for single copies runs from three to ten shillings. That is the reason why English dealers decline our orders for a hundred copies on cover at fifteen cents each. Another reason is—they haven't the good stuff in large wholesale quantities, any more than our dealers have. It would be nice if there was a mine where early U. S. could be dug up—but there isn't any such mine in England.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

A TRIP TO THE ORIENT.

By HENRY H. HART.

I am writing from Hong Kong. A typhoon is raging outside the harbor, with its accompanying thunder and lightning, making walking about the city impossible, and the cables are congested so that patience is a very necessary virtue in this farthest outpost of Britain in Asia. These circumstances combine to give me the leisure to fulfil a part of my promise to you at least—to tell some of my philatelic experiences in the Orient.

I was in Japan for such a short time that I had no time to devote to things philatelic other than to purchase a few of the current stamps. I expect to remain there some time on my way back to the States, and will then try and gather some news of interest to my fellow-readers of the WEEKLY.

Hong Kong has a very fine four-story brick and granite Post Office, occupying a square block on the water front in the heart of the European district—which consists of about 20 square blocks in all. Of the 460,000 inhabitants of Hong Kong, only about 3000 are Europeans and Americans, the remainder being Chinese from Canton and the other coast cities, with a sprinkling of Japanese, and a few Hindus. Most of the latter are Sikhs from the Punjab, and are employed on the police force. They are heartily hated and thoroughly feared by the Chinese.

However, Hong Kong has often been described in your columns, so I will proceed to things philatelic.

The stamps on sale at the main post office and the subsidiary offices on the island and on the adjacent mainland of the colony, Kowloon, are the regular Georgian stamps, from 1c through $10. The 12c is exhausted. It will not be reprinted. The white-backs have also disappeared, and only the regulation colored-backs are to be found.

The Chinese clerks are very attentive to the wants of collectors. One of them, with great show of secrecy and looking around to see if anyone was watching, drew out a block of twelve Queen's head, 10c violet on red, pasted to a sheet of white paper, and inscribed, "Fifty year old, most rareest". He kindly offered to let me have these rarities at $5 per copy. I beat a hurried retreat to save my face.

There are innumerable Chinese shops which offer stamps for sale here. I was able to pick up some really fine bargains in Straits, Siam and the like. They sell only used stamps. There were, when I arrived, quite a number of Siamese stamps surcharged with a circle and Red Cross, and also the full current set of Siam surcharged "Victory". In their last War Stamp catalogue, Gibbons lists the set through 15c only. I have in my possession the complete set up through the 5 baht so surcharged. I am afraid that there are but few of these particular Siamese to be picked up here now, as I "covered" the shops very carefully. To buy, one must stand in the street at a counter, and everyone in China is interested in everyone's business but his own. I remember in Canton, when I was negotiating for a little bronze Buddha, at least 50 people gathered around. It was the same in Japan. I went into a shop to be measured for a kimono, and in five minutes it seemed to me as if the whole population of old Kyoto had gathered around to listen to the foreigner talk Japanese—a necessity, incidentally, to the real enjoyment of many of the country-places in Japan. Here we use pidgin-English and a bit of bastard Chinese. But I'm wandering from stamps.

There is one firm here, Graca & Co., whose prices are fair, and whose stamps are good. Dealers here mark their stamps with but very little reference to catalogues, and then allow 25-50% off. Of course, prices are in Hong Kong money, at present worth 83c gold to the dollar. This makes everything dear. Even a 10c stamp, supposed to be equivalent to our 5c, costs about 8½c. If the dollar were down to its normal value of 45-50c, it would be a stamp-collector's paradise, as far as the extent of stocks would allow. The commonest stamps on sale are the Indo-Chinese, Siamese and Chinese, as well as foreign offices in China.

I have paid a visit to the little comic-opera colony of Macao, a four-hour sea-trip from here, being taken on board a boat fitted with armor-plated bridge, iron-barred decks and armed guards

LAST WARNING

The second edition (red covers) of our large handbook on the Twentieth Century issues of the United States is running slowly out of print. At this time we have no idea of rewriting it. Mr. Power's gone cruising on his boat, Mr. Barrett hasn't any time; he's too busy trying to locate some of the middle Europe countries and the stenographers are languid with the heat and overwork:

MY VACATION

I am planning a vacation from today until September 1st in a nook where stamps and all other business will be foreign. Owing to an illness in my office force, no business will be attended to during my absence. However, my office will be open as usual and mail received during my absence will be attended to in the order of receipt.

Refreshed, I will be back on the job to hustle. If any of you have anything fine in my line that you wish to sell or exchange, let me hear from you about Sept. 5th and my usual custom of replies to all communications the day of receipt will again be in force.

And that reminds me—don't you appreciate promptness and thorough business dealings? That's what you get at

20th Century U. S., Unused, in Blocks of Four

I have a very fine stock of these stamps in blocks of 4. Also a fine lot in blocks of 6 with plate numbers, especially of the 1c and 3c surface printed. Will be glad to receive your want list.
Remember, I am Headquarters for stamps of the U. S. and its Colonies.

H. F. COLMAN

2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

constantly pacing back and forth, because of the not infrequent attacks of the river pirates, aided and abetted by the third-class passengers aboard.

Macao is the oldest European colony on the Coast—and looks it. It is a beautifully-situated city, but its harbor has silted up, its commerce departed to the English at Hong Kong, and its chief revenue is derived at present from gambling, the opium monopoly and stamp collectors.

My first inquiry on landing was for the "shue sun kwoon"—the post office. I landed there safely, after my rikisha had been pushed and pulled with much grunting on the part of the coolies over the ridge that forms the background of every view of the tiny peninsular. I was greeted with smiles by the Director General. I commenced to tell him my wants, but was met with a "No spik da Englis". I tried him in Spanish, but found that he spoke French fluently, and was only too happy to show it off. He invited me into his private office, called the boy at the stamp window, took away all the stamps he had on sale for my examination, and left him only the one-centers. For the half-hour that we spent in friendly converse, all comers had to take whatever they wanted in one cent stamps, whether they desired $1 or $20 worth. The Director produced a book in which were neatly pasted flat unused copies of all the values on hand, for sale at face. If I desired, he would put the office "chop" (mark or cancelling stamp) on each of them free of charge! Never did I meet so complaisant a gentleman. The varieties are so many and bewildering that I have not jotted them down, especially as I have only Gibbons with me, and I fear many of your readers wouldn't be able to check them up. Suffice it to say that there are on sale indiscriminately the new republican stamps, Don Carlos surcharges, surcharges on some of the values of the Vasco da Gama set, and even a lot of the surcharged and re-surcharged stamps of the old embossed set. I know that I left there 22 Hong Kong dollars. The coin of the colony is nominally the pataca, divided into 100 avos, but in practice, the only money used is that of Hong Kong, with some Portuguese bank-notes and Cantonese silver. Like all visitors I played at fantan and was fortunate enough to win, my money being paid me in Hong Kong dollars and Portuguese bank notes, with the odd change in Cantonese silver, which latter I spent later in Canton.

Practically none of the stamps have gum, except the high values which you do not want to stick together. They have plenty. I sent away a bunch of cards, and had to "cumsha" a boy to sit and paste stamps on for a half hour, with brush and mucilage. Even then one must wait and see that the stamps on correspondence are "chopped," or in some mysterious way they drop off, and the letter is never delivered.

Canton is served by the Chinese post, but Shameen, a beautiful bit of land cut off from the feverish, narrow-streeted nightmare of old Canton by canals, and reached only over well-guarded bridges, possesses a French, English and Japanese post office, in addition to a branch of the Chinese posts. It certainly was strange to talk French to Chinese. I may say parenthetically that a few foreign languages come in most handy in doing business in the Orient, in fact the lack of facility in two or three is a great handicap in business. Much of my work here is done through a Chinese compradore who speaks Spanish only, and French is invaluable everywhere.

I was much interested in the varieties of French colonials offered me there. In many cases I bought the remainder of the stock — a half-sheet or so, and no more are to be had in the office. The office is abandoning the distinctive Cantonese surcharge and is using the stamps of Indo China without surcharge. I append hereto a list of the stamps actually on sale at the office on Shameen, the only French Post Office in Canton:—

No Cantonese surch., ⅔c on 1c; 6c on 10c Red Cross; 4c on 10c; ⅔c on 2c, 4c, 30c.

Canton Surcharge, 1c, 2c, 4c, 5c, 2c on 5c; 6c on 15c; 8c on 20c; 10c on 25c; 35c, 40c, 50c, 30c on 75c; 40c on 1f, 2f, 5f, 10f.

You will note that most of those on sale are the Indo-Chinese stamps surcharged values in cents. Most of those surcharged I bought all the remainder of also the remainder of the stock of Red Cross stamps, 6 cents on 10 cents.

The Japanese and English stamps on sale are the current series surcharged "China" in Japanese for the one, and in English for the other—the latter, of course, on the stamps of Hong Kong.

This, I believe, brings me up to date. I expect to leave shortly for Tientsin, Peking, Hankow, Nanking and Shanghai, and then will go to Indo China, Siam, the Malay States, Singapore, Burmah, Java and the other Dutch Indies, the Philippines and then home via Hong Kong and Japan.

Our 28th Auction Sale of Stamps to take place early in the coming Fall, is now in course of preparation. We shall be pleased to receive consignments from those having good things to sell, and could include any number of stamps. Those having collections are urged to send for our letter on auctions and terms.

Those desiring to sell their collections for cash will find a ready market through us. We will purchase anything from $1,000 to $100,000 and are prepared to make immediate cash settlements.

U. S. CUSTOMS FEE STAMPS.

By WM. C. STONE.

In response to a recent note in the WEEKLY asking for information about the "fee stamps" used at the New York custom house the following data may be of some use:

The late Robert S. Hatcher in a note in the Philatelic Journal of America (3:261) fixed their date of issue as June, 1887. Their purpose was quite fully described by L. S. Morton in an article in the same magazine (5:66). Their use was for the purpose of a check on the collection of the numerous fees on documents, etc., used in the business of the customs and also to concentrate the receipt of the actual cash at the cashier's office, the stamps only being presented to the clerk or official handling the papers.

Another brief note concerning the stamps by Mr. Hatcher can be found in the American Philatelist (3:344).

The stamps are eight in number, 20 cents red, 30c orange, 40c green, 50c blue, 60c purple, 70c mauve, 80c brown and 90c black. They are oblong in shape, (45x30 mm.) engraved and printed at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and are rouletted.

At the top in a double lined tablet U. S. CUSTOM HOUSE, N. Y., below in four lines "Cashiers Office—Fees—Received—20 cents". The background is a fine network of crossed lines. At the lower left corner is a vignette of Silas Wright, for a number of years United States Senator from New York and Governor in 1845. Just why his portrait was selected for these stamps is not known to me, but the fact that he was a prominent New Yorker and that the Bureau already had the vignette engraved, it having been used on the current $50 gold certificate may have had something to do with the matter.

For quite a number of years these stamps were quite uncommon, only the two or three lower values being met with, but there must have been a housecleaning of old papers within the last ten years, judging by the wholesale offerings of the stamps at the present day.

A FINE AERIAL SOUVENIR.

Thanks to Joseph A. Steinmetz, we have been privileged to see a specimen of an original cover despatched on the British dirigible, R-34. It will be remembered that the airship left from Roosevelt Field, Mineola, L. I., the second week in July. The distinctive feature of the cover is the fact that the cancellation stamp bears a London marking, the date being July 13, '19, while included in the cancellation is the inscription "R34". It is interesting to note that the London office had no hesitancy in cancelling U. S. stamps.

Without a doubt, this cover, with its distinctive cancellation, will be a rara avis with the collectors of aerial mail curiosities.

PROVISIONAL POSTAL STATIONERY.

A most unusual act by our Post Office department is apparently about to go into effect. Under date of August 9, the 3rd Asst. P. M. Gen'l has submitted samples of the current 2c postal card and 3c stamped envelope, the former rubber-stamped with a large "1c" on the face of the stamp in colored ink and the latter with "2 Cents" in red ink below the stamp. In his letter addressed to Postmasters and Sub-agents he states that with the view of salvaging the plain 2c postals and 3c stamped envelopes in the Sub-agencies, he asks that they solicit bids from their local printers for overprinting the stocks in their possession similar to the samples submitted.

This will be a rather unique step for our post office department, and the possibilities for varieties in the styles of type used by different printing offices in the twenty odd sub-agents' local shops, and the endless variety of "mis-strikes", "inverts", etc., surpasses even the most vivid imagination.

USE A SAFE DEPOSIT BOX.

By H. B. PHILLIPS.

A safe is not a protection for stamps where the fire exposure amounts to any thing more than an incipient fire. The reason is, the heat in conjunction with resulting vapors discolors the paper in all cases, and often alters the shades and colors of the design. This would not effect their value for use in the prepayment of postage but from the standpoint of a collector or dealer it would be fatal to values.

I might put here on record my experience in the fire of 1906 in San Francisco.

Our office safe was a huge affair with a steel built-in inner vault, the whole thing weighing perhaps 16,000 pounds, and supposed to be the last word in mechanical construction. It was located in a 6-story brick and steel building, three or four days after the fire, as soon as the bricks could be handled without burning the workmen, the mass of covering bricks was thrown aside and I paid a man $50.00 to put a chain around it and roll it up on top of the pile with a steam donkey. I let it stand there for 10 days in order to cool off and avoid the loss by combustion which generally happened when opened too hot.

It appeared that the steel vault was absolutely air tight while the outer door was not. It was a very interesting time when we tackled the safe to open it as it contained all the records of a large business and several estates as well as the contents of the inside steel vault where were several thousand dollars worth of stamps, and perhaps half a million dollars worth of evidences of value such as stock certificates, notes, bonds, etc.

The contents of the safe proper were—ashes, only. The contents of the air tight steel vault were of a rich chocolate brown, not fatal to the securities, though all typewriting done with analine inks had disappeared, but the stamps—I am sending herewith a specimen to show just the result, it is the 1861 6 cent U. S. govt. envelope, printed in vermilion. It appears that the heat was sufficient to reduce the metallic oxides contained in the inks, leaving the deposit of metal and liberating sufficient oxygen to discolor and partly carbonize the papers present. The exact degree of heat cannot be known but tin boxes that were soldered fell apart by reason of the melting of the solder, and the stamps—I do not like to think about them.

My conclusion is that a safe deposit box is the only safe place from fire hazzard for stamps for collections.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

EDITORIAL.

Said—The annual meeting of the American Philatelic Society is at hand and on the eve of departure for the convention, offer a few observations on the present condition and possible future development of the A. P. S. We believe that a somewhat critcal stage in the careers of the national societies has been reached and that many members who were content to allow the bodies to drift with the tide are now disposed to demand action of some kind. It is one thing to cry that something should be done on an impressive scale to justify the existence of the national societies and another to say what should be done to add to their usefulness. Usually, the thought of the radicals is based on the claim that pretentious publications should issue from the society but this idea is shaken by the excellent official journal that comes to each member and so, further inquiry is necessary. We doubt whether any new idea of service can be suggested except the one indicated by the appointment of a committee for the purpose of looking after the interests of philately in a national or public sense. Several letters have come as a result of our remarks on the necessity for committees of the kind; and we select that of Mr. C. F. Richards, New York City, a consistent supporter of the American Philatelic Society, as showing the drift of sentiment: "I am very much interested in the editorial headed, 'Defense,' in the issue of July 19th. Our A. P. S. should have a committee, it seems to me, a standing and not a special one, of three Washington members to be called something like the Outlook, or Lookout Committee, whose duties should be, first to secure the backing of the other national societies. Then, the working in unison for any particular improvement in the government service for the betterment of our stamp issues or for the passing of legislation favorable to our pursuit, such as permission to illustrate U. S. stamps in our catalogues."

Banned—We have seen a good many prisoners' letters of the civil war period but we do not seem to have found until now, any marking of the envelopes to show the censor's objection as to the contents of the letters. We notice on a prisoner's letter from Johnson's Island, Ohio: "Contraband in sentiment. D P. D." Subsequently, these written words were crossed out by pen and the explanation of this revision is found in the letter enclosed in the envelope, which reads: "I wrote you several days ago but my letter was returned being contraband in sentiment."

Approves—A subscriber writes: "I thank you for having uttered pointedly enough to stick in my memory words to the effect that the stamps that you seemed to pay a high price for at the time of purchase are the ones that are likely to yield the most satisfactory return. I am glad to inform you that just six months ago in the thick of the season I bought a choice lot of United States from a dealer who has always treated me most fairly; and when I expostulated about the high price of the stamps, he was patient but did not reduce the quotations. I now have a letter from the dealer from which I quote: 'The lot for which you paid $375 and which you were inclined to think was priced high, I could use now in the middle of the dull season at a price to show you a profit of ten per cent. over cost to you.'"

Tough—Here is a case that we refer to readers for their information and guidance. Mr. Albert J. Moore, Kennebunk, Maine, writes: "In February, I sent a package of cancelled stamps to a stamp company in New York City as merchandise, insured parcel post, and this being lost in the mail, I entered claim for indemnity, the package being actually valued at over $60, with the insurance limit $50." The result of the filing of the claim is shown in the following letter from the office of the third assistant postmaster general: "This office is compelled to disallow your claim for indemnity since the acceptance for insurance or transmission C. O. D. of the parcel involved was not authorized by the Post Office Department. Its insurance was evidently due to oversight by the postal employee to whom presented. Insurance and C. O. D. services are authorized by statute only for domestic fourth-class (Parcel Post) matter. Mail of other classes cannot lawfully be insured or sent collect-on-delivery, and indemnity is not payable for loss, if improperly accepted for such purposes. . . . . It appears that the parcel contained 2215 cancelled postage stamps, weighing less than four pounds, which are third class matter and not insurable."

Comment—In the foregoing paragraph, the gist is given of the case submitted by Mr. Moore; and we are reluctantly forced to say that he will get no redress from the department. Mr. Moore was a victim of circumstances. Of course, the local postmaster was in error in insuring third class matter, but the sender who suffers even the loss of the amount of postage paid for insurance is not comforted materially by that fact. Our correspondent properly feels aggrieved but he has no way to turn so far as we can see, although we suppose a decision could be got from the attorney general for the post office department, if the issue were pressed. It should be borne in mind that the user of the mails should know the regulations but even so, one would take the postmaster's judgment on a postal point rather than his own.

Case—The individual or company that undertakes to sue the post office department has a dubious outlook. Mr. Lowell J. Ragatz calls our attention to "Digest of Decisions of United States and Other Courts Affecting the Post Office Department and Postal Service, Appendix II to Postal Laws and Regulations, 1902." (1905). In this volume there are Supreme Court and other court decisions on cases that were disposed of; and here is an illustration of the reasoning of the Supreme Court in Continental Bank Note Company—U. S., 154 U. S., 671 (U. S., 1882) Affirming 14 Ct. Cl., 74: "Claimant had a contract to manufacture and furnish the official postage stamps which might be required by the Department. He made a subsequent contract to succeed the first, in which the price was stated at a lower rate. On the date of the commencement of the second contract, the claimant had a large quantity of stamps on hand which had been inspected and authorized by an agent of the Department, Held, that although the quantity on hand was manufactured and stored under the supervision of an agent of the Department, it remained the property of the claimant until delivered under the contract. The inspection and supervision by the agent during the manufacture and storage was to guard against losses and fraud and to insure promptness in delivering, and the ownership was not changed until the delivery which the contract provided for was completed. The Department was entitled to such stamps so held over at the price fixed by the second contract."

PRECANCELLED ENVELOPES.

Quite recently a precancelled envelope (the current 1c green) was used from a Maryland post office and it occasioned considerable surprise in philatelic quarters. F. G. Floyd, noticing this variety, wrote the Department at Washington as to the rules governing the issuance of precancelled envelopes, and the following reply was received:—

Post Office Department.
Third Assistant Postmaster General.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Apr. 16, 1919.

You are informed that the regulations governing the use of precancelled stamps contemplate that this indicia be placed only on postage stamps. If you will advise this office of the names of the post offices at which embossed stamped envelopes are precancelled, the matter will be taken up with the postmasters concerned and they will be properly instructed.

A. M. DOCKERY.

This letter from Mr. Dockery puts a quietus on this rather interesting variety.

NOTES ON THE 3c VICTORY STAMP.

By PERCY MCGRAW MANN.

I read with much pleasure Mr. Luff's remarks about the 3c Victory stamp. In the "Circular" he tells us that the figure of the so-called Goddess of Victory must have been created by a pro-German mind, as it typically represents Brunhilde, in features, figure and pose.

He furthermore informs us that a Victory stamp should have portrayed a beautiful American, a youthful figure draped, as one would picture Victory or Liberty, in the white robes of purity, with a Liberty Cap surmounting a noble brow.

The Victory 3c stamp shows a Goddess of War with sword unsheathed, probably executing justice, as the scales held aloft would indicate. Why the scales? We would have preferred seeing the so-called Goddess holding the ex-Kaiser's head that left hand of hers.

When will Government officials learn to take philatelists into their confidence when they intend to produce something new? Stamp collectors, owing to their continuous studies of the issues of the world, are in a better position to offer suggestions that will result in a beautiful and finished product.

The Victory stamp is unworthy the name, in design and production. Thousands of dollars have been spent by stamp dealers and collectors in the purchase of the stamps and these purchases will never be redeemed by the Government in postal service. The profit thus made by the Government would more than have defrayed the expense of having the Victory stamp designed by a high-grade artist; even to the extent of the cost of conducting a competition similar to those held by other countries when they produce stamps for special purposes.

Instead we have a production incompetently made, crudely designed, meaningless, a something that cannot attract owing to its dullness, lack of vividness, expressionless, and of no use whatever except for its postal purpose. A disgraceful product that does not attract anyone and therefore inconsequential for the purpose of showing the citizens of the United States and of the whole world that we are delighted with Victory—the stamp does not express our feelings.

No wonder the post office authorities withheld information as to whether the Victory stamp would be issued. It was never issued with great hurrahs. They were ashamed of the stamp. If not, they should have been. If the production had been something wonderful, something worthy to its producers and to the glory of the United States of America, its advance advertisement should have been sent broadcast. Severe criticism has been avoided by the reluctance on the part of the authorities to properly advertise their Victory stamp. If it had been advertised extensively, what terrible criticisms by artists and everybody else would have come forth. Was the stamp produced only for stamp collectors? Its restricted sale would indicate that. Then, why do the authorities think philatelists are satisfied with any old thing that they want to give them?

Truth of the matter is, stamp collectors do go crazy over anything new. They make a fuss about it. They must have it. They give space in their albums up to it. It is impossible for them to boycott it. If it were possible for them to boycott the recent United States stamp emissions, stamp collectors would do so—especially the so-called Victory stamp.

Now, I will turn to more serious (?) matters connected with the 3c Victory stamp.

I have noticed that the printing is done very poorly, that is, not carefully. It may be the fault of the inks, or it may be the fault of the plates, or both inks and plates at the same time.

Some panes of 100 show the bottom row or two in a darker shade than the balance of the pane, or others show the top row or two darker than the rest of them. After continuous printing, the ink clogs up towards the outer edges of the plate and the plate is not wiped entirely clean. This may account for the two "colors" on the same pane. Probably the top or bottom row was deeper entered; this would produce a similar effect; but I doubt that this happened. However, I have blocks showing the two top stamps a deep violet and the two bottom stamps the normal violet.

While the color of the 3c Victory stamp is generally quite uniform, I have several shades of deep violet and violet, also lilac, while I also have what I at first called "magenta-violet," but which could probably be more properly called "bright red-violet."

At the time they were issued I heard that there was a double transfer of one of the stamps, showing one design upside down and the other normal, similar to a 5 centime Swiss stamp which is well known. I heard that part of the plate had been entered one day and put away for the next day's work. When put under the transfer roll the next day the plate was reversed and a design was entered upside down. This was perceived immediately by the transfer roll operator, who turned the plate about and entered the design in its proper position in relation to the other designs on the plate, directly on top of the reversed entry.

Following these rumors, I decided to examine every pane of the stamps I could lay my hands on. There were sixteen plates to examine; sixty-four post office sheets of 100 stamps each. If I were able to buy a pane of each plate and each position all at once, my outlay would have been $192.00. So far I have not been able to gather in the various panes from the several plates, nor have I discovered the wonderful "double transfer, one inverted."

I have, however, examined thirteen of the sixty-four possible post office sheets of 100 stamps each and the results of my examinations will be set forth following. I have also seen some part sheets from other panes and will tell what I know about them.

The lower left pane from plate 9412 shows the initials "J. A. M." on the left-side margin next to stamp No. 91. Stamp No. 81 shows a slight shifted transfer to the right.

WE BOTH WIN!

The A—B—C of stamp collecting might be stated like this:—First, the pleasure of acquisition; Second, the satisfaction of ownership; Third, the value of the stamp itself.

Whatever stamp you buy the purchase of which gives you real pleasure; the continued ownership of which affords you increasing satisfaction; and the value of which does not depreciate I would consider to be a "good" stamp.

My business is directed to supplying as many stamps of this character as it is possible for one individual to buy and sell handling the business all by himself.

Such a business has limitations. Reasonable collectors recognize this and expect to pay reasonable prices in order that the character of the stamps I offer and the quality of the service I give may be maintained at a high level.

A business conducted in this way works to the advantage of the collector who patronizes it and to the advantage of FULL CATALOGUE OFFERED.

I require for my collection of United States, blocks of four unused of the 1908 4c and 8c on bluish rag paper. They must have full gum and be well centered and I will gladly pay full catalogue. I know they are rare but here is a chance for someone, who has picked them up at face to make two or three hundred dollars. I am also still looking for an imperforate sheet of the 5c error and am willing to pay $950.00 cash for one.

I also want other rare and fine U. S. especially early issues. Remember, I am always willing to pay good prices but they must not be out of all reason. Will gladly buy your entire collection, if it contains rare stamps. Everything must be fine and please be advised that I want no approval containing a lot of junk cataloging a few cents each. I am an advanced collector not a novice. The best of commercial, bank or dealer reference.

UNITED STATES.—Plates for the 3c Type II, endwise coil, perforated 10 horizontally, were chronicled several weeks ago but we have not as yet seen the stamp. Have any of our readers as yet located this variety? If so, we would like to be advised of the fact so that we may list the stamps as having been issued. If they are not in the hands of collectors it is doubtful if they will ever be issued for there is no demand for a 3c coil and the Bureau has discontinued the coiling of this value, although we judge, those still in the Bureau will be delivered to postmasters on requisition.

Mr. H. R. Arnold has sent for our inspection a copy of the 2c circular die envelope, Die A, wherein the "E" of "CENTS" is missing. We saw but one copy and therefore cannot state if the variety prevailed throughout the package.

In our issue of last week we mentioned the possibility of the existence of the 3c envelope printed in the green of the 1c. Since writing those notes we have made an effort to see a copy of this stamp but without success. We must, therefore, state that we doubt the existence of this error.

Mr. Adam Grueing sends us a very unusual postmark from "Liberty Bond, Wash." Your editor was glancing through a Postal Guide the other day and would state that about every name in the English language has been used for designating post offices. That fellow who named the Pullman cars must have had this book on his desk.

Mr. C. G. Weisbrod kindly remembers us by sending on the day of issue, July 4, 1919, a copy of the 1c perforated 11, unwatermarked surcharged "Shanghai 2c China." We wrote about these in detail at the time the Post Office sent out their official notices regarding them. Mr. Weisbrod states that there has been placed on sale the 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 6c, 7c, 8c, 9c, 10c, 12c, 15c, 20c, 50c, and $1, each, of course, surcharged double the value indicated on the stamp.

We wish to thank Messrs. E. E. Holmes, Arnold Herrman and J. H. Houston for additional notes of interest.

CHINA.—S. S. Wang Chin Chai, writing us concerning the new Savings stamps says:—The Chinese P. O. will not sell the new stamps only as they are attached to savings stamp cards when they must be cancelled with the ordinary post mark. There are two cards, one holding ten 10c and the other twenty 5c. The stamps are the two regulars surcharged in red vertically with five Chinese characters meaning "Specially Used for the Saving Purpose."

JAPAN.—We have been advised by several correspondents of the appearance of a new postmark from this country and we are indebted to Mr. Fred L. Onken for sending it to us. It is the likeness of a ram's head with Japanese characters at the right and at the left, also directly beneath the mouth of the animal.

KEDAH.—Chas. S. Thompson writes us that owing to shortage of 4c stamps, the current 4c Straits has been used in Kedah. The color of the Kedah 4c has been changed to unicolor red, and the first supplies were printed from the double plate, two operations being necessary. A single plate is now in use. The 2c green has also appeared, and the new 1c, in chocolate brown, is also expected shortly. There is to be a 21c value, also, printed in purple.

Two provisionals have appeared, on account of shortage of 50c and $1 stamps. The $2 brown and green has been overprinted "Fifty Cents" in two lines of Roman caps 2 mm. high, the corner figures of original value being eliminated by squares 4½ mm. on a side. The $3 black and blue on blue has been similarly surcharged "One Dollar". The surcharge is applied so that one word is above, the other below, the medallion, thus the central design is not marred:—

2c green (rice).
4c red (rice).
50c on $2 brown and green (Council House).
$1 on $3 black and blue on blue.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. Fred L. Onken shows us copies of the 25 and 50c official stamps Nos. 1042 and 1043 surcharged "Vale un centavos de cordoba" and "vale dos centavos de cordoba" respectively. Both surcharges are in three lines and in black. At the same time Mr. Onken shows us the 6c No. 355 surcharged "Vale medio centavos de cordoba" and "Vale un centavos de cordoba".

PERU.—Mr. Fred L. Onken shows us copies of the current type of the 1c in dark orange and black.

RARATONGA.—Mr. J. H. Smyth submits the following additional values of the New Zealand stamps surcharged as follows:

1d RAROTONGA TAI PENE in blue.
1½d RAROTONGA TAI PENE E TE APA in red.
2½d RAROTONGA RUA PENE E TE APA in red.
6d RAROTONGA ONO PENE in blue.
1sh RAROTONGA TAI TIRINGI in blue.

The 1½ and 2½ are surcharged in three lines and the other values in two. Mr. Smyth also advises that the 2½, 6d and 1sh are in two perforations i. e., 14x13½ on the top half and 14x14½ on the bottom half with both varieties showing on the middle row.

ROUMANIA.—Mr. Nathaniel Patteck calls our attention to the fact that the 10 bani stamps No. 220 has appeared surcharged in black with the monogram described in issue 1477, viz., a circle with a P to the left and a T to the right. Mr. Patteck also advises that he has a pair of these stamps showing the circle broken in several places.

RUSSIA.—Mr. Fred L. Onken shows us copies of the 2k No. 74 surcharged at the bottom of the stamp with the figures "35" in black. The letter bearing these was posted at Vladivostok.

SOMALILAND PROTECTORATE. — The Stamp Lover mentions the following new values on chalk-surfaced white wove paper watermarked Crown and CA multiple. Perforated 14.

2 rupees, dull and bright purple.
3 rupees, green and black.
5 rupees, black and carmine.

TUNIS.—The Stamp Lover chronicles the appearance of 3 centimes, rose, as the pictorial design as for 1c to 5c of the 1906 issue on white wove paper perforated 14x13½.

LIBERIA'S PHILATELIC HOODOO.

The Republic of Liberia has a philatelic hoodoo in the person of its President, Daniel Howard, whose portrait has been kept by the fortunes of war from appearing on the postage stamps of his own country.

At the time the world war began the postage stamps of Liberia contained the picture of ex-President Barclay. Apparently this distressed the dignity of President Howard, and he ordered printed, at Hamburg, Germany, a new series of stamps portraying his own honored likeness.

These stamps were printed as directed and a German steamship started southward carrying the labels in its cargo. This was late in July, 1914. In August came the days of the beginning of the downfall of the Hohenzollerns, and the German ship with the new Liberia stamps had not reached her destination. British warships intercepted the vessel and took her prize of war to Sierra Leone. Here the examination of the cargo disclosed the presence of the Liberian stamps, but as they were addressed to a German agent in Liberia and not to President Howard there was apparently no way of knowing—so the British reasoned—whether President Howard had actually made payment for the stamps or whether the labels still belonged to the German government.

So the British confiscated the labels. President Howard, learning of it, decided to play safe the next time by ordering some stamps printed in England instead of Germany. Again were stamps prepared, once more bearing the Liberian executive's portrait. This time a British merchant ship started forth with them. A German torpedo intercepted the vessel, which went to the bottom of the sea with the consignment of stamps bearing President Howard's portrait.

Then President Howard, instead of again ordering new stamps made, began surcharging the remainders of previous sets with new values, adopting this practice with stamps ranging as far back as 1880.—Clipping.

Of the foreign stamps, the Japanese run from 1 sen to 1 yen. The hardest initials to identify are the English Queen's heads, as the initials are not cut through the paper.

—G. A. Hunt informs us that the triangular Cape watch-charms referred to two weeks ago, may be obtained from L. T. Brodstone, Superior, Neb., or W. S. Lincoln, 2 Hollis St., London, Eng.

—The suggestion that the British West Indies be ceded to the United States in part payment of Great Britain's war debt is being considered seriously on both sides of the Atlantic.

—Wm. C. Stone and J. A. Bangs advise us that the list of coin values published Aug. 2 was somewhat antiquated. It is issued quarterly and Mr. Bangs sends us the July 1, 1919, list as issued by the U. S. Govt. There are a few changes as compared with published quotations but not so many as to repeat the table.

—Two of our subscribers, A. E. Drought and Albert Rosenthal, have kindly consented to take off our hands some of our surplus stamps, and we feel that we should acknowledge this courtesy on their part.

—Herman W. Boers advises us that Edgar Nelton, formerly of Battle Creek, Mich., but more recently with the late George Tuttle of New York City, after collecting for 47 years, has sold his wonderful collection of stamps and covers at a fancy price. Mr. Nelton has traveled extensively and in Europe came in contact with the foremost collectors, and this enabled him to locate many fine old European stamps, on and off the cover. One of the gems of his collection was a 90c 1869, on the cover. Mr. Boers thinks this a good news item, and we agree with him.

—J. M. Bartels Co. shows us a cover sent from Germany Oct. 16, 1916, and received in New York August 8, 1919. It bears German and British censor marks, and there are three censor labels attached.

—A 1c Columbian stamp paid the special delivery fee on an envelope submitted to us by N. Joseph. It passed through both the New York and Boston post-offices.

—Collectors are having their troubles with the U. S. Postal Agency at Shanghai, L. C. Ernst sends us a letter in which the receipt of $3 is acknowledged, accompanied by the request for a further remittance of $3 to secure the filling of his order. Mr. Ernst based his remittance on the Dockery circular, in which it was indicated that a complete set of the surcharged stamps could be had for $4.64. It evidently requires about $6.

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Walter Hartman, Wilbur F. Kerr and O. N. Hughett.

—L. W. Bealer writes that he is unable to secure replies to letters sent Ray Haas, 1014 W. 34th St., Indianapolis, Ind.

—"I received a lot of the surcharged U. S. stamps from Shanghai and they all had the appearance of having been stuck in the sheet to waxed paper, and torn off, waxed paper and all, as wanted. Then they were very carefully wrapped in another piece of waxed paper for shipment. Of course, the gum came off with the paper. It is not a mere case of the stamps getting stuck in transit, as the pieces of waxed paper are, in all cases, the exact sizes of the singles, pairs or blocks to which they were attached. After the special notice in regard to the manner in which they should be shipped, given out by the Post Office Department, this seems unnecessary, to say the least." —D. C. ALEXANDER.

—Geo. S. Gilbert sends us a clipping from a St. Paul paper, giving the particulars of the arrest of one K. C. Brewers, an engraver, for making counterfeit 2c stamps. The local authorities have been aware for some time that spurious stamps were in existence.

—Geo. H. Beans, Glenside, Pa., sends us a copy of the "War Booklets of the U. S." reprinted from the WEEKLY. He will favor any one with a copy who asks for it.

—A new St. Helena "war tax" stamp has been shown us by J. A. Galbraith. The big 1d stamp has been overprinted WAR TAX, one word on each side of the King's head and a huge numeral "1d" appears on the wharf scene.

—LeRoy Pratt reports a 2c red freak envelope in double form, one inside the other, but all in one piece.

KEEP THE PRICE AT 50c.

You can help in various ways. We suggest the following:—

Renew for 2 yrs.—$1.00.

Send no postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new name plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new one.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home.

Enclose a stamped addressed envelope —if a reply is wanted.

These are little things of themselves, but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year these suggestions will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

The Confederate States of America
FAC-SIMILE DIE-PROOFS
(ENLARGED)
OF EVERY TYPE OF THE GENERAL ISSUES
In Their (Approximate) Standard Colors;
INCLUDING ALSO
A Plate-Proof from an Identified Section of the Original De La Rue Electrotype of the FIVE CENTS altered to "TEN"

THIS set of fac simile DIE PROOFS, comprising every stamp of the General Issue of the CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA is intended as an advance courier to the STORY OF THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA AND ITS POSTAGE STAMPS, by AUGUST DIETZ, EDWARD S. KNAPP, GERALD S. CURTIS, H. P. ATHERTON, and WM. S. AHERN, in collaboration with the leading students and collectors of Confederates in America. The work is now in preparation. Definite announcements will appear in the press. ¶ These DIE PROOFS represent a goal achieved, a task completed, such as perhaps no one in any country ever attempted: the re-drawing, into their minutest detail of dot and line, and the re-engraving of a complete issue of lithographed, steel-plate and typographed stamps!

Price, per Set, $2.50, Postpaid.

Set, with the De la Rue Plate-Proof Autographed by FRANK BAPTIST, who printed these stamps at Archer & Daly's in 1862, $3.50.

BRYANT POLLARD CO., Proctorsville, Vt.

Stamp No. 51, next to the left-side plate number, shows a shifted transfer to the right; stamps No. 61, 71 and 81 show slight shifts to the right; stamp No. 31 shows a very slight shift to the right, and stamps No. 41 and 91 show very slight shifts to the right. This seems odd, that from the third stamp down, all the stamps in the first vertical row at the left show slight double transfer or shifted transfers.

The upper right pane from plate 9414 shows the "F", in front of the plate number over the sixth stamp in the top row, in a position that can be described as "falling towards the plate number." The "F" indicates that the plate is ready for the press, or "finished."

The upper right pane from plate 9415 shows a splotch in front of the top plate number that looks like an inverted "1" on top of a "dot." A punch with the letter "F" was probably used but not carefully applied. You will sit up and take notice when I tell you that stamps Nos. 1, 4, 14, 19, 24, 34, 40, 41, 42, 44, 47, 48, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 65, 67, 68, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 77, 79, 80, 81, 84, 85, 87, 90, 91, 94, 96 and 100 show, each, a slight shift to the left. The shifting is easily perceptible in the small triangular ornament in the lower left corner of each stamp, also in the point of color that comes down from above just over the triangle or to the upper left of the left figure of value. While most of the shifts are hardly noticeable, stamp No. 50, next to the right-side plate number, is a good shift.

The lower left pane from plate 9417 shows the initials "J. A. M." on the left-side margin next to stamp No. 91. I have not examined the entire pane.

I examined the lower right pane from plate 9418, but it does not show any shifted transfers.

I also examined the upper right pane of plate 9418, but no shifted transfers were disclosed to my careful scrutiny. The top margin was missing from the pane I looked over, so I cannot state the position of the "F" in front of the plate number. It was this pane I had in bright red-violet.

The lower left pane from plate 9419 shows the initials "J. T. F. S. S. I." on the left-side margin next to stamp No. 91. I have not had the opportunity for examining a complete pane.

The lower left pane from plate 9426 shows the initials "J. T. W. M. O. H. H." on the left-side margin next to stamp No. 91. I have not examined the entire pane.

These double sets of initials show that two operators worked on the entering of the stamp designs from the transfer rolls. This is not a common occurrence.

The lower left pane from plate 9427 shows the initials "C. A. H. O. H. H." on the left-side margin next to stamp No. 91. The entries on the transfer show that the transfer die used was worn considerably as all the stamps are poorly entered, due to this cause, I believe. When the transfer die is worn, heavier pressure of it is necessary to produce the desired result, and the entries disclose this heavier impress. In several subjects the pressure used caused faint shifts, and stamp No. 61 shows the shifting a little stronger.

The upper right pane from plate 9428 shows a small irregular "F" in front of top plate number—it looks like the "F" was placed on top of a dot or other mark. Stamps Nos 1, 5, 6, 15, 16, 19, 20, 21, 24, 30, 31, 32, 35, 37, 40, 41, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 52, 53, 54, 55, 58, 60, 70, 78 and 80 show slight shifts to left, similar to those described for the upper right pane from plate 9415. In the latter case I have not learned the initials of the transfer operator, nor have I for this plate (9428) unless they are "J. W. G.," which show on the lower right pane from this plate.

The lower right pane from plate 9428 shows the initials "J. W. G." in the right-side margin next to stamp No. 100, and these initials are "double transfer"! Quite a number of the stamps in the upper horizontal rows show slight shifts of the transfer to the left, but they are too numerous and too minor to mention separately. In fact, they are so faint or lightly shifted as to be almost imperceptible.

The lower right pane from plate 9429 shows the initials "J. R." on the right-side margin next to stamp No. 100. The entire pane was examined but no shifted transfers were disclosed.

The upper right pane from plate 9430 shows a peculiarly shaped mark (probably intended for an "F") in front of the top plate number. It looks like an inverted "N" with a period after it. It is probably an inverted "F" placed on top of a dot or other blotch. An examination of this pane shows it to be beautifully entered, every stamp sharp and clear, and there are no shifts.

The lower left pane from plate 9433 shows the initials "J. A. M." on the left-side margin next to stamp No. 91. The entire pane has been examined and very slight shifts to the right have been disclosed on all the stamps in the first vertical row at the left.

Two types of the "F" have been used on these plates, but I discovered this fact after the plate blocks had passed from my hands, so I am unable to tell on which plates the types occur. One "F", that most generally used, has serifs, while the other is sans-serif.

Two types of plate numbers also occur, but I also discovered this after the plate blocks had passed from my hands, and I cannot tell which plates had the differing types of numbers. I do recall, however, that plate 9414 had the figures very close together, while plate 9430 had larger figures further apart or better spaced.—Hobbies.

THE NEW SHANGHAI-U. S.

We are indebted to C. G. Weisbrod for the following from the North China Daily News of July 1. "The American Post Office will place on sale this morning the new surcharged stamps issued for that office. The stamps are of the regular U. S. issue overprinted at double their postage value and are to be sold in Shanghai currency only. The ordinary stamps will be sold for American money only. Announcement was made of the sale of these stamps by the U. S. P. O. Dept. early in May and the American Postmaster has been flooded with requests from people in America for these new stamps. Remittances to the amount of several thousand dollars have already been received coming from every section of the U. S."

Mr. Weisbrod shows us the current U. S. stamp which is overprinted:—

in black. Mr. Frank P. Brown shows us the complete set and all are surcharged in the same manner except the value is double the original face value of the stamp and all overprinted in black except the 14 on 7c and the $2 on $1 which are overprinted in red.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

UNITED STATES 30c, 90c 1857-60.

By ELLIOTT PERRY.

Given a sufficient amount of material, including pairs and strips, or blocks, and the 30c stamps could quite possibly be plated. If, as was originally intended, the stamp had been printed only in black, to reconstruct portions of the plate would not be extremely difficult. There are nearly forty double transfers—most of them distinguishable in black although too slight to be identified with certainty when in orange—at least half a dozen re-cuttings, and numerous irregularities in spacing which would assist anyone attempting to reconstruct the plate, but because of the orange color and the comparative scarcity of single copies as well as multiples, it is exceedingly unlikely that any attempt to reconstruct the whole plate could be successful.

The 90c stamp is two or three times as scarce as the 30c, but it would probably be much easier to reconstruct the 90c plate than that of the 30c. There are markings like scratches all over the 90c plate and hardly any two of the 90c stamps are exactly alike because the markings on each of them vary. These scratches are found on the margins of the stamps and on the stamp designs and beside, there are several reliefs, guide dots, double transfers and a pane line to aid the work of reconstructing the plate. It is quite possible there is enough material available or in existence to enable a collector with sufficient time and sufficient means to completely reconstruct the 90c plate.

Both the 30c and the 90c were in use only about one year and neither of them are at all easy to obtain on original covers. Genuinely used copies of the 90c are at least ten times as rare as unused copies. Too many of the "used" copies seen have cancellations that are doubtful if not quite fraudulent. Only one full cover bearing an undoubtedly genuine used 90c has come to the writer's attention, but there are several copies known on parts of original covers and there can be no question the 90c was in regular use. Pen struck copies are held in little esteem, except those bearing the Shanghai pen mark, which is in a peculiar magenta colored ink and is perfectly legitimate.

The reports of the Postmaster General as given by Luff state the quantities of these stamps issued to postmasters for the year ending June 30, 1861, to have been as follows:—

Quarter ending	30c	90c
Sept. 30, 1860	103,860	11,960
Dec. 31, 1860	105,960	6,200
Mar. 31, 1861	65,040	4,110
June 30, 1861	65,140	2,010
Totals	340,000	24,280

These figures are probably as great as the maximum quantities issued because it is doubtful if the quantities issued after June 30, 1861, until the appearance of the 1861 series were as great as the numbers of the 30c and 90c returned by postmasters after the 1861 series was issued. Some years later, however, stamp dealers obtained a supply of unused remainders of the 1857-60 series, including the 30c and 90c denominations. There appear to have been two lots "released" from the supply of remainders in the Post Office Department—one lot of 2,000 complete sets and another lot of 1,500 sets. Many of the unused specimens of the 1857-60 series in collections today are believed to have come originally from these lots. For many years these unused stamps were quite common and at times were sold at less than face value, the retail price often being one dollar per set of eight—face $1.75.

One of these lots was obtained about 1870 by F. Trifet, then a well known Boston dealer and it is stated that among the lot obtained by him were some of the 30c imperforates, including at least one block. Investigation by the present writer tends to confirm this statement. Trifet's lot may also have included imperforate 24c and 90c stamps but confirmation of this last supposition is lacking. There is evidence that all the imperforate 24c, 30c and 90c stamps did not come from the Trifet lot but there seems no doubt whatever that all of them in genuine, imperforate condition—except, perhaps the 24c in dull reddish lilac—were from the trial color sheets submitted to the Department for September 1st will see business resumed at my office with a hustle that is going to do things this year. I am out for a record year by attracting more customers to my house of specialism in United States stamps. I keep a regular stock—not an occasional collection of United States as some dealers do. True, early issues for specialists are gone but so is the stock of every dealer in the country or in fact in the world.

H. F. COLMAN

official approval of the shade selected. The Trifet lot of imperforate 30c is believed to have been part, or perhaps all, of what was left of the trial color sheet of that denomination in the Department when he obtained his other remainders.

Whether these imperforates were in the Washington post office or were in the Post Office Department at Washington does not appear. It is presumed they were then in the Department and not in the Washington post office, but of course they may have been in the post office previously and were returned to the Department after August, 1861. To the present writer it does not seem at all unreasonable to accept as a probable fact that the trial sheets of the three high values were actually turned in to the Washington post office, or even sent elsewhere, to be sold as stamps. Clearly, if the post office authorities choose to sell card board proofs, or trial impressions, or door mats, or tin whistles for postage stamps and accept same in payment of postage those articles are postage stamps just as much as if they had been made for no other purpose than to pay postage. What they were made for has nothing to do with the case. The only facts that count are whether or not they were sold and accepted for postage. If it can be shown that one 24c, one 30c and one 90c from the imperforate trial color sheets were legally sold and accepted for postage we cannot avoid accepting other copies from those sheets as genuine imperforate postage stamps, because no one can tell which were the copies sold.

After considerable study of the available data the present writer is of the opinion that some imperforate 24c and black 30c were certainly sold for postage, that some imperforate 30c orange were probably sold for postage and that some imperforate 90c were possibly sold for postage. The black 30c appears better entitled to recognition as a postage stamp than the imperforate 30c orange.

That the black 30c were printed for use as stamps is quite certain and that at least a few in imperforate condition were sold for postage—even though the sale may have been purposely restricted while the effectiveness of cancelling them was being determined—seems to the present writer more than probable. The large quantity printed is excellent proof that if there had been no difficulty in cancelling the black stamps there never would have been any orange 30c. It would appear that all the black 30c sold were from one or more imperforate trial sheets and that the sale of the black stamps was stopped before any perforated 30c were delivered by the printers. This is why the 30c black is known only in imperf. condition. If the post office officials were willing to sell imperforate 30c blacks from the trial sheets it is not hard to believe they also sold imperforate 30c orange and 24c and 90c imperforates from the trial sheets of those denominations.

Regarding the black 30c Luff's book contains the following reference,— * * * "Mr. Francis C. Foster states that, at the time he obtained his copy, he was told that it was a stamp and had been in use, and that shortly afterwards he made inquiry at the Washington post office and was informed that it was actually on sale at that office for a few days, but, because the cancellation did not show up well, the color was changed." If the reader will compare this statement with the correspondence between the Department and Toppan, Carpenter & Co. regarding the 30c stamps, he will be quite apt to agree Mr. Foster was correctly informed and that the 30c black should no longer be regarded as "only a proof". Because we cannot tell the stamps cut from the sheet and sold for postage from those that may have found their way into collections through other channels we should accept all the 30c blacks for what some of them are and for what all of them were for a few days—postage stamps. Some day a copy used on the original cover may be found.

Referring to the correspondence between Toppan, Carpenter & Co. and the Post Office Department reproduced in the Steinmetz Miscellany we note that the 30c denomination was first suggested in the Department's letter of June 1, 1860, together with a 15c which was never prepared. On June 4, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. suggested that the Franklin carrier stamp be altered to make a 30c denomination and that the Eagle carrier stamp be altered to make a 15c denomination. The design of the 30c was submitted on June 10th and approved on the 12th. On June 12th also a 90c stamp to bear the portrait of Washington was suggested by the Department. The first impression of the 30c was submitted on June 25th. This differed from the original drawing submitted on June 10th by having CENTS at the bottom replaced by the numeral "30" and was an "imperfect dry impression"—probably in black—from the die. A "proof impression" was submitted the following day and approved by the Postmaster General on June 27th.

On July 2nd part of a proof sheet, (from the plate), of the 30c was submitted and the Toppan, Carpenter letter of that date says,—"We also inclose an impression (half sheet) of the Twelve Cents plate that the Postmaster General may contrast the two and decide upon the propriety of printing the Thirty Cents in black. We have sought to make a distinct design that the mere distinction of color might be unnecessary, and we now await the orders of the Postmaster General in favor of our suggestion that black should be used." Reply was made from the Department on July 3rd,—"The Postmaster General, relying upon the distinct design for the Thirty Cents stamp as obviating the necessity of a distinctive color, approves your suggestion to print them in black. The chief objection on this color arises from the greater difficulty of cancelling them."

Allowing two weeks for printing and finishing the black 30c stamps would have been ready for use about July 18th, but it is exceedingly unlikely any of the large quantity printed for regular use were ever issued. Neither is there anything in the Steinmetz correspondence to prove beyond question that imperforate 30c blacks from the trial sheet or sheets were issued as stamps. We can only read between the lines. However, as the black 12c stamp had been in continuous use in quite large quantities for nine years it would not seem reasonable for the Department to condemn the 30c black without giving it a trial. For this and other reasons the present writer believes some of these black trial stamps were sold and used as an experiment to determine if they could be effectively cancelled; that the results were unsatisfactory, and that Toppan, Carpenter & Co. were notified to that effect.

Upon being notified of the situation it would appear the printers tried to overcome the difficulty but were not successful. Certainly it is not to be supposed they would have gone ahead and printed such a large quantity of these black stamps if they had not been confident the stamps could be effectively cancelled. Neither would they have printed so many black 30c if they had been experimenting with cancellations "on their own hook" as the saying is. They would have avoided as much loss as possible and printed few until they knew whether the black color would be satisfactory or not. The black 30c for regular issue were all printed between July 3rd and July 11th, 1860, and the issue of any trial imperforates was probably confined to that period.

On July 11, 1860, Toppan, Carpenter & Co. wrote the Department,—"We are reluctantly obliged to stop printing the Thirty-Cent stamp until further advice from the Postmaster General. We find that the objection to black, arising from the difficulty of cancelling the stamp, is likely to prove more serious than at first apprehended; and in order to give you a definite idea of this difficulty we inclose a half sheet of the denomination specified. The body of color is deeper and more generally diffused than is advantageous for cancellation. We believe that the inclosed buff tint could be more advantageously printed than any hue of yellow, and canceling such a stamp would be easy and thorough. We have printed already a large number in black, but we will readily submit to the loss in case the Postmaster General sees proper to order the buff color in its place. In such a case we can readily print the Ninety-Cent in black if it be acceptable, as we suppose the use of this rate will be comparatively limited."

A RARE ACHIEVEMENT.

A remarkable publishing triumph has come to our notice in the form of enlarged fac-simile die-proofs of every type of the Confederate general issues, in their approximate standard colors. When we beheld the contents of the envelope containing the set, our admiration for the genius that accomplished the feat of re-drawing the designs of the stamps and reproducing them in artistic style was unbounded. We make obeisance to Mr. August Dietz, who, with an infinitude of pains copied the stamps unto the uttermost detail of dot and dash from the best copies obtainable. The great Deats' collection was drawn upon for material as well as other collections. The work has required nearly a year and the results are a unique contribution, we believe, to the wealth of philatelic literature, let us say. These die-proofs are from copper engravings and the colors match the standards of the stamps as well as a printing on dead white paper will develop. We understand that the colors were first struck on creamy paper, as indicating age, and matched to the stamp and then white paper was employed. Now, when it is known that these die-proofs are a feature of the forthcoming work on Confederate stamps, under the authorship of Messrs. Dietz, Knapp, Curtis, Atherton and Ahern, all names to conjure with, anticipation certainly is whet to the keenest edge; and we shall await the finished product with every assurance that a complete historical exposition of the postal system of the Confederacy and its stamps will be forthcoming. In addition to the stamp proofs is a plate-proof "from an identified section of the De la Rue electrotype, an essay and portrait of Frank Baptist in 1862." Mr. Baptist printed the stamps in 1862 at the establishment of Archer and Daly, Richmond. Sets may be had with the De la Rue plate-proof autographed by Mr. Baptist for $3.50; and the price for the set otherwise is $2.50. Southern Publishing Company, August Dietz, President, P. O. Box 463, Richmond, Virginia. We have a "foreword" of the Story of the Post Office of the Confederate States of America and its Postage Stamps and next week after we have absorbed the magnitude of the work in hand, we shall speak of it. Meanwhile, we rejoice to think that there are men who can produce this wonderful work as shown by this fac-simile set of the die-proofs.

EDITORIAL.

Before—It has been a long time since the American Philatelic Society has held a convention, previously, in St. Louis. In 1889, on October 7th, the members fore-gathered there and well we remember the ominous clouds that threatened to break at the sessions. Factional differences ran high and a battle royal was waged over the exchange department; and the administration of the department by Mr. E. B. Sterling was the chief object of attack. However, the storm preceded the calm and the soothing syrup was doled out in sufficient quantities to quiet the belligerents. Mr. Sterling was vindicated by re-election and quite properly the delegates forgot their differences in swearing fealty to the society. There were 666 members then and 439 of them were represented at the convention. Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer will be the only one present from out-of-town this year who was there in 1889, unless Mr. W. C. Michaels runs over from Kansas City. The present convention will be different in some respects from that of its predecessor and the principal change will be in the general viewpoint of the delegates. Now, philately in a national sense, with the personal equation almost negligible, will be the object of attention.

Rational—In these days of collective movement, the reason for a convention becomes self-evident but the record of the American Philatelic Society of a convention each year since 1886 is an achievement. The purpose of the annual meeting is to meet the trend of opinion by making any advisable changes in the national society's internal workings with a desire to improve efficiency. Then comes the consideration of philately in its broadest meaning in order that measures might be adopted to fortify and extend its influence. The communion of philatelists when they are dominated by the thought of improvement is a pleasure to many. The tendency to bring out interesting stamps for purposes of exhibition, sale or exchange has been encouraged at recent conventions. Coming in August of each year, as the conventions have for some time past, they give a buoyancy to philatelic thought during a dull period ordinarily and soon after the conventions become history, the regular stamp season is about open. The stamp conventions are a good thing for philately and without them we would revert to the dark ages, almost.

Returned—We have been receiving letters from returned soldiers and it is the common lament of our correspondents that they did not succeed in obtaining anything in the stamp line worthy of mention. One man says that the Paris shops evidently have been skinned of attractive United States for some time, as he did not have his modest expectation met of getting a few grills at favorable prices. Yet, he says that some time before, a fine copy of the inverted twenty-four cent of '69 was secured by an American officer at an advantageous figure. Another soldier who got around in the big towns says that it was always necessary to be on guard against the danger of acquiring a skilfully repaired stamp for a seemingly good specimen from the smaller dealers on the continent.

Helpful—On August 12th, the Chicago American published a picture of Brigadier-General H. H. Bandholtz, in connection with some European news concerning the activity of General Bandholtz at a conference of the Allies. The American happened to know that the editor of the WEEKLY had a picture showing Generals Pershing and Bandholtz taken together as well as several of General Bandholtz alone and in return for the loan of the snap-shots in question, the newspaper was kind enough to mention philately in its sketch of General Bandholtz. Every time the word "philately" is printed in the newspapers a grain of sand is added to the philatelic foundation.

Jokeful—Says a reader, "I do not wish to interrupt your profound deliberations but the hapless compositor (by-the-way, did you ever see a typo who beamed?) on one of the little monthlies set it up, 'Inhambone.' Can you not segregate a snicker out of this in view of the high cost of hog? Give it a clever headline,—something Baconian." The poor comp. knows too much about our frailties to be happy.

Rough—Pollyanna personified in the philatelist. In feminine chirography comes the news: "My husband was morbid and frayed my sensitive soul by his gloomy fits of introspection. He got the stamp idea from Mr. Jacobs and now he is as happy as a boy with his sheets and albums and hinges and pots but even so, I sometimes wonder if it's for the best as he insists that I listen to things that he reads from your paper." Picture of "ye ed." with sweat rolling off of his head which is surrounded by radiating question marks, a la cartoon.

Extra—From Nut Knoll where Count Lapp de Booz is resting after his strenuosities, some of which have been chronicled by us, we have heard that he is recuperating and that his wonderful mind is regaining its elasticity. It seems that the "guests" were in the parlor at their wonted pastime of philatelic puzzles. A prize was offered for the best philatelic palindrome and the Count offered "Oro" forgetting the "Rio de" for the time being, amid much applause. The reward was a copy of the snake stamp, St. Lucia, two pence, 1902-03.

Forged—Is a poor watermark better than none? Mr. Ragatz sends a clipping: "Minneapolis, Aug. 9.—An alleged counterfeiter of stamps, K. C. Brewer, was arrested by the federal officer after the Minneapolis detectives had detained him as a result of Brewer's possession of a number of counterfeit stamps and an engraver's outfit, alleged to belong to him." Assuming that the current U. S. were the object of attention, it is recalled that it was a stamp counterfeiting case that was responsible for the adoption of the watermark in the 1895 issue.

Scented—A reader showed us a collection that he acquired in a somewhat unusual way. A young lady discovered that he collected stamps, quite by chance, and observed that her mother had an old collection lying about the house that had been the property of an uncle who had died years ago in the Colombian Republic from where his effects had been returned. "No," the mother said, she "did not care to sell the collection because of a natural sentiment but as her daughter liked perfume she would give the book to the young man if he would buy Alys a bottle of perfume." He said that the perfume cost him twelve dollars and a half, which was just about the price, we imagine, of the superb No. 1, Denmark, that the collection, which was replete with other good things, contained. No stamps had been added to it since the seventies.

AIRMAIL DELIVERED AT SEA.

AIRMAIL DELIVERED AT SEA.

The first aerial mail delivery to a ship at sea was accomplished August 14, when an aero-marine flying-boat dropped a sack of European mail on the deck of the White Star Liner "Adriatic" leaving New York. The experiment was an official test undertaken at the request of the P. O. Department and may be put into general operation. The flying-boat overtook the "Adriatic" just as she was passing out of the Ambrose channel. After circling around the liner a few times, the pilot, C. J. Zimmerman, came down to within fifty feet of the ship's masts and dropped the mailbag. Some three hundred passengers crowded the promenade deck of the "Adriatic" and watched the experiment. Their cheers echoed down the bay as the bag was successfully hauled aboard.

Early U. S. for Foreign

I have $5,000 worth of early U. S. issues, 1847 to 1869, to exchange for early issues of foreign stamps, particularly early Europeans and British Colonials on cover, or in pairs or strips. (Fine condition only.) If you have some odds and ends of good stamps you would like to turn into U. S., write me. Am still looking for fine copies of the 5c Buff and will pay up to full catalog for any I can use.

Written for MEKEEL'S WEEKLY.

IMPERF. GREAT BRITAIN.

By PERCY MCG. MANN.

Not long ago I wrote about current British stamps unwatermarked and remarked that they were not listed in current catalogues. A recent advertisement in a London stamp journal (Stamp Collectors' Fortnightly) gives a long list of the later Victorian issues imperforate, and it is remarkable to state that one can search as one will in all catalogues and one will not find these imperforates listed.

Most of the WEEKLY's readers know that the catalogues list imperf. stamps that were never issued to the general public, altho' it is a foregone conclusion that the government issuing them received payment (in one way or another) for them, because the governments keep pretty accurate accounts of the "security" paper they use. In some instances, like the 2c U. S. 1893, Columbian issue, the imperforate stamps are the product of individual firms under government contract, but this cannot be said about the 1894 and 1895 U. S. imperforate issues. In other instances, the imperforates are errors, having gotten into circulation inadvertently without going through the perforating machines in the usual manner. The latter occurrences are not plentiful, altho' part perforates occur frequently enough.

It may not be out of the way to mention here an item offered for sale at auction at the A. P. S. convention in St. Louis. A vertical imperforate pair of 12c (so-called Scott's No. 401, altho' there is no reason, on the face of it, why it couldn't be No. 421, unless the color distinguishes it). The auction cataloguer says it is not listed—or catalogued.

The fact of the matter is, this imperforate vertical pair comes from a sheet of 100 that was otherwise perforated. In fact the pair was perforated at top and bottom and sides but not between, and the tell-tale "teeth" were cut off. In other words, ten perforating needles in the machine perforating the stamps horizontally (vertically in operation) failed to cut the perforations, thus leaving a pair, in the sheet, imperf. between. This is an illustration of how some imperfs. occur.

To get back to Great Britain. The following list of Scott's numbers come imperforate. I do not attempt to account for their issue, unless they are imprimature sheets that have come from the contracting stamp producers, after new contractors secured the work. Since the Victorian stamps of Great Britain are all demonetized—rendered unusable in the posts—no harm has been done if the above accounting is the correct solution of their issue. However, these imperfs. are entitled to catalogue rank along with others of their ilk already catalogued—or the whole lot should be deleted—U. S. as well as Great Britain.

The list is as follows:

1880-81. No. 78, ½d green, ½d pale green; No. 79, 1d red-brown; No. 80, 1½d red-brown; No. 81, 2d lilac-rose; No. 85, 5d indigo.

1881. No. 88, 1d lilac, 1d pale lilac; No. 89, 1d lilac.

1883-84. No. 96a, 2sh 6d lilac on bluish; No. 108a, 5sh rose on bluish; No. 109, 10sh ultramarine.

1884. No. 98, ½d slate-blue; Nos. 99 to 102, 1½d, 2d, 2½d, 3d lilac; Nos. 103 to 107, 4d, 5d, 6d, 9d, 1sh green.

1887-92. No. 111, ½d vermilion; No. 112, 1½d violet and green; No. 113, 2d green and carmine; No. 114, 2½d violet on blue; No. 115, 3d violet on yellow; No. 116, 4d green and brown; No. 117, 4½d green and carmine; No. 118, 5d lilac and blue; No. 119, 6d violet on rose-red; No. 120, 9d lilac and blue; No. 121, 10d violet and carmine; No. 122, 1sh green.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

—We are indebted to W. A. Biechele, for a clipping from the Sunday Repository, of Canton, O., giving the story of the celebrated Saxton collection of that city. Accompanying the sketch is a picture of Mr. W. G. Saxton and a group of some of the rarities found in the collection. It is said to be one of the finest collections in the state.

—W. H. Wilkerson, Jr., informs us that he has heard from Walter Schardt, Wilkinsburg, Pa., and that his complaint is satisfactorily adjusted.

—Mrs. Oughtred informs us that the new "Prohibition" stamps issued in Canada are used to collect the Govt. tax of 5% on sales of liquors. The stamp is affixed when the sale is made, the customer paying for the stamp.

—W. H. L.—Try G. B. Calman, New York City, for the stamps desired. We cannot answer your second question, and advise you to write the publishers. It is customary to enclose a stamp, when a personal reply is desired.

—The Chicago American of August 12 contained a full-length picture of Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, who has been appointed on the Allied Mission to Budapest. As Provost Marshal General of the A. E. F., he has made his headquarters in Paris, directing the operations of the Military Police of the American Army in the allied nations and Germany. Under the cut in the American is the following, "The photograph from which the above was made was sent from France to C. E. Severn of this city, an old friend of the general's when Bandholtz was a bookkeeper here."

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Wm. Praebsting, Wm. Hoffman (3), W. Hayward, Harold J. Snyder, Wm. H. Wilkerson, Jr., S. W. Blackburn, Alvin Johnson and Arthur Bruce Moss.

—Philatelic Gossip, formerly of Denison, Kansas, is now located at Siloam Springs, Ark., and publisher Dworak would like his patrons to note the change.

WE BOTH WIN!

The A—B—C of stamp collecting might be stated like this:—First, the pleasure of acquisition; Second, the satisfaction of ownership; Third, the value of the stamp itself.

Whatever stamp you buy the purchase of which gives you real pleasure; the continued ownership of which affords you increasing satisfaction; and the value of which does not depreciate I would consider to be a "good" stamp.

My business is directed to supplying as many stamps of this character as it is possible for one individual to buy and sell handling the business all by himself.

Such a business has limitations. Reasonable collectors recognize this and expect to pay reasonable prices in order that the character of the stamps I offer and the quality of the service I give may be maintained at a high level.

A business conducted in this way works to the advantage of the collector who patronizes it and to the advantage of

COVERS - COVERS - COVERS

I am in the market for anything really fine in the way of early United States and foreign covers. I especially desire the issues running from 1845 to 1870 and will pay good prices for anything nice. The stamps on the covers must be in good shape and those without pen cancellations are preferred.

Of late issues of United States, I require mint blocks of four of a number of items such as 1898 6c in the rare purplish shade, 1894 50c, $1 (showing two types in one block), 1895 $1 in same condition, 1908 4c and 8c on bluish rag paper, etc. Best of commercial, bank or dealer reference.

KEEP THE PRICE AT 50c.

You can help in various ways. We suggest the following:—

Renew for 2 yrs.—$1.00.

Send no postage stamps, as we are compelled to pay the stamp broker from 5% to 10% for cashing. Our bank makes no charge for cashing U. S. checks.

Whenever you change your address this requires a new name plate. Enclose 3c to cover the making of a new one.

When giving a vacation address enclose postage (1c each issue) for the weeks you are away and allow the regular copy to be continued to your home.

Enclose a stamped addressed envelope when you ask for information.

These are little thi..gs of themselves, but dealing with 8000 subscribers with a subscription price of 50c per year these suggestions will mean much to our publication. These are details in which the subscriber can help.

THE MANAGING EDITOR.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—The most interesting items that have come to our attention during the last week is a set of the Cincinnati provisional NARCOTIC surcharges. These are surcharged in small purple capital letters by means of a rubber stamp. In a previous issue we mentioned that these stamps existed but at the time was not aware of the denominations, type, etc. A valued Cincinnati correspondent now favors us with a set consisting of the 1c Series of 1914 surcharged diagonally reading up from the lower left corner and the series of 1916, 1c, 2c, 3c, 4c, 5c, 8c, 10c, 25c and 50c surcharged normally horizontally. We are informed that less than a sheet of the 1c 1914 was surcharged and that these were all used on drugs before they were philatelically discovered. When finally noticed, a collector was able to salvage 32 copies all of which are of course used. Of the 1916 series we are informed that the surcharge was applied in a number of different ways, inverted, diagonal, etc. We have not been able to definitely learn as to whether the $1 and $2 were also surcharged.

Mr. Eugene Klein has shown us the $1, Second Issue of the Philadelphia provisional NARCOTIC surcharge, with double overprint, both horizontal.

Philadelphia Provisional NARCOTIC Surch.
Second Issue.
$1 green, double surcharge, both horizontal.

We have chronicled the documentary issue through the $30 surcharged provisionally "F. D." for "future delivery" use. Mr. H. W. Porter now informs us that the surcharge in the case of the $5, $10 and $30 values was applied to the documentary stamps of the "Series of 1914".

Mr. Eugene Klein has just shown us a most interesting collection, especially strong in odd cancellations. We noted off hand, the 5c and 10c 1847 with red town postmark, the 5c cancelled with a large block "5" within a circle, in black, a 5c in red dots, a strip of three and a strip of four on the same cover, of the 3c 1851. This was mailed in Washington on August 14, '55, and was addressed to France. A block of each and a number of strips of the 1c and 3c 1857, etc.

Mr. J. H. Houston sends for inspection an unusual block of 35 of the 1c Proprietary, First Series, perforated, precancelled "Ruth and Fleming—Baltimore". The block is from the lower left corner of the sheet and shows part of the "Butler and Carpenter" imprint.

We wish to thank Mr. Earl Harlon and Mr. Wm. M. Lauman for notes of interest. Mr. Lauman states that he has located the current 5c blue circular die envelope on buff. This we chronicled some months back on information from Washington. At the time we were unable to locate copies in collectors hands.

BATOUM.—Another surprise from Russia! According to M. Arthur Maury, a set of five distinctive postage stamps has been issued at this Black Sea port, the design showing a tree set in an ornamental frame, at the top of which is the inscription "Poste de Batoum," in Russian characters, with the figures of value in the lower corners.

We understand the following are the denominations issued, but would advise our readers to be cautious in handling any of these novelties, as at the moment we are not aware as to the circumstances under which they made their appearance:—

5kop green.
10kop blue.
50kop yellow.
1 rouble purple-brown.
3 roubles lilac.

—Stamp Collecting.

CANADA.—Messrs. Bright & Son advise that there has appeared the 1c green issued in coils perf. 12x imperf., with an additional two large hole perfs. at top and bottom. These were used in Toronto P. O. in Government Vending Machine for two days only in July, 1918, according to our correspondent.

EAST AFRICA AND UGANDA.—Messrs. Bright & Son report having seen the 4 on 6c with double overprint.

NICARAGUA.—Mr. Edwin W. Fuss has shown us a new provisional, this time it is the VALE CINCO CENTAVOS DE CORDOBA overprinted in black in three lines. At the same time Mr. Fuss shows us a block containing the error CINCOUN CENTAVOS and there is also an example of the "C" on Cinco dropped so low it appears almost on the line below. Other minor varieties are small "n" in Cinco.

In the recent surcharge of UN CENTAVO on 25c official, Mr. Fuss informs us stamp No. 67 in the sheet is UU instead of UN. The ½ on 50 with double surcharge, one inverted, is shown clipped at both ends and Mr. Fuss advises that it was one of its kind in a lot of 26,000.

NORTH BORNEO.—Mr. Edwin W. Fuss shows us a cover containing a copy of the current 25c stamp perforated

REV
ENUE

Mr. Fuss explains that the stamp was for revenue till the stamp tax was removed then the stamps were authorized for postage.

JUGO-SLAV ON BOSNIA.—Messrs. Bright & Son report that they have seen one of the Bosnia 1912 type 6 heller overprinted in black with 10 heller, also S. H. S. and a black square over the Emperor's Head. We understand that this is one of the new series to be issued gradually.

SWEDEN.—Messrs. Bright & Son have shown us the following new issues for this country:—3 ore pale brown; Official, 3 ore pale brown.

URUGUAY.—We are indebted to Messrs. Bright & Son for the following:—"We have just received the following values in distinctly new shades, with the exception of the 23c which we do not think have previously been issued. Lithographed, 1c dull yellow green.

2c lake red.
5c very pale blue.
23c blue.

We also understand from our correspondent, that a new issue of a Pictorial design, showing View of Harbour City, and Mountain, is promised to be issued this month."

STAMPS TO REBUILD RHEIMS CHURCH.

(We do not recall having seen this item in the philatelic press. It indicates a charity stamp to be issued for the purpose of rebuilding the Rheims Cathedral. We print the news despatch as we find it.—W. O. W.)

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 4.—A world peace stamp has been issued in Copenhagen and 400,000,000 are to be printed for distribution all over the world.

The idea of raising funds this way to rebuild the Cathedral of Rheims comes from a Danish author, Mogensflack, and committees have been formed in different countries for carrying it out. The stamp is green with a picture of the cathedral, behind which is the word "Pax" on the sky, and below is the inscription, "Veritas, Libertas, Justitia."

It is hoped that throughout the world in the coming months this emblem of peace will be found generally on letters.

McVITTLES VS. SECRET MARKS.

By COTTON C. DOYLE.

"Well," said Casey, "me boy has got the stamp fever at last, and botherin' the life out o' me he is with questions about them. What shall I do, or go crazy."

"'Tis about time," replied McVittles. "I had hopes that at least one of the Caseys would have brains enough to be a philatelist, or a near philatelist, or anyhow a stamp collector, and I congratulate both of you. Lock the front door and I will declare business off f'r the day and go into executive session with you while you tell me what are the rocks he is stubbin' his toe, and yours, against."

"The last pile of rocks," said Casey, "are what he calls secret marks that he finds, or thinks he finds, or can't find, on some old American stamps—three cent greens and Ben Franklin blue one centers, and red stamps, and yellow stamps, and purple stamps and every other color there is except magenta and mauve and apricot and persimmon and a lot more that I never heard of outside of his stamp catalog since the wife's cousin was in the house paintin' business over on South St., below 5th, second door from the corner, before he went to the Spanish War."

"And the colors and the secret marks and the paper he calls hard and another kind he calls soft and another kind I'd call mejum are all mixed up with jabber about a dozen or so stamp printin' outfits that called themselves bank note companies in order to make life unbearable for the fathers of juvenile stamp collectors. Stamp collectin' may be a science as I've heard you say, and almost believed it, but it starts off like fifty or a hundred and fifty jig-saw puzzles all mixed up at once, only worse."

"Be aisy," said McVittles. "'Tis not so desperate as you say. Listen for two minutes and four more and I'll give you a push over the hard goin' so you can coast the rest of the way down hill by yourself, and learn somethin'."

"That's what I'm here for, McVittles, so fire away and remember that a good gas wagon has a second speed and a low and don't run on high all the time lest you leave me behind, in the middle of the road, with a rock for a cushion."

"Good enough," said McVittles, "so here goes;—There are only three bank note companies to bother you and if you try hard and remember that the first and the second used mostly paper that was thinner, and harder, and snappier than what the third used, and that most of the stamps printed by the second and the third companies were just alike as regards secret marks, half your battle is over and won."

"Start with the outfit the boy calls the National Bank Note Company. At first their stamps had a grill on them, but they are mostly rare and needn't bother you now. Then comes the same stamps printed by the same outfit without any grill. Then come what your boy calls the Continental stamps, and most of them have the secret marks you're here to discover. After them came the American crowd and as this outfit had swallowed both the other companies they used the other fellow's plates, but mostly Continental plates until they had to make some of their own, and many of their own plates were just like the Continental plates and have the same secret marks. Is that clearer than mud?"

"Indeed, and it is, McVittles. Listen while I say it over and tell me if I've got it right. It goes like this,—National, hard paper; Continental, hard paper; American, soft paper. National, with grills and without 'em, but no secret marks; Continental, with secret marks; American, with secret marks. Now tell me the exceptions, for every rule is known by the exceptions it has, which have been the stickers since I was a b'y in school, and before then, too."

"Right you are, Casey. But when you have helped the boy pile up the National stamps in one pile, and the Continental stamps in another pile, and the American crowd's stamps in another pile, if you look at the stamps in each pile you will find many of the one-centers in each pile look just alike but different in shade from the one-centers in another pile, though they are all blue in all the piles. And the same will often be true of the two-centers, and the three-centers and the rest of them. By takin' notice of these shades like watchin' O'Hoolihan when he gives you the change from a five dollar bill you will be able to tackle the exceptions when they come along."

"Beginnin' with the one center; the secret mark is a little half moon in the little white bull's eye just ferninst the figure 1, at the left. On the two center it is supposed to be under the curley-cue beside U. S. You must have a good imagination to see it. If the stamp don't look as if it had a little mark there but is sort of reddish, I call it a National; but if it doesn't look reddish and I'm not sure whether it has a secret mark or not. I'm sure it ought to have one and a Continental it is."

"On the three center the tail of the ribbon under THREE is split in two and the upper point of the two is shaded heavily on its under side. But the National three center is shaded there, too, and you must have one or each of them to see which has the most shading, until you can tell them apart by the color."

"The six center is easiest to tell by the color because only the National six centers are what the catalog calls carmine, but it is easy to see the four heavier lines of shading in the bend of the ribbon on the Continental stamps, ferninst the S of SIX. The National crowd had first shot at the color pot. The Continental and American folks had to take what was left and added plenty of water to make it last. Their stamps prove it, dull wishy-washy things that they are."

"If you look in the right place you can almost see the two dinky curved lines around the notches beside the big shaded ball in the lower right corner of the seven center with your eyes shut. The National seven centers are often quite reddish while the Continentals are always more orange. The mark on the ten center is also easy to find. Look for the little half moon in the white curley-cue below the E of POSTAGE. Some American ten centers have it and some of them don't. If I knew the reason I would tell you."

"On the twelve centers the figure 12s look just alike until you look at them closely and then they don't look so much alike. The balls of the figure 2 on the Continental stamps are no longer round

THE POSTAGE STAMPS
. . . OF . . .
The Confederate States of America

(ENLARGED)
OF EVERY TYPE OF THE GENERAL ISSUES
In Their (Approximate) Standard Colors;
INCLUDING ALSO
A Plate-Proof from an Identified Section of the Original De La Rue Electrotype of the FIVE CENTS altered to "TEN"

THIS set of fac simile DIE PROOFS, comprising every stamp of the General Issue of the CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA is intended as an advance courier to the STORY OF THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT OF THE CONFEDERATE STATES OF AMERICA AND ITS POSTAGE STAMPS, by AUGUST DIETZ, EDWARD S. KNAPP, GERALD S. CURTIS, H. P. ATHERTON, and WM. S. AHERN, in collaboration with the leading students and collectors of Confederates in America. The work is now in preparation. Definite announcements will appear in the press. ¶ These DIE PROOFS represent a goal achieved, a task completed, such as perhaps no one in any country ever attempted: the re-drawing, into their minutest detail of dot and line, and the re-engraving of a complete issue of lithographed, steel-plate and typographed stamps!

Price, per Set, $2.50, Postpaid.
Set, with the De la Rue Plate-Proof Autographed by FRANK BAPTIST, who printed these stamps at Archer & Daly's in 1862, $3.50.

and the figure looks fancier than on the National stamps. All the Continental twelve centers are a dark blackish violet and very few of the National twelves are so dark. Most of the National twelves are much lighter and the color is as dull as any hoe."

"If the fifteen centers have given you any trouble you have plenty of company. The picture of Daniel Webster shows the great orator in deep thought about what he was goin' to say in his famous speech at the layin' of the cornerstone of the Bunker Hill Monument so that the speech would make him famous enough to be elected president and there are as many rocks in this yeller stamp bearin' his picture for unwary stamp collectors to knock their shins against as in the Monument itself. The secret mark on this stamp reminds me of a story about a class in geography at the Pig Iron Kelley public school, 28th street and Columbia Avenue. The teacher told the boys and girls about the equator being an imaginary line and the next day when she asked them to tell what they had learned about it Tommy said, sure he knew, the equator was a menagerie lion runnin' around the center of the earth."

"Every time I look for the secret mark on the fifteen center I feel just as if I was out huntin' for what Tommy called a menagerie lion. I can find it on many of the red orange stamps printed by the American Company, but on the light orange, or bright orange, or yellow orange, or just plain orange stamps on hard paper it's always just beyond the range of visibility. Once I paid ten dollars for a Continental die proof of the fifteen center and examined it fourteen hours a day for two weeks. A man who couldn't see at all could have found just as many secret marks or any other kind of marks on it that weren't on the National fifteen centers as I did. After that I gave it up."

"For your benefit, Casey, and the boy's, too, I will say that if you forget all about the invisible secret mark you can easily tell the Continental fifteen center. Once upon a time a feller who goes by the interestin' name of Useless Power wrote a book about American postage stamps which was a most remarkable book. F'r its size it contained less misinformation than any book on U. S. stamps ever written or thought of. Speakin' of the Continental fifteen center it says, 'the white portions of the stamp are whiter.' That's the best thing in the book and if I talked about the fifteen center for fifteen months I couldn't tell you as much."

"The twenty-four centers do not have any secret mark. They were all printed from the National Company's plate. The Continental Company put secret marks on the National die but never used the die except to print a few proofs. If you look on one of their proofs in the right place you will see the marks as plain as can be. Neither myself nor anybody else knows whether any of the stamps the Continental Company printed from the National plate, except those made for specialists and therefore called special printings, were ever issued. F'r this reason foolishness it is and nothing else to say the Continental twenty-four center is bluish like the three cent Justice on soft paper, or any other shade. Maybe there was one Continental shade, or two, or five. The only fellows who know how many shades there were and what they looked like are dead, and have been for years. Maybe Conan Doyle or Michael K. Lombroso knows how to ask them. I don't."

"The secret mark on the thirty center has been discovered over three hundred times, each time in a different place. I never could find it on the Continental die and so I never looked on the stamps. Anyhow, all the thirty cent stamps on hard paper were printed from the National plate and even if you could find the secret mark on the die, you couldn't find it on the stamps."

"The ninety center is in the other end of the same ocean liner with the twenty-four. The secret marks were put on the die but the Continental crowd never used the die except to print some proofs. Every last one of these proofs show the secret mark plainly. All the red ninety centers, and the purple beauties, too, were printed from the same National plate. The National nineties are darker than those believed to be Continentals. Some Continental nineties were certainly issued. They have a rosy look, somewhat like the lighter shades of the soft paper American red nineties."

"Now if you can remember all that you can answer over ninety per cent. of the questions the boy may ask you about secret marks, but if you get stuck come and see me again. By that time I may have discovered that some of the Continental twenty-four centers were really issued. Anything is possible in love, politics and stamp collectin'. Enough twenty-four centers that were Continentals accordin' to the fellers who sold them have changed hands since McKinley was elected to almost elect William J. Bryan president of Russia, if he ran often enough."

"What are you gettin' at, McVittles? Don't you think any of the twenty-four centers sold for Continentals were Continentals at all, or what?"

"Here's what I'm gettin' at, Casey; the percentage of real Continentals among the twenty-four centers that have been sold for Continentals might vary a little more or a little less, but the limit is far too low to cause cheerin' or to be cheerin'."

"How low is the percentage?"

"I hate to tell you, Casey, but it's less than 2.75."

BELA KUN SHY OF PAPER.

VIENNA, Aug. 14, (Associated Press.)—Bela Kun's stock of print paper is dwindling, thus limiting his bill-board campaign asking for confidence, and interfering with the output of new money. The bride of Tibor Szamuely, who is the daughter of a prominent lawyer named Gosztony, has been appointed directress of money presses. The lack of paper has caused a discontinuance of the new issue of communist postage stamps. The few original thousands of these stamps have been taken up by stamp collectors.

CONVENTION OF THE A. P. S.

34th ANNUAL MEETING AT ST. LOUIS, AUGUST 19th-21st.

There were about sixty persons present in the spacious convention hall of the Planters' Hotel, St. Louis, on the morning of August 19th, when secretary Davis called the convention to order in the absence of the vice-presidents (J. W. Scott, president, having died in office) and asked for nominations for a temporary chairman. Mr. H. A. Diamant of St. Louis was chosen unanimously and in a felicitious address he welcomed the visitors to his city, in the name of the St. Louis collectors; and he told of their genuine satisfaction in having the convention come to St. Louis, a city, we may add paranthetically, whose enterprise during some years past has almost been unmatched and a result is seen in the appearance of brightness and prosperity that marks the place. The neatly turned remarks of Mr. Diamant were applauded. The report of the committee on Credentials follows (including the figures of supplementary reports):

RESULT OF ELECTION.

Total ballots cast, 474. Defective ballots, 7.

J. E. Scott, Michigan, 463; Dr. H. A. Davis, Colorado, 457; J. E. Dengler, Pennsylvania, 440; Alvin Good, Ohio, 438; H. B. Phillips, California, 438; F. S. Parmelee, Neb., 329; H. A. Whipple, Neb., 285; H. H. Wilson, New York, 222; W. P. Wherry, Neb., 212; J. B. Leavy, Washington, D. C., 205; T. R. Hungerford, D. C., 169; H. F. Dunkhorst, D. C., 145; Scattering, 45. In view of the published declination of Dr. Carroll Chase to accept a nomination for president of the A. P. S., the votes cast for him for director were not considered. The first nine candidates named are elected as directors.

Total number of proxies, 376. Invalid, 8.

The large holders of proxies were Messrs. Ault, Bollman, Eaton, Severn and Wolsieffer, with the limit, 50 each.

The newly elected president, H. H. Wilson, was called upon and with an expression of thanks took the chair. Mr. Wolsieffer asks for a recess of five minutes in memory of John Walter Scott, our departed president. Mr. Diamant introduced the Hon. Colin Selph, postmaster of St. Louis, who made the trip from his summer home in Michigan, 560 miles distant from St. Louis, solely to redeem a promise made to Mr. Diamant to bid the stamp folks welcome. The postmaster's address was a remarkable one and he held the undivided attention of all. His ringing words, which were not devoid of occasional philatelic allusion, were a plea for good citizenship, the need of the nation.

After the customary motions had been carried to dispense with some of the formalities, reports of officers (that of the secretary showing some increase in membership) and standing committees were in order; and suggestions and recommendations that were in them were referred to the different committees that were to be appointed. When adjournment was ordered, the business of the convention was well under way.

The Wednesday sessions were held on the steamer Saint Paul, as it plied the Mississippi River north to Alton and Piasa, ample space having been provided for the use exclusively of the members. In the morning, the president appointed the usual committees and their data was assigned to them. Telegrams of greeting, communications and further reports were read and the sentiment of the members was gained for the guidance of the committees by a discussion of the projects that were to be reported upon. It proved that this plan materially facilitated the work of the convention and it was encouraging to note that an evident desire was manifest to work in unison without violating personal convictions. After an appetizing luncheon, the afternoon session was called to order and the work done concerned the internal workings of the society, chiefly. There were interesting discussions on the subject of sales department, life memberships, etc. The resumption of the payment of dues of members in the naval and military service of the country was ordered with the fiscal year which is just being entered upon. A motion to instruct the secretary to order a suitable certificate to be issued to life members of the A. P. S. was followed by a demand for about twenty life memberships on the part of

DUPLICATES WANTED

I am in the market for anything in United States stamps that is in really fine condition, be it a single stamp, a thousand copies of a stamp or a highly specialized collection. If you have what I want, price can easily be agreed upon, as I know fine things now command fine prices. I can guarantee as good results as auction and no delay.

I prefer to have you let me know what you have and your price. If I am interested, I will have you send your stamps by registered mail or express and I will mail my report within 24 hours of receipt. Ready funds are always available for prompt remittances, whether the bill is 50 cents or $5,000.00.

Remember, I mean business but also remember I want stamps in fine condition only. "The House of Satisfaction." [96&8 those present. Mrs. E. R. Aldrich of Benson, Minnesota, has the distinction of being the first woman to have life membership.

H. F. COLMAN
2ND NATIONAL BANK BLDG., WASHINGTON, D. C.

Providence, Rhode Island, whose cause was espoused by Mr. A. B. Slater of that city, was the unanimous choice for the seat of the 1920 convention; and it was thought that the selection was a happy one, in view of the invitation by the local society there to the national organization.

We suspect that the Resolutions Committee, Messrs. Good, Davis and Severn, which asked leave to present a resolution outside of its report, as it were, perpetrated a joke in recommending an endorsement of the League of Nations. The measure stirred discussion before it was withdrawn by Dr. Davis of the committee, amid a fusillade of verbal bombs by Messrs. Hatfield, Wolsieffer, et al. This was a bit of spice in the love-feast.

The group picture was taken on the upper deck of the steamer, and with the splendid background afforded, it became a novelty in philatelic convention photographs.

The Thursday morning and final session was a model of effective working. Elsewhere, the more important details of this and the preceding sessions have been commented upon. A resolution to brand on the backs, counterfeits found in the books of the sales department was laid on the table after some discussion. Likewise, the proposal to renumber the membership in order to fill in the voided numbers was held in abeyance in order that any underlying objection to the plan might be sought for. By resolutions, the Lookout Committee and Publicity Committee were created. The secretary was instructed to attend to the removal of the accumulation of back numbers of the official journal, etc., now stored by Mr. H. E. Deats, Flemington, New Jersey, when it became necessary to transfer the lot.

In behalf of Mr. W. C. Stone, Springfield, Mass., Mr. Wolsieffer introduced the motion to adjourn sine die, after thanks had been voted to the press of St. Louis and its hosts and hostesses.

Stamp Exhibits.

The auction sale was a success and prices were in keeping with the times.

A fine lot of stamps was shown in collections and otherwise. Dr. W. I. Mitchell of Wichita, Kansas, brought his U. S. collection and his admirable line of U. S. revenues, embracing an exceptionally complete range of private proprietaries, commanded praise. The wonderful special collection of Greece, the property of Mr. J. H. Pullen, Houma, La., was a feature that impressed those who examined it. Mr. H. A. Diamant's splendid collection of Mexico proved a revelation of the thoroughness of advanced specialism; and his enthusiasm for his specialty knows no bounds. Mr. H. D. Hammatt's U. S., with its study of ten cent green, first design, was a sight for critical eyes and Mr. E. R. Jacob's United States collection of earlier issues, was better than ever before. The showing made by the one cent, first design, of the one cent blue was a marvellous tribute to persistent and studious application. A frame of seven or eight St. Louis provisionals, five and ten cents, on covers, addressed to one of the ancestors of the exhibitor was shown as well as a type-set St. Louis provisional local. In a private way, many thousands' worth of stamps changed hands and the browsers found the pickings good. Certainly, all's well with stamps.

Attendance.

Including members and applicants, there were fifty-four present during one or more sessions of the convention. This number, with the thirty-eight visitors, made an aggregate number of ninety-two. There were, for instance, sixty-three faces on the group picture. The following members or applicants came from a distance: Stanley B. Ashbrook, Cincinnati, O.; Geo. A. Bell, Grand Rapids, Mich.; C. A. Burner, Normal, Ill.; Hugh M. Clark, New York; Dr. H. A. Davis, Denver, Colo.; H. S. Dickey, Newton, Kansas; Z. Dworkowski, C. F. Heyerman, J. D. Hubel, Chas. C. Keller, J. E. Scott and Arthur C. Wood, all of Detroit, Mich.; Alvin Good and L. A. Hanford, Cleveland, O.; D. T. Eaton, Muscatine, Iowa; L. J. Flerlage, Nowood, Ohio; J. A. Galbraith, New York; D. C. Hammatt, Topeka, Kansas; Chas. E. Hatfield, Boston, Mass; J. C. Hoffstetter, Erie, Pa.; E. R. Jacobs, Charles Schlieckert, C. E. Severn, all of Chicago; A. A. Jones, Herrin, Ill.; W. I. Mitchell, Wichita, Kansas; Shirley Moisant, Kankakee, Ill.; Vahan Mozian, New York; J. H. Pullen, Houma, La.; S. W. Richey, Cincinnati; W. C. Kennett, Hazlewood, Ohio; A. B. Slater, Slocums, R. I.; H. A. Meyer, Evansville, Ind.; C. N. Smith, Madison, Ill.; E. T. Wallis, Indianapolis, Ind.; H. H. Wilson, New York; P. M. Wolsieffer, Philadelphia, and Wilson D. Wood, Kansas City, Mo.; and Mrs. Lily Aldrich, Benson, Minn.

NEWS GLEANINGS.

Under this heading we desire to publish all the news from the various philatelic centers. Correspondents' names will be given unless prohibited as we desire to give full credit for services rendered.

—Otto Weismann informs us that Germany has issued a new surcharged set of stamps for the occupied parts of Russia in the provinces of Suwalki, Kowno and Kurland. The towns of Wilna, Libau and Mitau are named as being thus favored. The 3, 5, 10, 20, 40pf of the current set have been overprinted "Postgebiet — Ob. Ost. — Oberbefehlshaber". The inscription means "Postal Zone of the Chi f Commander in the East."

—Senator Wm. M. Calder of New York has introduced a bill providing for a special stamp to commemorate the 300th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims, which occurs next year.

—Howard Beach, N. Y.—If the subscriber who sent us a dollar order for books, etc., will send us his name we shall be very glad to fill the order at once.

—We have received several clippings from Herman W. Boers of Detroit, Mich., but they are not closely enough related to philately for us to reprint. We are greatly obliged for many courtesies extended by various subscribers

—One More! — M. Marcuson. Cleveland, O., writes "Enclosed find remittance for two years' renewal although my present subscription will not expire for two years."

—The College Stamp Co., 1993 Amsterdam Av., N. Y. City, would like to hear from any who have been unable to secure replies to letters sent J. W. Hagen, Racine, Wis. Alfred Rasmussen of San Jose, Cal., can get no replies from J. H. Tracy, Jr., Richmond, Va.

—M. Ohlman, 75 Nassau St., N. Y. City, can secure no reply to letters sent B. Dawson, 691 O'Farrell St., San Francisco, Cal. If you know his address write Mr. Ohlman.

—We have just received a ten years' renewal of subscription from Robert Emmett Hopkins, Princeton, N. J. Mr. Hopkins recently advertised in the WEEKLY for entire sheets of Seebecks. It is needless to say that we greatly appreciate such a mark of confidence as he reposes in us with such a long-term renewal.

—J. W. Lafferty informs us that the illustration on the current dollar stamps of China represents the Arch of the Temple of Confucius at Peking, China. His authority is "The Spell of China" by Archie Bell.

—Two interesting clippings are at hand from Wm. Bigelow. They are taken from the Phila. (Pa.) Public Ledger. One states that the Sultan of Egypt recently sent $400 to Eugene Klein of that city in payment for eleven rare Egyptian stamps. The article goes on to say that the Sultan possesses the most valuable collection of Egyptian stamps in the world. The other clipping deals with Paderewski and a new Polish stamp. The new stamp is illustrated, showing a picture of Paderewski. Dr. S. J. Gittelson helps the Ledger out with this bit of news which must prove of material value to stamp collecting.

—As we go to press we are advised by Henry Hooreman that the new 10c red Belgium issued on July 19 and of which 25,000 copies were issued, was sold out in five or six days. Only five copies were sold to a person. Sheets of this stamp consist of five rows of five stamps each, with a small control figure 1, 2, 3, or 4, while sheets also have been issued without any control number. The 25c blue Liege stamp also issued July 19 was exhausted after a few days' sale. Mr. Hooreman also states that new stamps are appearing for Fiume bearing the words "Posta Fiume" instead of "Fiume".

—Clippings are acknowledged with thanks from Herman W. Boers, Joseph C. K. Wells, Geo. Clothier, Jr., P. F. Sabine, Howard Prine, W. A. Royce, James F. Hamill and Jos. A. Steinmetz.

SIMPLIFIED COLLECTING.—A collection formed on simplified lines by the elimination of watermark, perforation and shade varieties or, in its extremest form, eliminating everything except actual types.

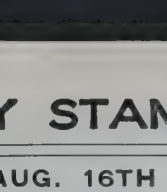
SINGLE C A.—A watermarked device consisting of a Crown over the letters C A found in connection with many British colonial stamps. It is so-called to distinguish it from a similar device, much used of recent years, in which parts of more than one crown and the letters are shown on one stamp, this latter being known as "Multiple C A".

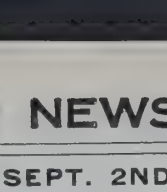
SINGLE-LINE MACHINE.—This is the style of perforating machine which makes only one row of holes at a time.

SINGLE-LINE WATERMARK. — This is self-explanatory and refers to watermarked figures, letters, etc., composed of a single line as distinguished from those which are double-lined.

SIRMOOR.—A feudatory state of India situated in the lower Simla Hills. Postage stamps were first issued in 1879.

SKILLING.—The value in which the early stamps of Norway, Denmark and Iceland were expressed. A skilling was worth a trifle more than a half cent in American money.





SKILLING BANCO. — The early stamps of Sweden bore values in skilling banco, 48 of which were equal to a riksdaler. The skilling banco was worth a little more than 1c in United States currency.

S. L.—These letters signifying "Sierra Leone" are shown in the lower part of the design of the large stamps now current in this British colony.

SLD.—An abbreviation for Soldi shown on many of the stamps of Austrian Italy.

S. L. M.—These initials are shown at the bottom of the design of the 1¼sch stamps issued in Holstein in April, 1864. They refer to the currency which was based on that of Lauenburg, i. e., "Schilling Lauenburgische Münze".

S. M.—An overprint found on certain stamps of South Australia used between 1868 and 1874 upon the correspondence of the Stipendary Magistrate. These special stamps were superseded by the "OS" series in 1874.

SMALL CROWN WATERMARK.—The name given to a watermark found in the 1840-55 stamps of Great Britain to distinguish it from the later "large" and "Imperial" crowns.

EDITORIAL.

Success—The convention of the American Philatelic Society recently held at St. Louis was an unqualified success in its manifold aspects and the delegates are unanimous in their expression of opinion that the constructive measures adopted at the sessions indicate that the field of usefulness of the organization will be greatly broadened. The old conservative attitude of the A. P. S. which it must be admitted has given a substantial foundation for work which now has its inception will give way to an alert and aggressive policy. The influence of the body will be felt in channels that generally have been avoided and modern ideas will be depended upon to expand the interest in collecting and protect philately from unjust, even if unpremeditated enactment of any kind whatsoever. Now that the society has found itself and realizes its power and is prepared to use it, the objections to what has been called the passive tendency of the body will be suspended until time for the working out of plans has passed. The transactions of the conventions had an excellent setting in the entertainment furnished by the indefatigable labors of the St. Louis men to whom lavish praise is due. They provided a ceaseless round of pleasure and the admixture of business and play made the occasion most enjoyable. At the morning and afternoon sessions on the all-day boat ride on the Mississippi more telling work was done than at the whole of some of the previous conventions, as the members had nothing to distract their attention except the beauties scenically along the river and those nearer at hand.

Outstanding—While the attendance was not large and, as usual, the expectations of the local committee were somewhat disappointed, it was representative. The workings of the convention were so harmonious that no proxy vote was required. The appointment of two committees, a "Lookout" Committee and a Publicity Committee was an important step. The first was created by virtue of a resolution that a committee of three be empowered to use its influence to combat harmful legislative or other enactment against the interests of philatelists and the Publicity Committee will establish a bureau where philatelic material may be obtained by members for insertion in the newspapers and press generally who are to get in touch with their local papers; and a clipping bureau will keep a record of the notices that appear through their instrumentality. No doubt, the committee will seek to start an advertising campaign including the plan of syndicating matter of newsy or instructive kind. The possibilities of this plan of publicity embrace the activities of the former Educational Committee but are not supposed to overlap the duties of the Recruiting Committee. The appointees on the Publicity Committee are Mr. H. A. Diamant, St. Louis, Mr. Alvin Good, Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. Ralph C. Eilers, St. Louis. It would seem that a wise selection has been made by President Wilson and in any event, the committee will organize with these men. The subject of publicity will be considered in all of its ramifications and it is not necessary to detail here the avenues of advance that are open. Never before has the society had so graphic an object lesson of the value of publicity as during the convention just closed. A tribute must be paid to the ability and acumen of Mr. Maas, who handled the news end of the convention for all of the St. Louis papers in a directing sense. He secured the publication of so many stories in the papers that the voume of publicity was unprecedented. Illustrated interviews and stamp articles abounded and the climax came in an editorial in the good old Globe-Democrat, entitled "Joyous Stamp Collectors," which is about the best thing of its kind that we ever read. Truly, one of the most telling features about the 1919 convention of the American Philatelic Society was the amount of space that the St. Louis papers devoted to it.

Progress—A forward step was taken in the naming of the Lookout Committee and the first work that it will undertake is the revocation of the limitations governing the illustrating of United States postage stamps, in particular, in the various publications that for philatelic reasons find the reproduction in black of the stamps necessary for an intelligent understanding of the text. While this committee already has had referred to it a measure that will test its mettle which contemplates the revision of the regulations by congressional action in all probability, yet as the name of the committee implies, it is to act for the A P. S. against unwarranted interference with the liberty of philately. This committee may act with committees of similar kind if appointed by other bodies, if it deems such a course advisable; and its function, in a few words, is to take proper steps to safeguard our pursuit when aggressions are made against it, by backing up the protest registered in the name of the American Philatelic Society. The committee is mobile enough to ensure action of some sort through marshaling the forces of the organization against obnoxious, even if unpremeditated, regulation, local or national. The personnel of the committee is singularly strong: Mr. Charles E. Hatfield, chairman; Senator E. R. Ackerman, Plainfield, New Jersey, and Mr. H. F. Colman, Washington. It is fortunate that the influence of men of this type is available as a motive power. Mr. Hatfield, by his standing and long experience in what may be called legislative affairs, is a fitting selection, while that of Senator Ackerman and Mr. H. F. Colman cannot be improved upon as co-workers in this field. It should be known that changes of this kind are not accomplished without tactful procedure and should it become necessary for the individual members to co-operate in some way with the committee a whole-hearted response is expected. If the society is not to drift, some hard tugging at the oars is necessary and all the members must support the recommendations of the committee, should any be made in the course of time. We say that the equipment of A. P. S. has been most effectively strengthened by the birth of this committee.

Political—There were few contests for office at the election and at the published request of Dr. Carroll Chase, who declined the nomination as president, the ballots cast for him were not considered. The Omaha Board of Vice-Presidents was re-elected over the Washington candidates and Mr. J. E. Dengler becomes a member of the board of directors as international secretary as a consequence of the death of Mr. Kjellstedt. Perhaps, due to the absence of any political competition, the members did not bestir themselves to send in their proxies as all too few came to hand; and only 370 members were represented. The chief change in the appointive officers is indicated by the firm refusal of Mr. P. M. Wolsieffer to succeed himself as superintendent of sales. There are a number of aspirants for this office in which Mr. Wolsieffer has served faithfully for many years and we have no doubt but that the directors will make a wise appointment. The board will have a problem in considering the resignation of Mr. J. B. Leavy as editor of the official journal as at the request of the society Mr. Leavy made stipulations that may best be considered by deliberation with the board as the question of retaining the services of Mr. Leavy developed several angles. Mr. Leavy feels that the duties of office compel him to ask a much higher salary than the nominal one that he now receives. The treasurer was voted a salary of one hundred dollars a year but other appropriations for committees were not voted; and the board may act in this connection. It may be added that the commission charged foreign patrons of the sales department has been increased to 25%, and half of the amount will be credited to insurance fund.

TRENTON MATCH CO.

By CHRISTOPHER WEST.

This business may have been established as early as 1869 and may have been running as late as 1894. Its history is somewhat involved and appears to be largely concerned with one Geo. O. Seward who is first listed in the Trenton directory for 1869. He appears as a match maker, foreman, superintendent or manager of a match factory, or as a match manufacturer until 1894. What are now the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th wards of Trenton were formerly known as Chambersburg and the factory was located at what is now 118 Hamilton Ave., near the canal, in that section of Trenton as early as 1880. The only other business address is given in 1869, 9 Broad St., Chambersburg.

The directory for 1882-83 lists the Seward Match Manufacturing Co., Chas. Bush, proprietor, Geo. O. Seward, manager, at the Hamilton Ave. address. It is not at all unlikely this Bush is the Chas. Busch who used a private die stamp for a few months at just this time. Mr. Bush or Busch is not listed as a resident of Trenton.

The directories for 1882-83 to 1884-85 list the Trenton Match Co., Geo. F. Wilson, proprietor, Geo. O. Seward, manager, at the Chambersburg address and the same data is given in 1885-86, except that Asa F. Skirm is the proprietor. In 1886-87, the firm appears as the Seward Match & Paper Box Co., Geo. O. Seward, proprietor, and in 1887-88 Geo. O. Seward is listed as a match manufacturer at the Trenton Match Factory, same address.

Regarding the Trenton stamp the Boston Book states:—

First issued, April 19, 1881.
Last issued, Feb. 28, 1883.
210 stamps per sheet (15x14).
7,770,000 issued in blue on watermarked paper.

The stamp is a horizontal rectangle of the standard 1c size and was engraved and printed by the Bureau at Washington. The coat of arms of New Jersey are featured in the center, TRENTON MATCH CO. appears above, TRENTON, N. J. at the bottom and a small numeral "1" is in each corner. ONE at the left and CENT at the right appear in large open capitals. The plate number is found below the four stamps in the lower right corner of the sheet and reads "Trenton Match Co. No. 238" in script, backwards, having been engraved forwards in the lower left corner of the plate.

The total issue, 37,000 sheets, is just 1,000 sheets more than that of the H. Leigh stamp, which was in use in Trenton at the same period about half a mile distant from the Trenton Match Co. factory.

Seward's Trenton Match stamps were used on cylindrical wooden boxes 1½ inches in diameter by 2¾ inches high and containing about 60 or 70 matches. Fine sand was stuck on the base of the boxes for a handy rough surface on which to strike the matches. The stamp was stuck on the side of the box near the top and across the seam where the cover joined so that the cover could not be removed without breaking the stamp. For this reason the stamps were not cancelled.

They are not known to have been used in multiple, but pairs, blocks and even a few sheets of remainders are known to exist.

WE BOTH WIN!

The A—B—C of stamp collecting might be stated like this:—First, the pleasure of acquisition; Second, the satisfaction of ownership; Third, the value of the stamp itself.

Whatever stamp you buy the purchase of which gives you real pleasure; the continued ownership of which affords you increasing satisfaction; and the value of which does not depreciate I would consider to be a "good" stamp.

My business is directed to supplying as many stamps of this character as it is possible for one individual to buy and sell handling the business all by himself.

Such a business has limitations. Reasonable collectors recognize this and expect to pay reasonable prices in order that the character of the stamps I offer and the quality of the service I give may be maintained at a high level.

A business conducted in this way works to the advantage of the collector who patronizes it and to the advantage of

COVERS - COVERS - COVERS

I am in the market for anything really fine in the way of early United States and foreign covers. I especially desire the issues running from 1845 to 1870 and will pay good prices for anything nice. The stamps on the covers must be in good shape and those without pen cancellations are preferred.

Of late issues of United States, I require mint blocks of four of a number of items such as 1898 6c in the rare purplish shade, 1894 50c, $1 (showing two types in one block), 1895 $1 in same condition, 1908 4c and 8c on bluish rag paper, etc. Best of commercial, bank or dealer reference.

CHRONICLE OF NEW ISSUES AND VARIETIES

Information regarding new issues and varieties will be gratefully received. We cannot give the addresses of correspondents.

The chronicle of United States is edited by PHILIP H. WARD, JR., Box 4216, Germantown, Phila., Pa. The foreign chronicle is edited by PERCY C. SMITH, 40 Packard Ave., West Somerville, Mass. Correspondents will please be careful to send their matter to the right address.

UNITED STATES.—In our chronicle of August 9, 1919, we mentioned that the 1c and 2c rotary plates from which the recent compound were printed, were all marked "S 30" and explained in detail what this marking signified. It was assumed that those plates marked "S 20" and "S 40" were destroyed long before the Bureau started to save the defective runs from the rotary press. Mr. Arthur E. Owen, however, now advises us that he has located the 2c value from an "S 20" plate. We would not be greatly surprised to learn later on that some of the 3c value in the type I have been found with compound perforations.

If the Post Office Department finally instructs the postmasters in the larger cities to overprint the 3c envelopes on hand "2 Cents" and the 2c postal cards "1 Cent," and it certainly looks as if they will, it means that we are in for a larger number of provisional varieties than we have ever known from any of the first class stamp issuing countries. As is always the custom of the WEEKLY, we will endeavor to give our readers as early and as full information as possible. In such a case we cannot look to Washington for our information but must depend on our many valued correspondents throughout the country to send us samples of all types issued. We will compile a list which we will want to make as complete as possible and will gladly reimburse our readers if they will obtain the varieties for us; or better still, we will send them provisionals from this end of the country.

Speaking of envelopes, Mr. W. A. Sisson sends us a copy of the 3c envelope, circular die, showing a clear double impression. One of the stamps is about 3 mm. from the other. The envelope collector has indeed been having a merry time here of late.

Dr. George H. Smith sends for our inspection a copy of the 4c documentary surcharge in purple in small capital letters NARCOTIC. This was taken from a Mallinkrodt product and evidently is a St. Louis provisional. We have not seen the St. Louis series and would be glad to receive information on the subject. We expect to publish very shortly a very interesting list of the narcotic provisionals known to date. These include those from Baltimore, Cincinnati, Detroit, Los Angeles, New York and Philadelphia. Did any of the other cities issue these? How about Boston, Cleveland, New Orleans, Atlanta, San Francisco, etc.? Can any of our readers throw light upon the subject?

Mr. Warren P. Ware is the first to show us one of the new "strip" Narcotics. He sends us the 1c printed in purple, rouletted, 4 in. long by ¼ in. high. On this stamp the word "Narcotic" runs horizontally the entire length of the stamp in colorless letters with "United States" above and "Internal Revenue" below. At each end we find a figure "1" with the word "Cent" curled around it. Your editor assumes, that in view of the fact that these are only issued in the 1c denomination, although in four sizes, that the tax must be paid partly by these strip stamps which are wrapped around the container so that the stamp will be broken when the container is opened and the balance of the tax by the regular surcharged stamps.

We note from a clipping in the daily papers of August 14th that the first delivery of mail from a seaplane to a steamer at sea was made successfully on that day when C. J. Zimmerman flew over the Liner Adriatic two hours after she had left her dock and dropped on her deck a mail bag of about 100 pounds. The experiment was made under the direction of the New York post office, which proposes to make such deliveries a regular feature of its foreign mail service.

We wish to thank Messrs. James B. McKay, D. C. Alexander and H. J. Carter for additional notes of interest.

TIENTSIN! PECHINO!

FIRST TYPE. VERY SCARCE! Surcharged on Italian stamps in small capitals, Scott's Nos. 856-861, 956-958. Of some values only 10 copies are known!

Due to a lucky purchase, we are prepared to offer these at very reasonable figures; prices will be submitted upon demand. A lump-sum offer for the entire stock will be entertained from responsible parties.

We also possess a small stock of the Italian surcharges, Italy on Austria (3 Nov., 1918), etc., etc. Interested parties write us at once.

REMEMBER

we are specializing in the stamps of NEW EUROPE by wholesale. Rapid growth attests the value of our service. An inspection of prices will reveal the fact that we are cheaper than most European dealers.

An excellent line of general wholesale lots is ready to be sent on approval to responsible dealers who are not interested in Neurope. Commercial references essential.

The stamps are perforated 11½ and have no watermark.—Stamp Collecting.

BELGIUM.—Mr. Henry Hooreman sends us a copy of the new 10c stamp. It has the head and shoulders of a Belgian soldier wearing a helmet with the inscription BELGIQUE at the top, "1914" at the left centre and "1918" at the right centre and "10 BELGIE C" at the bottom. It is a very attractive stamp of a soft red color.

CZECHO-SLOVAKIA.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us two added values that we have not before mentioned. They are 25h lilac and 75h green.

GERMANY.—We are indebted to the Economist Stamp Co. for submitting copies of the 10, 15 and 25 Nationalist stamps. They are of different types although of the size and each has the words "Deautsche National Versammling" together with the date "1919". The colors are red, brown and blue, and green and red, respectively.

GRENADA.—The West Indian, in reporting the Postal Surtax (Repeal) Ordinance, says:—"The Governor explained that the object of putting the Ordinance in force by the end of June was because the Penny Postage between the United States and the Windward Islands would come into force by July. In that case it would not be right to give the United States an advantage in one direction, while we were penalizing other islands under the Postal Surtax Ordinance."—Stamp Collecting.

LA GEORGIE.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us a set of the stamps of this country mentioned in our issue No. 1487. There are three values: 40 scarlet, 60 crimson and 70 lilac. There is also another which we presume is the 1R although there is no value mentioned on the stamp. The first three are square shape and in the middle a warrior is shown sitting on the back of a spirited horse. Directly behind are two suns and five other lesser lights. The 1r is yellow-brown in color and is a trifle longer in height.

POLAND.—The Economist Stamp Co. has shown us the following new stamps of this country: 10f dark mulberry; 15f red, head of Paderewski; 20f brown, head of Trampezynski; 25f olive, head of Piesudski; 50f bluish green, eagle watching a ship; and 1m purple, eagle resting on battle axes and spear. The stamps are of different designs and shapes and all have the labels
